ABUSE HEAPED ON INSPECTOR

When he Placarded Houses for Diphtheria

THIRTY-NINE CARDS USED

Much of the danger from the diphtheria epidemic in the city is passed. Sanitary Inspector Spence is beginning to breathe easier and he stated today that he is taking the placards from the affected houses right along, signifying that much of the danger is passed. Since October 1st, he, in conjunction with Dr. McPherson, medical health officer, have tacked thirty-nine diphtheria placards up in various sections of the city, but mostly in the south end. The epidemic was discovered first, said the inspector, in the Sacred Heart School, although he did not think unsanitary conditions in the school had started it. It was more likely unhealthy conditions in the homes of the pupils who contracted it, or those with whom they were in contact.

All manner of abuse has been heaped upon the inspector's head by irate parents, when Mr. Spence called at various houses to tack his placards. Parents insisted their children were not suffering from the disease, and refused to recognise that the inspector's efforts were for their children's protection.

Inspect Dairies.

At present, Inspector Spence is commencing an inspection tour of dairies to see that winter housing conditions are sanitary and satisfactory.

ENLISTED WITH CONTINGENT.

The young man who was charged with the theft of a sum of money from a Peterboro man and who was committed for trial on Monday, was allowed out on suspended sentence by His Honor Judge Harding. He enlisted last night in the second contingent and left for Kingston this morning.—Lindsay Post.

A Hard Meal to Digest

Is Quickly Digested by the Taking of A Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet After It Is Over.

Corn on the cob is hard to digest, for some folk, but with a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet it readily is disposed of by the stomach and digestive apparatus.

Don't drug your stomach. Give it just what it needs at the very moment it needs it. Here is the way a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet acts:

He—"I can eat corn now and feel O.K. A Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet will quickly digest it."

One takes a tablet just after the meal is completed. It is taken into the mouth like food; is mixed with the saliva; swallowed moist and partially dissolved. It goes into the stomach and is there mixed with the stomach juices which are composed of acids and alkalies.

A Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet re-inforces these juices. It quickly digests the elements which such weakened juices cannot digest.

After a while the stomach passes the meal partially digested to the intestines, where it goes through another stage of digestion. Here, as in the stomach, Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets strengthen the juices of digestion and complete the work of giving the body the benefit of the meal.

There is nothing harmful in these tablets. Only natural ingredients which the body lacks are supplied. In a short time the blood and digestive juices are given the power they lack. Man can digest any food without injury and the entire health of the body is increased. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold wherever drugs are sold, price 50 cents a box. Anyone wishing a free trial of these tablets please address F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich., and a small sample package will be mailed free.

DECISIONS OF THE REVISION COURT

assessed with the property in the business section. The court, however, claimed that if such a point is to be brought it would necessitate the going over of the complete assessment, which is impossible. It was therefore decided that the appeals would have to be dismissed except in two or three cases, for which expert valuators will be secured. These cases will come up on Friday at 3 p.m.

Mr. Corkery, representing Oak Hall, pointed out that the assessment was far higher than the property directly across the street, but there again the court ruled that they were concerned only in the value of the property of Oak Hall. The case was left over till Friday, but the case of D. Hickey, for whom Mr. Corkery also appeared, was dismissed.

Mr. Goodwill, representing the Dickson Co., owners of the Oriental Hotel, claimed that he could secure evidence to the effect that the property was not of a value at which the assessor put it. This case was also left over till Friday. The following is a list of those to come up Friday all others being withdrawn or dismissed:

The following cases will be dealt with Friday, all others being dismissed:—

J. C. Turnbull Co., Alex. Gibson, Alex. Grant, Bradburn's, Limited, D. Davidsons, J. E. Middleton, G. N. Graham, E. Donald, J. Sutherland, E. Walsh, E. L. Payne, T.S. and L. Co., J. T. Stenson and Son, W. Leck, Sanford Mfg. Co., James Haggis, A. J. Johnston, Morgan Hardware, E J. Graham, M. A. Hazlett.

Judgment Reserves.

E. A. Peck appeared for the Quaker Oats Co. appealing against the assessment on their buildings. After W. H. Denham and Assessor Henry were heard, judgment was reserved.

Mr. Peck also acted for the Armour Estate appealing against the property adjoining the Lift Lock being assessed at $250 per acre. Mr Peck contended that this property was not salable at the present time and therefore the assessment was too high. Assessor Henry claimed that the property might be divided into city lots and sold for a greater amount than which the property is assessed. The court also reserved judgment in this case.

Judgment was also reserved in the case of C. M. Moncur for whom E H. D. Hall appeared. The assessment on the property of Mr. Moncur was $2,900 more than that on the store on the north side, although there is only one foot nine inches difference in the frontages. Assessor Henry claimed that Mr. Moncur had a stairway at the front and rented the second floor. That has to a certain extent, as well as the fact that the Moncur store was nearer the corner of Hunter Street, assisted him in placing the actual value at $12,800 he stated that the property from Hunter to Brock Street depreciated in value toward Brock St.

Increase of $16,000.

E. L. Goodwill appeared for the Dickson Co. in their appeal against the assessment of the Oriental Hotel. The increase in the assessment was from $35,900 to $52,380. The case was left over till Friday to permit the appellant to secure expert evidence.

MEN LEAVE FOR KINGSTON CAMP

Messrs. F. Reed, F. Cole and Ivason, left this morning to join the 21st infantry at Kingston. The men will be sent in groups as fast as they enlist, until they are all sent. Recruiting continues at the armouries. A few more were accepted last evening, and it is expected that ten more men will leave Thursday morning.

ASKED FOR REFUND.

At a meeting of the Port Hope council a communication was received from Mr. D. O'Connell, Peterboro solicitor for James Haggis, of the Port Hope Candy Works, asking for the return of the transient traders' license fee of $150, Mr. Haggis having been in business continuously for one year.

Rich Gold Field Reported.

The Mines Department at Ottawa has received details of a wonderfully rich strike of gold and silver which has been made in the Broad Pass district, 250 miles north of Seward, Alaska. G. H. Collins, of Prince Rupert, sends the report.

Great ledges, wide and deep, are reported, bearing exceptionally rich deposits of gold and silver, lead and zinc. There is a stampede of miners and prospectors to the district.

The Canadian Mines Department will send two geological experts to Broad Pass with a view to determining the probability of an outcrop to the eastward in the Yukon.

OUR LENS GRINDING DEPARTMENT

We have our own Lens Grinding Plant on the premises, fitted with the very latest automatic lens grinding machines. Here our lenses are ground absolutely correct, mechanically and scientifically. ALLIES ADVANCING Slow Steady Progress is Observed in Ypres Region.

Terrific Struggles Continues Hand-to-Hand With Both Sides on the Offensive, But Allies Are Making Headway---Other Successes Are Reported From Soissons District and Alsace.

LONDON, Nov. 11.—France's campaign against the German has developed new success in the three principal zones of conflict near Ypres, Belgium, north of Soissons, France, and in Alsace. In the Ypres region, the slow but steady advance of the allies was continued with hand-to-hand fighting of fierce character, the feature. In this district it is estimated that 600,000 troops are actively engaged, while each of the opposing armies has a reserve of approximately 150,000.

By seizing the fortified heights north of River Aisne and occupying Soupir, Chavonne and Vailly, the French have given the allied armies the key to the entire territory of the Aisne and now the retreat of the Germans from the angle between the Aisne and the Oise rivers is threatened.

Paris claims that the allies have maintained their positions between the Lys and Langemarck, at the same time making appreciable progress between the latter place and Dixmude.

Berlin claims to have inflicted a defeat on the Russians in East Prussia and reports the capture of 4,000 men and considerable munitions of war.

A despatch to the Centarl News from Amsterdam says:

"Trainload after trainload of German artillery are leaving the Lys Valley in the direction of Ghent.

"The German army headquarters has been transferred to Alost."

The town of Alost is 15 miles west of Brussels and 40 miles east of the fighting area around Dixmude.

According to the latest list of killed published in Vienna, the Hungarian aristocracy had a considerable loss in the battle around Lille, France, to which district they had been sent to aid the Germans. The lists show that 867 hussars belonging to noble families were killed.

Many despatches speak of the movement of German troops eastward from Belgium as forecasting the necessity of reinforcements along the eastern frontier, but neither the French nor German official statements yesterday afternoon indicated any slackening in the violence of the German attacks in West Flanders. In fact, the French statement says that between the sea and Armentieres the opposing forces were both acting on the offensive. As to the outcome of this double offensive, the rival contentions are absolutely contradictory, the Germans claiming slow progress near Ypres, and the French asserting that the German attack there was beaten back. In view of what seems to be a sustained and concerted German effort in this region, the reports of the German retirement are hardly borne out, although it is said they have moved their headquarters still farther east, this time from Ghent to Alost.

The situation along the battle line in France proper, from the standpoint of the allies, was summed up in a despatch from an "observer with the Indian corps," who says there has been no marked change anywhere, though he sees a gradual weakening of the German attacks.

RUSSIANS PLAY HAVOC WITH GERMAN RAILWAYS

Train is Captured South of Koenigsberg and Have Blown up Several Bridges—Troops Are Now Being Rushed to Thorn and Posen to Stem Advance of Russian Centre.

LONDON, Nov. 11.—The following Russian official statement was issued yesterday in Petrograd:

"In Eastern Prussia the right wing of the enemy, who has been stubbornly resisting in the region of Lyck, has been driven back towards Mazourie Lake.

"East of Neideburg (24 miles south of Koenigsberg) near the Muschaken railroad station a Russian cavalry force defeated a German detachment which was protecting the railroad. The Russians captured a train and blew up the railroad bridges.

"On Nov. 8 Russian cavalry, meeting a cavalry division of the enemy, forced it to retire towards Kalisz.

"On the route leading to Cracow we have attained Miechow (a town 44 miles southwest of Kielce).

"In Galicia our troops have traversed the River Wisloka. They now occupy Rzeszow, Dynow and Liske."

The Russian light columns which have crossed and dislocated the outer line of German strategic railways running around northern and central Poland, report feverish activity. They have been able to arrest German movements on the railways nearest the frontier, but farther back the German lines are crowded day and night by trains bringing troops and equipment, especially artillery, from East Prussia to positions behind Thorn and Posen.

The excitement among the German railway staff has thrown the civilian population into a panic. Many thousands of German families have hastily packed their portable belongings and fled behind Posen fortress, fearing the Russian invaders may avenge German cruelties in Poland. Others are abandoning their homes and making for Breslau and Dresden. It is evident the German General Staff feels it has again been outgeneralled. Their experts were convinced that when the Russians had repulsed the movement on Warsaw and the Vistula and had turned the Germans back as far as the frontier the real campaign of invasion would be conducted through East Prussia.

They considered it absolutely impossible for the Russians to bring a great combined army with impedimenta for a winter campaign across Poland in November. This has already been done, hence the Germans are now concentrating at high pressure all their available forces from fortresses, garrisons and reserves in Silesia, Saxony and Prussia.

The Austrian evacuation of the positions to the southeast of Lemberg, in South Galicia and in Bukowina is reported in Petrograd yesterday to be continuing. There are also indications here that the entire Austrian line from Stryl to Czernowitz is being gradually abandoned.

It is announced at Petrograd that the Emperor, while en route from Kholm to Siedice, received a report from Gen. Avonoff, commander-in-chief of the army of the southwest. Gen. Avonoff with his staff was invited to the Imperial breakfast. At the station at Siedice the Emperor received Gen. Rouzsky, commander-in-chief of the army of the northwest.

Fooled the President.

Someone gave the clerk at the Chateau Frontenac a bunch of imitation violets. They were so real that ladies invariably stopped to snuff them—and pass on in chagrin, whereupon delighted bell boys passed the wink round the rotunda. But when Sir Thomas Shaughnessy visited the hotel, and when the president of the C.P.R. stopped to inhale the perfume and a bell-boy snickered the whole hotel, as it were, held its breath for fear of what would follow.

But did Sir Thomas show he had been cheated? Instead, three times, as he passed in front of the desk, he paused to snuff the violets, and did it so sincerely and with such apparent satisfaction that the bell-boys' wonder turned to curiosity, and, finally, they, too, one by one, filed solemnly past to smell the flowers. They could not understand what had made Sir Thomas sample that fragrance so often.

German disorganization is seen in the number of her troops who are seeking sanctuary beyond the Dutch border.

Hands Across the Sea

The consul-general of Japan, stationed at Ottawa, Chonosuki Yada, with Madame Yada, visited the Canadian troops before they departed for England.

Mr. Yada in addressing the troops complimented them on their loyalty, esprit de corps and general splendid appearance. He wished them all the greatest success and a speedy return and said he was particularly happy that Japan stood side by side with the historic Empire of Britain in the great war.

The Japanese consul general came to Ottawa in 1912, succeeding Hon. Takashi Nakamura in the office. His career here has been a most successful one and the relations between Canada and Japan since he accepted the consul generalship have been most satisfactory.

In social circles he and his amiable and charming wife have made many warm friends. Since the war broke out Mr. and Madame Yada have been helpful in every way possible and most sympathetic and encouraging.

THE INSPECTION OF THE SCHOOLS

In future the physical welfare of the children attending Ontario public schools will be regarded as quite vital to their ultimate success as the attainment of promotion marks at examination time. In every school of the province meditating health measures the new regulations of the Department of Education concerning school medical inspection will apply, and considerable power is placed in the hands of medical officers and their assistants to enable them to ensure a high standard of health and physical efficiency among the scholars. The practice is not new in the larger centres and the success with which it has worked out there has influenced the department to make the regulations as practicable and universal as possible. A regular program of inspection is outlined, and it is ordained that medical officers are to visit schools in cities at least once a week, in towns once a fortnight, in villages once a month and in rural school sections once a quarter.

The examination to which every pupil must submit includes an inspection of head, eyes, ears, nose, throat, heart, lungs, spine and the skin of the neck, face and hands. Where any unusual examination is necessary parents or guardians will be present. The principal is required to see that every pupil submits to such examinations, and has the power to exclude from attendance any one who has the symptoms of smallpox, scarlet fever and other juvenile diseases. Any pupil so excluded will require a medical health certificate before being allowed to return.

In addition will occur periodical inspections of the teeth. The officials will be known as school dental officers and will require to be competent dental surgeons of experience. Once every half year and at such other times as the board and a special committee may direct an inspection must be made, and in cases of faulty conditions parents are to be notified. If they are not able to meet the necessary expense, it may come out of the general maintenance school fund.

In organizing the work provision is made for the formation of school boards, which may either work alone or in conjunction with other associations approved by the Minister of Education. To save unnecessary outlay a number of boards may co-operate, and in this case the inspection will be under the charge of a school medical inspection committee. One or more medical practitioners are to be appointed, or failing these, the district health officer may take charge of the work. It being recognized that even this may not prove feasible, the option is given of appointing one or more graduate nurses with not less than two years' experience. The boards will share the expense of inspection among themselves.

Complete arrangements are made for the carrying out of the regulations and the inspection may be carried on in private rooms if thought necessary. Officers, nurses and principals are required to make periodic reports, and in case of stubborn action on the part of parents or guardians the department will act.

Expert For Canada.

Thomas Adams of the British Local Government Board has resigned his position in England to accept that of town-planning adviser to the Canadian Commission of Conservation.

Mr. Adams has had direct charge of the practical work done under the provisions of the British housing and town planning act of 1909 and has guided such developments as that of Ruislip, which greatly impressed the members of the National Housing Association who visited it last July. This work has shown that the dreams of the reformers can be realized not only in occasional garden cities and suburbs, but throughout the country.

His success in England has given Mr. Adams an international reputation that led to his being twice called to Canada to address meetings of the National City Planning Conference. Last spring he returned to take part in the conference at Toronto.

While he was in Canada he gave the authorities his assistance in drafting housing and city planning legislation, and it is probably in recognition of this assistance that he has been called to Canada.

Boundary Job Finished.

The delimiting of the international boundary line between the Panhandle portion of Alaska and the Yukon territory, which was started in 1904, has been finished, and Noel J. Ogilvie, who has had charge of the work for the Canadian Government since 1909, has returned to Vancouver. He will leave for Ottawa to prepare his maps and reports, after a short stay in Vancouver.

The delimitation has been done jointly by the Canadian and the United States Governments. The latter finished its portion of the work last summer. Monuments made of metal and imbedded in concrete have been placed at intervals along the border. The line of demarkation stretches over rugged mountain crags and summits, streams and torrents for approximately a thousand miles.

Only Seven to Graduate.

As a result of the war there will be only seven cadets for the graduating classes at the Royal Military College this year. Over 20 are now fighting at the front. There is a movement on foot to have the present college course discontinued this term, and the whole time of the staff given to the training of officers for the war.

Preserving Pointers

"If the price of sugar is prohibitive one may can peaches so that they will keep indefinitely by using plain water instead of sirup. The following recipe may be used," says the United States department of agriculture:

"Remove skins from peaches by immersing in boiling water for about one minute and then dipping in cold water. Place whole peaches in glass jars or tins and fill jars with hot water. Place rubber and top in place and sterilize for fifteen minutes in hot water bath outfits, twelve minutes in water seal, ten minutes at five pounds steam pressure or five minutes at ten pounds steam pressure.

"Of course the peaches when removed from the jar will not taste so sweet as those canned in sirup. However, if sweetening is desired it may be added when the fruit is to be eaten.

"This same method is good for canning with sirups containing varying amounts of sugar. A very thin sirup may be used if the housewife does not wish to dispense entirely with the sugar.

"Apples may also be canned (for apple sauce, pie filling, etc.), using plain water instead of a sugar sirup. Department specialists have repeatedly canned them by this method. In the case of apples jars should be sterilized sixteen minutes in hot water bath outfits, twelve minutes in water seal, ten minutes under five pounds of steam and four minutes under ten pounds of steam."

Forethought in Canning.

In the operation of canning and preserving, as in almost every other function of housekeeping, the "getting ready" is the most important part and should be begun far in advance of the actual canning day. Some notes made last season will give knowledge as to when fruits and vegetables are to be expected, so that time and provision may be made for them. As the various cans and glasses have been emptied, if they have been washed and covers carefully fitted before putting away, much annoyance and expense will be spared. If the appetites of the family have been observed it will not be advisable to put up much of the unpopular varieties.

Kettles which have never been used for any other purpose than preserving, spoons, forks, knives, skimmers, dippers, funnels, jelly bags, fruit press, strainers, scales, measures, are all necessary implements (others will be individually required) and should be in a state of perfect order and cleanliness. Have enough suitable jars, cans, glasses, etc., with rubbers, tops and covers at hand. Plenty of paraffin, labels, cloths for wiping and handling utensils and the labors of the preserving season will not plunge you into nervous prostration.

Sirup For Preserving.

Preserves are made by cooking whole fruits or sections in a dense sirup. Thus they keep in shape and absorb sugar, becoming semitransparent. The usual proportion of sugar to fruit is about like that for jellies—equal weights or measures, "pound for pound."

Usually a sirup is made with the sugar and a little water or fruit juice, and only as much fruit as will cover the surface of the sirup is put in at one time. If we attempt to put in more the pieces lose their shape, and the result is a sort of marmalade.

When a few pieces are done they may be taken out of the sirup with a skimmer and put in a jar and more fruit put into the sirup. When all is done the sirup may be further evaporated until it is almost a jelly, and then the jars are to be filled with that.

Such preserves are like jelly in texture and richness and will keep if packed like jelly in glasses with covers of paper and paraffin.

But they are not as satisfactory for constant use as the canned fruits, when a much smaller proportion of sugar, or none at all, is put with the fruit while cooking.

Candied Rose Petals.

To make candied rose petals, put a cupful of granulated sugar into a saucepan and stir in slowly a third of a cupful of cold water. Set this on the stove, letting the mixture heat slowly, gradually coming to a boil. Do not let it boil hard. Try it frequently and when the sirup crackles or hardens in cold water remove from the fire. Stir gradually till it begins to sugar, then place in a pan of hot water and using a pair of tiny pincers, dip the petals into the sugar and let them dry on waxed paper. Before they are dry dip them into a saucer of powdered sugar, again put on a platter or tray and place where they will keep dry for a day.

Fruit Jellies.

A housewife who has made careful records of the amount of fruit she has used for preserving or jelly making, keeping at the same time a record of the amount after the canning cooking process, says:

Seven pounds of peaches will make fifteen glasses of marmalade.

Four quarts of quinces will make ten glasses of jelly.

Four quarts of crabapples will make ten glasses of jelly.

Six pounds of peaches will make eight pints of preserved peaches.

MORE WORK IN FACTORIES

Manufacture of War Supplies Keep Employes Busy

From B. F. Ackerman Sons & Co. comes a report that another big order has been received for saddlery, rifle slings, bandoliers, and transport harness. The order calls for 1,000 sets of universal saddlery, 2,500 sets of Oliver equipment for infantry purposes, 1,000 rifle slings, 250 bandoliers and 100 sets of transport harness. Mr. Ackerman told a reporter that he has enough orders to keep his plant hard at work till February 1st. It would be January 1st before he would be in a position to accept any further government work, owing to other orders that must be filled.

Messrs. J. J. Turner & Sons are highly satisfied with what is coming their way from the government, but when seen today were not in a position to state definitely just what additional work was to hand.

TEARING UP NEW PAVEMENT

Contractors Are Placing Binder on George Street Section

Foley and Gleason, the contractors, are plowing up the asphalt pavement, between McDonnell and Murray Sts. This plowing is accomplished by a heavy plow, attached to the road roller, and as the top layer of asphalt is raised a man on each side of the plow breaks it with a sledge hammer. It is the intention of the contractors to lay a binder between the top and the base on this street as they are doing in the present work. When a binder is used, the top section is of a closer texture which keeps out the water.

In Hospital With Fractured Leg

Lying in Nicholls Hospital with a bad fracture of one leg, is Lou York, a lumberman employed by Thomas Kelly, who conducts lumbering operations near Ketchecum.

York, it seems, was working in the bush when the accident occurred. Neither his physician nor any of the hospital staff were aware of just how it happened. He was brought into the city on Monday, and is being attended by Dr. Sutton, who stated to the Review that his condition was satisfactory.

CANADA'S WAR PRISON IS AT OLD FORT HENRY

Once Impregnable Fortress Now Contains Germans and Austrains Who are Considered Dangerous.

On the crest of a bald slope across the harbor from the City of Kingston, Canada, is an old-fashioned box of limestone and cement that for the last seventy-five years has borne the title of "Fort Henry." It is one of the proud old line of "impregnable" places, of the generation of wooden frigates and muzzle-loading cannon, full of superstitious gossip and weird tradition—all that, and a garrison of one soldier who pulls the string on a big brute of a cannon every night to tell the town's fold it is nine-and-thirty, writes Robson Black in The Star Weekly.

Fort Henry has come into its own these days. After waiting three-quarters of a century for some intrepid United Stateser to so, much as aim a peashooter at its walls, it commenced in August, 1914, to pay some slight dividend on its capital investment of four million good British dollars.

Two hundred German and Austrian reservists are now corralled inside a set of gates that had to be dug clear of shale to enable them to close. One hundred and sixty-five officers and men of the Princess of Wales Own Rifles "man the ramparts," fully armed, ready for the grimmest of all businesses. Sentries pace against the grey old skyline, and guards are "relieved" and challenges are delivered much as in the gone days, when Count Frontenac parleyed or perforated the Indian tribes that barred his ambitions.

These two hundred King's prisoners are just about as happy a lot of fellows as can be found off a battlefield. Most of them seemed totally delighted when apprehended as abettors of the enemy and locked up in a fine big playground. They have all the benefits of a good summer hotel, "excellent cuisine," beautiful view, music with meals, and are never insulted with a board bill.

More than that, those who are willing to work are given employment as carpenters, masons, laborers, etc., and paid by the Canadian Government at very reasonable wages. The old fort which has shed the rains and winds since 1830, begins to show punctures in the wooden rafters and dry-rot in the window sashes; therefore new rafters and new sashes are necessary. Then, too, the Government anticipates a few hundred more guests and fresh rooms have to be prepared. There is a suggestion in official quarters that the Canadian forts be employed for herding German and Austrian prisoners from the scene of conflict, and this may easily be carried into effect.

But there are a good many of the Fort Henry population too surprised or too mulish to do day labor, and to impress upon such persons the never-ending magnanimity of the British people in time of war, they are allowed to devote their prison hours to amusement. Footballs were even provided, and Germany and Austria elbow and shunt each other at a pleasant hour of soccer. Some days the Kaiserists make it six to two, and other days the Josephesians score a whitewash.

Meal time brings the prisoners of war exactly the same rations as the military guards. Doctors examine and dispense among them without discrimination. The water they swallow is microscopically diagnosed and sanitary perfection has been provided to the uttermost. So does Canada pave the path for two hundred sets of naturalization papers some fine day when "William, the Weed" is stripped of his halo in the van of a retreating army.

The Kaiser's confidence in the world-wide patriotism of the German people would be sadly shaken if he knew that the Canadian Government has allowed thousands of German prisoners their liberty on parole and nearly all have been glad to seize any such technicality as a shelter from their military oaths.

The Austrian prisoners-of-war in Canada are mostly laborers and sailors, relieved from duty on British vessels and turned adrift. Naturally they headed for the United States border on the advice of their consuls and the secret agents who still, undoubtedly, infest the country. The Germans include a few army officers and several whose actions identified them as spies beyond question. The German majority, however, are sailors, but of the class occupying good positions, such as engineers and stewards. In point of daily conduct and disposition, the officers in charge at Fort Henry have no complaint against their wards, who are described as "a happy, contented, and clean-living lot of men."

LINE NEARLY FINISHED.

January Will See Last Spike In C.N. R. Transcontinental.

The Canadian Northern Railway, which since its inauguration eighteen years ago has been, perhaps, the most unique and interesting railroad enterprise on the continent, will complete its transcontinental trackage during the first month of 1915. The discouraging influences of war-time which have interfered drastically with railway extension in all parts of the world still find the Canadian Northern with nearly eight thousand men in the construction camps between Montreal and the Pacific.

In a recent interview, Sir William Mackenzie, president of the company, and who with Sir Donald Mann developed the road from a hundred-mile strip in Manitoba to a ten-thousand mile national "system," stated that January next should see the last rail in place—probably at some spot in British Columbia—and June, of 1915, would probably prove the opportune time for the commencement of freight and passenger traffic from Atlantic to Pacific.

Sir William went on to say that all heavy work on the main line was now over, and that what remained offered little likelihood of delay. Every factor in connection with the road, he believed, favored a useful and profitable future.

That the flow of emigration from the British Isles and Continental nations will continue Canada-wards after the war, Sir William declared to be his earnest conviction. Indeed, the war might be a stimulating factor in that it might attract the attention of thousands of agriculturists to a land immune from periodical slaughter.

There were now only 195 miles in the whole main line which were still untracked, said the president. Nearly all of this is graded. The gap in British Columbia trackage amounts to about 163 miles and about 32 miles between Sudbury and Montreal. The Sudbury-Port Arthur section, running about the head of Lake Superior, is now ready for operation while the long stretch from Toronto to Quebec has been utilized for some months and did signal service recently in the transportation of troops to Valcartier mobilization camp.

Asked as to the physical condition of the road, Sir William said that the highest standards of railway construction guided the company from the start. For a distance of 406 miles from the Pacific Coast, the maximum grade was only four-tenths of one per cent., and to the "summit" seven-tenths of one per cent. From Port Arthur eastward the maximum grade was four-tenths of one per cent. against eastbound traffic, and five-tenths of one per cent. against westbound. These facts established a record for transcontinentals, and were of vital importance in bringing operating costs down to a minimum.

As was the first tenet of his first venture into railroad-owning — in 1896—so Sir William to-day "pins his faith to the land." To his seasoned philosophy, as the land flourishes so will the railways flourish. Unlike several of the United States roads, the Canadian companies take seventy-five per cent. of their revenue from freight transportation, not from passengers, and the productivity of the farms first of all, and to a lesser degree the forests and the mines, is what creates the thing called freight.

Canadian Civic Progress.

To many of the visitors to the recent City Planning Conference in Toronto one of the most interesting features was the display of photographs and maps of Canadian cities. These had been gathered by the Commission of Conservation with the aid of the city officials and commercial organizations of the various municipalities.

The desire for a continuation of the work of the Commission of Conservation in the interest of intelligent city planning was indicated by a resolution adopted by the Canadian delegates before the adjournment of the conference. This resolution advocated "the creation of a special bureau on city planning in connection with the activities of the Commission of Conservation, to act as a central body to encourage and co-operate with provincial or other housing and town-planning organizations and thus to pursue the good already attained and furthermore anticipated — a good work which we believe will be welcomed by all classes of people of the Dominion."

To the delegates two facts were made very clear by the Canadian exhibits—the wonderfully rapid growth in size of many of the cities of the Dominion and the increasing attention which most of them are giving to city-planning and community welfare.

MARINE INSURANCE RATE ALMOST CUT IN TWO

Following Announcemont of Emden's Destruction and Capture of Koenigsberg

LONDON, Nov. 11. — News that was received here yesterday with rejoicing was to the effect that the Geman cruiser Emden, the "Flying Dutchman," terror of the Indian Ocean since the opening of the war, had been beached and burned by the Australian cruiser Sydney, in the Bay of Bengal, and at about the same time the German cruiser Koenigsberg was being bottled up at Mafia Island, off the coast of German East Africa, by the blocking of the channel to the harbor.

The Emden was outclassed in the running fight and the Sydney's shells set her afire before she was run aground. The loss of life among her officers and crew is reported to be heavy.

The Emden carried a complement of 361 men. She had destroyed 22 ships of the allies, her most daring feat being the destruction of the Russian cruiser Chemtchoug and a French torpedo-boat destroyer in the harbor of Penang, in the Straits of Malacca, after having shelled the city of Madras and inflicting great damage. The Koenigsberg, which had assisted the Emden in terrorizing British commerce on the Indian Ocean, had disabled the British cruiser Pegasus and accomplished other notable offensive work. It is with a feeling of great relief that the populace learns that these two ships are out of the running.

The Sydney, which carries about 400 men, has a main battery of nine 6-inch guns against the Emden's ten 4.1-inch guns, a decided advantage. The Emden's speed was 24.5 knots; that of the Sydney is 24.7 knots.

It was early Monday morning that the Sydney, in scouting, came upon the Emden. The German cruiser, immediately after sighting, and apparenting recognizing the Australian, made off at high speed. Although much heavier than the Emden, the Sydney knew her speed and lost not a moment in scudding after the German. Rounding her up the Sydney poured shell after shell at her. Unable to escape, the Emden stood off by Keeping, in the Coco Island group, and gave battle stoutly. After a sharp fight, in which the Emden was badly damaged by the Sydney's shells, the German cruiser ran ashore, blazing from the Australian's fire. Before making off the Sydney pumped a few more shells into the stranded boat. The Emden was completely destroyed and the loss of life was extremely heavy. It was reported that out of the 361 men aboard only 20 survived.

The casualties on the Sydney were three killed and 15 wounded. Among those saved from the Emden was Capt. Karl Von Muller.

With the exception of the German squadron now off the coast of Chile, the whole of the Pacifics and the Indian Ocean is now clear of the enemy's warships.

The First Lord of the Admiralty, Winston Churchill, has sent the following message to the Sydney and to the Navy Board of the Australian Commonwealth:

"Warmest congratulations on the brilliant entry of the Australian navy into the war and the signal service rendered to the allied cause and to peaceful commerce by the destruction of the Emden."

The claims of the contending armies in the eastern and western theatres of the war, especially as concerns the situation in west Flanders, dove-tailed in so few respects last night as to leave but one big fact on land or sea undisputed. That was the destruction of the German raider Emden and the trapping of the German cruiser Koenigsberg, the latter in a palm-lined East African river.

The British marine insurance rate was almost instantly cut in two. Cheers broke forth at Lloyd's on the announcement, and for the moment the struggles of the armies in Belgium, France, Russia and elsewhere were forgotten.

Precious stone imports in New York last month fell to about the lowest in any single month in the last twenty years, their value being fixed at only $494,102.

CAMPAIGN FOR HOME BUYING

At a recent meeting of Canadian manufacturers the intention was expressed of taking a five per cent. loss during the winter months in order that factories might be kept running and work supplied to employes. The meeting took place not very long ago. This same feeling is in all probability being felt throughout all Canada.

It means that instead of closing down the shops and thereby putting men out of work the companies are willing to take a loss and keep their workmen busy at least part of the time.

If the factory owners are willing to do this, how much more willing the buying public ought to be to see that as much work as possible is provided for their men.

A campaign such as is being waged just now was carried on in the city of Winnipeg a little more than a year ago. It was done for the purpose of building up Winnipeg. Instructive literature was scattered everywhere and the people of Winnipeg were made acquainted with the goods that are made there. Amongst other things a street car float was constructed. It paraded the principal streets and for a week a special effort was made in the way of advancing made-in-Winnipeg articles.

The idea which prompted this campaign was a purely business one. It was a matter of educating the citizens to the point where they would insist on "home-made" goods for the sake of building up their own city. It was thought worth while and it was.

Now then, the same idea is being pushed, not for the purpose of building up any one city, not for the purpose of concentrating activity on any one point, not for greater profits, but because every man must be kept in employment throughout Canada this winter — and every winter for that matter. If the scheme was good enough for Winnipeg it is good enough for Canada on a larger scale. "A full dinner pail means a prosperous city," has often been heard. Carry the thought further, wider and broader and the same argument holds good in regard to a country.

That is the sum and substance of the whole thing. It is not a campaign to increase profits. The first statement of this article proves that. It is not because any class of business men want to take advantage of the present situation to further their own interests. It is because of the realization that unless you and your household insist on buying, or at least giving preference to goods that are "made in Canada," the man who, under other circumstances would find employment in making those goods can be kept at work. If he can't be kept at work, he must be kept anyway, and the only other thing he can do is to ask for assistance through some organization to which you may be called upon to contribute.

What would you rather do? Wouldn't it be better to form another link in the chain of "home-buyers." Certainly it would. Then buy "made-in-Canada" goods. — Toronto World.

INDIVIDUAL AND GENERAL.

Once a man gets the habit of buying things made in his own country, he gets a satisfaction that he never enjoyed before. It's a good bit of human nature not to care where things are made so long as they fit the case. But it's a better and bigger part of selfish human nature to figure out how one's purchases help along the general movement of prosperity in his own country. In this co-operation between the individual and the general welfare, the personal effort of every man and woman counts when it comes to the big national push that gets the country out of the rut. Canada has a large army of workers to keep busy. The workers depend for their subsistence on thousands upon thousands of factories. The part played by one community in keying up this great empire of business depends precisely upon how many individuals take hold of the movement. In all great popular movements it is the five and ten cent purchases multiplied by the thousands upon thousands of people that register the popular goodwill. A big subscriber may write himself down for thousands and forget it. A thousand other people may go down for a few dollars each and the world can never forget the result they get for it.

Back To the Land.

The Department of Agriculture is growing more optimistic as to the placing of unemployed men on Ontario farms during the winter months. At first the response of the farmers was tardy, but apparently they were waiting to understand the situation better. Offers and requests for information along this line have been coming in steadily now for the past week.

Hon. James Duff, in his appeal to them, points out that whereas farm labor had always been scarce in the past, the number of unemployed men should now help to solve the problem. Many of them, he states, have had experience and others are willing to learn. He makes it a matter of patriotism also, and urges the farmers to take it to heart.

In many cases farmers have written offering $10 per month and board to inexperienced men, and others are quite willing to take them on a basis of board and lodging throughout the winter. There seems to be no let-up in the demand for experienced laborers, and these will be placed as usual.

Rapid Money-Making.

For rapid money-making it is doubtful whether any man who has ever lived has equalled the record of Mr. Macdonald, of Dawson City. Mr. Macdonald reached the Alaskan goldfields almost penniless. Three years later he owned nearly eighty mines, of an assessed value of $135,000,000. This means that he increased his wealth by $45,000,000 a year, by nearly four hundredweight of five dollar gold pieces every day, and nearly $5,000 an hour. In the purchase of many of his mines, Mr. Macdonald made more than a million sterling in a single deal.

Polite Hint.

People would be better pleased if that office seeker on the hill, who by the way has already more offices than he can hold down, would talk directly to the school trustees, instead of behind their backs, or sending some tool to do what he is not man enough to do himself. Also, if he had taught a school of forty-five children and thirteen classes, including a fifth and entrance class, he might be in better shape to criticize the teacher.—Udora cor. Uxbridge Times.

Ontario flour—Winter, 90 per cent. patents, $4.50 to $4.70; Montreal or Toronto freights, in bulk, nominal.

WINNIPEG GRAIN MARKET.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 10.—Wheat opened ⅛c to ¼c lower, oats unchanged to ⅛c down and flax 1c lower. An easier tone generally prevailed and Liverpool cables, which were ½d up from Saturday, had little or no influence. The continued heavy primary receipts in the States and more favorable news regarding the Argentine crop were the bearish factors. Cash oats were quiet. Barley was in good demand at slightly higher prices.

Inspections Monday were 626 cars, as against 1237 last year, and in sight were 500 cars.

MONTREAL GRAIN MARKET.

MONTREAL, Nov. 10.—The demand from foreign buyers for Manitoba spring wheat this morning was good, and sales of 25 loads were made, but owing to the weaker feeling in the Winnipeg market, and the decline in prices of over 1c per bushel, late cables came weaker at a decline of 2d to 6d per quarter, which naturally tended to check any further business being done.

There was no change in the condition of the local market, the demand for all lines of coarse grains being still somewhat limited. There was some demand from foreign buyers for spring wheat flour today, and, as the prices bid for the lower grades were in line with millers' views, sales of several round lots were made, but the bids for export patent were 3d to 1s per sack out of line.

The local trade continues quiet, but firm. Demand for millfeed continues good, and the market is more active, with a larger volume of business doing than for some time past.

The trade in butter is quiet, and principally of a local character. Cheese is firm. Eggs active and strong.

MINNEAPOLIS GRAIN MARKET.

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 10.—Wheat—No. 1 hard, $1.18; No. 1 northern, $1.14½ to $1.17; No. 2 do., $1.11½ to $1.16; December, $1.14.

Corn—No. 3 yellow, 61c to 68c.

Oats—No. 3 white, 44⅝c to 45¼c.

Flour—Fancy patents, $5.90; first clears, $4.75; second clears, $3.70.

Bran—Unchanged.

DULUTH GRAIN MARKET.

DULUTH, Nov. 10.—Wheat—No. 1 hard, $1.18⅝; No. 1 northern, $1.17⅝; No. 2 do., $1.14⅝; December, $1.15⅝.

MINOR LEAGUES STICK TO ORGANIZED BALL

Feds Have no Chance — List of Players Secured From Canadian Clubs — Ottawa Gets $500 for Mitchell

Omaha, Neb., Nov. 11.—After an all-night session of the arbitration board and conference of the officials of more than thirty minor leagues of the National Association of Professional Baseball Clubs, it was said a number of knotty problems, which have threatened to cause disruption in organized baseball, had been cleared up.

The action of the Central League, which held its meeting yesterday, and declared unequivocally against outlaw baseball, was believed to have sounded the keynote of the entire situation. Following the action of that body, other league officials freely indicated their intent to support the National agreement without regard to overtures made by those who have been inclined to favor an agreement with the Federal League.

Annual Report.

The annual report of Secretary John H. Farrell of the National Association of Professional Baseball Clubs says 300 cities and towns in the United States and Canada, comprising 42 leagues, qualified for membership at the beginning of the last season, and 39 leagues finished the season. Three Class D leagues disbanded and two did not start. More than 8,000 players had their contracts recorded, but only 1,349 had their terms promulgated. Out of 1,033 players suspended 319 were reinstated.

The association disbursed $301,870, divided as follows:

Drafted players by National and American Leagues and American Association, $89,850; optional agreements, $39,700; paid for release by purchase of American Association players, $187,870; returned under waiver rule, $4,450.

The list of drafted players for the coming year covers nearly every club in the association. The highest price paid is $2,500. The National League clubs secured eight players at that price and the American League one.

ANOTHER MATCH FOR CHAMPION

Buffalo, Nov. 11.—Freddie Welsh will make his next stand in defence of his world's lightweight crown against Jimmy Duffy at Buffalo on the night of November 19. C. J. Murray, matchmaker of the local club, which has a seating capacity equal to that of the Arena at Milwaukee, announced last night that two boxers' signatures attached to to articles of agreement which call for 137 pounds ringside.

This match will probably attract as large a crowd as the Welsh-White contest drew, because Duffy is easily the most popular boxer developed hereabouts since the days of Frank Erne.

The players secured from Canadian clubs include:

National League.

By Cinicinnati from Winnipeg, Dugan, $500.

By St. Louis from Victoria, Steele, $1,200.

By Chicago from Medicine Hat, Buckles, $500.

By Chicago from Toronto, Fisher, $2,500.

National Association.

OLD GUARD BACK AGAIN FOR Y.M.C.A. BASKETBALL

Athletic Stars of the Gym to Appear on Line-ups—First Game To-night

Real basketball weather is at hand, and every day finds a group of men and boys at the local Y. M. C. A. getting their eyes on the basket and their muscles in trim to put up a good article of this most popular indoor game.

All indications point to the most successful basketball season in years. Many of the old boys who have the reputation of being the fastest that ever played the game in Peterboro, are back, and the way they are caging the ball shows that they have not lost their eye for the basket, and the speed they display in covering the floor will make some of the youngsters pant before the season is over. Among the old-timers who are back will be found Ross Dobbin, who learned the game in the local association and had such good training that he made the Varsity team his first year in college; he also managed Varsity. Ross is chairman of the basketball committee, which assures the followers of the game lots of sport. He will also lead a team for the business men in the league, which is starting this week. Ray Best, W. Richardson, G. Robertson, H. B. Cowan, P. McCarrell will be some of the prominent figures on Dobbin's team.

Charlie Sisson, another faithful worker, will lead a team for the junior business men, and he has same A class material.

The Cressman Co. is entering a team with both Harry and Fred on it. Fred holds the laurels for being a forward of the highest calibre, and is a hard man to stop once he gets going. The Cressman boys will put in a team that will make them all travel.

There will be three teams from the senior class, led by Claud Bartlett, Walter Flowers, and Bill Pew. The youngsters have all got lots of fire and dash.

The Young Men's Excelsior Club of the George Street Church will enter a team under the leadership of Alex. Darling, while St. Paul's will be led by D. Loucks.

If there are enough men who want to play and do not find a place on one of these eight teams, they will be taken care of in another league.

These games will not interfere with the regular gymnasium class work. While there are some games played on Monday and Wednesday nights they will come after the regular period.

Schedule.

THE CANADIAN LEAGUE TO REMAIN IDLE IN 1915 BECAUSE OF WAR

Asks Permission to Close Parks — General Sentiment Was in Favor of Granting Request — To be Decided To-day

Omaha, Nov. 11.—B. B. Johnson, President of the American League, felt for home last night after the National Association had given assurance that it would continue to give hearty support to organized ball.

He declined to discuss the probability of opening the arms of organized baseball to receive the Federal League, but said: "We are now in a satisfactory working position. I shall meet Charles Weeghman in Chicago on Thursday and discuss the probable change in ownership of the Cubs. Later there will be a conference between the National Commission and minor leagues, which, we expect, will result in again placing organized ball on a sound footing."

Charles Ebbets made it plain that the Brooklyn club was not to change hands. Yesterday's session of the minor league organization, with the exception of the adoption of the resolution pledging adherence to organized ball, was routine in character.

The Canadian Northwest League and the Canadian League have asked for permission to close their parks during 1915 on account of the European war, and the general sentiment was in favor of granting their request.

BIG ED. WALSH TO LEAD SOX

Famous Veteran May Succeed Jimmy Callahan

Chicago, Nov. 11.—Ed. Walsh may be the next manager of the White Sox. This is not an announcement by President Comiskey, but a fan close to the old Roman gives it as his opinion that the next leader of the Southsiders will be the famous spitball pitcher, who is now a bench warmer for the team. It is not definite that Jimmy Callahan will remain at the head of the team next season, but rumors have been coming so thick there must be some truth to the Walsh boom.

It is known that Comiskey thinks the world of Walsh. He believes the veteran pitcher could inspire the team with the proper fighting spirit, which is something the club lacked woefully ever since Callahan took charge.

That Walsh is fited for the job is certain, although there has been no indication in the past that the big pitcher had managerial ability. He always has shown a fighting spirit, and such is 75 per cent. of the make-up of a successful leader. Callahan has plenty of fight, but cannot instil it into his players.

WELCOME TEA FOR BANDMASTER BEER

Last evening the Temple bandsmen and their wives sat down to a welcome tea to Bandmaster F. W. Beer, late of Calgary, who is now bandmaster of the Temple band.

After the tea welcome, speeches were given by Band-Secretary Hensley, Corps. Secretary Gandy; Young People's Bandmaster Blunt, Songster Leader Moyses, and Mrs. McElhiney. Bandmaster Beer made a few remarks, and the band adjourned to the band hall where an hour was spent in practice, under the new bandmaster, who made a splendid impression upon the men.

Well, well! The stock yards have been closed. Please pass the finnan haddie.

CHEESEMAKERS CONTRIBUTE NEARLY $1000 FOR FUND

Mr. Gillespie Cleaned the Board at This Morning's Meeting

The final meeting of the Cheese Board for the present season was held this morning and was featured by the report of Secretary Hawthorne, on the donations to the Patriotic Fund. It was as follows:

Stoney Lake $23.75, Keene $57.40, Warminster $50.00, Shearer $88.50, Selwyn $71.24, Missing Link $45.00, Villiers $62.61, Warsaw $97.53, Westwood $95.00, North Dummer $35.00, Myrtle $40.00, Young's Point $32.25, Lang $87.07, East Emily $60.00, Treewern $67.35, Fleetwood $78.62. Total $991.32.

On motion of G. Coughlin of Hastings and W. Anderson of Keene, the secretary was instructed to write Mr. G. G. Publow and urge that the services of local instructors Cameron and Ward be secured again for next year.

A motion thanking the Bank of Montreal for the use of their chamber was carried unanimously and it was also decided to give the janitor the usual remuneration of $5.00.

The meeting passed a vote of thanks to the officers and decided to hold the annual meeting first meeting next year, the date for which will be set by the president and secretary.

The following cheese were boarded:—

Keene 40, Warminster 85, Shearer 100, Selwyn 70, Villiers 70, Warsaw 115, Westwood 90, Oakdale 96, Daisy D. 63, Myrtle 100, Ormonde 120, Young's Point 35, Lang 115, Indian River 60, East Emily 53, Treewern 38, Norwood 125, Fleetwood 43, Killarney 20. Total 1,428.

The bidding was: Thompson 14¼, Flavelle 14 3-8, Gillespie 14 7-16, Cook 14½, Gillespie 14 9-16, Cook 14⅝, Gillespie 14 11-16. For 14 11-16 Mr. Gillespie secured the total amount boarded.

DONATIONS OF POST OFFICE EMPLOYES

A communication has been received from Ottawa to the effect that in the case of those employes of the post-office who "wish to contribute one day's pay to the Canadian Patriotic Fund, the Postmaster is informed that the amount contributed should be turned over to the local Patriotic Fund in each city and town where this has not been done. Measures at Ottawa under the Patriotic Fund Act have been taken to insure its success, and the local organizations should keep in touch with it.

The Imperial Musical Company

An attraction that is setting the pace in all the Canadian cities this season is the Imperial Musical Comedy Company headed by the well known comedians Feldman and Christie assisted by a large and beautiful chorus of singing and dancing girls, which will open a week's engagement at the Grand Opera House, commencing on Monday, Nov. 16th, with matinees on Wednesday and Saturday. It is a clean cut offering free from the vulgarity and can be enjoyed by the most refined woman without the need of a blush. In the cast are such well known artists as Feldman and Christie, Bert Jackson, Victor Bayard, Agnes Geary, Ollie Payne, and many others who have been connected with many of the late Broadway successes. As a special feature the management have secured Mr. Victor Bayard and Miss Agnes Geary, both pupils of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Castle who will offer a selection of society's latest dances at each performance, also the Imperial Trio of harmony singers offering all the late New York song hits.

Cue Expert Makes Some Fine Shots

Prof. McLean in the Gentlemen's Pool Room over the Royal Theatre last evening gave two exhibitions of trick shots with the cue. His variety is very good and met with general favor. His handpool introduced a lot of curves that had Big Bill James' twisters looking like straight balls. Prof. McLean will be present again tonight and give exhibitions at eight and ten thirty.

CIVILIAN RIFLE ASSOCIATION

A meeting of the Peterboro Civilian Rifle Association will be held at the armouries Thursday at 8 p.m. and it is important that every member be present, as drill instruction will be given and the members formed into companies.

New members will be welcomed.

CASE RELATES TO CORDAGE CO.

Plantiffs Take Action to Recover Amount of Note

The non-jury sitting of the High Court before His Honor Mr. Justice Kelly opened this afternoon. The only case coming before this sitting is that of the Bank of Ottawa vs. R. R. Hall, to secure payment of a note for $10,000, which the defendant, it is alleged, gave the bank as security for indebtedness of the Canadian Cordage Co., of which he was president.

The company is now in liquidation and defendant claims that the debt the security for which this note was issued, has been paid, and that the note should be returned. The plaintiff claims that this note should be held as a continued security against possible liabilities before the affairs of the company are wound up.

The solicitors for the Bank of Ottawa are G. M. Shipley, K. C., Toronto, and G. W. Hatton, of this city, and for the defendant G. H. Watson, K. C., Toronto, and S. T. Medd of this city.

The case is proceeding.

INITIATIONS BY LODGE OF A.O.U.W.

Peterboro Lodge A.O.U.W. held their regular meeting last evening in the C.O.F. Hall, Simcoe St. Five applications were presented for membership by Organiser A. Nicholls of this city who has recently been appointed for this district. After the initiation a very interesting address and talk was given by Bro. B. Armstrong of Toronto who was present. A very enjoyable time was spent.

An open meeting has been arranged for Nov. 24th, the next regular meeting. Org. Nicholls is a resident of this city and very popular, being the organist at Mark Street Methodist Church. He has the good wishes of all the members in this new position.

DISARMAMENT OF THE NATIONS

Mayor Buller has called a meeting to take place at the Council Chamber tomorrow night at eight o'clock, the object of which is to promote a movement for the complete disarmament of every nation and provide for compulsory arbitration, when the present war is brought to a close.

Rev. Mr. Rollins, Rev. Father McColl, Rev. Canon Davidson, G. N. Gordon, J. J. Hartley, H. G. Walker, Ald. Johnston and others will speak. It is requested that citizens make it a point to attend.

Mayor and Citizens Thanked by Soldiers

Mayor Buller is in receipt of the following letter:

His Worship the Mayor,
W. H. Buller, Esq.,
and Citizens of Peterboro:

We, the members of the 57th Regiment, of E. Company, volunteers for the 21st Battalion of the Second Canadian Overseas Contingent, wish to take this opportunity to state our appreciation of the way in which the Peterboro citizens showed their patriotism and good fellowship towards us on our departure.

No words could properly express our thanks for the same. It has shown that the spirit of the citizens was quite in accord with our action and has made the effect that we must and will do our best to uphold the good reputation and good results in our endeavor to stand by a right and just cause.

Our especial thanks are due to the speakers of Tuesday, November 3, at the Armouries, for their good advice and kind words; also to the ladies of the Patriotic Fund Committee for their kindness in supplying the luncheon, and also the parcels containing handworked Balaclava caps and wristlets; also to the officers of the Regimental Fund for their monetary assistance to us and for the luncheon supplied to us en route to Kingston.

Again thanking all concerned, we remain,

True to serve His Majesty,
King George V.
For representatives, volunteers of 57th Regiment of Peterboro.

PATRIOTIC NIGHT WITH COURT STANLEY, PICTURES OF THE WAR

Court Stanley celebrated its twenty-fifth anniversary last evening with a Patriotic meeting open to the public. Bro. Fred Butt, Superintendent of Organization, was present with stereoptican views of the war and with a stirring address told of how the present war had wiped out the A. O. F. membership in Belgium. Court Stanley has 14 members with the first contingent.

Patriotic songs were the order of the evening, rendered by Messrs. R. Hendry, Lewis and Edwards. The singers of It's a Long Way to Tipperary brought down the house. The singing of the National Anthem brought the meeting to a close, with everybody having spent an enjoyable time.

NO CHANGE IN POSITIONS HELD BY BRITISH ARMY

Violent Fighting, With Alternative Advances and Retirements Without Importance, The French Statement

BRITISH REPULSE ATTACKS

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

PARIS, Nov. 12 — The official statement this afternoon says:

"On our left wing fighting still continues with violence, and has been conducted with alternate advances and retirements, without importance.

"Speaking broadly, the battlefront has not varied greatly since the tenth of November.

"There has been no change in the positions held by the British army, which repulsed attacks of the enemy and particularly an offensive movement undertaken by a detachment of the Prussian Guard.

"In the Craonne region we silenced and destroyed several of the enemy's guns."

BRITISH ADMIRAL ACQUITTED BY COURT-MARTIAL.

WEYMOUTH, Nov. 12. — Admiral Troubridge, second in command of the Mediterranean fleet, was today acquitted by a court-martial of neglect in permitting the escape of the German cruisers Goeben and Breslau at the beginning of the war.

Admiral Milne, formerly in command of the Mediterranean fleet, was previously exculpated from similar charges.

QUEEN MARY VISITS WOUNDED SOLDIERS.

LONDON, Nov. 12. — Queen Mary visited the American Women's Hospital at Paignton, Devonshire, where two hundred seriously wounded soldiers are receiving treatment. The Queen was enthusiastic in praise of everything in connection with the hospital. She exchanged a word of greeting with every man, chatting with several, and congratulating all on their courage, and thanking them for their services to the nation.

SERBS ANNIHILATE AUSTRIAN INFANTRY

Six Battalions Cut up in Counter-Attack --- Two Quick Firing Guns and 20,000 Prisoners Taken

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

Nish, Servia, Nov. 12.—Six battalions of Austrian infantry with quick-firing guns, which crossed the Danube near Smederevo, under cover of artillery fire on November 9 have been annihilated by a Servian counter-attack, according to official information given out in Nish today.

"All the men not killed, wounded or drowned in the Danube, fell into our hands," the Servian announcement continued.

"We made 20,000 prisoners and captured two quick-firing guns."

CAME TO LIFE.

Charitable Ladies Imposed on by Supposed Needy Family.

(Belleville Ontario.)

Some people are trying to "put it over" on the Hamilton United Relief Association. Two well known ladies of that city stated that while visiting a family supposed to be in dire straits they were badly swindled. They went into the house and found the husband supposedly dead in bed with a sheet drawn over him. They gave the family a gorgeous contribution to bury the body and then went home. On the way back, however, one of the ladies discovered that she had lost her purse. She returned to the house and, much to her surprise, saw the "corpse" counting over the money with the rest of the family and laughing at the gullibility of their benefactors. In all probability a police court case will follow.

Repeal Local Option By-Law In Lakefield

Lakefield, Nov. 12.—A by-law for the repeal of local option will be placed before the electors at the January elections, council having granted the petition signed by A. G. Lawless and others, making in all over one hundred signatures.

NEW MAGISTRATE CONGRATULATED

Kind Sentiments Expressed by Members of Bar to Magistrate Langley

O. A. Langley, recently appointed to the position of county magistrate, was the recipient of congratulatory references at the opening session of the County Police Court held yesterday in Havelock, where he presided. C. A. Ghent, solicitor in Havelock, on behalf of the law association, referred to the esteem in which the new magistrate was held, and hoped that His Worship's relations with the members of the profession would always be of a most friendly character.

Magistrate Langley replied, expressing his appreciation of their kindly attitude and paying tribute to the long service and invariable fairness of his predecessor, Mr. Geo. Edmison, K. C.

In the case of Sutton versus Cole, heard in court, in which the defendant was charged with wilful damage to a fence, judgment was reserved.

JUDGMENT RESERVED IN CORDAGE CO. CASE

His Honor Mr. Justice Kelly of Toronto reserved judgment today in the case of the Bank of Ottawa vs. R. R. Hall, to secure payment of a note for $10,000 which the defendant gave the bank as a security for indebtedness of the Canadian Cordage Co., of which he was president. The defence claimed that the note was made as an accommodation for the Cordage Co. and security for a then existing indebtedness which has since been paid by the assets of the company, now in liquidation.

The plaintiff contended that the note should be held as a continued security against possible liabilities before the affairs of the company are wound up.

OFFICIALS OF G.T.R. ARE IN THE CITY

Vice-President Logan, Solicitor W. C. Chisholm, and Land Commissioner E. Donald, of the G. T. R. System, are in the city this afternoon conferring with E. G. Patterson, superintendent, and E. H. D. Hall, solicitor, of the Canadian General Electric Co., Mayor Buller and the City Solicitor, in connection with the leasing of the old Chemong Division of the G. T. R., to be used as a test track for the C. G. E., who are contemplating manufacturing electric motorcars.

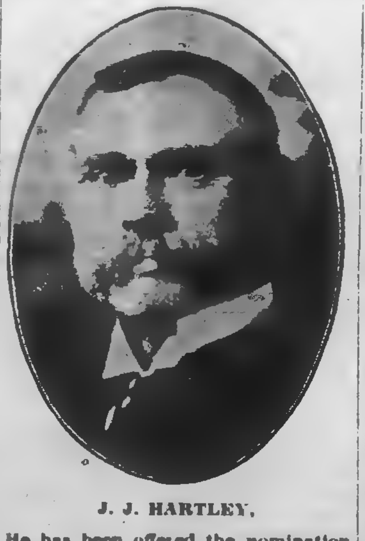
Labor in Council

J.J. Hartley is Asked to Run as Candidate for Mayor's Chair

There are possibilities of an extensive labor slate in the next municipal elections.

At a general meeting of labor men in the Labor Hall last night, members of the various unions expressed their opinions in regard to the matter, and all agreed that labor should be represented in the City Council. The names of several men were placed before the meeting, and nomination was tendered them, each being given till next Wednesday to consider the question and give an answer.



J. J. HARTLEY,

He has been offered the nomination of the Trades and Labor Council as Labor candidate for the mayoralty.

J. J. Hartley, who jumped into the fight, after some hesitation, last year, and polled nine hundred votes in a three-cornered battle, was asked to be Labor's candidate in the mayoralty contest next January, but he did not give a decided answer. He said he was not an office-seeker and that he did not want to be a candidate. He believed that if the labor men put their shoulders to the wheel they could elect a labor man as mayor and place supporters of labor in the Council. Mr. Hartley was, however, inclined to liken some labor men to the Israelites, who, when under bondage by the Egyptians, were quite contented with their lot.

GERMAN CRUISERS REPORTED SUNK

War Observers Concentrate Attention on Flanders --- Foe is Less Than Fifty Miles From Calais

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

LONDON, Nov. 12. — The attention of war observers, attracted for some time by the Russian successes, is again concentrated on Flanders. With Dixmude in their possession the Germans are less than fifty miles from Calais and much nearer than that to Dunkirk. The fight they have been putting up in the face of tremendous losses seems to bear out the oft-repeated threat that they will not abandon the struggle to reach the coast unless they are utterly crushed, and time will tell whether they are to succeed in this undertaking or whether, as the French and English predict, the occupation of Dixmude is only temporary. Fighting around Lombaertzyde is virtually on the shore of the channel, and it is not understood here why British warships are not again participating.

LONDON, Nov. 12. — A report was current in the lobbies of the House of Commons this afternoon that three German cruisers had been sunk in the Pacific at a place not specified. No confirmation is obtainable.

PETROGRAD, Nov. 12. — A despatch from Constantinople says the Turkish cruiser Goeben was penetrated by a shell at her water line during the recent bombardment of the Dardanelles by the Anglo-French fleet. The damage inflicted is serious.

"MEN WHO CAN SHOOT AND QUICK"

If you can handle a rifle, and even if you can't, your presence is urgently desired tonight at a meeting to be held in the armouries at eight. There are scores of men in the city who couldn't hit the proverbial barn door but whose marksmanship could be vastly improved by a little practice. The idea that lies back of the meeting this evening is to arrange for a home defence corps similar to corps organized in the cities of Toronto and Montreal. In the opinion of the officers of the rifle association who are calling the meeting, every man should heed Kitchener's demand for "men who can shoot and quick."

RURAL DEANERY.

The 16th annual conference of the Archdeaconry of Peterboro will be held at Port Hope on the 16th, 17th and 18th inst., when Rev. C. W. Holdsworth, B.A., of Havelock, Secretary of the Archdeaconry, will deliver an address on "The effect of rubrical lawlessness upon the life of the Church."

MAYOR BULLER.

His Worship announced today that he would accept the office of Mayor of Peterboro for 1915, to which he is entitled, by virtue of his work of the past year, and the customary rule of mayors serving a two year term, if it is offered to him by acclamation.

SON OF EAST CITY MAN CRUSHED TO DEATH IN RAILWAY ACCIDENT

Bert Succee, the second son of Mr. Joseph Succee, 169 Hunter street east, met an untimely death last night when he was crushed between some cars at Tiffin, about three miles from Midland.

It is stated that Succee was on the step of the van, when a freight train backed into some standing cars. He had been with the G. T. R. for about five years, getting his first experience on trains that passed through Peterboro.

Mr. Joseph Succee left today for Midland to take charge of the remains. He is expected back tonight.

The late Mr. Succee resided in Lindsay, and leaves a wife and child to mourn his loss.

ATTACKED BY DEER WHILE IN CANOE, HUNTER DIES

Wm. Hughie Succumbs to Effects of Injuries and Exposure, at Buck Lake.

LINDSAY, Nov. 12.—Wm. Hughie, jr., of Wilberforce, lost his life on Tuesday while on a hunting expedition with a friend at Buck Lake, five miles south of that village. A deer which he had wounded attacked him in the lake, upsetting his canoe and pouncing upon him while in the water. Salem Cornell, who was in the woods near the lake, heard him shout for help, and hurrying to the lake made heroic efforts to save the life of his companion. Not having another boat, he swam out, and finally succeeded in getting Hughie to shore alive, but he died shortly afterwards from the wounds inflicted by the deer and from exposure in the ice-cold water.

Operations for Outfall Sewer

Few people are aware of the extensive operations that are taking place in the southern part of the city, near the river, in connection with the outfall sewer.

Considerable difficulty is being experienced with the water, though it was not an obstacle that was unforeseen, still it delays somewhat the speed that could be obtained otherwise. The sewer is about 14 feet deep at this point, and forms the deepest section of the sewer. About 75 feet of pipe have been laid. The men succeed in laying about six pipes every day. In every two feet in the trench, is embedded a plank and on top of these planks are laid two planks 12 feet long on which the pipe is placed. This proceeding insures a perfect bed for the pipe, and practically makes it impossible for the pipe to part at the joints.

It is necessary on account of the ground to have a double shoring on each side of the trench. The outside shoring is of three inch planks and the inside one is a steel shoring.

About twenty men are employed and under the circumstances the work is progressing very favorably.

AN OFFER OF $2500 FOR PATRIOTIC FUND

Mr. R. M. Waddell, has made an offer of a handsome donation, which should act as an incentive to officers of the Patriotic Fund and the citizens. Mr. Waddell says if the citizens will boost the Patriotic Fund, $50,000 over and above the amount already subscribed, he will make up the last $2,500.

EYE-WITNESS DESCRIBES FEAT OF LONDON SCOTTISH; HEROISM OF TERRITORIALS

LONDON, Nov. 12. — The official press bureau issues descriptive account, which has been communicated by an eye-witness present with General Headquarters.

"On Saturday, Oct. 31," says the writer, "being ordered to take up a section of the firing line to support some of our cavalry, and having advanced to its position under heavy fire from the field guns, howitzers and machine guns, the battalion reached a point where further movement forward was impossible. There it maintained itself until dusk, when it proceeded to entrench.

"From 9 o'clock that night until 2 a.m. Sunday the Germans made numerous attacks on the Scottish line, all of which were repulsed by rifle fire. At 2 a.m. they made their great effort and assaulted the front and left of the position in great force. A considerable number succeeded by a detour in getting around the flank of the regiment. A large proportion of these were engaged by the companies in support and reserve, while others penetrated between the first and second lines of trenches and assailed our firing line in the rear.

"While the fighting with rifle and bayonet was going on, both in front and immediately behind the firing line, a reserve company still farther behind made repeated bayonet charges against the enemy who had got around and so prevented the entire envelopment of the battalion. Behind the firing line the scene of combat was lit by a blazing house, which the Germans had set alight.

"At dawn its was discovered that large numbers of the enemy had, according to custom, worked around both flanks with machine guns, and a retirement was carried out. This was effected under a cross-fire from machine guns and rifles.

"Naturally in an encounter of this nature the battalion suffered a heavy loss, but, though unable to maintain its position, it acquitted itself with gallantry and coolness in a situation of peculiar difficulty."

PETERBOROUGH, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 12, 1914

THAT PEACE MEETING.

MAYOR BULLER has called, at the instance of a number of gentlemen, a meeting to take place in the Council Chamber tonight. The object of this meeting is to promote a movement for complete disarmament of the nations when the present war is over, and to provide for compulsory arbitration. Well-intentioned as the gentlemen interested undoubtedly are, the proposal seems to be ill-timed and to be aiming at an impossible object. The peace movement has been widely extended and important, yet it failed utterly to prevent this war. Germany regarded it as a serious menace to her policy of force, and also as a sign of weakness in the nations furthering it. The present conflict has caused great waves of loyalty to roll around the Empire, as well as over the other countries involved in the war. The war spirit has been aroused, that most potent force in nationality which brooks not "the lilies and langours of peace." It demands armies and battleships if for no other reason than that these have preserved national safety and trade in the present struggle. To try to combat the tide of public opinion which is fortified by this great war is to imitate the foolish conceit of King Canute when he sat on the sea-shore and forbade the tide to come in. The waves naturally ridiculed the king's command, and, at the same time humiliated his flatterers. As to compulsory arbitration, who will enforce it and how will it be done?

GERMANS HAVE CHANGED THEIR MINDS.

IT IS EVIDENT that all Germany expected the present war to be of short duration. "Paris in four weeks, London in six," was a kind of proverb among them. Over three months have passed, and Paris is not yet even besieged, let alone taken. What is of much more importance, however, is the capacity of Germany to stand a struggle much longer than she anticipated. The German semi-official press has even admitted that the war will be longer than they thought, and that conservation of food supplies must be the rule.

The "Norddeutsche Allgemeine Zeitung," in a long article regarding the maximum prices of provisions, says: "We must prepare for a war which will last beyond the present harvest year. We must not reckon only for the time till the next harvest, but must enter upon the next harvest year with similar stocks as large as those of this year. As Germany produces a surplus of rye, the question to be considered is that of ensuring the wheat reserve. Our wheat must be made to last longer."

The "Nordeutsche" concludes that Germany has sufficient corn for bread for the army and the population till the next harvest, but it is necessary to husband her resources and to enter on the new year with sufficient reserves, as Germany must be able to hold out till lasting peace is secured.

Dr. Bernhard Dernberg, until recently Germany's colonial minister, and now sojourning in the United States as one of the Kaiser's numerous press agents, has contributed to the American Review of Reviews an article on Germany's food supply. He has tried to show that Germany is self-suporting in the matter of food and can live on her own food resources for an indefinite period.

Possibly too much emphasis has been placed on the significance of Germany's importations and on her dependence on imported food supplies. It is true, however, that food prices are rising rapidly in both Germany and Austria, and these rising prices indicate increasing scarcity. Through the ports of Antwerp, Hamburg, Rotterdam and Bremen Germany has imported on an average about a million and a half tons of grain and other food supplies per month. From Russia, Denmark, Norway and Sweden, enormous quantities were also imported, and from all these ports supplies have been either completely cut off or greatly restricted.

In an interview with a large Dutch importer of grain and flour, this importer says in the North Western Miller, that he refused to contract for the purchase of 500,000 sacks of American flour for delivery in Germany by way of Holland, and continues:

> "In the newspapers I have seen, we are told that Germany can feed herself for at least a year. This is as big a lie as was ever told. My opinion is that they are badly short already, and as a grain man I know the condition which existed before the war. Of all the tremendous quantities of North and South American grain which Germany bought, nothing will reach her, and I do wonder how she is getting away from starvation.
>
> "Parties in Holland had orders to buy up all bacon, meat, rice, eggs, etc., they could get. With automobiles they went all round the country, but they did not get much.
>
> "For Germany, the vital point within very little time will be how to get grain, etc., and she is already making desperate efforts in that direction. No one knows her wants better than grain men in Holland, for we are in exactly the same position as they are. I was shown a list yesterday containing the names of some seventy-eight steamers all with Germany for destination, and mostly carrying grain. Hamburg importers were making inquiries re these, but of course none will get there. Merchants over there are deprived of any goods. Their goods for which they paid have been seized, and absolute ruin is staring them in the face."

If Germany could control the sea, her food supply would be safe. It is very probable that lack of food resources will prove as powerful a weapon of attack against Germany as the heaviest siege guns on the battle line.

WHAT IT MEANS TO HAVE A NAVY.

EVER SINCE the war started the exploits of the German cruiser Emden have figured in the press reports. In the majority of cases these reports chronicled the loss of a British ship, and, so industrious was this cruiser, that she has done damage to British marine to the extent of at least $10,000,000, which does not include the cargos. The honour of striking a fatal blow at the Emden fell to the Australian battleship Sydney, against whose more powerful guns the Emden could not stand. It is to be noted that this ship was not destroyed until after the fall of the German town of Tsing Tau, although it is not stated that this had anything to do with the defeat of the Emden. What is of more importance is that as soon as London knew of the defeat of this warship, the insurance rates on shipping east of Suez dropped fifty per cent. Had Australia done nothing for Empire defence, her trade might have been badly damaged for a considerably longer time.

Besides this, the Koenigsberg has been bottled up, and a strong squadron of British and Japanese ships, released from the siege of Tsing Tau, is scouring the Pacific for the German squadron that recently defeated Sir Christopher Craddock off the coast of Chili. With these destroyed or captured, the high seas all around the world will be comparatively free, the two places where hostile ships are being the North Sea and the Dardanelles, in both of which they are well looked after by British and French warships of the most powerful type. In the meantime, merchant ships can follow their routes, which they could not do were it not for the fleets.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

THE REPORT of the work of the Public Archives, Ottawa, has just been received by the Review. It shows that much good work, valuable for historical research, has been done. In regard to making the calendars of letter collections or other summaries of documents, we think it would be advisable to state the author in the reports, as in that case inquiries over some dubious or obscure points would be facilitated. Owing to frequent changes in the Archives staff, the compilers get into other employments, and touch with them is lost. This is merely a suggestion, however, which may have its objections.

DID YOU shovel the snow off your walk?

The Cause of Civilization.

(Saturday Review.)

Through the whole negotiations British diplomacy shows itself straight, clean, and sensible, seeking peace rather than war, but preferring war to dishonour and the breaking of a formal bond. That is the reason why the cause for which we are fighting is recognised as the cause of civilisation, and why German diplomacy has been universally condemned in neutral countries, even apart from its blundering and hectoring explanations that the war has been fastened upon Germany by jealous Allies seeking their own advantage. Britain's hands were free—until Germany forced them. Our diplomacy has been built upon a solid basis, compact of self-interest and the interest of the smaller nations; and the world frankly recognises that the position was both understandable and correct, and the means by which we have defended that position necessary to our self-respect. Our obligation to Belgium was to us a just thing, and in the words of Cromwell, "We thought, being denied just things, we thought it our duty to get that by the sword which was not to be got otherwise. And this hath been the spirit of Englishmen."

Little Known European States.

(Westminster Gazette.)

The seizure by the Germans of the Prince of Monaco's mansion near Reims has brought the baby State of Monaco into the limelight of the great European upheaval, Prince Albert having appealed to the neutral powers against the demand of the Germans for a huge ransom, failing which they have threatened to blow up his chateau. Monaco itself is well out of the war zone, but there are several small independent States which have become involved in the war without their consent. On the borders of Belgium and Germany lie the 1,500 acres which comprise the Republic of Moresnet, which has enjoyed independence for a century, but which in all probability has been ridden roughshod over by the German troops. It is hardly likely, too, that Liechtenstein, squeezed in between Austria and Germany, has been able to keep out of the trouble, though it has a nominal independence and a reigning sovereign.

Germany Getting Pessimistic.

(Montreal Journal of Commerce.)

A Hollander who has been in Germany since the outbreak of war declares that a spirit of pessimism pervades the German people at the present time. The first burst of enthusiasm following the German advance to Paris has been replaced by fears that Germany will shortly be invaded instead of being the invader. The writer also states that the people in Berlin are suffering from a scarcity of coal, and that food is becoming scarce, and high priced. The most depressing effects, however, are caused by the trainloads of wounded coming from the front, and the widespread rumors that things are not going at all well with the German forces. We do not know how much faith to put in this particular correspondent's despatches, but it would not be at all surprising if he had made a pretty accurate surmise of the situation.

THE PEACE MEETING.

Editor, Review:

Sir,—The gentlemen who have petioned the Mayor asking him to hold a peace meeting in the Council Chamber tonight are likely to give the people of this city and of the province, and indeed of all places within reach of the telegraph the idea that we are not in full sympathy and accord with Great Britain in this war. Canon Davidson, Judge Huycke, E. A. Peck and others appear in the Examiner as having signed the petition. It might be supposed that humble individuals like myself sympathised with the efforts of these gentlemen at this juncture. I do not sympathize with them and for various good reasons I deem it important that I should place myself on record to that effect. When Britain is at war Canada should be at war, and while I have the utmost respect for the gentlemen whose names appear, I cannot possibly think it wise or respectful for us to talk peace or in any other way forestall the conduct of the war to a successful completion. Academic discussions are well enough, but not now, and not by us, and not on the subject in hand. With all due respect, I remain,

J. H. BURNHAM.

DISARMAMENT.

Editor, Review:

Sir,—A public meeting has been called for tonight at the Council Chamber. The object is to take advantage of the present conditions (the horrors and disorganization caused by war) to foster a movement which would result in disarmament at the end of the war.

If we believe in the British position, that Britain is fighting militarism, then we must see that such a movement is in full suport of the position, and cold comfort to our enemies.

The mass of the people of any civilized land are against war, so why have armaments to give opportunity for the few to exploit the many?

Arbitration and an international police are but a natural sequence to disarmament.

Yours truly,

J. S. BELL.

COMPULSORY PEACE MEETING.

Editor Review,

Sir,—It is a matter of surprise to many of your readers that the Mayor could call a public meeting in response to a petition from a usual lot of ikes who do not care what they sign or what they say. In Manchester there was a lot of people who were always into every crazy thing. This meeting is to demand "compulsory arbitration" and perfect peace. It is "compulsory arbitration" that we are having now. Is not Britain and her allies trying to compel Germany to listen to reason. Is this the kind of thing in the name of peace that the Pickwick Club will discuss Thursday evening?

Yours truly,

S. O. E.

OFFICIAL BULLETINS

PARIS, Nov. 12.—The French War Office issued the following statement last night:

"The enemy has continued all day his effort of Tuesday, without accomplishing any new result. He has directed against Lombaertsyde a counter attack which has been repulsed, and has made vain attempts to debouch from Dixmude on the left bank of the Yser.

"There is nothing new to report from the rest of the front."

The afternoon bulletin said:

"On our left wing the battle was resumed yesterday from early dawn, with intensity particularly marked between Nieuport and the Lys. In a general way our front has been maintained in spite of the violence and strength of the German attacks directed against some of our points of support.

"To the north of Nieuport we have been able to reoccupy Lombaertsyde and to advance beyond that locality, but toward the end of the day the Germans succeeded in getting possession of Dixmude. However, we are still holding on to the outskirts of that village along the Nieuport Canal.

"At Ypres, which has been solidly occupied, the fight has been very hot. The British troops, who have been attacked at many points, have everywhere halted the enemy.

"Along the rest of the front the general situation continues unchanged, save for progress made by our forces north of Soissons and in the regions west of Vailly, on the right bank of the Aisne. With the exception of these two positions the state of the weather has permitted only local activity, which was everywhere in our favor. Especially at Coincourt (three kilometres north of the forest of Parroy), we have particularly scattered a detachment of the enemy's forces."

Nearly Spoiled.

"Well," said the editor, "how about that high life scandal story? Is it true?"

"No, sir," said the reporter.

"No facts at all?"

"Not a chance."

"Everything denied?"

"Absolutely."

"Good heavens, cut it down to half a page then!"—Yale Record.

Reports reaching Pekin from Harbin, Manchuria, set forth that Russia is transporting her European prisoners of war as far east as Vladivostok.

At Shannonville an evaporator, the property of William Elliott, was destroyed by fire yesterday. The building with machinery was valued at $3,000.

The ship Tellus, chartered by the American commission for relief in Belgium, landed 1,200 tons of food in Rotterdam yesterday. Three thousand tons of foodstuffs have been rushed inland.

Certain points in Friesland and Groningen provinces, in the Netherlands, along the Ems and the Frisian Islands, have been declared in a state of siege, in order to prevent illegal exportation.

The London members of the Catholic Benefit Society have decided to fight the recent rate increase in rates ordered by the executive of the order, and have engaged counsel to take the matter to the courts.

Another bomb outrage committed by Chinese revolutionaries occurred yesterday at Canton, outside the residence of Gen. Chi Kiang Lung, who is in charge of the Canton district. Thirteen persons lost their lives.

In addition to two British ships, Turkish officials have seized two Dutch vessels at Smyrna. The Dutch consul protested, but the Vali alleged that the ships carried merchandise belonging to enemies of Turkey.

ENLISTING BY SJAMBOK.

Christian De Wet Takes Forcible Means To Raise an Army.

JOHANNESBURG, Nov. 12.—The chief object of the rebels appears to be the looting and damaging of private and state property. Would-be adherents of the rebels herald their entry into villages by commandeering horses, carts, rifles and ammunition, looting the stores, sjamboking the storekeepers and reluctant farmers, and bringing the ordinary business of the towns and the farming operations of the northern Orange Free State to a standstill.

Gen. Christian De Wet, by the rigorouu use of the sjambok, has compelled many to join him.

The captured rebels to date are: Maritz commando, 631; Beyers' followers, 831. Total, 1,462.

Although the country generally is exercising the greatest possible forbearance, everything points toward an immediate demonstration in force against De Wet.

Constantinople Plot Fails.

LONDON, Nov. 12.—A despatch to the Exchange Telegraph Co. from Athens says:

"It is learned that a conspiracy has broken out at Constantinople against the Germans and young Turks. The chief conspirators were arrested and shot.

"The population of the Ottoman capital, becoming very excited as a result of the Turkish defeats on Sunday, visited resentment on a number of German non-commissioned officers, whom they attacked."

Pope Will Seek Peace.

LONDON, Nov. 12.—Telegraphing from Copenhagen a correspondent of the Central News says:

"A despatch received here from Cologne affirms that the Pope shortly will endeavor to initiate negotiations for peace through the medium of a pastoral letter.

"The German view of this is that any such action by his holiness would raise the question of the Pope's temporal power and force Italy into taking an attitude against the proposal."

German Attitude a Crime.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—The Herald says editorially:

"If it is true, as cabled from Amsterdam, that Germany has threatened to prevent the American relief committee from distributing food and other supplies to suffering Belgians the defenders of 'kultur' in this country will have more defending to do.

"Germany's attitude toward and action in Belgium is a crime against civilization. Now to their vandalism they add threat of preventing the distribution of supplies to the needy.

"The spectacle is one that not even the greatest admirer of German prowess can view with any feeling save disgust."

The barbers of Phoenix, Arizona, have secured the passage of a city ordinance making Sunday work illegal.

AN EVENTFUL DIALOGUE

By RUTH GRAHAM

A party consisting of an elderly gentleman, an elderly lady, a young man, a young woman and a notary were gathered in the drawing room of a chateau in the environs of Paris. The notary called each in turn for his or her signature on a paper lying on a table, then affixed his seal, folded the paper, put it into a tin box and, bowing, left the room. The young man and young woman followed, apparently wrapped up in each other.

"This takes me back nearly a quarter of a century," said the elderly man, "when I passed through a like ceremony. I was then as big a fool as Francois."

"And I as addle pated as Lucille."

"Your niece may possibly possess the gift of constancy."

"Your nephew may not be drawn hither and thither by every pretty face he sees."

During this bit of dialogue the man stood with one hand on the table where marriage settlements had been signed, eying the lady sternly, scornfully, reproachfully, while the lady had walked to a window and stood looking out, tapping the waxed floor with the toe of her slipper. The man was forty-two, the woman thirty-eight, and both still looked young.

"What has become of De Belleville?"

"How should I know? Why should I care?"

"It was he who rendered that signing of settlements between you and me null and void. But, parbleu, there has been time since then for many such interferences."

"De Belleville never interfered between you and me."

"Did not interfere! Will you be good enough to inform me what did?"

"That actress."

"What actress?"

"The one who was breaking the hearts of so many young fools. She played at the Theatre Francais, I believe, though it was so long ago I fail to remember. Doubtless by this time she is as unattractive as I am."

"Who told you that I admired an actress at the Theatre Francais?"

"I saw you there myself the evening of the day the settlements were made for our marriage. I was indisposed and about to go to bed when a friend gave me a bit of information. I went to the theater and saw you gazing upon the woman through adoring eyes."

"H'm! Had the malicious information communicated by your friend anything to do with my eyes appearing to adore the actress?"

"What I saw through my eyes"—

"You mean your imagination."

—"was convincing."

"Then?"

"Then I proposed that two could play at a game like that. De Belleville happened to call the next morning. You came while he was there. I compelled you to wait, and when he went away"—

"I see it all. Why have you waited all these years to tell me that under a false assumption, instigated by—by whom?"

"My cousin, Julie Demourier."

"Julie Demourier! Why"—

"Why what?"

"She threw herself at me as soon as you had broken with me."

"She threw herself at you!"

"Certainly."

"Oh, heavens!"

He strode toward her and stood beside her, looking into her eyes almost fiercely.

"She blighted our lives," he said.

There was no reply. She stood with her back to him, looking intently out through the window.

"You permitted yourself to be made a dupe by one who was not worthy to tie your shoe."

"If you had loved me you would have sought me again. You would have given me an opportunity to"—

"How did I know that you were prompted by jealousy and were showing a preference you did not feel for another?"

The argument was unanswerable.

"Heaven grant," he continued, "that no 'friend' will come between these two happy creatures who have just left us before the knot is tied."

She shuddered.

"Hortense," he said in a quieter tone, "there is yet old age for us."

"For me. You are in your prime. A man of your age, if he marries, will unite with a young woman."

"You are as beautiful to me as the day that contract was signed."

"Not to the world. You would become ashamed of me. Only men who grow old with their wives grow old in their affection for them."

"Hortense, let us close the gap between that settlement ceremony and the present so far as we can by a wedding. I will call the carriage; we will drive to the maire."

She neither answered nor stirred. He placed an arm about her and kissed her. Then he stepped to a bell and called a servant.

"The carriage," he said when the lackey entered.

That evening the two returned for dinner from a drive and were met at the door by the nephew and niece.

"Why, auntie, where have you been?"

"To the maire's," said her companion. "We have been married."

"Married!"

"Yes; we leave nuptial ceremonials to young fools like you. Thank heaven we have passed that stupid period."

"Mon Dieu!"

MILITARY COSTUMES.

Dashing Mantles and Cape Suits a la Mode.

BLUE SERGE CAPE COSTUME.

What is new in fashions is the attempt to introduce a military style into feminine costumes. There is the military mantle now being worn, giving a martial look to more than one young woman when seen at a little distance, especially if she happens to be tall, which many Frenchwomen are at the present day.

The officer's cloak is worn well off the shoulders, having in this respect something of the effect of a manteau de cour. Beneath shows a corsage or fillet adorned with brandebourgs a la hussard.

The military cape suit pictured here is of copenhagen blue serge, with a high turned over collar and front vest effect. Worn with it are a plaited tunic and a plain skirt. A wide rimmed hat of blue velvet, with a white flower drooping over the upturned side, accompanied it.

LINGERIE RIBBONS.

A Dainty Case Designed For Their Safe Keeping.

Keeping the ribbons from the lingerie fresh is a problem for every woman. When the ribbons are taken out while the garment goes to the laundry they are very apt to be mislaid and almost certain to be crushed and tangled.

To obviate these difficulties a very pretty case may be made which is a charming little gift. Cut any handkerchief in half, hem the cut edge and fold it over within two inches of the border. This forms a baglike space which should be divided into four or five compartments made by stitching from the hemmed edge to the folded edge.

Into these pockets fit strips of cardboard wound with lingerie ribbons. Leave an inch wide margin before you begin the pockets and stitch a ribbon on the back or at one end. When the case is finished and filled roll it up like a needlecase or shoe and wrap and tie with the ribbon.

Whenever the ribbons are removed from the clothes they should be wound around the cardboards and that will keep them fresh and firm. This makes an attractive and useful gift at very little cost.

ANY DYSPEPTIC CAN GET WELL

By Taking "Fruit-a-tives" Says Capt. Swan

Life is very miserable to those who suffer with Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Sour Stomach and Biliousness. This letter from Captain Swan (one of the best known skippers on the Great Lakes) tells how to get quick relief from Stomach Trouble.

PORT BURWELL, ONT., May 8th, 1913.

"A man has a poor chance of living and enjoying life when he cannot eat. That was what was wrong with me. Loss of appetite and indigestion was brought on by Constipation. I have had trouble with these diseases for years. I lost a great deal of flesh and suffered constantly. For the last couple of years, I have taken "Fruit-a-tives" and have been so pleased with the results that I have recommended them on many occasions to friends and acquaintances. I am sure that "Fruit-a-tives" have helped me greatly. By following the diet rules and taking "Fruit-a-tives" according to directions, any person with Dyspepsia will get benefit".

H. SWAN

"Fruit-a-tives" are sold by all dealers at 50c. a box 6 for $2.50, or trial size 25c. or sent postpaid on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

AN IMPERIAL ANTHEM

By the Hon. W. S. Fielding, Late Minister of Finance of Canada.

Mr. Fielding has written the following striking and beautiful new version of the National Anthem and sent it to The London Daily Chronicle for publication:

God save our gracious King,
Long live our noble King,
God save the King."
From The all blessings flow,
On him Thy grace bestow,
Guard him from every foe,
God save the King.

His world-wide power bless,
May be always possess
Wisdom as wide:
Judgment, with clear insight,
Vision to see the light,
Courage to do the right,
Whate'er betide.

Send to his Council board
Statesmen in true accord,
Serene and strong.
Give them a high ideal,
Fill them with sacred zeal
To serve the Empire's weal,
Keep them from wrong.

Grant us sweet peace, O Lord;
The ploughshare, not the sword,
We fain would wield.
If, through man's lust for power,
Dark war clouds o'er us lower,
Be with us in that hour,
A strength and shield.

Not Motherland alone,
Loyal to King and Throne,
Thy blessing craves.
Vast lands beyond the seas
Repeat the earnest pleas,
Where proudly in the breeze
His banner waves.

Great hosts of faithful ones,
Fair daughters and true sons,
Join in our prayer.
From centre to earth's end,
At many shrines they bend,
In varied tongues commend
Him to Thy care.

In the broad world's affairs,
Through all the fleeting years,
Since early time,
Though 'gainst strong foes arrayed
Our England, undismayed,
A gallant part has played
In every clime.

O God! before Thee now,
With humble faith we bow,
And grateful heart.
Grant that until the last,
As in its glorious past,
This British Empire vast
Play well its part;

Not with a selfish aim,
Not to desire acclaim
Throughout the world,
But that its ensign bright
May ever, in Thy sight,
Speak freedom, truth, and right
Where'er unfurled.

Housekeeper's Rights.

The absolute right of the woman to preserve her unprepared house against the curiosity of critical visitors was demonstrated in Toronto when the Governor-General visited the Workingman's Homes erected by the Toronto Housing Commission. On one doorstep stood a woman with three children at her skirts, and a fourth in arms.

"May I see your house?" asked the duke, as he approached the verandah. "Will you let me look through your home?"

"Your royal highness," said the woman. "I beg pardon—but I've been that busy looking after these—" indicating the children, "that I haven't had time to get the breakfast dishes cleared up yet, and if you——"

"Of course," replied the King's uncle, "housekeeping isn't easy when there are so many little people to look after—is it? Good morning." He passed on.—Canadian Courier.

Mounted Police Cannot Enlist.

OTTAWA, Nov. 13.—Capt. Fortescue, controller of the Northwest Mounted Police, who has returned from a trip to Regina, reports an announcement made by himself some time ago that members of the force cannot be spared to go to the front. Only those who are army and naval reservists have been allowed to leave the force, which has been recruited up to full strength.

THE MARKETS

Latest Quotations in Grain, Dairy Products, Live Stock, Etc.

CHICAGO, Nov. 11.—Peace talk gave the wheat market today a sudden downward turn after an early advance due to active buying for export. The close was unsettled at a decline of 5-8c to 3-4c net. Corn finished 1-8c to 1-4c off, oats unchanged to a shade lower, and provisions 8c to 15c and 17½c above last night.

WINNIPEG GRAIN MARKET.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 11.—Trading on the wheat market was quiet and prices erratic and following the trend of American markets a good export trade is being transacted in the south, altho well on in the day little or nothing in that line had been pulled off here. Some sales however, were made last night. Winnipeg wheat opened unchanged to ⅛c lower, and shortly after had advanced ⅜c to ⅞c on the three months, easing off again previous to noon opening figures. Oats opened ⅛c to ¼c higher, and held fairly steady. Flax was weak, May opening 2c lower, recovering a cent later. Peace rumors had the effect of breaking prices considerably in the last hour of business. From a little after noon there was a steady decline until nearing the close when prices were erratic. Wheat closed ⅝c to 1c lower, oats ⅜c to ⅝c down and flax 1c lower.

The cash demand for wheat was good for all grades and offerings fair. Exporters were buying moderately.

Deliveries thru the clearing house were Wheat, 62,000 bushels; oats, 38,000 bushels; barley, 3000 bushels, and flax, 52,000 bushels.

MONTREAL GRAIN MARKET.

MONTREAL, Nov. 11. — Demand from over the cable for Manitoba wheat was lacking but local exporters were in the market and sales of 100,000 bushels of No. 3 were made at $1.16, and 50,000 No. 2 Northern $1.20 per bushel c.i.f. bay ports. There continues to be a good enquiry for ocean grain room, which is scarce, and the undertone to the market is strong.

A tramp vessel was engaged to carry a cargo of grain from here at 5s 6d per quarter, which is the highest rate paid this season to date.

There was some improvement in the demand for butter today, but the market on the whole is quiet. Demand for cheese is good both from local buyers and for export account and sales of some round lots were made. The stock of cheese on spot is light and held in few hands.

The trade in eggs is active, there being a good demand for cold storage stock for export account.

Choice calves, $9 to $10; good calves, $8 to $9; medium, $6.50 to $7.50; common, $5 to $6, and inferior eastern grass calves at $3 to $4.50.

Sheep and Lambs.

Sheep, light ewes, $5 to $5.75; heavy ewes, $3.50 to $4; culls and rams, $2.50 to $4; good to choice lambs, $7.75 to $8; good lambs, $7.40 to $7.60; heavy lambs, $6.75 to $7.25; culls, $5.50 to $6.

Hogs.

Selects, fed and watered, $7.75, and $7.85 f.o.b. cars, and $8 weighed off cars.

MONTREAL LIVE STOCK.

MONTREAL, No. 11.—At the Canadian Pacific live stock market the offerings today were 1300 cattle, 1300 sheep and lambs, 1050 hogs and 600 calves. There was no actual change in the condition of the market today, except that the feeling in it for good to choice steers was firmer, owing to the very limited supply coming forward, in fact, many butchers who are in the habit of buying nothing but these grades of cattle stated that it was impossible to fill their wants and that they would have to buy dressed beef. A large percentage of the offering consisted of common stock, for which the demand was slow, as buyers generally had ample supplies of such on hand, and consequently trade on the whole was quiet. A few good steers sold at $7 to $7.25 and fair stock at $6 to $6.50, while common brought $4.75 to $5.25 per 100 lbs. The demand for good butcher cows was fair and sales were made at $6 to $6.25, and the lower grades from $5 to $5.75, and bulls at from $5 to $6.50 per 100 pounds.

MRS. WINN'S ADVICE TO WOMEN

Take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and be Restored to Health.

Kansas City, Mo.—"The doctors told me I would never be a mother. Every month the pains were so bad that I could not bear my weight on one foot. I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and had not finished the first bottle when I felt greatly relieved and I took it until it made me sound and well, and I now have two fine baby girls. I cannot praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound too highly for what it has done for me. I always speak a word in favor of your medicine to other women who suffer when I have an opportunity." — Mrs. H. T. WINN, 1225 Freemont Ave., Kansas City, Mo.

Read What Another Woman says:

Cumming, Ga.—"I tell some suffering woman every day of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and what it has done for me. I could not eat or sleep, had a bad stomach and was in misery all the time. I could not do my housework or walk any distance without suffering great pain. I tried doctors' medicines and different patent medicines but failed to get relief. My husband brought home your Vegetable Compound and in two weeks I could eat anything, could sleep like a healthy baby, and walk a long distance without feeling tired. I can highly recommend your Vegetable Compound to women who suffer as I did, and you are at liberty to use this letter."—Mrs. CHARLIE BAGLEY, R. 3, Cumming, Ga.

The Upward Trend.

A certain widow, unable to be so unmodern as not to spare the rod, was wont to hire her boy to be good.

For awhile the boy was content to be good for 10 cents. The widow's resources were such that she could afford 10 cents.

Then the boy demanded a quarter.

"But, my son, 10 cents has always been enough!" the widow protested.

"Nevertheless the cost of being good has steadily gone up," the boy insisted. "Every time I am good for 10 cents I lose money."—Puck.

PLENTY OF TENDERS FOR REMOVAL OF THE SNOW

Applicants Get Another Chance to Tender According to Specifications

The board of works in session last evening received the tenders for removing the snow and slush from the sidewalks. When the tenders were called, a clause was inserted in the specifications demanding the shovel to be used at intersecting streets and at other points where the snow falls back onto the walk.

When he tenders were opened, it was found that several applicants gave two figures, one for the contract according to specifications and the other for the contract as was let in former years. Other applicants gave figures on the condition that there would be no shovelling. The following was the complete list of applicants:—

District No. 2—W. Stinson, P. Francis, R. Whatman and E. J. Ferguson.

District No. 3—W. A. Millen, R. Whatman, and E. J. Ferguson.

District No. 4—N. Harper, W. Pink, A. Stinson, and R. Nicholls.

District No. 5—G. Sexsmith, M. Kelleher, R. Nicholls and W. Pink.

District No. 6—Robert Nicholls and Michael Kelleher.

District No. 7—R. Mitchell, P. Francis, A. O'Brien and W. Carpenter.

District No. 8—P. Francis, D. Revoy, A. O'Brien and A. Carpenter.

The board decided on men in the first four districts but when the appointing of the man for No. 6 came up it was found that Michael Kelleher tendered according to specifications but Robert Nicholls emphasized the fact that he would not use a shovel. The amount asked for ip Kelleher's tender was greater than that asked for by Nicholls.

Ald. Duncan remarked that he was sure Nicholls would do better work than Kelleher while Ald. Johnston claimed that he wouldn't support giving the contract to Kelleher. Nicholls had always done good work and in the opinion of the north ward alderman it was a shame if such stringent specifications should keep a good man from getting the work. Ald. Saunders also objected to any other man besides Nicholls getting the work. He stated that he had met Nicholls at six-thirty in the morning with his work all completed. To this City Engineer Parsons remarked that it was his duty and if he were doing it by the day he would have to do it in that manner.

Write to Applicants.

The matter received a great deal of discussion and it was finally decided on motion of Ald. Green and McIntyre that each applicant will be written and told that tenders will be received up till five o'clock next Wednesday evening and only those tenders willing to do the work according to specifications will be considered. The board will meet next Wednesday night and consider it. Ald. Weir voiced an objection on the grounds of snow coming in a few days but Ald. Johnston and Green assumed the roles of prophets and ruled that no snow would be here for two weeks.

Still Unsettled.

City Solicitor Gordon had a communication before the Board which stated that if the city put a cover over the creek where it passes through private property, south of McDonnel St. and west of Downie St., the city would be liable in case of any damage to the property in that vicinity caused by this cover interfering with the rush of water in spring.

Ald. Green, who has been agitating the placing of the cover, remarked that the section of the creek is a menace to public safety as it stands now and in event of an accident the city would be drawn into a lawsuit which would cost the city more than the cost of a cover which he City Engineer estimaed to be $96.00. Ald. Green further urged that something should be done even if it were only the placing of a fence.

Mayor Buller contended that as it was private property the city would spend money illegally in placing a cover over that section of the creek. He further remarked that it was generally the custom for the city to take a chance on being drawn into a lawsuit. If a case did arise the city wouldn't be liable and the plaintiff would have to stand the costs.

It was decided to have the City Engineer interview the property owners and see if they would give the city the property in consideration of the city placing a cover over it and giving them a right of way.

Left Over Till Spring.

City Engineer reported that it is impossible to extend the sewer north on Rubidge Street from the end of the present main at No. 466. He stated that the only possible way to give those residents, in that vicinity, sewerage connection would be to build the sewer from the north side of the hill, around to the corner of Murray and Stewart St. If this course were adopted the city would have to stand practically all the cost. The matter will be left on fyle till next spring.

Gas Mains.

The gas company was given permission to lay gas mains on Weller St. and Monaghan Road.

Small Sale.

Peter Glover waited on the Board and asked that the city sell him a quantity of planks which are in stock as a result of tearing up the old board walks. The matter was left with the chairman and City Engineer with power to act.

Romaine St. Sewer—Again.

A letter was read from Chipman and Powers, consulting engineers of account of $700 for services in connection with the construction of the Romaine St. sewer. The matter was left to the City Engineer and Solicitor for a report and in the meantime payment will be deferred on the grounds that their work was defective.

Movies Will Show Beauties of Canada At Panama Exposition

A cinematograph hall, it has been decided, is to be a feature of the Grand Trunk Railway System's Pavilion at the Panama Pacific Exposition, opening in San Francisco, February 20, 1915.

The hall will seat several hundred people, and moving picture exhibitions will be given throughout the day to the visitors. The scenic beauties of Canada and of the Alpine Wonderland opened up by the Grand Trunk Pacific in particular, will be shown on the screen.

At the private exhibition of these films given in Montreal the other day they were declared by experts to be among the best travel pictures ever shown. "That is Mount Robson," enthusiastically declared one of the officials present at the private view when a magnificent snow-robed mountain, with other giants nestling at its base, came into view. The highest and most majestic peak in the Canadian Rockies kept appearing and re-appearing as the train swept on, presenting itself to the traveller at every possible angle. A remarkable clear and life-like picture of the driving of the last spike on the G. T. P. at Nechako Crossing was also shown, with the exciting competition between the track-laying gangs for the honor of finishing their allotted half mile in record time. Scenes in Prince Rupert's great harbor; the incomparable lakes of British Columbia, reproducing in their shadows the mountains rising on their margin; wonderful vistas of the new agricultural territory awaiting the settler in this part of the Dominion, make an exhibition that will fascinate the visitors from the four corners of the earth who gather at San Francisco next year.

Our generous townsman, Mr. J. A. Culverwell, has given a cash donation of one hundred dollars to the Patriotic Fund. To help along this same worthy object, Mr. Culverwell invited a large party to the Patriotic Concert last evening including the clergy and their wives, ninety Boy Scouts, the firemen and their wives, the young ladies of the Bell Telephone office and others. This numbered about one hundred and fifty and when it is considered that it is all for the same cause, the Patriotic Fund, Mr. Culverwell has nearly duplicated his previous subscription of one hundred dollars.

Tuberculosis Sunday Being Arranged For

Preparations are again being made to hold Tuberculosis Sunday in the churches throughout the Province. This is the third year of the movement in Canada. By sermons and lectures, the National Sanitarium Association, operating the Hospitals for Consumptives at Muskoka and Weston, will enlist hundreds of churches and schools throughout Ontario in a simultaneous educational movement against tuberculosis on 29th and 30th of November.

The ministerial association and heads of all denominations will be asked to co-operate again this year, as in former years.

The Hon. Dr. Pyne, Minister of Education, has again approved of holding Tuberculosis Day in the schools on Monday, November 30th, following Tuberculosis Sunday in the churches. The minister will again send to the teachers throughout the province a circular carrying his endorsation of the movement.

Outlines of sermons or lectures on tuberculosis will be distributed, upon request, to ministers or teachers, from the headquarters of the National Sanitarium Association, 34 Ross Street, Toronto.

MISSIONARY ADDRESS BY WORKER IN JAPAN

War Has Had a Good Effect on the Japanese Says Miss Campbell

Already the war has exerted a happy influence, inasmuch that it has drawn the Japanese people very near to God, and made it comparatively easy for Canadian missionaries to impress them with the teachings of Christianity.

Speaking on this subject yesterday afternoon before the Methodist Women's auxiliaries in George Street Church, Miss Edith Campbell furnished her audience with a striking picture of the Japanese people.

Drawn to God.

This war she said had made them realize how necessary God was, and rendered them more receptive to religious teachings, because of the active part their own people were taking in the great struggle.

Miss Campbell appeared in Japanese costume and in opening outlined the daily routine in the missionary schools. The work was carried on in seven different stations, chiefly of an educational and evangelistic nature. Twenty-five years ago when missionaries were first sent to Japan they found it hard to get in close touch with the people, but there was a demand for a higher education, especially amongst the women, and it was then that it was decided by the Mission Board to establish schools. These have been very successful.

Studies in Schools.

Miss Campbell explained the methods and work particularly at the school in Koko, which has a population of some 50,000 people. The school was built eight years ago, and at the present time has four foreigners (teachers) in the school, with accommodation for 120 girls, although there are now 145 in the school. The high school girls enter the school about the age of 13 years and graduate as a rule in five years. School opens at 8 a.m. for the boarders, who rise as early as 5.45 a.m. After the dressing hour the girls have 15 minutes to read their Bibles and to pray. 6.30 to 7 o'clock is devoted to study; breakfast at 7 and opening prayers at 8. The girls then enter the different class-rooms for study of Japanese until 12. Each class devotes an hour a day to the practice of writing, as the Japanese letters are very hard to learn. Two hours a day are spent in the study of the English language, which is a drawing card for the girls, who would rather be taught this language by the foreigners than by their own native teachers. At the close of school the girls look after their own class rooms and clean them up, the services of a caretaker not being required. Then the daily pupils go home, while the boarding pupils study or practice their music. Supper is served at 5.30, and from 6.20 until 9 p.m. they study their lessons. The school is very comfortable, equipped with electric lights and heated with hot water.

Services on Sunday.

The Sabbath school opens at 8.30 and after the Bible lessons the girls go to church. Besides the Sunday School held in connection with the church there are also 17 others in the city. After school one-half hour is given for rest. Bible classes are held from 11.30 to 12.30, the girls looking forward to the Bible lessons, which are made very interesting. Some may think that the work in Japan requires much time and money but the schools are doing a wonderful work in making a stable foundation of Christ's christianity in the hearts of the Japanese girls. The girls who graduate are baptized christians. They marry very young, but a few go teaching and a few enter our work.

Miss Campbell explained briefly that a large number of the girls in the country and in the city work in the silk factories their hours being very long—from 12 to 16 a day, with 20 minutes allowed for lunch. Many of these factories are so busy that they work the girls night and day and provide dormatories for them. It can be seen that when the beds are continually occupied it cannot but result in poor health on the part of many girls.

The Japanese people are deeply religious and have many beautiful shrines and temples. But the majority of them fail to understand to whom they are praying. It is a difficult thing to reach the Japanese minds, and it is hard for them to realize that we foreigners are just as loyal to our King and country as they are in Japan, as they believe that they are the only loyal people.

The Japanese Government has done a great deal in adopting foreign ideas and methods, but the people labor under heavy taxation, and the present war will make the burden much heavier. The people are simple in their manner of living, having no chairs, no tables and no beds. The children dress in gay colors, especially the girls, while the boys wear skirts. Ladies of Japan look askance at the headgear worn by foreign women.

At intervals in the meeting piano and vocal selections were contributed by Mrs. Renwick, Miss Richardson and Mrs. Cruickshanks.

The women's auxiliary of Mark Street was represented by Mrs. Payne; Charlotte Street Church, by Mrs. Parker; George Street Church, by Mrs. Kendry. Mrs. A. R. Campbell, vice-president of the branch, was on the platform, also Rev. Mr. Peever, Rev. Mr. Phelps and Rev. J. G. Lewis. Following the address of Miss Campbell a pleasant social half hour was spent.

Provide Many Schools For Settlers' Children Along G.T.P. in West

The educational department of the Government of British Columbia is taking active measures to cope with the rapid development in the territory recently opened up by the completion of the Grand Trunk Pacific. Mr. G. H. Gower, Educational Inspector, has been actively engaged during the past month in inaugurating scholos between Prince George and Prince Rupert.

Since leaving Prince Rupert, Mr. Gower has established schools at Hayesport and Copper River on the Skene, one at Endako and one at Stellaco, five miles east of Endako; one at Vanderhoof, one at Chilco, on the opposite side of the Nechaco from Vanderhoof, and one at Mapes, about eighteen miles south and east of Vanderhoof. He has also recommended the opening of a school at McAllister, about twelve miles north of Soda Creek.

"My trip," saidInspector Gower, "has been a revelation to me. I have travelled along the line of the G.T.P. stopping at all points where schools are located and visiting others where requisitions have been made to establish schools, and everywhere I was impressed with the splendid valleys of agricultural land, the development of which is going on apace. The Nechako valley particularly appealed to me, and there is bound to be a tremendous trade developed."

Prayed For Them.

"In many places where the troops passed through en route for Valcartier, the citizens gave the fellows fruit and lunches and used them decently, but in a place the size of Orangeville they managed to send a few people to the depot, and I noticed in The Banner that many of the righteous Orangeville citizens were sending up prayers for our safe return."—Letter from Orangeville volunteer at Valcartier, in Orangeville Sun.

BUY DIRECT FROM FARMER

Sir George Foster, Minister of Trade and Commerce, has received from the Saskatchewan Grain Growers' Association a request that the Dominion and British Governments should buy wheat and oats directly from the western farmers, storing the grain in the Government's new interior elevators and paying the farmers $1 per bushel for wheat and 50c. for oats.

"Britain wants our wheat and oats while the war is on," it is urged, "and the suggested plan would prevent the present shipping of the grain to the United States and thence passing into various channels from which they might reach the enemy. The grain being stored first in the interior elevators at Moose Jaw and Saskatoon, the Government elevators at Calgary, Vancouver, Fort William, Montreal, St. John and Halifax could be utilised."

A Military Metrist.

Some years ago Col. Hugh Clark read a sermon delivered by the Kaiser to his soldiers, in which he expatiated upon the beauties of peace and love. It was at the time when Von Bulow, his Chancellor, was strongly suspected of trying to precipitate a conflict, and the Colonel, or some one else, had in The Kincardine Review the following:

"The Kaiser may prate about peace and love,
And his pious heart may glow,
But he cares much less for One Above
Than be does for Von Bulow."

BOTH ASQUITH AND BONAR LAW PREDICT EARLIER END OF WAR

At Opening of British Parliament the Prime Minister Says Farther Vote for War Credit and Men Will be Laid Before Commons—War Will End Swiftly, When Germany Realizes She Must Lose.

LONDON, Nov. 12.—In a speech delivered in the House of Commons yesterday after the opening of Parliament, Premier Asquith declared that he doubted whether the war would last as long as some people originally predicted, but that it would last long was certain.

"However, the longer it lasts," continued the Premier, "the more the great resources and strength which the Empire possess will be available to fill the gaps, to replace the losses and maintain our position. The Empire is on trial and the experiences of the last three months have inspired us with the confident hope that the longer the trial lasts the more clearly will we emerge from it as the champions of a just cause."

On Monday next, said Mr. Asquith, David Lloyd George, Chancellor of the Exchequer, will lay before the House of Commons his financial proposals, including the question of a loan for which the Government is going to ask the authority of the House on Tuesday. There will be a vote of credit of considerable dimensions, and an additional vote for men.

Speaking in reply to the speech from the throne, A. Bonar Law promised the Government the unflinching support of the Opposition in prosecuting the war. The Opposition leader said:

"We stand in a better position now than at the outbreak of the war. The only chance for victory of Germany was that she should win before the resources of the allies were available. She has failed, and failed on both fronts."

Bonar Law emphasized the importance of the financial position and said that already the economic effects were being felt in Germany. This was shown by the rate of exchange, and this would become more evident as time progressed. As soon as Germany realized that she must be beaten, he declared, economic forces would work with a presence of which there was no conception.

The recruiting situation may lead to some steps towards compulsory service.

HON. FINDLAY G. MACDIARMID ONTARIO'S NEW MINISTER, IS SECOND FARMER IN CABINET

The advent of Hon. Finlay George Macdiarmid into the Provincial Cabinet marks the second triumph of agricultural Ontario. There was no setting of precedent when a farmer was chosen as Minister of Agriculture, but it is something of a novelty to find the chair of Public Works filled by a man whose calling is close to the soil. There are some who say that the elevation of Mr. Macdiarmid to the head of the Department of Public Works comes in the nature of one of the new Premier's experiments, while others claim that this is the first opportunity which has been offered of public recognition of the merits of the Elgin farmer, says The Toronto Star Weekly.

However, that may be, it is an established fact that Mr. Macdiarmid has waited long for his reward. His faithfulness to the Government party dates back for sixteen years, that being the time he has occupied a seat in the Conservative ranks in Parliament. Rumor has it that honor came close once before, but shaved him by, owing to political emergencies which squeezed him out when the late Sir James Whitney first faced the problem of forming a Cabinet. Whether or not that is true, Mr. Macdiarmid has, with characteristic Scotch patience, presented himself time and again before the electors for public approval, and won it.

While the soil yields him a living, one would never suspect it from the appearance of the man. Early in life he learned that to be a successful agriculturist one need not carry its brands about with him, and his sixteen years of Parliamentary life have polished him into an experienced man of the world, while his upbringing and his inherent thrift augurs well for a man in the spending capacity of Minister of Public Works.

Mr. Macdiarmid has won something of a reputation as a public speaker, always showing himself ready to take up the challenges of the Opposition, and presenting his arguments in a brief but logical manner. Doubtless he will add oratory to his accomplishments as soon as the cross-fire of heated politics centre upon him in the House of Parliament, as it has a habit of centering about Cabinet Ministers. Even if it took sixteen years of testing, Mr. Macdiarmid is still the youngest Minister in the Cabinet, and his forty-five years rest upon him lightly. Still young in appearance, tall, of athletic build, and ruddy countenance, outwardly he seems the type of man who will be able to weather the stress of office.

As to the man's ability as a Cabinet Minister, nothing is known. Except for his long faithfulness, and perhaps some services known only to the Government, his merits have never been widely proclaimed about the province. In fact, his appointment to the chair of Public Works came as a distinct surprise to those who were not on the inside. Doubtless his work has been done in silence. At least he is not the flashy type of man, who constantly proclaims his political patriotism, and in this respect he stands out as a contrast to many members of the Government who are still plain M.P.P.'s, and who have for years been looked upon as "possibles." Perhaps this first choice of Mr. Hearst is intended as a discouragement to the fire-eating, word-slinging demagogue. Perhaps others will now take the hint that in the new Government merit is measured by work, and not by words.

Belgians For N. B.?

The question of bringing Belgian farmers turned adrift by the German invasion to the Province of New Brunswick is now engaging the attention of the local immigration authorities. Their idea is that they may be able to bring out a colony of Belgian people whose homes have been laid waste by fire and sword and place them on land in New Brunswick. The Belgians are a very industrious and thrifty people and would make good settlers. Their recent experiences will be an inducement to them to seek a home in a land not disturbed by war, where they can amend their fortunes. Representative Bowder of New Brunswick in Great Britain is acting in the matter for the provincial immigration authorities, but the Department has not yet arrived at any definite conclusion and will not until the attitude of the Belgians on the proposition has been ascertained. In the meantime the efforts of the immigration authorities will be directed to the problem of assisting Belgian farmers.

WOMEN OF NIGERIA

Their Lips Are Plugged With Wooden Disks So They Can't Eat Dog.

The women of northern Nigeria are not prepossessing and in their scanty attire, with tails of grass hanging from their girdles, are sometimes really grotesque.

To add further to their beauty both the upper and lower lips of these women are pierced in order to admit a flat round disk of wood called the tichiak, which is usually about the size of a half dollar. The lips of the little girls are pierced when they are seven or eight years of age, and a piece of wood inserted and worn for a time until a larger one takes its place, the opening thus being gradually enlarged until a full sized tichiak can be carried without discomfort. The object of this singularly discomforting adornment is to prevent the women from eating dogs, which are considered the greatest delicacy by the men of the tribes.

Both sexes decorate their bodies with regular designs. The chests and backs of the little girls are scarified at a very early age. When they arrive at marriageable age the girls undergo a further ordeal, for two sets of parallel lines are cut both on the chest and the back, and as soon as possible after marriage the head lines are made. These consist of a number of short cuts across the forehead, extending from ear to ear, and thirteen long, slanting lines are cut on each cheek from ear to chin.

COACHES AND AUTOCARS

How the Twentieth Century Is Linked With the Eighteenth.

The nineteenth century has seen the passing of the democracy of travel. With the twentieth has come a return to the aristocratic methods of the eighteenth century, when a gentleman, if he wished to tour the continent, did so in his own coach. Friends in the country inviting a lady of quality to visit them wrote asking where horses should meet her. She naturally came in her own carriage. When Miss Edgeworth's heroine Helen wished to pay her debts her principal asset was her traveling chaise.

In the youth of our own grandfathers the truly great, enshrined in an aristocratic vehicle, refused to descend from it even when on shipboard. The opera singer Grisi crossed the channel in her own coach, while her dutiful husband stood on deck at the coach window holding the harmless necessary basin. The individual vehicle was a hall mark of distinction.

There has been an interval when people were content to herd together in railway trains, but it has already passed away. We have returned to the private, the special, the personal; in a word, we have gone back to the eighteenth century. Now, as then, a gentleman travels in his own conveyance.—Atlantic Monthly.

"Start Something.

Some of our residents are anxious to know what our village intends to do to assist our country in her great crisis. None of our young men have gone to the front to fight the battles of the Empire, but we can assist by contributing to the Patriotic Fund as they are doing in all parts of the Empire. A great many are willing and anxious to help in this worthy cause, and they are only waiting for some one to approach them and ask them for their contribution.—Claremont cor. Pickering News.

"Pretty Decent Trick."

The writer was at Bancroft on a recent Monday evening, and while he was there a charivari was in progress. They were having a fine old time. We afterwards learned that the happy groom handed the boys out $5. Then the boys did a thing that so far as we know is unique. They put a little more with it and bought a set of dining chairs and presented them to the bride and groom. This we would call a pretty decent trick, and is worth copying, if charivaries are really necessary.—Tweed News.

The Kaiser's Prayer

Gott, Gott dear Gott, attention please
Your barner Vilhelm's here
Und has a vord or two to say
Into your brivate ear.
So durn away all udders now
Und listen well to me
For vat I say concerns me much
Meinself und Germany.

You know, dear Gott, I vas your friendt
Und from mein hour of birth
I quietly let You rule in Heffen
Vile I ruled oer de earth.
Und ven I toldt mein soldiers
Of bygone battle days
I gladly split de glory
Und gafe you half de braise.

In efery vay I tried to prove
Mein heart to you vas true
Und only claimed mein honest share
In great deeds dat ve do.
You could not haf a better friendt
In sky or land or sea
Dan Kaiser Vilhelm Number Two,
De Lord of Germany.

So vat I say dear Gott is dis
Dat ve should still be friendts
Und you should help to send my foes
To meet deir bitter endts.
If you, dear Gott, vill dis me do
I'll noding ask again
Und you und I vill bardners be
For evermore Amen.

But listen Gott it must be quick
Your help to me you send
Or else I half to potattack
Und only blay defend
So four und twenty hours I gif
To make the Allies run Und put me safe
Into mein place, De middle of the Sun

If you do dis I'll do my bart
I'll tell de world de fact
But if you don't den I must take
It as an hostile act.
Den var at once I vill declare
Und in mein anger rise
Und send mein Zeppelin ships to vage
A fight up in de skies.

Dis Ultimatum now dear Gott
Is one of many more
Mein Mind is settled up to clean
De whole vorld off de floor
Because You vas mein bardner Gott
An extra chance is giffen
So help at vonce or else I'll be

TWO FINE WAR-HORSES.

At Kingston—Have Served 14 Years of Martial Service.

There are two horses at Tete du Pont barracks, Kingston, that have seen 14 years of military service, and the officers say they are the best horses for instructional service in the whole of the military force of the Dominion. Every soldier seems to know "Angora" and "Banker" and the horses know every feature of drill as well as any instructor at the school. These horses are used for breaking in new officers and recruits.

JAP WARSHIPS LEAVE HONOLULU

HONOLULU, Nov. 12.—The Japanese battleship Hizen and cruiser Asama, which entered this port Tuesday for coal and provisions, left here yesterday for an unknown destination.

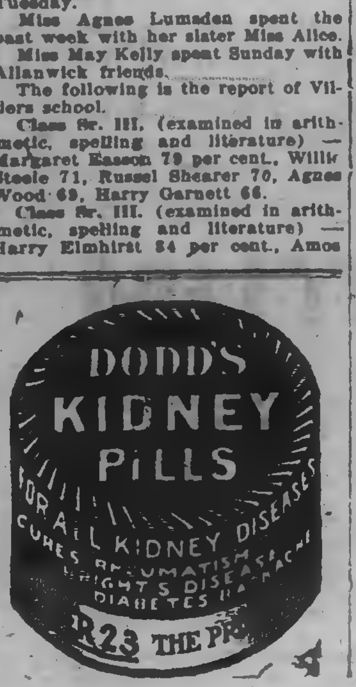
Rumor has it in the Japanese colony that the warships will rendezvous with a Japanese fleet nearing the coast of Chile, where it is supposed to be seeking the German cruisers believed to be in that vicinity.

Two Japanese merchantmen now at Hilo are due to be in that vicinity, in view of the sinking of the Emden, and the known presence of the remainder of the German Pacific squadron off the coast of South America. It is not believed the Hizen and the Asama will be detailed to convoy them.

British Cruisers In Port.

BUENOS AYRES, Nov. 12. — The British cruisers Carnarvon and Defence, accompanied by the transport Grama, have put into this port.

Insurance by English companies of United States ships and those of other neutral countries against capture or detention by Great Britain and her allies is held by the British Government to be unlawful.



KAISER SEEKS TO REACH COAST BEFORE GOING TO EASTERN CONFLICT

Tremendous Offensive of Enemy Results in Gain, But Everywhere Else the German Assaults Have Failed and Allies Control the Territory.

LONDON, Nov. 12. — After ten days of persistent and desperate battling, Dixmude has fallen into the hands of the Germans, the French still holding the western environs of the city and the approaches to the town on that side.

The railroad lines between Nieuport and Dunkirk centre in Dixmude, and Dunkirk is but a scant 25 miles away. This marks the first appreciable gains of the Kaiser's armies in the second drive to the French coast. It is one that cannot be over-estimated.

That the town fell only after a desperate resistance is indicated by all reports, but it was finally relinquished Tuesday evening.

British, French and Belgian forces participated in the fighting to save the point, but the allies were finally thrown back by sheer weight of men and metal. A tremendous artillery fire from hundreds of guns was concentrated on the town, and the German masses moved forward in a tidal wave that came steadily on despite all losses. Finally it swept over the outer earthworks, and the deluge of men drove back Dixmude's defenders.

It is cheering, however, to know that at Dixmude only has the last tremendous offensive of the invaders made an impression. Both east and west of that point the allied lines hold steadily, and the British have distinguished themselves, especially around Ypres—the storm centre of the German assault.

The line of the canal from Dixmude to Ypres, except for a few rods on either side of Dixmude, and all of the roads in this zone are controlled by the allied troops. French and Belgian troops have retaken Lombaertzyde. This place has changed hands a number of times in the past three weeks. Further progress has been made along the channel in the direction of Ostend. Every effort of the Germans to take Ypres has been frustrated by British forces.

It is the opinion of both French and British military authorities that the Kaiser is bent on a herculean effort to reach the channel coast, or, at least, establish himself in positions which are impregnable in the west before turning back numbers of troops to meet the oncoming Russians.

The country between Dixmude and Ypres, where the belligerents have been engaged in violent attacks and counter attacks for weeks past, and where the losses have been heavier even than those in the battle of the Yser, is again the scene of a battle which for fury has seldom, if ever, been equaled.

At other points along the battlefront in France, the French official communication claims such successes for the allies, but the German headquarters staff declares that all attacks have been repulsed.

It is considered quite certain that with the enormous forces required for the effort to get through to the coast and to protect their own country from Russian invasion the Germans will not be able to throw any additional troops into the lines which stretch through northern France and along the Franco-German border.

On the other hand, the French, whose army is growing daily, might attempt an offensive against Lorraine or Alsace as a diversion, which would relieve the pressure in the west.

RUSSIANS ARE CLOSE ON CRACOW IN AUSTRIA

They Are Now Near Lake Mazourie, in East Prussia—German Retreat Unparallelled Since Napoleon.

LONDON, Nov. 12.—The following official announcement was received from Petrograd last night:

"In East Prussia our troops are approaching the eastern outlets of the region around Lake Mazourie.

"In the vicinity of Goldap, Mlawa and Soldau engagements have occurred, which have been in our favor.

"In Galicia we are continuing a vigorous offensive."

The Petrograd Messinger Armee prints a story to the effect that the Germans are constructing various kinds of barriers to impede the Russian advance, especially in the region of Czenstochowa (Russian Poland), and are working night and day on the fortifications at Thorn.

Martial law has been declared at Cracow and the civil population has evacuated the city.

The Germans, according to Petrograd despatches, have suffered a more serious defeat on the East Prussian border than the official statements have disclosed. Advices from the Russian capital yesterday stated that in the recent fighting there the Russians have captured more than 20,000 prisoners, together with quantities of guns and munitions.

The Russian advance in Poland, which has been at the rate of 14 miles daily, has astonished the military experts, and it is not surprising to hear that they are picking up many footsore and weary German stragglers. This advance of horse, foot and artillery has continued for 18 days.

In the face of the continued disasters, the Crown Prince has received supreme command of the eastern German armies, it is reported from several sources. The Kaiser is said to have presided at a war council when this step was decided upon. Gen. von Hindenberg, the leader who drove back the Czar's hosts in their first invasion, has been superseded, but continues in command of the left wing, while Gen. Dankl, the only Austrian officer of high rank who holds German confidence, is in charge of the right wing.

Military authorities here who have been inclined to look with some scepticism on the reports of overwhelming Russian victories and the precipitate flight of the Germans, are now beginning to credit the full import of recent despatches. A message received late last night by Petrograd says that the Germans are falling back as rapidly as their condition will permit from Radom along a line to Rzheyem and toward Klugutsko.

It is declared that the Kaiser's men are in a terrible state, many of them being without overcoats or shoes, the marches of the last fortnight having exhausted the supply. Some of these men are walking barefooted across plains covered with ice and snow, leaving a bloody trail behind them which stretches for miles in every direction. Nothing like the scenes which confront the Russians have been witnessed in Europe since Napoleon fell back from Moscow. It is a weird coincidence that just a hundred years have passed since then, and that again the rigorous Russian winter is taking heavy toll of an alien foe.

However, stubborn fighting is in prospect for the Czar's legions. The Germans are rushing men eastward from France, and preparations are under way to erect important fortifications at Mstow, where heavy artillery is being concentrated. The defenders' lines along the Warthe are steadily strengthening, and the fortresses in Posen, notably at Thorn, are ready to withstand siege.

It is believed that by this time the Russians are actually under the walls of Cracow. Last reports from that city report the inhabitants in flight and a feverish state of excitement among non-combatants and military as the invaders come hurtling on. They were last reported only 25 miles away.

EGYPT NOT INVADED

British Press Bureau Denies Constantinople Falsehood

LONDON, Nov. 12. — An official communication from Turkish headquarters, issued at Constantinople, transmitted by way of Berlin and Amsterdam, is denied by the British official press bureau.

The communication reports that the Russians in the Caucasus have retreated on their second line of defence, suffering great losses, and that the Turkish troops have crossed the Egyptian frontier and have occupied Sheinsar and Fort El Arish and captured four British field guns and field telegraph material.

The press bureau says, with reference to this statement: "It appears to consist of false information deliberately spread abroad in Constantinople, under German instructions."

Bathrooms In Trenches.

PARIS, Nov. 12. — The French have learned to outdo the enemy in the art of trench-making. An officer writes that not only have his men fitted a cooking range in their trenches, but have half a dozen bathrooms properly tiled, screened off and fitted with hot and cold water spray and shower. Better still, is a regular system of drainage to be installed. Next to the baths is a shaving salon, and the soldiers are now at work upon a cafe concert hall, all underground, warmed and lighted, and something less than half a mile from the German lines.

Paris fears that Germans have removed stocks of yarn, cotton and wool held in factories of Lille, Roubaix and Tourcoing, valued at $60,000,000.

AUSTRIANS REPULSED.

Servians Drive Off Long Expected Attack on Morava Valley.

VALIEVO, Nov. 12. — The long-awaited Austrian invasion down the Morava Valley commenced Tuesday, when six battalions of infantry, with two Maxims, crossed the Danube into Servian territory near Semendria.

The passage was covered by the fire of Austrian batteries, posted on the left bank of the Danube and on the Island of Semendria. The Servian outposts retired, and the invaders were unmolested until the Servian force opened a vigorous counter-attack. The combat ended with the complete defeat of the Austrians.

Many were killed and others drowned in endeavoring to swim the Danube. Two thousand prisoners, including a colonel and six other officers, were taken. The maxims were also captured.

VETERANS TRIM CUBS IN FIRST BASKETBALL GAME

Cressman's Five Victorious Over Dread Nots in the Second Exhibition

Once a basketball player, always a player. To prove it, one had only to be a spectator of what took place on the gymnasium floor at the local Y. M. C. A. last night when the "old boys," whose basketball prowess was at the height of its glory all of 12 years back, put it over a picked team of the smartest present-day players, known as St. Paul's. Old boys like "Bill" Richardson, George Robertson, Ross Dobbin and Ray Best, showed bushels of speed and steam. Though in a couple of cases traces of embonpoint were detected in the make-up of the old boys, it didn't check their speed and wit; Melville McCarroll for the old boys also shone, being always in good trim.

The ancients were not breathing harder or suffering as much from lack of wind as were their spryer and more youthful opponents at the finish. The old-timers trimmed the St. Paul's team to the tune of 13-4. It wasn't such a bad beating, but simply demonstrated that you've got to hand it to the veterans yet.

It was the first time for George Robertson to don a basketball uniform for all of six years. Ross Dobbin has not played on the local floor much of late, but had lots of playing when at Varsity. But "Bill" Richardson was a big surprise. Bill must be nearly a stone in excess of his former playing weight, but he pranced, checked, and hopped about as if no such thing as excess tissue existed. Then Ray Best was a decided source of surprise and strength to the team. He has not played to any extent for four years. It looked great to see the old boys, whose names were in olden days synonyms with tip-top basketball, give such a good account of themselves when they stacked up against the younger fry. Physical Director Carson had his eyes opened and was more than delighted with the form they displayed.

Most of the skill possessed by the team was obtained when, under the name of the Harriers, Robertson, Dobbin, Richardson and Best won the basketball championship twelve years ago and made a name for themselves that is now history in the records of basketball playing around the "Y." None of the boys who came back last night can be placed at much under thirty years of age, and some are considerably over that mark.

Last evening marked the commencement of the basketball season at the local "Y." St. Paul's team played a good, clean game and deserve all the credit coming to them for their vigorous attempts to stem the rushes, superior weight and shooting of the veterans.

Cressman's Won.

The second game played last evening was between the Dread-Nots and Cressman's, won by the close margin of 15 to 12, by Cressman's. Fred Cressman showed old-time form and had a deadly shot on the baskets. Parmer also played an excellent game. For the Dread-Nots Flowers was the most aggressive and effective.

For Saturday night a double-header is billed between the Pirates and the Excelsiors, and the Junior Business Men versus the Bankers. Something interesting is bound to feature these two games.

It looks as if basketball was due for a big revival this winter.

BEATTY MAY TURN PRO.

Midland Wing Man Has Offer From Ontarios

Midland, Nov. 12.—Although little has been done as yet in local hockey circles, a strong seven, it can be depended upon, will again represent Midland in the O.H.A. this winter. The loss of Eddie Gould, who is now in Brantford, and Ernie Lavigne, the speedy rover, who is now located in Montreal, will be felt. With "Hope" Armstrong to fill Gould's position on the defence, and Drury on the forward line, the team should not be materially weakened, however.

Wilbert Beatty, the speedy right wing player, is now at Midland, after laying up his boat for the winter. Whether he will again play hockey there this winter, he is undecided. He thinks of moving to Toronto. Overtures have been made to Beatty by the Ontario pros.

FRED DENISON SLATED FOR T.R.C.

Speedy Local Defence Man Will be With Toronto

Fred Dennison, the former local hockey player who has been travelling for a Toronto firm during the past year, is slated for the Toronto Rowing Club senior O.H.A. team this winter. "Dennie" first sprung into prominence in 1911 with the Bear Cats who were nosed out by Orillia in the semi-finals. In 1912 he was under ban by the O.H.A. but in 1913 was reinstated and found a place on the Peterboro Intermediates.

Having Dennison on the T.R.C. and Heffernan on the T.R. and A.A. team the hockey fans of Toronto will have an opportunity of seeing the two of the fastest hockey players Peterboro ever turned out, in action.

FORMER HOCKEY PLAYER IS MISSING IN AFRICA

Capt. Carr-Harris Who Has Played in Peterboro is on the List of Missing

Kingston, Ont., Nov. 12.—A cable from the British War Office today to Prof. Carr-Harris announced that his second son, Capt. Edward Dale Carr-Harris, was among the missing in South Africa. Captain Carr-Harris graduated from the Royal Military College here in 1899. He was attached to the Imperial army and had served in China in 1900, when he received a medal and clasp. On the outbreak of hostilities he was removed from the staff college at Cuetta, India, to South Africa.

Capt. Carr-Harris was well known in Ontario athletic circles, more particularly in hockey. He played on the defence of the Goderich team which played in Peterboro several years ago when the names of Whitcroft, Crowley and Morgan were found on the sporting pages.

COMMENT

As You Like it

WHILE NOT CLAIMING to be a prophet or a son of a phophet we venture to predict that the winners in the saw-off games of the two most prominent organizations, will be Hamilton Tigers and McGill University. The Toronto Argos are a mighty fine team and have great defense strength but the Hamilton Jungle Kings are there with team work. The Tiger's back wivision is brilliant, sure and heady while the Argo's trio are fast but hardly so sure. In the recent games with Ottawa the Tigers demonstrated superior ability at bucking. If they win they will do so on real rugby intelligence.

While Varsity defeated McGill on Saturday, the crew from Montreal should carry off the honors on neutral ground. Fumbles at critical moments and the ruling of officials caused the downfall. With a fifty-fifty break from referees the red and white should lead by twelve or fifteen points in the game a week from Saturday.

COACH SHAUGHNESSY has become desperate. He has repeated his baseball tactics and switched his team around again. When the Senators would be getting bumped a trifle "Shag" would send infielders to the outfield, pitchers or catchers to the bench and would generally succeed in getting out of the hole. Now that the McGill team is facing a hard proposition he is preparing in a similar manner. Seath will be played at outside wing while Quilty will be put back at flying wing. Another change will be Jeffrey at outside wing and Wollatt in the backfield. This with Lemay, who will likely emerge from his retirement, back at middle wing should give the red and white a stronger team than ever.

THE BLOW THE TOWN of Preston has received in the death of Irwin Bernhardt, who passed away in Buffalo after a brief illness, is most severely felt in athletic circles and particularly in hockey. For the past three years he has been manager for the Preston O.H.A. Intermediates and his ability has done much to keep the team battling for the championship.

MAULBETSCH, the great Michigan plunger is a wonderful ground getter according to the following Detroit dope:—

"German's 17-inch siege guns are the distinct surprise of the European war and Johnnie Maulbetsch of Ann Arbor, Mich., is the sensation of the 1914 gridiron season. So Michigan students have been in the habit this week of referring to "Maully" as "Yost's 17-inch shell."

ST. MICHAEL'S COLLEGE team and McGill Seconds, play next Friday at Toronto. Father Carr's boys go into the game with a two-point lead, the result of last Saturday's game in Montreal, and expect to add a few more points to it. Kelly will sub for Canfield who is out of the game with an injured foot.

"MINNIE" McGIFFIN has at last put his John Henry on a Toronto contract. The "Hornet" promises to be on the job early for practice and also promises to make things lively every time he appears on the ice. The last promise goes without saying.

WALTER MARANVILLE SIGNS FOR LIFE

Springfield, Mass., Nov. 12.—Walter J. ("Rabbit") Maranville, shortstop of the world's championship Boston National League baseball team, and Miss Elizabeth Rennette Shea were married today in the Church of the Sacred Heart. Gifts were received from Manager Stallings, Capt. Evers and other members of the Braves.

MAKE CUT OF TWENTY PER CENT IN SALARIES

Class A. and B. of the Minor Leagues Make Radical Move

Omaha, Neb., Nov. 12.—A horizontal reduction of 20 per cent. in all salaries in classes A and B was decided upon at the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues, in the annual convention of that body. A proportionate cut in the number of players any team of these can employ was also ordered by a unanimous vote of the convention.

President Barrow, of the International League, saved the day for the double A class by an appeal, in which he said restrictions of that nature upon the International would be the death of that organization. That class was given permission by the convention to fix its own salaries and the number of its players.

The schedule of salary limits presented by the Committee on Constitutional Revision, suggested the following limits:

Class AA, $5,000 per month; class A Southern Association, $3,200; Western League, $2,800; class B, $2,000; class C, $1,200; class D, $1,000. These limitations were put on the number of players:—Class AA, 28 for first 20 days, and 15 during season; class A, 26 and 15; class 4, 24 and 14; class C, 22 and 12; class D, 22 and 12.

The Canadian League, with a club in Erie, has felt the war, but officials of that league stated they expected to go through the season, although permission was granted them to retain their standing if the clubs found it necessary to disband for a year.

NIGER IS SUNK BY TORPEDO

German Submarine Torpedoes Small British Craft

LONDON, Nov. 12. — The little British torpedo gunboat Niger, which was built twenty-two years ago and has been used as a tender, is the latest victim of a German submarine. She was torpedoed yesterday morning in the Downs north of the Straits of Dover, and foundered immediately. The officers and crew were saved.

The Admiralty, in announcing the loss of the ship, says:

"The Niger, Lieut.-Commander Arthur T. Muir, was torpedoed yesterday morning in the Downs. All the officers and twenty-seven of the crew were saved. Four men were injured. It is thought that there was no loss of life.

"The Niger has been employed in semi-combatant duties."

The Downs is the name of a road stead in the English Channel off the southeast coast of Kent, between Ramsgate and Dover.

The Niger had 810 tons displacement and a speed of nineteen to twenty knots. Her armament consisted of two 4.7-inch quick-firers, five 3-pounders and several torpedo tubes. She was used only for purposes of patrol.

The Niger carried a complement of 85 men.

A great deal of comment is being made at Deal on the fact that a small cruiser flying the Dutch flag had been lying in close proximity to the Niger for the last two days, and only put to sea during the morning. In view of the disaster local mariners very much doubt whether this vessel was Dutch or was only flying the flag of that country. They think it quite probable that this vessel was covering the movements of the submarine. Neither Lloyds' agent nor anyone else locally had been able to ascertain the name of this mysterious warship.

The new Italian Cabinet will summon Parliament to meet December 2 for a two-weeks' session.

VALUE LAND BY EARNING POWER

System of Assessment at Toronto is Need of Change

(Mail and Empire.)

Assessment Commissioner Forman told Councillor Simpson's tax reform committee yesterday that the present assessments on property in the downtown section of the city could not be maintained at their present level. Property had been boosted far beyond its earning power, and many of the values would have to be reduced in the near future, certainly within two years. This applied to land as well as buildings. The department was obliged under the statutes to fix the assessments according to sale prices, and when these began to fall, as they would, even if they were not already falling, the assessments would have to be reduced. After all, he said, the real value of land must be determined by its earning power, and it was essential to get down to staple values. Sheer speculation was the cause of the exaggerated values placed on some of the down-town properties.

The commissioner admitted the need of a change in the present system of assessment, but did not think the single taxers' plan would afford much relief or tend to make land values staple. It might work all right in boom times when land was frequently changing hands at enhanced values, but it was a poor thing for a municipality to rely upon for revenue. He gave illustrations of how that system worked out in the West, where it has been tried. Now that a slump had set in and land was unsaleable these municipalities had to tax improvements in order to secure revenue to finance ordinary municipal undertakings. Under the present assessment system land and buildings had to be assessed at their full values. He thought the proper plan would be to put a reasonable assessment on land, about 75 per cent. of its real value, and 60 per cent. on improvements. Such a system would afford real security to property owners, as after all people had a perfect right to own land, and it should have a margin of value above its assessed value. Now, in fixing building values the assessors had to consider what it would cost to replace a building. No change had been made in the assessment of many buildings for years, and he thought it desirable that a new valuation of buildings should be made to secure an equalization of the assessments. It was simply impossible for the present assessors to make a re-valuation of improvements annually. He was in favor of assessing vacant land for water rates, wherever mains were laid in front of such land. Also imposing a tax of 2 per cent. on the amounts paid for properties over their assessed values on all sales.

Controller Simpson favored the adoption of the German system of assessment, which he declared would produce a large revenue and give the citizens a fair share of the increase in values which the community produced. Ald. F. S. Spence had another scheme which practically amounted to the nationalization of all lands. As it was impossible for the committee to agree upon any proposition it was decided to allow each member to submit any plan for securing increased revenue which he thought might be practicable, at the next meeting.

ECONOMIC EPIGRAMS

When seven or eight millions of men armed to the teeth for killing one another and destroying property can get away with fifty million dollars a day outside of the property they destroy, remember what eight millions of Canadians using goods made in Canada can do to keep the old ship head up to the storm.

It isn't a matter of having silks and bric-a-brac. What keeps the Canadian factory going nowadays is the main part of what you buy every day and the small items multiplied run into a larger total than the big purchase.

There may be in your Sunday School fifty or a hundred kiddies who will have a hard job getting coppers for collection if you don't help their fathers earn wages by buying the things they make.

Flag-waving is all right if you apply the sentiment practically. Some enlist and go to the front. The rest of us can buy "Made in Canada" goods and make the money to keep them there.

When you agree for sake of argument that it's a good thing to buy goods made in Canada, don't forget that it's not merely a matter of argument. Do it.

The man that has a made-in-Canada salary should have made-in-Canada tastes.

JAPS GUNS FOR RUSSIA

Heavy Artillery for Use in Poland on Way Across Siberia

CHICAGO, Nov. 12.—A Daily News correspondent who has just arrived in London from Port Arthur, cables:

I obtained corroboration from two persons of an account given me of the passage of a quantity of Japanese heavy artillery, in charge of Japanese officers, over the Trans-Siberian Railway to Poland. Considerable secrecy was observed, at least two, and possibly more, long trains of Japanese guns have gone to the front.

One passenger train, consisting of half a mile of cars, left daily for the west, being hauled at a snail's pace by an antiquated locomotive. All the good locomotives in Siberia have been requistioned for service in Russian Poland, and an extraordinary collection of Belgian, German, Russian and American locomotives is attempting to cope with the traffic.

Every bridge from Vladivostok to Petrograd is picketed by troops and tunnels are lined with sentries.

Russia's Captures.

PARIS, Nov. 12.—A Havas Agency despatch from Petrograd says:

"It is estimated here that during the recent fighting in east Prussia the Germans lost 70 per cent. of their officers. From Oct. 23 to Nov. 5, the total Russian captures amounted to 323 officers, 21,750 soldiers, 4 mortars, 52 cannon, 52 quick-firers and a large amount of munitions of war, including a quantity of provisions."

Canopus Not Sunk.

VALPARAISO, Chile, Nov. 12.—A rumor has been circulated here to the effect that the British battleship Canopus has been sunk off Coronel. This report is officially denied by the Chilean Admiralty.

Panama canal officials and members of the legation say they have no information concerning the report that seven British dreadnoughts were in the Atlantic bound west, possibly with the intention of proceeding through the Panama canal to Pacific waters.

Edison's Solution.

Thomas A. Edison, the inventor, was in Chatham recently and in an interview he commented upon the great number of unemployed in the city. A DEVOTEE OF MUSIC

Col. Sir Henry Pellatt has a world-wide reputation as a military man, but it is not so generally known that he is almost equally as fond of music, for which he has a very keen ear and a highly critical faculty. He is the president of the National Chorus of Toronto, in which he takes a very active interest, and is a regular attendant at important rehearsals. In speaking on this side of his character, an old militia man related an incident occurring at a dinner given by the sergeants' mess of the Queen's Own Rifles some years ago. Sir Henry was the guest of honor, and of course was billed for a speech. He got on the subject of music, and impressed on his listeners the value of a musical education. "Why, there is music in everything," he said. "In the trees, in the rivers—why, there is music even in this poor, little teapot." And picking up the article from the table and putting it to his lips, he astonished the gathering with a rendition of "Home, Sweet Home," with sundry variations and embellishments. It brought down the house all right, and many were the exclamations of wonder as to how the effect had been produced. No explanation was forthcoming, but the steward of the mess let it out several years later when he explained how Sir Henry had him insert a tin whistle in the spout of the teapot.—Saturday Night.

CRUSH THE KAISER FIRST

Prosecute War to Decided Finish, Say Citizens at Public Meeting

THEN TALK PEACE

What might be termed diversity of opinion, was one of the features of the public meeting, held in the city council chamber, last evening, when discussion took place on the movement brought forward by Joseph R. Bell—that of promoting a world-wide movement calling for the disarmament of all nations and compulsory arbitration, the objective being, the attainment of universal peace. Mayor Buller presided. The audience represented all classes of citizens.

The following resolution was passed:—

"That we declare our undeviating loyalty and support to Great Britain in the present contest which, we are convinced, must be carried through to a decided finish.

That public opinion must be aroused and educated to demand, that, at the conclusion of the war, steps be taken to secure permanent world peace, whether by the abolishment of armaments or other means considered necessary for the purpose."

The speakers were: Rev. Jas. Rollins, Dean McColl, Canon Davidson, H. G. Walker, Ald. Johnston, J. J. Hartley, C. P. Lloyd, John Bentley, W. S. Robinson, G. W. Powell and Joseph R. Bell.

Some misapprehension arose, lest a wrong construction be placed on the meeting, and it was felt by several speakers that the present was not an opportune time to hold the meeting. One opinion was that the present was no time to be talking about peace, when all energies should be directed against the Kaiser and Prussian militarism.

Other speakers, however, endeavored to point out that the occasion was not a peace meeting. True, peace was desired, but it was not the intention to deal with a peace movement until after the close of the war.

As an evidence of the difference to opinion, exisiting among the audience, Mr. Bell's resolution, which he explained, had been drafted hurriedly, before the meeting, was not accepted. It was felt that the resolution, which carried was a safer resolution to be placed in the press, so that the public would not be misled. It was moved by Rev. Canon Davidson and seconded by Dean McColl.

GERMANS PREVENTED FROM CROSSING THE YSER CANAL

Attacks of Enemy to East and South of Ypres and at Other Points Are Without Success

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

PARIS, Nov. 13.—The official announcement this afternoon says:

"From the sea coast as far as the Lys, fighting has been of a less violent character than on previous days. Several efforts of the Germans to cross the Yser Canal at the western outlet from Dixmude and other points were checked. Generally speaking, our positions have been maintained without change.

"To the east and south of Ypres the attacks of the enemy were repulsed at different points of our line and that of the British army.

"In the course of the last few days of foggy weather our troops have not ceased to make progress little by little."

CANADA WILL BE ASKED FOR MANY MORE SOLDIERS

OTTAWA, Nov. 13. — A cabled announcement that Great Britain is to raise an army of two million men is taken to mean that Canada's contribution will also be very heavily increased and that from 150,000 to 200,000 men from this country may be sent abroad by the end of 1915, if the war should last that long.

All supply contracts are being awarded on that basis, and it is also understood that the men will be sent forward in smaller quotas as expeditiously as possible, instead of as contingents.

LEIPZIG AND DRESDEN TAKING ON SUPPLIES.

VALPARAISO, Nov. 13. — The German cruisers Leipzig and Dresden steamed into Valparaiso harbor this morning and at once started taking on supplies.

TROOPSHIP SENDS OUT S. O. S. CALL.

LONDON, Nov. 13. — A Central News despatch from Rome says the steamer Citta Dizavona has sent out a wireless S. O. S. call, saying she is on fire 150 miles off Catania. She has 500 soldiers on board bound from Massowai, Africa, for Italy. Two steamers have gone to her assistance.

ARMY, EXCLUDING TERRITORIALS, OF 2,186,400.

LONDON, Nov. 13. — A supplementary estimate providing for another million men required by the British Government during the year ending March 31, was introduced in the House of Commons today. This brings the total army, not including territorials, to 2,186,400 officers and men.

LOST HEAVY GUNS.

PARIS, Nov. 13.—A Petrograd despatch says the Germans suffered a severe defeat beyond Kalicz, losing twelve heavy guns and many killed.

WORKMAN KILLED BY EXPLOSION

Drummondville, Que., Nov. 13.—An explosion in a match factory here early this morning killed Pierre Doucet, probably fatally injured Oscar Boisvert and seriously injured several other employes.

The factory was burned to the ground.

TONIGHT AT THE Y.W.C.A.

In connection with the Y.W.C.A. week of prayer, a public meeting will be held in the green room of the Y.W.C.A. tonight, when addresses will be given by Rev. R. G. Peever, C. N. Meserve, and Mr. Cuthbertson, recently of Japan. There will be music and an interesting evening may be expected.

KINDNESS APPRECIATED.

P. C. Reid, who was a school mate and chum of the late P. C. Paterson, is in receipt of a letter from the deceased's brother, James Paterson, of James street, Alma, Scotland. The letter says:

"It is with deep appreciation that I write this note on behalf of my parents and the rest of the family, to send our sincere thanks to you for the sympathetic letter you sent to us. We have to thank the police department, the Masonic brethren and the whole community of Peterboro for their kind expressions of sympathy in our sad bereavement."

A CHARGE OF THEFT.

Before Magistrate Dumble this morning William Graham who hails from Toronto, was charged with the theft of a rain coat. He was remanded for a week. The coat was taken from a local hotel.

GOOD SPEECHES AT TEACHERS' UNION SESSION

A union meeting of the city and county teachers is taking place this afternoon in the Collegiate assembly hall. Dr. Pakenham spoke on "Teaching English Literature" at the morning session, and F. J. A. Morris, M.A., spoke on the "Use of Books."

This afternoon C. Ward Butcher spoke on "Discipline"; Dr. Pakenham on the "Teaching of History," A. K. Hone on "A Defect in Our Educational System." F. A. Voaden dealt with the "School and Country Community."

The convention was remarkably well attended today.

The committee in charge of the collections for the patriotic fund in subdivision No. 14 are in receipt of a check for $25 from R. Neill.

DETAILS FOR USING RAILWAY LINE ARE COMPLETED

All the details of the transaction whereby the old Chemong Division of the G.T.R. will be utilized as a test track by the Canadian General Co., have been completed. The meeting yesterday of Vice-President Logan, Solicitor W. C. Chisholm, and Land Commissioner E. Donald of the Grand Trunk, E. G. Patterson and E. H. D. Hall, of the Canadian General Electric Co., Mayor Buller and City Solicitor G. N. Gordon decided arrangements satisfactorily to the three corporations.

The fact that final arrangements have been made means that an extensive piece of work which had occupied the attention of the city officials for quite a period is completed. The reason for the step in the first place was to grant a request of the C.G.E. for a test track to enable them to manufacture electric locomotives. The company first asked for land along the Boundary Road, but the city put forth the effort to secure the old Chemong Division and have been successful.

KAISER ISSUES REMARKABLE MESSAGE TO HIS SOLDIERS

While Belgium Has Been Conquered and While the "Primitive Expedition" Into Russia Has Been a "Brilliant Success," According to Emperor William, Germans Must Now Defend Their Hearths.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—A characteristic order issued by Emperor William to his troops has been found upon a German soldier wounded in East Prussia. It is as follows:

"Dear faithful soldiers,—You have not forgotten the day when crafty, barbarous Russia, having secretly prepared to attack our fair and peaceful Fatherland, mobilized her troops and moved toward our frontier. That same day I, in fulfillment of my duty and prompted by the best interests of the country, decided, in conjunction with my Government, to defend our land to the last drop of our blood.

"With this defensive purpose I was compelled to move my valorous troops into France, which, as an ally of Russia, was preparing to strike a blow at us on our western frontier.

"Thanks to the valor of my heroes, France has been severely punished, and Belgium, which interfered with our attack, has been added to the glorious provinces of Germany. From the course of military events you know that the punitive expedition into Russia has also been a brilliant success.

"But, although we obtained due requital for the affronted patriotism of Germany, we must now turn to the new task of protecting our hearths, which moribund France and barbarous Russia are making ready to attack. Henceforward military operations will take another form, which will soon be intelligible to you, my dear, valiant soldiers.

"My heroes, that hour of trial has now come for you and for the whole of Germany. It is necessary to concentrate all our energies on the repulse of our enemies, for otherwise Germany will be transformed from a magnificent free country into an enslaved, degraded province of Russia and France.

"If Germany is dear to you, if your families are dear to you, if your culture, your faith, your nation, your Emperor are dear to you, you will offer the enemy worthy resistance.

"Not one step backward into our country; remember, behind us destruction is threatening, and it is only before us that our happiness lies.

"For your country, for glory, forward, my dear, my faithful friends."

RIFLE ASSOCIATION DRILL MARKED BY ENTHUSIASM ROOM FOR MORE MEMBERS

The Civilian Rifle Association held a very enthusiastic meeting at the Armouries last evening. Captain E. L. Goodwill, presided, and the members were addressed by Messrs. R. E. Layfield, Col. Miller, W. H. Munro, Fire Chief Howard, W. Bradburn, all of whom spoke of the purposes of the association, and expressing their desire to support it. They all were of the opinion, that the rifle association was necessary under the present circumstances and the feeling expressed by the speakers was that no doubt the present organization would have a membership of 400 or 500 in the near future. If this were attained it would be an easy matter to form a regiment.

It is the intention of the executive to have the different classes of professional men to form companies consisting of men of their own profession, also the same with the mechanics. This would greatly increase the competition.

A large number have signified their intention of joining the association and an opportunity will be given them next Thursday evening to sign the service roll. This association is open to all British subjects between the age of 18 and 60.

The secretary is in communication with the secretary of Home Guard Association of Montreal, re the cost of guns and ammunition.

Col. Sergts. Dodds and Waterman had charge of the drilling, while Capt. W. C. Ackerman and Quartermaster Sergeant Edwards instructed the men in shooting, altogether there were over 100 men out last night.

Considering it was the first drill of the association, the work was of a very high order, and the men are to be commended for the way in which the various commands were carried out.

It is no doubt but what this association will in a short time form a strong home defence.

CASUALTIES IN CANADIAN FORCE

Death has not failed to exact its toll already in the ranks of the Canadian expeditionary force. Since the arrival of the troops in England, the following casualties have been reported. No local men are mentioned:

Private Alexander Ogilvie, 4th Battalion.

Private Aubrey R. Thompson, Princess Patricia Light Horse.

Col.-Sergt. Ernest John Lock, 9th Battalion.

Gunner Percy Sawyer, Divisional Artillery headquarters.

Corporal William Ogden, 11th Battalion.

Private Herbert Smith, 13th Battalion.

GROWTH OF DIVORCE EVIL

Very Rich and Very Poor the Greatest Offenders

TEACHERS' PROBLEMS

Are Discussed by Dr. Pakenham at Collegiate Assembly Hall

If divorces on the other side continue at the present rate, instead of the next 75 years for every two marriages solemnised there will be one divorce. That is how Dr. Pakenham, former Peterborough boy, and now a famous educationalist, has it figured out. He touched upon divorce last night when addressing several hundred people mostly friends of education in the Collegiate Assembly hall. He is in the city in connection with the teachers' two day convention that ends tonight.

In speaking on the divorce question he declared that 1,000,000 separations were granted in the United States during the last 20 years, which figures out at one divorce for every 10 marriages. Two great causes were immorality and desertion. The very rich and the very poor were the greatest offenders against the marriage contract. He thanked God that in the great masses of the middle class, the ravages and blighting effects of divorce were almost nil.

Dr. Pakenham came to speak on this phase of life when emphasising the educational influence of healthy home life upon the child. He made a plea for more mingling of city and rural influences, too much of either being detrimental to the best allround development of heart and mind. It was in towns and cities that divorce flourished. Rarely did one hear of a country couple seeking separation or freedom from the marriage vow. Marriage had become too much of a mere commercial contract. The schools and their teachers

RECRUITING AT THE ARMOURIES

But eleven extra recruits have so far been accepted from Peterboro for the second overseas contingent now being mobilized at Kingston.

Four anxious volunteers faced the examining physician last night in the armories but failed to get by. Physical defects of various sorts made it impossible for their services to be enlisted.

Recruiting unfortunately has not been conspicuous so far as its rapidity. For one thing a severe physical examination has to be passed and many eager ones burning with enthusiasm and a desire to get through are disappointed.

Major Walker stated today that no more cyclists for the cycle corps at Kingston are needed as the desired complement has been secured. Several local boys tried to enlist in this corps but were defeated when it came to the physical examination.

PETERBOROUGH, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 13, 1914

THAT MEETING LAST NIGHT.

THE MEETING in the council chamber last night, that asserted its claim to be called patriotic, established the fact in a two-hour discussion that it was loyal. No one ever doubted the loyalty of those attending. Their intentions were good and laudable, but we do not think the present time at all suitable for such a purpose. The object of the meeting is quite inconsistent with the spirit of the time, but a greater objection lies in a false construction that might be placed on it. Moreover, some had very divergent views as to policy, and, in our opinion, the less said about that meeting the better it will be for those concerned and the City of Peterborough.

LODY EXECUTED IN THE TOWER.

FOR THE FIRST TIME since the year 1700 an execution has taken place in the Tower of London. The execution was that of Carl Hans Lody, alias Charles A. Inglis, who was found guilty on November 2 of espionage and was shot as a spy. The scene of the execution was the tower barracks, not far from the spot where frivolous and pretty Anne Boleyn and other prisoners famous in English history met a tragic death.

Lody was about 28 years of age. When arrested in London late in September last, he claimed to be an American, but later confessed that he was a German. He had lived in New York and Omaha, and in the latter city married the daughter of Gottelieb Storz, a brewer, who later divorced him.

At his trial it transpired that he was a former lieutenant in the German army, but that he had been transferred to the reserves. In his capacity as a reserve officer he said he was ordered to proceed to England to keep track of the movements of the British fleet, but was warned not to do any spying. He was told to travel as an American citizen, and said, "in consequence of that I received an American passport." He claimed membership in several New York societies. Last year Lody served on board Emperor William's racing yacht Meteor.

The prosecutor, in summing up, said Lody had admitted being an alien enemy, posing as a civilian—at times as an American—meanwhile communicating important information to Germany. He described the prisoner as one "upon whom the International law against spies should be imposed."

It is well known that spies have been shot on summary trial in Germany, France, and Belgium, and it is said men have been so shot in Germany who were not spies. But the execution of this young man in the historic Tower of London serves to bring two things vividly before the citizens of the British Empire.

The first is the magnitude of the German system of spies. The keen, inquisitive eye of a German secret service man has been found to be watching the movements of other nations in all parts of the globe. It has penetrated to the most distant parts, to the most important centres, and in places where no one ever dreamed that it did so.

The second is that the execution brings the reality of war forcibly before the minds of the people. Nay, this execution does more, it carries the people back to a yesterday dimmed by the mists of two hundred and fourteen years, a yesterday when there was little thought of conserving human life and when the young men looked to jack-boots and arms as the one manly calling in life. People thought they had passed all that by two hundred years ago, that they were more civilized now, but they have lived to witness the execution of a young man as a spy in the very place where the great Strafford and Anne Boleyn took a farewell of the world.

That we have progressed a little is true, but war at best is a resort to the most extreme measures, that leads civilization into strange paths far back on the road of its journeyings.

COMMODITY PRICES ARE EASIER.

THE INDEX NUMBER of the Labour Department, reviewing prices in October, shows a tendency to a lower level. When the war broke out the number rose almost at once from 135.5 to 140.7. It has now eased back to 139.0, or nearly two points. Compared with a year ago, however, it is nearly five points higher. The October relapse is chiefly accounted for by declines under the headings: grains and fodders, animals and meats, and fruits and vegetables. Among miscellaneous foods, cream of tartar and glucose fell, but sugar, molasses and honey advanced. Silk and jute lowered the average for textiles. Metals, coke, linseed oil, hops and rubber also developed weakness. On the other hand, New Brunswick spruce deals, glass, starch and newsprint were higher.

The above refers to wholesale prices, of which 272 are included in the review. Retail prices in the several Canadian cities followed pretty generally in the wake of wholesale. From the householders' standpoint, the further advance of nearly one cent per pound in sugar was the most unfavourable incident of the month. On the other hand, potatoes were unusually low in Eastern Canada, and meats went down in several places. Bread went up in four cities. Flour went up in three and down in three. Butter was unusually steady, though it usually advances at this time of the year; the rise in September perhaps accounts for this. Milk came down in two places, which is unusual at this time of year. Rents have been falling pretty generally for some months past.

Only one new strike occurred in the whole of Canada in October, that of moulders at Owen Sound, but five remained unsettled from September.

POULTRY RAISING.

OF THE MANY get-rich-quick schemes there is perhaps none more delusive than that of poultry raising on paper, and yet, with the proper facilities and applied intelligence, possibly as handsome returns can be had from poultry raising as from any other industry in proportion to the amount of capital invested and the readiness with which results can be obtained. As a side line for the farmer, or often as an interesting and profitable occupation for the boys and girls on the form, poultry raising offers great opportunities. The value of the egg as a food is gradually but surely being recognized, with the result that the market for eggs is rapidly increasing. This means that in future good prices for poultry products are sure to be realized.

Recent experiments have shown that flocks with unlimited range, such as they usually have on the farm, have given greater profits per fowl than flocks that were confined. The poultry house should be dry, free from draughts, and well ventilated, but need not be an expensive structure, as was once thought necessary. With better systems of marketing the products, and with plenty of reliable information regarding the business, now within the easy reach of all contemplating taking it up, there is no reason why there should not be a development in poultry raising in keeping with its importance. Splendid bulletins on the subject may be obtained from the Dominion Department of Agriculture and from the various Provincial Departments.

BOOZE IN THE TRAINING CAMPS.

THE KINGSTON STANDARD is authority for saying that complaints have been made to the effect that certain hotels there have been guilty of getting volunteers of the second contingent drunk and keeping them out after hours. If this is true, drastic action should be taken with the Kingston hotel men guilty of such action. The military training camps are to be dry, says General the Hon. Sam Hughes, and he doesn't intend that this shall be a mere regulation. Canada wants her soldiers to be the equal of any in the fighting line, and to achieve this it is necessary that booze struggles be cut out. If the hotel men of Kingston refuse to do their duty, means will be found to force them to do so.

> "And we say this now before it is too late, because up to date our soldiers have been a well-behaved body of men whom we all admire, and any open disorder or drunkenness has been a rare exception. All we ask is that this good work shall continue—and we know if the decent men of the city who are conducting our city hotels have their way it will be continued. The one or two who trespass and who are in the 'certain' class must be plainly told to STOP IT!"

EDITORIAL NOTES.

SO the Crown Prince of Germany has been promoted. You will kindly note that the despatch does not say translated.

IN CASE readers of the Review are not aware of the fact, we may say that today (Friday) is the three hundred and seventeenth day of the year.

Promoters at the Front.

(Beck's Weekly, Montreal.)

Why not send some of Canada's company promoters to the front as high flyers?

Britain's Late Start.

(London Express.)

If we had started creating an adequate army four years ago, we should, at the beginning of August, have been able to send five hundred thousand trained men to the continent. If we had been able to do that, Germany would probably never have begun the war, and, under any circumstances, Belgium and the north of France would not have been ravaged and laid waste. Thanks to the "scare-mongers," our fleet in the North Sea is magnificent in its strength but thanks to the cheese-paring of the "economists," we have no fast cruisers at sea to check the activity of the Emdens.

War and the Red Cross.

(Ottawa Journal.)

In every country which is at war the Red Cross is calling for private help, and not getting enough; and with every army the Red Cross is doing noble work. Why should the Red Cross have to depend upon private charity and be insufficient? Ought not the Red Cross to be a military responsibility in war, if war is to go on? Why should a military system include not merely the medical and ambulance corps attached to most forces, but a complete provision for nurses and field hospitals and all forms of Red Cross work?

The Other Alliance.

(By McLandburgh Wilson.)

Germans and Austrians turn on the world,
Sounding their battle alarms;
English, French, Russians and Serbs are buried
Crushing the others in arms.
Still is a greater alliance that sweeps
Leading forever the van;
One that includes every woman that weeps,
One that includes every man.

Soldiers shall rot in the land of the foe;
Widows shall sorrow forlorn;
Babies shall come into a world full of woe,
Orphaned before they are born.
This is the triple alliance that bears
Brunt of the carnage so wild:
Greatest, most ancient of all earth's affairs,
Father and mother and child.

PEACE WITH HONOR.

Editor Review,

Sir,—The calling of Thursday night's meeting anent the movement for the complete disarmament of the nations, compulsory arbitration and international police system, was ill timed and antagonistic to the best interests of our Empire at this juncture when we are in the throes of the most titanic and world-wide struggle in ancient or modern history, and when we are on the eve of attaining success for our arms in the interests of freedom for all nations and against the worst form of militarism that ever sought to dominate mankind. Had they been Germans, these seventy-five respectable gentlemen who petitioned for the meeting could not have played into the hands of the enemy to better advantage. Do they not know that everybody else throughout the Empire is just as much in favor of peace as they are and that the idea will need no booming when the proper time comes?

Apart from all this do these gentlemen not know that their Rip Van Winkle movement was forestalled years ago by the Hague Conference when the whole question was gone into by representatives of all the great powers and when much was done by them, and complete success would have been attained but for the very nation that the Allies are now battling with and which they are likely to bring into subjection to their will? Nor will the futility of a few Peterborough gentlemen hinder the accomplishment of that end good though their intentions may be. Do they expect for one moment that their suggestion will be considered by the great representatives of the next Hague Conference? But not until militarism is crushed shall the desired objects of the movement be accomplished in spite of Germany or more correctly, Prussian militarism.

It seems that this is like many other movements of a local character although there are many who are sincere I am afraid that some are actuated by a vain desire to appear in the limelight, and to see their names and possibly their pictures, emblazoned in the newspapers, and then in due course cast off in their efforts. We have seen the same thing in the patriotic movement. We know the exhibition we have made of ourselves in that behalf, as compared with smaller towns and country places.

Yours truly,
PEACE WITH HONOR

ANOTHER MILLION NEEDED.

Premier Asquith Will Bring British Force Up to 2,000,000.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—It is reported in the Parliamentary lobbies that Premier Asquith will on Tuesday ask Parliament's sanction for the raising of a million additional troops for the purposes of the war, thus bringing the total up to 2,000,000 men.

Much interest is shown in the financing of the war. It is understood that the Government intends to issue a war loan of $1,000,000,000 or more, probably at 4 per cent., and redeemable within ten years. It is estimated that Great Britain is spending $35,000,000 weekly on the war, and, in addition to the war loan, the Government may propose to raise a further $250,000,000 by increasing the income tax of half a crown on the pound. This would provide for the necessary expenditure till March, the end of the fiscal year.

55c. PER DAY

A trifling amount,—what does it mean? Just this; that you, as representing the average Canadian citizen, can square off your account with our army of factory workers, by making sure that at least 55 cents worth of the things you buy, in your ordinary every day shopping, are made right here in Canada—the country that gives you your own living.

That sum, 55 cents a day, equals $200 per year. There are 8,000,000 people in Canada. If for the support of every one of them, there was spent $200 a year on Canadian made goods it would give us a factory output of $1,600,000,000.

Back in 1910-11 Canada was enjoying pretty good times. but the total factory output then was less than $1,200,000,000.

You can easily bury the hard times of to-morrow under the coppers you spend on odds and ends to-day, just by using a little intelligent discrimination, by saying to the shop-keeper.

Daughter of the Late Marshall Field Equips British Hospital Ship.

LADY DAVID BEATTY.

Lady David Beatty, wife of the British rear admiral whose fleet was in the recent fight with the Germans off Heligoland, has equipped her yacht Sheelah as a hospital ship and offered it for use to the English government. She herself will accompany the ship to whatever base the admiralty appoints for it.

Lady Beatty was formerly Miss Ethel Marshall Field, only daughter of the Chicago millionaire dry goods merchant. Before she was out of her teens she married Arthur Tree of London. The Trees separated and in 1901 she married Captain David Beatty, known as the handsomest officer in the British navy.

Admiral Beatty won promotion to the rank of commander for gallant service with the Nile boats in 1898. He was made captain for services in China in 1900 and reached flag rank at the age of thirty-nine. He was given the rank of rear admiral in 1910.

The social career of Lady Beatty has been no less distinguished. In the highlands they rented a magnificent estate with famous game preserves, where they came into close touch with the royal family, which always maintains neighborly relations with the occupants of the great estate adjoining their castle.

The Beattys have a town house at Regent's park, London, and a country estate, Brooksby hall, Leicester. The yacht Sheelah is a magnificent one. Yachting and hunting are two favorite recreations with Lady Beatty.

Organdie Waistcoats.

Waistcoats there are galore and dainty vestees to insert in surplice bodices of silk with the fall and winter tailleur. The very newest vestee is of organdie, puffed crosswise in what is called the "Victorian" effect, for in the early Victorian period puffs were the craze. Some of these puffed waistcoats have little buttons of dark silk or velvet down the front, but these are only for ornament, the real closing being made with snap fasteners underneath.

These puffed. organdie waistcoats are charming with blouses or basque costumes of striped pussy willow silk or of satin. But the smartly tailored street suit looks best with a more mannish waistcoat of heavy silk or of white pique.

The death has occurred of the Rev. David Black, the veteran minister of V rginhall, (Scotland) United Free Church.

SUNDAY SCHOOL.

Lesson VII.—Fourth Quarter, For Nov. 15, 1914.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, Mark xiv, 53, 54, 66-72—Memory Verses, 71, 72—Golden Text, I Cor. x, 12—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

A few weeks ago we saw in the story of Jesus Christ and Judas Iscariot, God and the devil face to face; now we have the same Lord Jesus in the hands of His enemies and the strange conduct, or, rather, misconduct, of one of His most favored disciples. All who are not saved are lost, but He came to seek and to save the lost. When any lost one is convinced of sin and truly receives the Lord Jesus Christ they become saved ones, and all such are equally saved; no one is more saved than another, for all have the same Saviour and the same salvation. But the experience of such as are saved is very varied, and the rewards will be according to service.

Some follow fully as did Caleb and Joshua, while some follow afar off like Peter in this lesson. Some utterly renounce the world, the flesh and the devil, while some are more or less conformed to this present evil age.

Some have no confidence in self and lean wholly upon the Lord, but others are too often self confident as Peter was when he said, "I will lay down my life for Thy sake" (John xiii, 37).

When the band of soldiers took Jesus and led Him away Peter followed Him afar off, even unto the palace of the high priest, and sat with the servants and warmed himself at the fire (verses 53, 54). The record in John xviii, 15, 16, is that Peter and John both followed Jesus, but John being known to the high priest went into the palace, but Peter stood at the door without until John spoke unto her that kept the door and brought in Peter.

There is growth in grace and in the knowledge of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ, a blessed experience, of which Peter speaks in the last verse of his second epistle (II Pet. iii, 18). There is also a possibility of a growing departure from the Lord, even in the case of a saved person, and that the saved one enter the kingdom saved as by fire (I Cor. iii, 15; v, 5), but according to the words of the Lord Jesus Himself it is impossible that a saved one should ever perish (John x, 28).

Peter's downward steps as a disciple seem to have been his self confidence and consequent blundering, his following afar instead of fully, his sitting in the company of the servants and warming himself at their fire, followed by his profanity and base denial. Earlier in the record we hear Peter advising the Lord not to speak of suffering, but rather to pity Himself; on which occasion he was told that it was Satan speaking through him and that he savored of men rather than of God (Matt. xvi, 22, 23). On this occasion he was again in the hands of Satan to be sifted, but our Lord had prayed for him (Luke xxii, 31-34). Peter learned by bitter experience something of the wiles of the devil and therefore could write all the more forcefully "Be sober, be vigilant, because your adversary, the devil, as a roaring lion, walketh about seeking whom he may devour, whom resist steadfast in the faith" (I Pet. v, 8, 9).

The true Christian life is the "Not I, but Christ," "Not I, but the grace of God" attitude. No confidence in the flesh, but rejoicing in Christ Jesus (Gal. ii, 20; I Cor. xv, 10; Phil. iii, 3). The company of the ungodly is no place for a child of God, and it is not for us to walk or stand or sit with them. We do not need the warmth of their fire, [illegible] but by meditation on the word of God may have such a fire in us as the disciples had with whom the Lord walked to Emmaus (Ps. i, 1, 2; xxxix, 3; Luke xxiv, 32). Unbelievers have a great many warming up places, such as the theater, the dance, the card table, and too often those who profess to be Christians, and perhaps are, may be found in such company and yet do not hesitate to sing, "Thou, O Christ, art all I want, more than all in Thee I find."

We should be careful to sing the truth as well as speak the truth, for only as we do this is it real worship.

That Peter should be ashamed or afraid to confess Christ before these servants seems pitiful indeed. I judge from his cursing and swearing that he was probably given to profanity before he began to follow Jesus, and this was a sudden outbreak of the old nature which remains in us as long as we stay in these mortal bodies and concerning which we are said to be always delivered unto death (II Cor. iv, 10, 11; Rom. vi, 11). What a look of love and pity and sorrow it must have been that Jesus gave to Peter and which sent him out to weep bitterly, for he was evidently where Jesus could see him (Luke xxii, 61, 62).

It would be well for us if we would always remember that those same eyes are ever upon us, searching us through and through, and live by the well of Him that liveth and seeth me (II Cor xvi, 9; Gen. xvi, 13, 14, margin). Contrast this same Peter, spirit filled, in the presence of the high priest and the council, bold as a lion (Acts iv, 8-13, 19, 20), and let us be so filled.

Any fear of man is an indication that the Spirit is not for the time being controlling us. The fear of man bringeth a snare, but in the fear of the Lord is strong confidence.

Ten More British Officers Killed.

LONDON, Nov. 13. — A casualty list dated Nov. 3 was issued here last night. It gives the names of ten officers killed and 28 wounded.

Among the killed are Lt.-Col. C. B. Moreland of the Welsh Regiment and Lt.-Col. Arthur Jex-Blake Percival of the Northumberland Fusiliers. In the list of wounded appear the names of Lt.-Col. R. H. H. Boys of the Royal Engineers, and Major B. T. Pell of the Queen's Royal West Surrey Regiment.

DE WET IS DEFEATED BY GEN. BOTHA

Two Hundred and Fifty Rebels Are Captured in Battle

LONDON, Nov. 13.—An official despatch received by Reuter's Telegram Co. says that Gen. Louis Botha came into contact with the rebel General De Wet's commando 24 miles east of Winberg, Orange River Colony, after a forced night march. The rebel was severely defeated, 250 being taken prisoners.

The Governor-General of South Africa officially reports that on Nov. 8 loyal commandos of Boers drove the rebels from Weltvreden in the direction of Riefontein and took a portion of the laager at Zendfontein, killing or wounded 120 rebels and capturing 25 others. Veldcorget Hofman, although wounded, led his men throughout the engagement. He was subsequently captured.

Sharp fighting took place outside Kroonstadt on Nov. 6, resulting in one rebel being killed, seven wounded and 17 taken prisoners, including Hendrike Serfontein, a member of the Assembly.

"Our officers and men who were killed," the report says, "with some exceptions, were shot with dumdum bullets and suffered frightful wounds."

Austrian General's Appeal.

VIENNA, Nov. 13.—(Via Paris.)—Gen. Potiorek, commander of the Austrian army operating against the Servians, has issued a general order to the 50th and 60th armies, fighting in Servia, to do their utmost to break the last resistance of their opponents and end the campaign before winter sets in with all the terrible sufferings which would follow.

Kaiser's Son-In-Law at Front.

PARIS, Nov. 13.—A despatch to The Temps from Bordeaux says that Ernest August, Duke of Brunswick, son-in-law of Emperor William, who was reported to have been wounded in action. left Brunswick on Nov. 5 and returned to the front.

HOPE GIVEN UP

Admiralty Finds no Trace of Missing Vessels

LONDON, Nov. 13.—The Admiralty published the names of 52 officers and warrant officers who were aboard the British cruiser Good Hope, when it was sunk with the cruiser Monmouth by the German squadron off the coast of Chile. The names include that of Rear Admiral Sir Christopher Cradock, commnader of the British ships.

The Monmouth had aboard 42 officers. The captain of the Good Hope was Philip Franklin. The captain of the Monmouth was Frank Brandt.

Earlier in the day the Admiralty announced that hope of the safety of the two cruisers had been abandoned.

The two hospital ships sent ont by the Chilean Government to search the vicinity of the recent naval engagement between British and German cruisers have arrived in Coronel and report that they found no trace of any of the vessels which took part in the battle.

The British Admiralty, in its list of officers who perished in the sinking of the Good Hope, includes Midshipman Hathaway, Fredericton, N.B., and Midshipman Silver, Halifax, N. S.—two Canadians.

GERMANS LOSSES SMALL.

Japanese Say Tsingtau Defenders Gave in Very Quickly.

PEKIN, Nov. 13. — A Japanese military report received in Pekin sets forth that the casualties to the Japanese army before Tsingtau was something over 1,500. But, according to reports from Tsingtau itself received in Pekin before the German wireless ceased operating, this number does not represent the correct total. The British lost 12 men killed and 61 men wounded.

The Japanese recital indicates that the German losses were small, for the reason that the German garrison surrendered as soon as the Japanese infantry stormed the trenches. No detailed report of the Tsingtau campaign from the German standpoint yet has been received here.

The Foreign Office has notified the Japanese Legation that it now expects the removal of the Japanese military railroad and the telephone and telegraph lines in Shantung Province, in the vicinity of Kiaochou.

Tsingtau having fallen, they are no longer needed.

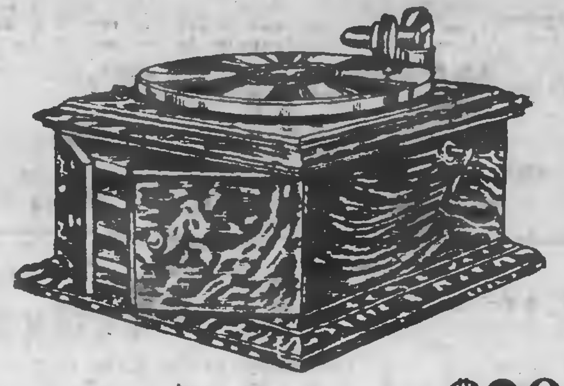
Strange Disease Strikes Children.

PROVIDENCE, R.I., Nov. 13.—Fear that the foot and mouth disease had spread to human beings were expressed by Federal and state authorities to-day. Four children of a Providence man who owned infected cattle were found to have sore mouths. A boy of 14, who had taken care of the cows, had the most pronounced symptoms.

Roberts Goes To France.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—Field Marshal Lord Roberts of Kandahar is going to France. The official announcement making this fact public says the famous general is going into the war zone to "see the Indian troops." Lord Roberts was born in Cawnpore, India, 82 years ago.

You may whitewash a man's character without washing it white.



THE VICTROLA AND THE FAMILY—No. 5—

Mary

like all other young people, is crazy about dancing—and that is where the Victor-Victrola comes in just fine.

"I used to have lovely times at little informal dances at our friends' who have Victrolas, but when it came to inviting them to our house—well I was a little bit ashamed to do it.

"You see, our music couldn't even be compared with theirs, and besides, some one always had to miss dancing in order to play for us, so when father finally got the Victrola, we were all delighted.

"Now we have the latest dance music, played by the very same orchestras that are so popular with society. We know it is always just right for dancing, because Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Castle, who are the last word on the dance question, personally superintend the making of every Victor Dance Record.

Lord Dufferin was once asked about his relations with Indian princes.

"You have been very successful in dealing with them," a friend said to him. "How do you manage it?"

"I owe it all to my glass eye," he said. "Whenever I have anything very serious to say to them I fix them fiercely with the glass eye and watch them with the other one!"

Twenty submarines are to be built at once at the Quincy works for the British government, a New York despatch says. The submarines are not to be completed there, but are to be built in sections for shipment.

HEROIC SACRIFICE BY RUSSIAN CREW

A despatch from Petrograd says: The correspondents of Finnish newspapers report the heroic sacrifice of the crew of a Russian picket boat in order to save a Russian cruiser, which was unwittingly approaching a mine in the Gulf of Finland.

Realizing that it was too late to signal the danger, the boat deliberately rushed at the mine at full speed. A terrific explosion followed and six out of the crew of seven perished. The survivor, who was severely wounded, has ben awarded the decoration of St. George.

AN APPEAL FROM EMPLOYMENT BUREAU

Over 300 men are pleading for work to support their wives and children. A few days or even a few hours' work would be very helpful. Girls about 16, domestics and boys, 16, willing to work on farms, could be found positions and thereby relieve the strain on the parents. Edward Langley, Secretary, 352½ Water Street.

could play a part in remedying conditions. What part it was, must be discovered by the teachers themselves.

Are Leaving the Farms.

Dr. Pakenham deplored the trend of young people toward the city. Since 1847 there has been a gradually increasing movement from the farm to the city. Too much of farm or country life without proper attention to mental development was partly responsible. Hence the countryman came to the city, became a street car conductor or took up some other pursuit just to feel the throb and share in the animated city life. This uneven development had its reflex effect as shown by the desire of the tired city dweller to hike to the quiet, brain resting conditions of the country.

Towns Were Hurtful.

Dr. Pakenham claimed that too much town life tended to develop unhealthy mental sharpness. In the tumult one soon became hardened and not susceptible to ennobling influences. It could be seen in the anaemic youth, the shrunken woman, the narrow chested man. Infant mortality was high in cities. Towns created diseases of heart and lungs. How these unhealthy influences were to be redressed was for teachers to help solve.

Dr. Pakenham dealt with other problems confronting teachers. The teacher must aim to reach perfection, must study good literature.

Toward the close of his address he appealed to teachers to keep their heads during the present crisis, and shun anything that would savor of stirring up trouble. They could, however, render valiant service if fitted for it, by giving military instruction.

Speaking of newspapers, he declared that how intense feelings were toward the Germans was reflected in the newspapers. People demanded the news and papers were just what people made them.

Musical selections were contributed during the evening consisting of quartets, piano duets, and a chorus by 12 of the juvenile public school scholars whose harmonious singing was a rare surprise to the audience. Mr. L. J. Petit presided.

A motion of thanks to Dr. Pakenham was extended by Dr. Middleton, and Mr. C. Fessenden.

EDMONTON TO HAVE PLENTIFUL SUPPLY OF NATURAL GAS

A remarkable flow of natural gas has been struck near Viking, Alberta, on the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway. The well has been bored for the city of Edmonton and the gas will be piped to Alberta's capital, eighty-two miles distan.

The well is 2,340 feet in depth, and is making 9,250,000 cubic feet per day. This well is only exceeded in size of flow on the continent by the one at Bow Island. It is stated that two wells of this capacity would supply all the power, light and heat required in the city of Edmonton.

WILL SPEND REMAINDER OF LIFE IN JAIL

The last act of the drama that took place on the St. Catherine Road, Montreal, on the night of March 10, when a constable was shot dead and another was dangerously wounded, was enacted in the Count of King's Bench on Tuesday when Joe. Beauchamp and Ismael Bourret, two of the bandits, were sentenced by Judge Lavergne to life terms in the penitentiary, and Arthur Foucault, the third accused, was sent to jail for a year.

Story of the Crime.

The history of the tragedy, which caused a tremendous sensation at the time, and gave rise to one of the most exciting trials ever witnessed in our local criminal courts, is briefly as follows:

A report reached the police that a burglary had been committed at St. Laurent, where a butcher's shop had been broken into, and three constables of the Cote des Neiges police station were sent out to intercept the sleigh in which the three prisoners and a fourth man, who is still at large, were driving in the direction of Montreal. When Constables Bourdon, Guyon and Brizard stopped the vehicle and attempted to search for the stolen goods, they were fired upon, and Bourdon was shot dead. Guyon got a bullet through his lung, but later recovered. The three men escaped to the city where they were tracked and the following day submitted to a running gun fight with the police. They managed to get away and later two of the gun men were arrested. Foucsult has been held from the start as a witness. Beauchamp was captured in a church in the East End where he had taken refuge, broken with fatigue and the want of sleep, and Bourret was arrested on a charge of vagrancy in Nashua, N.H.

AN APPLE CALENDAR

This season has taught the Canadian apple growers a severe lesson, and if they profit by it the apple business will be placed on a sure foundation. Throughout the whole Dominion apple growing has been a happy-go-lucky industry. Since pioneer times farmers have been visited yearly by agents from the nurseries who carried beautifully lithographed pictures of many varieties of apples. With only these pictures and the smooth talk of plausible agents to guide them, farmers have planted out orchards of all sizes with an almost infinite variety of apple trees. The result is that the channels of trade are cluttered with all kinds of apples, many of them good enough but not sufficiently known. Apple consumers have learned that a few varieties are better than others, and they demand their favourites when they go to buy. We thus have too great a demand for a few kinds of apples and no demand at all for others. Thousands of car-loads of apples are wasted for this reason, and herein lies the lesson. Apple producers must stop producing any but the varieties that consumers are anxious to buy. If they happen to have a superlatively good variety they must educate the consuming public to its use. To continue, producing ordinary apples for which there is no demand is simply a waste of energy. By grafting these ordinary trees with marketable varieties the orchards of the country can be changed in a few years so that no apples need go to waste.

Another lesson that Canadian apple producers must learn to organise more thoroughly for purposes of marketing. The well organized orchardists of the United States are beating us in our Canadian markets because they produce clean fruit, well coloured, properly packed, and insistently advertised. In point of quality most of this fruit is inferior to the home product. It has been found that the farther north either fruits or cereals can be produced the better their flavours will be. Our northern grown apples can be made superior to any in the world, and their superiority must be developed and advertised if apple growing is to be made a money-making proposition. Nurseries must be discouraged from selling poor varieties, and those going into the apple business must be taught what varieties to plant. Then the consumers must be educated to the use of the different apples that are good in different seasons. On the latter point it has occurred to me that we might easily have an apple for each month, just as jewelers have different precious stones suitable for birthday gifts in the different months. For instance, my birthday is in March, and I choose a Golden Russet as my apple. How would it be to allot apples to the different months as follows:

August—Red Astrachan or Yellow Transparent.
September—Duchess, or Wealthy.
October—Gravenstein, or Pippin.
November—Kings or Pewaukees.
December—Northern Spy.
January—Baldwin or Spitzenberg.
February—Bellflower.
March—Golden Russet.
April—?
May—?
June—?
July—Ben Davis.

BASKETBALL IS POPULAR

Another League Likely to be Formed in near Future

Basketball is growing in popularity around the "Y" judging by the numbers who are anxious to break into the game this winter. One league has already got away to a good start and it is possible another will be launched before long composed of players who sought admission into the league first formed but for whom there was no room. Any one wanting to play basketball this season should immediately hand in their name to physical instructor Carson.

Last evening enough members of the George Street Excelsior Club turned out to form two teams, and as a result an interesting practice took place. Tomorrow night they will play the Pirates, after which the team of the junior business men will play the bankers. C. E. Sisson will captain the business men.

Bowling is also popular these days at the "Y" alleys. A league has been started with 8 teams in it. The scores will be published each Monday.

The Collegiate boys will be looked after as far as playing basketball is concerned, at the regular class periods in the afternoons.

The public are cordially invited to drop in and see the league games this winter, which will be held every Monday, Wednesday nd Friday night, at 9 o'clock, with a double header on Saturday nights, commencing at 8 o'clock.

Keene Heard Songsters.

The Songster Brigade of the Salvation Army journeyed to Keene last evening and gave a concert. It was thoroughly enjoyed by a large audience, and the Songsters are to pay a return visit in the course of a couple of weeks.

WANT TO LEASE POWER HOUSE

Utilities Chairman and Mr. Denham Will See the Hydro Commission

W. H. Denham, representing the Peterboro Hydraulic Power Co., waited on the Utilities Commission at the meeting of that body last evening, in regard to the leasing of the Murray Street power house, the rental of space, and for attendance of a man at the London Street power house. It was arranged that the chairman, T. F. Matthews, and Mr. Denham would interview the Ontario Hydro Electric Power Commission on Monday in regard to the Murray St. power house. Mr. Denham suggested $25.00 a month rent for it and $25.00 per month for rent space and attendance at the London Street power house.

It was resolved that Superintendent Dobbin of the Waterworks Department be authorized to lay a pipe on Gilchrist Street from Murray Street to the creek provided he received a petition properly signed representing a revenue equal to ten per cent. of the cost.

A communication was received from R. E. Layfield which stated that he took possession of 780 Water St. on October 10th and was given no bill. He asked that be be allowed to pay the bill, less discount. The request was granted.

NORTH WARD LADY LOCKED OUT OF HER OWN HOME

People who use latch keys ought to be very careful to carry them along lest they find themselves shut out some of these cold nights as was the misfortune of an aged and delicate lady residing in the fourth ward last night. In stepping out on the verandah for a moment the door accidentally shut itself, locking her out, without having any means of regaining access. To make matters worse there were two infant children in bed and two lighted coal oil lamps up to full height which added embarrassment to her sufferings from the cold. At last she aroused the inmates of the next house. A small boy undertook to scale the front of the building and with considerable difficulty gained access through the only window that had not been provided with storm windows. At last accounts the lady was recovering from the effects of the exposure and nothing remained except the effects of the scare.

EAST PETERBORO SCHOOL TEACHERS IN CONVENTION

H. Andrews is Elected to the Presidency

WILL GIVE TO FUND

Instructive Papers are Given by Able Speakers

About seventy-five teachers of East Peterboro met in the Normal School Assembly Hall on Thursday morning, with the president, Mr. G. E. Broderick in the chair. The secretary read the minutes of the last meting at the opening of the meeting, after which nominating, resolution, and Strathcona trust committees were appointed. Some business matters were attended to, and the convention decided that each teacher pay one quarter per cent. of his or her salary to the Patriotic Fund.

Mr. Broderick, in the opening remarks of his most excellent address, said the very multiplicity of topics on education which a president could choose from made it easy for him, and yet his very able address, on "Some Essentials in Good Education" showed he must have spent much thought on the preparation. Mr. Broderick showed how important it was to teach by the comparative method. Seeing likenesses and differences was how the mind was educated and the senses trained to act correctly.

The report of the O. E. A. at Toronto was very clearly and minutely given by Miss Edgar and Miss Carter.

Afternoon Session.

The afternoon session was opened by able papers on the Rural Teachers' Conference at Guelph by Misses Donoghue and Pearson.

The nominating committee reported that the following officers had been appointed for the ensuing year:

President—Mr. H. Andrews.
Vice-President — Mr. Jno. C. O'Donoghue.
Secretary—Miss Waters.
Executive — Misses Duff, Hamilton and March.
Auditors — Misses McLachlin and MacNaughton.

Reports were also read from the committees on resolutions and Strathcona trust.

"School Gardens" was then ably and interestingly discussed by Misses Throop and Hamilton.

Mr. F. C. McRae, B. S. A., described the work of the agricultural district representative in connection with school gardens. A paper on "Primary Work," by Miss Murray, and Mr. Legs discussed "Bits Picked Up."

PREPARIMG FOR BIG GATHERING OF DAIRYMEN

Eastern Ontario Association Meets Here in January

Mr. T. A. Thompson, of Almonte, Ontario, the indefatigable secretary of the Eastern Ontario Dairymen's Association, was in the city today. In company with G. A. Gillespie, M.L.A., they are making arrangements for the coming convention of the Dairymen's Association, which is to be held in Peterboro on the 6th and 7th of January, when several hundred delegates will be in attendance, and it is up to the city to give it every encouragement and to see that the gathering is well looked after.

Notwithstanding the fact that Mr. Thompson is president of the Conservative association in his county, he and Mr. Gillespie, the latter being an enthusiastic member of the Dairymen's Association, appear to be getting along very well in the management of the coming convention, which promises to be the best in its history.

SEND VOLUNTEER FLEET STEAMER TO VANCOUVER

In connection with its round the world traffic the Canadian Pacific Railway has for a number of years had close relations with the Trans-Siberian Railway, and indeed has been the only railway on the North American Continent to take part in the International Round the World Railway Conference which in 1913 was held at Moscow and this year would have been held at Marseilles if the war had not broken out. It was on the proposal of the Canadian Pacific Railway that the Japanese State Railways and the Chinese Eastern Railway were elected members of this Conference at Moscow. The direct ocean link between the Canadian Pacific Railway and the Trans-Siberian has hitherto been lacking, but this link may very soon be forged by the establishment of a direct service of the Russian Volunteer Fleet, a Russian Government service operating from Vladivostock in connection with the Trans-Siberian Railway.

The recent war has brought Russian and British Empire interests closer together and with considerable enterprise the Russian Government has arranged to send the Nijni Novgorod, a Volunteer Fleet Steamer, to Vancouver to see what business can be picked up. She will leave Vancouver on November 25th with several thousand tons of freight delivered to her by the Canadian Pacific Railway. Indeed, so promising is the business that a second vessel, the Kiev, is scheduled to arrive at Vancouver early next month leaving again for Russia on Christmas Day. This is evidently leading up to a possible monthly service between Canada and Russia, and though the Canadian Pacific Railway is at present only issuing through bills-of-lading for freight, there is no reason why a passenger business should not grow up also. As a matter of fact the Canadian Pacific Railway which handled the Novgorod at the Japanese ports on her Eastbound voyage booked several passengers for Vancouver. The displacement of this vessel is 5,285 tons.

There are many commodities which can profitably be exchanged between the two countries, for instance, grains, machinery, minerals, hides, furs, tea, cotton, tobacco, condensed milk, automobiles, apples, etc. The Russian Volunteer Fleet is an extensive and well managed organization consisting of fourteen vessels totalling about 75,000 tons. It has an excellent service from Vladivostock to Tsuraga and Shimonlseki—two Japanese ports. The steamers in its service were built mostly in Glasgod or Newcastle, the Novgored coming from the yards of Armstrong, Mitcherr & Co., of Newcastle, and the Kiev from these of J. & S. Thompson, of Glasgow.

Slaughter House Regulations

New slaughter house regulations are about to become effective in the city, of so drastic a nature that Sanitary Inspector Spence thinks they will speedily result in the establishment of a civic abattoir. Copies of the revised regulations will soon be procurable at the inspector's office. Every hotel, livery barn proprietor, and slaughter house owner will be supplied with a copy and must take steps to govern himself in accordance with the instructions in case he is violating any of them. It looks as if the inspector is due for a busy time enforcing the regulations, but he is determined to see they are complied with to the letter of the law. Some new rules are also contained in the regulations governing proper receptacles for, and removal of, manure. In cities and towns no more than two loads of manure shall be permitted to accumulate.

Dr. Clinton, district medical health officer, paid a visit to the city yesterday to see if the diphtheria epidemic was abating. He was satisfied with the precautions exercised, and the competent care of cases that were being taken.

Feet and ankles so swollen, she could not walk up stairs

Every woman and every man, who suffers with Rheumatism—who has acute attacks of Rheumatism, Sciatica or Lumbago—whose Kidneys are weak and whose hands and feet become swollen and painful—should read carefully these two letters of Mrs. Salsbury about the magical effects of

Gin Pills FOR THE KIDNEYS

On February 14th, last, Mrs. J. A. Salsbury wrote about Gin Pills, "I can certainly say Gin Pills have done a lot of good for me. Some six years ago, I could not walk upstairs, my feet and ankles were so swollen, but I took three boxes of Gin Pills and the trouble has never returned. My mother, 82 years of age, is taking them and feels fine". Writing again on April 22nd., in reply to a request for permission to publish her letter, Mrs. Salsbury says, "You may do so, as I think it was Gin Pills that cured me, as I have not had the Rheumatism since and it is six years this spring since I was so bad".

GIN PILLS FOR THE KIDNEYS

Swollen hands and feet are a sure sign of Kidney Trouble. So is Mucus or brick dust deposits in the urine. So is incontinence or suppression of the urine. So is Gravel (or Stone in the Kidneys.) If the urine is hot and scalding, the Bladder is irritated or inflammed. In all these cases you need Gin Pills at once. Take them as Mrs. Salsbury did and cure yourself.

Gin Pills are sold in every part of Canada at 50c. a box, six for $2.50—and every box is sold with our spot cash guarantee of satisfaction or money back. Sold in the United States under the name 'GINO' Pills.

FEW DAYS SHOULD SHOW DECISIVE RESULT AT FRONT

Repeated Terrible Assaults of German Picked Forces Fail to Dislodge the Handful of Allied Defenders of Canal From Nieuport to Ypres—Germans Are Destroying Bridges on Frontier

LONDON, Nov. 13. — A critical stage in the battle in West Flanders has now been reached, and the next few days, if not hours, should produce something more decisive than has yet occurred.

The Germans have continued to attack with large forces at their command the British and French, who hold the line between Dixmude and Ypres, but with the exception of the capture of Dixmude, which occurred Tuesday, and some little progress around Ypres, they have not been able to make any material advance.

In fact, the French official report issued yesterday afternoon says that all the attacks have been repulsed. The Germans are no longer utilizing green troops in this region, but have brought up the pick of their army, including some Prussian Guards, who attempted an offensive movement against the British, but were defeated decisively.

Both sides express satisfaction with the progress of the battle, Berlin says that the attacks of the allies have been repulsed and that their own attack is making headway, while in London and in Paris it is felt that so long as the allies can hold the line of the canal from Nieuport to Ypres their position is a strong one.

In France, from the northwest to the southeast, there have been engagements of lesser importance in which, according to the French report, Gen. Joffre's armies have succeeded in gaining ground and strengthening their positions. The Germans continue to destroy bridges and railways in Belgium, but with what object remains a secret.

All bridges leading to Belgium have already been destroyed and barricades of tree trunks have been thrown up across the roads of the east Belgian frontier, to prevent the escape in Holland of deserters as well as to compel the Belgian peasants to remain in their country.

The correspondent of The Daily Express in Flanders is authority for the statement that there have been numerous instances of the Germans killing their prisoners.

The British troops at Ypres are ably supported by the Indian troops. A report is current that the Kaiser has ordered that all the Indians and other Moslem troops serving with the allies, when captured, shall be sent to Constantinople and made to serve in the Turkish army.

To relieve the enormous pressure on the allies along the Belgian frontier, the French, it is expected, may attempt an offensive movement against Lorraine or Alsace, their armies having been greatly strengthened. The German attack is expected to reach its maximum when they have brought up from Liege all their heavy siege guns, the transportation of which has been delayed by rains.

Considerable uneasiness is noticable at the German headquarters at Ghent. It is reported that 100,000 troops have passed through the town. It is declared that they are on their way to Ypres, where the fighting is heaviest, but as they come from Bruges and Ostend it is considered more likely that they are bound for Brussels.

The Governor of Ghent was suspended Wednesday by Col. Montenfel. It is learned from a reliable source that the municipality of Ghent has been given notice that it had until noon yesterday to pay the Germans $50,000 as pay for the officers and men of the German forces stationed in that vicinity.

The Nieuwe Rotterdamsche states that the Germans have arrested five of the leading citizens of Lokeren, including the burgomaster, as the result of the alleged discovery of rifles belonging to the civic guard in the town hall.

The Belgian Minister of War has received information from Belgium that last week twenty-six trains filled with German cavalry passed through Brussels, coming from Ghent and going towards Germany.

CONTROL RAILWAY LINES

Main Austrian Army in Galicia Has Been Enveloped

LONDON, Nov. 13.—The Russian army, under Gen. Rennenkampff, is fighting its way into East Prussia and has taken Johannisburg, which is on the railway from Lyck to Soldau, both of which towns are already in Russian hands. This gives to Russia the control of an important railway line which skirts the frontier in German territory and has several branches running into the interior.

The central army, which drove the Germans back from the Vistula, has had only unimportant engagements, but it is known to be pushing forward to the borders of Posen and Silesia, which the Germans are crossing.

The Russian left wing has followed the Kielce railway to the Austrian frontier, and is within a few miles of Cracow, the siege of which is imminent.

The southern army, under Gen. Ruzsky, is at Rzeszow, between Przemysl and Cracow, and its crossing of the San river is being opposed by the Austrians. Another detachment continues the siege of Przemysl, while still another is operating against the Austrians who are holding the passage of the Carpathians.

Cossacks patrols are reported to be making raids even to the gates of Cracow, and news of the beginning of a battle at Cracow, Galicia, is momentarily expected.

The Germans have been digging trenches and erecting barbed wire entanglements along the whole of the Russian-German frontier with the object of impeding the progress of the Russian forces. It is understood, however, that their main plan is to retire on the fortresses of Koenigsberg, Loetzen, Grandenz, Bromberg, Posen, Glogau, Breslau and Neisze.

The official report issued last night at Petrograd says:

In East Prussia on Nov. 11 an action developed in front of Stalluponen, Krougnanken and the region of Soldau. Our troops occupied Johannisburg (a small town of East Prussia, 70 miles to the southwest of Gumbinnen).

Beyond the Vistula battles of a secondary importance occurred in the region of Kalisz (Russian Poland) and Neschava, where advance guards of the enemy sought to progress.

In the Carpathians, Austrian rear guards maintained at the crossings on the Upper San, in the region of Sanok, were attacked by our troops.

The siege of Przemysl, which was suspended during the period in which the Austro-German armies were on the offensive, has been re-established.

Austria's main army in Galicia in its retreat before the Russians has been surrounded and its escape across the Carpathian Mountains cut off, according to advices received by the Russian embassy at Rome. It is stated that the Austrians must accept the challenge of the Czar's forces for a decisive battle or surrender.

A Russian army marching toward Silesia has arrived at Mekhov, enveloping the right wing of the German army in retreat from Russian Poland.

A message from Bucharest, according to an Exchange Telegraph Co. despatch from Rome, says that two Austrian divisions have been annihilated along the River Pruth. While a small Russian force made a frontal attack, the main force invaded Bukowina from the south, cut off the Austrian retreat and delivered an attack from the rear.

From Petrograd comes a report that the Germans are preparing positions for a stand on a line running through Klobutzko, Czestochowa and Mstow. The troops are said to be in bad condition as to clothing and equipment, to withstand the rigors of a Russian winter, some of them not even having shoes, much less overcoats.

Petrograd despatches detailing the German retreat from the River Vistula say that the failure of the Crown Prince to hold the centre caused a falling back along the entire line. Despatches from German sources show that the Crown Prince's unpopularity is increasing since his failures in the west and the east. Although the Crown Prince has been placed in command of the eastern army, the actual work is being done by Gen. von Hindenberg.

A despatch to The London Daily News says that Gen. Dankl, with the remainder of the Austrian army, is moving south, across Galicia, and that he has refused further co-operation with Gen. von Hindenberg. This statement, however, is to be taken with reserve.

WINNIPEG GRAIN MARKET.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 12.—Following the weak wheat markets of this side on Wednesday, Liverpool cables, while lower, were not as weak as expected, which was responsible for a steady opening here. The liquidation was resumed again, however, causing prices to decline sharply. About noon the decline from yesterday's close was ⅝c to 1⅛c, but the tendency was for a reaction. July wheat was sold for the first time today at $1.24½. At the close wheat was unchanged to ⅝c higher from Wednesday; oats ⅜c lower to ⅛c higher, and flax 1c to 2½c higher.

The cash demand was good for all grades of wheat, but few offerings were being placed on the market. Oats, barley and flax were quiet.

Inspections Wednesday were 586 cars, as against 1437 last year, and in sight were 400 cars.

MONTREAL GRAIN MARKET.

MONTREAL, Nov. 12.—On account of the decline in prices for wheat in Winnipeg yesterday, the foreign demand today was poor and cables were weaker at a decline of 6d to 1s per quarter, consequently, business was very quiet. Owing to the continued limited demand for oats on spot and the weaker feeling in the western market, prices declined 3-4c to 1c per bushel.

Demand for corn and barley is also limited, but prices show no change. There was a fair enquiry from foreign buyers for spring wheat flour, but as the prices bid for the higher grades were still 3d to 6d per sack below millers' views, the volume of business doing is small. The local trade is quiet.

Demand for millfeed is good, and millers in some cases have sold their complete output for November and have made some contracts for December delivery. Trade in butter was quiet and principally of a jobbing character. Demand for cheese is good and the market is firm. Eggs steady and slightly higher.

MINNEAPOLIS GRAIN MARKET.

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 12.—Wheat—No. 1 hard, $1.18½; No. 1 northern, $1.15½ to $1.17½; No. 2 do., $1.11½ to $1.15½; Dec., $1.14.

Corn—No. 3 yellow, 60c to 65c.

Oats—No. 3 white, 45½c to 46c.

DULUTH GRAIN MARKET.

DULUTH, Nov. 12.—Wheat—No. 1 hard, $1.18½; No. 2 northern, $1.17½; No. 2 do., $1.14½; Dec., $1.16½ to $1.15¾.

CHEESE MARKETS.

BROCKVILLE, Ont., Nov. 12.—On today's cheese board the offerings were 761 boxes of colored and 355 boxes of white. The sales were 75 of white and 264 of colored at 14 13-16c, and bidding then fell back to 14⅝c, with no sales.

VANKLEEK HILL, Ont., Nov. 12.—There were 925 boxes of white and 300 boxes of colored cheese boarded and sold on the Vankleek Hill cheese board here today. The price offered was 14 11-16c, and both white and colored were sold at this figure.

CATTLE MARKETS

UNION STOCK YARDS.

TORONTO, Nov. 12.—Receipts of live stock at the Union Yards were 657 cattle, 1482 hogs, 2537 sheep and lambs and 47 calves.

Butchers' Cattle.

GERMAN GETS LIFE TERM.

Lieut. Mors Had Been Paid $50,000 to Block Suez Canal.

LONDON, Nov. 13. — Further details of a plot to block the Suez Canal and prevent the passage of reinforcements from India and Australia were disclosed here yesterday in a despatch from Alexandria, Egypt, in which it was stated that Lieut. Mors, a German officer, had been convicted and sentenced to imprisonment for life. A number of his associates have also been arrested.

Mors was despatched to Egypt five years ago, and succeeded in being appointed a lieutenant in the Egyptian gendarmes. His real mission, according to The Chronicle, was to foment a local rebellion among the various nationalist princes and to get them to agree to assist him.

When war broke out he was recalled to Germany, and was sent back to Egypt in a fortnight as medically unfit for military service, but actually to blow up a steamship in the Suez Canal so as to block the passage of reinforcements from India and Australia. The plot was discovered and Mors arrested.

At his trial, according to The Chronicle, Mors confessed that he received $50,000 for the work entrusted to him.

REPUBLICS WARNED.

Britain and France Will Not Tolerate Infractions of Neutrality.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13—Ecuador and Colombia have been warned by Great Britain and France in emphatic terms that the allies will not countenance further violations of neutrality by these South American states.

After making strong representations through the British and French Ministers at Quito and Bogota, the British and French Governments considered the matter serious enough to communicate to the United States Government in view of possible complications that might arise.

The notes to the American Government cited no specific violations, but expressed the hope that Ecuador and Colombia would be impressed with the value of maintaining strict neutrality, in which the United States had given so signal an example.

Mystery Surrounds Wounding.

KINGSTON, Nov. 13. — William Foster, of this city, was found lying unconscious upon the floor of his apartment with a gash on the side of the head which had produced concussion of the brain. He was removed to the hospital for an operation, and his condition is critical. No one appears to know how Foster came to be injured, but some ugly rumors are afloat, which cannot be cleared up until he regains consciousness and makes a statement to the police. One story goes that the man got into an altercation with a German sympathizer over the war and was felled with a bar of iron.

GERMAN LOSES HUGE.

Their Casualties In Flanders Have Run Into Six Figures.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—The Times today has the following specials from its correspondent in the French and Belgian fighting zones:

North France.—According to German officers who have fallen into the hands of the allies, roughly 500,000 Germans were fighting against the allies at the beginning of the great battle on the Yser river. The enemy's casualties among officers themselves are put at 90,000, from which it may be assumed that actually their losses run well into six figures. In one case a regiment of infantry (marines), 1,800 strong, had only 80 men left when the great movement on Ypres was made. The losses among officers is extraordinary heavy. Five generals were killed.

I am informed by a British artillery officer, who has taken part in the fighting at Ypres, that he has seen a large number of German shells with the date of October, 1914, on the fuses. Only four out of five of these explode. Not only is there a scarcity in German heavy ammunition, but in small arms ammunition. Circulars recently found on dead German infantrymen at Ypres call upon the soldiers to husband ammunition.

Between the Marne and the Aisne, the Battle of the Aisne, to give it its old name, has broken out again with something like its old ferocity. The three main areas of this eternal battle are, roughly: (1) the district between the Oise and Craonne; (2) the immediate neighborhood of Rheims; (3) the actual forest of the Argonne.

Renewed activity of Mount Vesuvius and Mount Etna, Sicily, is causing alarm to the residents of the vicinity. A shock was felt at Messina.

NATIONAL ASSOCIATION'S ACTION MAKES PROSPECTS FOR PETERBORO TEAM NEXT YEAR MUCH BRIGHTER

Reduction in Salaries and Squads may Assist Local Magnates — Question of Closing Next Season to be Decided in the Coarse of a Month

The fact that the National Association of Professional Ball Leagues, at its session in Omaha on Wednesday, decided to put through a cut of twenty per cent. in the salaries of minor league players and also reduce the squads of the teams, may possibly induce the baseball magnates of this city to make another stand in 1915. Peterboro nas been a heavy loser and it has been generally thought that we would see no pro. ball next season, but as one of the directors stated today, the men have come through before after losing a pile and may possibly do it again. If the dope of the St. Thomas scribes, about the war being over and everything humming as usual next spring, comes true the prospects for another year of the grand old pastime will be a little brighter than they were at the close of last season.

The idea of having the league remain idle next season will not be finally decided upon for a month or so. President Fitzgerald secured permission from the National Association so that it will not be found necessary to take any further steps to maintain the various franchises and territorial rights. In all probability President Fitzgerald will call a meeting of the Canadian League magnates in the course of a month or so but in the meantime they will silently watch the great struggle across the pond. When the sword was unsheathed in August, the attendance fell off so greatly that the clubs could not make travelling expenses. Under similar conditions it would be the height of absurdity to commence next May. It would drive all the clubs into bankruptcy. Should the Canadian League lay up for 1915 it will revive as soon as the Kaiser is on his knees.

The question may be asked as to what the players will do. They of course will not be kept out of employment but will be loaned to other teams and then return to the Canuck clubs as soon as called for.

According to the Ottawa Citizen here's how things stand in the Capital:—

In Ottawa the situation is particularly dismal for if the war continues, as expected, the Canadian government will again utilize Lansdowne Park for the mobilization of troops. Thus it would be impossible to continue here. Some of the games last August were played with artillery rattling about the outfield and infantry executing all kinds of movement will again utilize Lansdowne line. Besides all the gates are left open for the convenience of the soldiers and it is impossible to collect tickets. Meanwhile the Canadian League will await developments. That is all it can do just now.

The London Club will suspend the business of appointing a manager till the Canadian League magnates have arrived at some definite plan. President Stevely, like Charles Murphy, believes that a new manager always proves a drawing card and will get one somewhere. Louie Cook is after the job. The dope claims that "Doc" Reisling will go to the Hamilton Club.

THE SAINTS ARE AGAINST CLOSING

Railway City Thinks Cat in Salary Will Solve Question

St. Thomas, Nov. 13.—There is a strong feeling in St. Thomas against the Canadian League suspending business for the summer of 1915, should the European war be carried along till then, such as was discussed at the minor leagues' meeting in Omaha on Tuesday. It is believed the playing season should be continued as usual, with a salary limit of $1000 or $1200 including managers, and strictly adhered to. This entrenchment would probably carry all thec lubs through, notwithstanding the big European noise. It is pointed out that before the month of May rolls around, in all probably carry all the clubs through, subsided, enough, at any rate, to allow people to think and read about other things.

Gamey Stratton to Pass up Hockey

Toronto, Nov. 13.—Gamey Stratton, the star right wing of last year's Varsity juniors and who is playing quarter-back this season for the Rugby team, may not play hockey this winter, owing to his studies. "I just squeezed through my year last spring," said Gamey recently, "and I do not want to take any chances this winter."

With permission of British Board of Trade, British American Tobacco Company, Limited, has sold holdings of Dresden subsidiary to Germans.

Negotiations Came To Sudden Halt

Final Terms for Sale up to Weeghman and Taft

Chicago, Nov. 13. — Negotiations betwen Charles Weeghman and August Herrmann, expected to result in the former's acquiring control of the Chicago Nationals, unexpectedly came to a halt after their fifth meeting. Herrmann, who represented the Taft interests in the meetings, sent word to the newspapers that the preliminary stages in the negotiations had been passed and that final terms must be arranged by Weeghman and Charles F. Taft.

It was generally believed that C. W. Murphy was blocking the deal because the proposition included moving the club to the Federal League Park and abandoning the old park, of which Murphy is part owner. Murphy is said still to hold 52 per cent. of the Cubs' stock as collateral for a portion of unpaid purchase price. This, however, was not confirmed by either party to the negotiations, both refusing to give out details. According to Herrmann, there is hardly a chance that anything further will develop this month.

With the halt in the Cub deal, hope of immediate baseball peace was deferred, but it was rumored that a truce calculated to prevent competitive bidding in ball players' salaries would be reached, whether or not definite peace terms were agreed upon.

News that minor leagues had agreed on salary and player limits was taken as evidence that their leaders had assurance of a working agreement between organised baseball and the Federal League.

TURKS ROUTED

Attack on Russians is Repulsed at Koprukeui

PETROGRAD, Nov. 13.—The following communication from the General Staff of the Russian army, dated Tiflis, was made public last night:

"The attacks of the Turks on our positions at Koprukeui on Nov. 11 were repulsed with great losses to the Turks. A Turkish column which attempted to turn our left wing was subjected to the cross-fire of our artillery, and was impetuously attacked by our infantry. The Turks fled into the mountains in complete disorder, pursued by our cavalry.

"Under the protection of the fortified positions of Devebommu, the Turks continue to concentrate troops at Erserum. They apparently are receiving reinforcements by way of Trebizond.

"On Nov. 9 the Turks were attacked and defeated in Khanessour Pass, on the road from Aberbaijan to Van. They retreated rapidly in disorder, leaving behind them their dead and wounded.

IMPRESSIONS OF CAPTAIN FROST

Arabs of old, an interview with the Minister of Militia, a change from civilian to soldier attire, and I was on my way back to the city, attached to the Royal Canadian Horse Artillery and First Stationary Hospital, with the rank of honorary captain.

My ship is the Athenia. I came aboard Sunday morning, Sept. 27th. With time hanging heavily on my hands, I began to associate with the officers and men. What word describes them? I will leave it to your imagination. There are Canadians, English, Scotch, Irish, French-Canadians, Americans, Belgians, Australians, Brazilians and Indians. Their faiths are Anglican, Roman Catholic, Presbyterian, Baptist, Methodist, Salvation Army, Church of Christ and Christian Scientist. One meets graduates of Old Country universities, graduates and undergraduates of our own Canadian universities, bankers, storekeepers, farmers' sons, office clerks, aviators, comedians, actors, handcuff kings, detectives, broncho busters and others, all working side by side, sleeping in the steerage together, eating at the same mess, and each wearing a happy smile. They present a splendid exhibition of brawn and muscle. Such a sacrifice war always demands.

On Wednesday, Sept. 30th, at 4.45, we left our anchorage and glided out into the St. Lawrence. Old Quebec was out to bid us farewell. The citadel, terraces and every point of vantage was black with people. Doubtless many a loved one was there. They were prevented from coming to the docks. Quebec looked magnificent with her rugged outlines thrown in bold relief against the sky. The city and the sun faded from our gaze together. The moon came up. Some lines of that poem which the hero of Quebec had repeated as he sailed the same river floated through my mind:

"Now fades the glimmering landscape on the sight,
And all the air a solemn stillness holds."

Many a lad lingered on the decks that night, and who will say he was less a man because he found it hard to control his thoughts and harder to check his feelings?

Friday morning we awakened to find ourselves, with over twenty other transports, in Gaspe Bay. A strange sight we must have been to the peaceful inhabitants of the shore, dwelling in their whitewashed cottages, far from the ignoble strife of men. Saturday we formed in three rows, with a cruiser at the head of each row and one in the rear, and began our ocean voyage. Monday we saw land for the first time. At different times our protection was augmented by battleships and dreadnoughts. A more striking testimony to Britain's supremacy on the seas would scarcely be found than that this fleet of thirty-three vessels, bearing thirty thousand men, with horses, guns, ammunition and provisions, should sail the high seas unmolested for nearly two full weeks.

Although inexperienced in army discipline, I have been favorably impressed. The discipline is strict; nevertheless Col. Panet makes one feel that he has the interest of his men always in mind. The most effective punishment seems to be the prohibition from the use of tobacco. Under the present Minister of Militia I find that the punishments for drunkenness have been doubled. Any sickness brought on by such excesses also cuts off the pay. Twice during the voyage the men have been subjected to medical examination and the unclean isolated. Daily the colonel inspects the berths. The hospital corps are even more severe in this respect. Every third day they compel their men to undergo examination for cleanliness. I am convinced it is all necessary.

As a chaplain I must speak as an amateur. Still, I believe it is a chaplain's duty to be a friend of the men. In the army men hunger for one in whom they can confide. Believing this a way in which I can serve them, I move among them, encourage their confidence, share their amusements when possible, and invite them to my room for a chat. With the consent of Col. Panet I have organised two concerts during the voyage. The first one we had in aid of the Sailors' Orphanage. A freewill offering of forty dollars was put on the plates. To put it mildly, the audience was an appreciative one. The second concert will be held tonight if weather conditions are favorable.

We have had two church parades —one each Sunday morning. As these are forced, the chaplain has to be exceedingly tactful and brief. You have every kind of belief represented. The army service form is followed. The address, I fully believe, must be short, inspiring and practical. Eight minutes is a short space of time for an address, but one finds many things are the better for a severe pruning.

In audition I have held seven other services during the voyage. The attendance at these has varied from a dozen to a hundred and fifty. Sometimes we sought a quiet retreat. At other times we came out where the men were telling stories and playing cards, announced our purpose, inviated their attention and began. It was interesting to observe many of the men grow disinterested in their card games, get up one by one and join our group. The gospel makes its appeal to every man, and there is a greater response than we often realize. We sang the old hymns, then a prayer was offered, a passage of Scripture read, and a brief address, sounding the evangelistic note, inviting the men to come to talk over their problems, was delivered. After the meetings the men would keep one till the lights were put out.

In the mornings I have taken lectures in "first aid" work from Major Williams, of the hospital staff. Surely a chaplain will be able to do better work for a man spiritually if first he can bandage a wound, or set a broken bone. At least that is my impression.

In all my work thus far I have had the greatest courtesy shown me by the officers of both staffs. Every day Col. Panet, a devout Roman Catholic, inquires regarding the "padre's work"; and Major Drum, executive head of the hospital staff, a High Churchman, is every bit as courteous. In hours of leisure I have gone below to chat with Gunner McCallum, an M.A. of Glasgow University; or up to see Major Williams, a son of a Methodist minister; or—but hurrah! England is in sight.

OFFICIAL BULLETINS

PARIS, Nov. 13.—The French War Office issued the following bulletin last night:

"To the north we have held on all our positions. The enemy has sought to debouch from Dixmude by a night attack, but has been repulsed.

"We have resumed the offensive against the enemy, who had crossed the River Yser, and have driven him back at all points except at one place, where he still occupies from 200 to 300 metres on the left bank.

"In the centre we have gained some ground in the region of Tracy-le-Val, to the northeast of the forest of L'Aigue.

"In the Argonne region the German attacks have been very serious, but have amounted to nothing."

The afternoon statement says:

"On our left wing the fighting still continues with violence and has been conducted with alternate advances and retirements without importance. Speaking broadly, the battle front has not varied greatly since Nov. 10. Last evening it was extended along the line between Lombartzyde and Nieuport, the Nieuport Canal to Ypres, the approaches of Ypres, in the region of Zonneke, and to the east of Armientieres.

"There has been on change in the position held by the British army, which repulsed the attacks of the enemy, and particularly an offensive movement undertaken by detachments of the Prussian Guard.

"From the canal of La Bassee as far as and up to the River Oise there have been minor engagements.

"In the region of the River Aisne, in the neighborhood of Vailly, we retained our positions in the territory previously conquered by us.

"In the region of Craonne and on the Heurtebis farm, our artillery succeeded in reducing to silence the cannon of the enemy. Several of their pieces were even destroyed. We also made some progress in the vicinity of Berry-au-Bac.

"In the Argonne, in the Woevre district, in Lorraine and Vosges, the respective positions show no change."

Castleford's (Yorkshire) splendid response to the appeal for men for Lord Kitchener's army, has been so highly appreciated that a message of congratulation has been received from Lord Kitchener himself.

Dr. W. B. Rubasana, a native and member of the Cape provincial council for Tembuland, recently offered to raise 5000 natives for service against German Southwest Africa.

IMPRESSIONS OF CAPTAIN FROST

Serving as Chaplain With the First Canadian Expeditionary Force

Captain Harry A. Frost, who is one of the Methodist chaplains with the Canadian troops at Salisbury Plain, sends an interesting contribution to the Christian Guardian.

Captain Frost was a supply preacher at Charlotte Street Methodist Church, following the death of Rev. T. J. Mansell. The article from the Guardian is as follows:—

Great Britain is fighting for the eternal principles of righteousness and brotherhood. Great Britain is rallying to the standard. What can you do? Thus it came to me. Volunteer for chaplain service, was the suggestion. At Victoria we came to believe that a need and qualifications to meet that need constituted a call. I volunteered.

A month passed. A telegram came, "This will be authority for the station agent to issue you a ticket to Valcartier, to proceed to the front as chaplain. You must start immediately.—Signed Sam Hughes." I almost wished it hadn't come. I loathe war. I love the pastorate. But a Victoria man must not hesitate. I performed my last pastoral duty by burying a young woman. A hasty preparation, a pat on my horse's nose, a wistful look at my little library, and I was off.

My stay at Valcartier was brief. As the train slowly climbed the hill out from Quebec, troops were seen everywhere moving toward the city. One night in a tent, with a hole in the ground to ease the hip, like the

IT'S A LONG WAY TO TIPPERARY BUT IT'S ONLY A MILE TO THE Y.W.C.A.

"Breathes there a man with soul so dead
Who never to himself hath said,
This is my own my native land"?

There is a deep joy in the sense of ownership, being a citizen of a mighty empire, or being the resident of a city or town of which we are interested in its development along all lines, civic or otherwise.

The Y. W. C. A. was organized in Peterboro in 1901. Since that date it has grown steadily. The association building on the corner of Simcoe and Aylmer streets is second to none in the Dominion—a building and organization of which the citizens of Peterboro should be justly proud.

In order to appreciate, one must know about an organization or enterprise. To this end it has been firmly resolved in the hearts of the Girls' Auxiliary members of the Y. W. C. A. that every one in the city should know more about the local association; what it stands for in the way of development along religious, social, intellectual and physical lines. Composed of many departments, each with its own special duties, the association is welded into a perfect whole, and thus the Y. W. C. A. stands for one great power for good proving to the city the need of its existence and worth to the girls of Peterboro.

It may be a long way to Tipperary, but the girls have decided it is to be only a mile to the association — a mile of shining pennies. This mile of pennies is going to give a great deal of joy and do a great deal of good along the lines of extension work.

Twelve pennies make a foot. How Many Feet Will You Give? will be the big question from Monday, the 16th, to Saturday, the 21st.

Why It Snowed.

A couple of aldermen ventured to say at the Board of Works meeting on Wednesday there would be no snow for two or three weeks. They might understand fighting for Hydro-Electric but it's a cinch they possess none of the qualifications of Ira Hicks. JUDGMENT IS RESERVED IN HOTEL APPEAL

Hotel Men of Experience Are Called to Give Evidence

At the sitting of the Court of Revision yesterday afternoon, E. L. Goodwill appeared for the Dickson Co. in their appeal against the assessment of the Oriental Hotel which Assessor Henry put at $40,480. R. Gollop, proprietor of the Snowden House, was called to give evidence and in his opinion the assessment was a fair one. Gus White also was asked to give evidence but he stated that his experience had been confined to licensed hotels and he therefore could not put a value on the Oriental property. He remarked that it would have to be selling pretty cheap before he would buy it.

Judgment was reserved in this case as well as other property of the Dickson Co., which was appealed.

The appeals of the Bradburn Estate were taken up and judgments reserved.

The case in which the G.T.R. was the appellant on the grounds of over-assessment on land will be dealt with this afternoon.

Other appeals were dealt with as follows:

Alex Grant, no one appeared, assessment confirmed.

D. Davidson, assessment confirmed.

Ellen Walsh, assessment confirmed.

Alex. Gibson, 388 George St., represented by B. D. Hall, judgment reserved.

A. J. Johnston, represented by B. D. Hall, judgment reserved.

E. L. Payne, 367 George St., represented by B. D. Hall, adjourned.

James Haggis, represented by B. D. Hall, assessment confirmed.

ORDERED TO TAKE TOWN OR NOT RETURN ALIVE

Order Given Germans in Attack on Dixmude — Recapture of Place by Allies is Announced but is not Yet Confirmed

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

LONDON, Nov. 14. — The Daily Express account of the German capture of Dixmude says the fighting there was the most terrible yet experienced. A German corps commander ordered his troops to take the town or not return alive. Earlier onslaughts resulted in a slaughter of eighty per cent. of the attacking forces, who were unable to advance across the flooded fields. Dead bodies formed a foot-way for infantry following them, thus enabling the Germans to win the victory.

The Express also says that the Allies have brought up heavy reinforcements before Dixmude, and that its re-occupation is expected, but its re-capture, as announced by the Central News, has not yet been confirmed.

S.O.H. Calls Kept Department Busy

Yesterday afternoon was busy day at the fire hall and no less than six S.O.H. calls were answered by the fire department. The high wind was responsible for much of the trouble and it was fortunate indeed that a bad fire did not break out. The first run was to 226 Lake St., and then at 2.40 p.m. three calls came in simultaneously, two on the telephone and while these were being answered Box 14 registered. These fires were at Kirk St., 51 Crescent St., and 19 Park St., all being extinguished without damage, by sending different parts of the apparatus to each place.

At 4.50 p.m. the firemen had a run to 561 Chamberlain St., and at 5.35 p.m. to 110 Dublin St.

RIFLES PROVIDED FOR HOME GUARD

Brockville, Ont., Nov. 14.—The citizens of Brockville have enthusiastically taken hold of the idea to form a Home Guard corps to meet possible invasion. At a public meeting announcement was made that the town council had purchased 200 Lee Enfield rifles with a great many rounds of ammunition and these were quickly disposed of at a nominal figure to the men who signed the list for service in the home guard. None were accepted for membership under 35 years of age.

The Home Guard, which is expected to reach nearly one thousand, will get down to training at once.

PRINCESS PATS TO GO FIRST

Will Probably Reach Firing Line Before the Others

OTTAWA, Nov. 14.—From word that has been received here it is understood that the first of the Canadian troops to reach the firing line will be the Princess Patricia Regiment. It will go to the front very soon and the next troops to follow them will not be the first contingent now at Salisbury Plains, but the reinforcements for the Princess Patricia Regiment to be sent from Canada.

Reinforcements for infantry are now calculated on a basis of 25 per cent. per month of the original force and reinforcements for the first two months are expected to be provided when the main body is sent out.

It had been expected that a certain amount of reinforcements would be sent along with the second contingent, but the request for two months' reinforcements for all infantry to go with the main body will mean that an extra six battalions, or six thousand men, will be required making a total of 21,000 to sail in January.

SOLDIERS LEAVE CITY ON MONDAY

Orders Have Been Received to Stop Recruiting

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

An order has been received at local headquarters to stop recruiting. The volunteers who have been accepted will be sent to Kingston by the first train Monday morning.

An Order-in-Council has been issued barring the anti-British papers from the Canadian mails.

BRITISH WARSHIP SENT TO THE BOTTOM

Steamer Olympic Caught Wireless Call for Assistance From the Audacious, Off the North Coast of Ireland and Was Able to Pick up the Crew — Efforts to Save the Battleship Were Futile — Death Wound Astern Points to the Deadly Torpedo

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 14. — Rumors of disaster to the British super-dreadnought Audacious, which have persisted ever since the White Star liner Olympic, diverted from her course, arrived at Lough Swilly on October 29th, are confirmed in mail advices received by the Associated Press from a point in Ireland.

After a career of less than two years, the Audacious, of the King George V. class, third in tonnage and armament of His Majesty's warships, lies at the bottom of the ocean off the north coast of Ireland. She was hit by a torpedo or disabled by a mine just before nine o'clock on the morning of October 27th. With the possible exception of one or two men, the whole crew of 800 officers and men was rescued by a small boat from the Olympic.

The rescue was made in a rough sea through brilliant and daring seamanship on the part of the White Star crew. The battleship's cry for assistance was caught by the wireless operator of the Olympic, which was only about ten miles distant. The steamer rushed forward at full speed while her crew made ready for their work. Volunteers were called for, and double the number necessary to man the lifeboats responded. The ship was reached a few minutes after nine o'clock, and before noon all but one hundred of her men had been transferred.

By that time the battleship had a decided list at the stern, where just below the waterline she had received her wound. Two of her engines were unharmed, but one aft was out of condition. After taking off all the officers and crew who would leave their ship, the captain of the Olympic turned his attention to an attempt to save the battleship. A cable was given her, but snapped as it tightened. Meantime the bulwarks began to give way, and it was soon apparent that it would be impossible to tow the ship or keep her long afloat.

The cruiser Liverpool and several other warships which had come up stood by. Late in the afternoon it was decided to abandon the Audacious, and officers and men who had remained aboard reluctantly left her.

A flotilla of ships continued to stand by, however, until two o'clock that afternoon, when a terrific explosion occurred on board the Audacious, and in a moment she had disappeared. The explosion was supposed to have been caused by shells set loose by the listing of the ship. A bit of armor plate, torn from the sinking ship, struck the deck of the Liverpool, cutting the legs from under a gunner. The man died in a short time.

Many passengers expressed the belief that the sinking of the Audacious possibly saved the Olympic, which otherwise might have entered the mine field. Others held to the opinion that a submarine torpedoed the warship, basing their opinion on the fact that she was wounded astern rather than forward, which would likely be caused if she had come in contact with a mine.

MOVEMENTS OF THE ALLIES

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

Paris, Nov. 14.—The official communication given out this afternoon says the German attack against the bridge at Nieuport resulted in failure and various offensive movements of the enemy around Ypres have been checked.

In the environs of Bixschoote, we have progressed one kilometre. Toward the east, between the Canal of Labassee and Arras our troops made minor progress. In the region of Lassigny and in the vicinity of the Aisne, as far as Berry-au-Bac, the Germans have attacked unsuccessfully.

In the Argonne, fighting recommenced with greater spirit. The enemy endeavored, but in vain, to recapture forts De Paris and St. Hubert. Particularly in the vicinity of Verdun, several partial offensive movements on the part of the enemy were checked by the fire of our artillery before a forward movement of the enemy's infantry, could be undertaken.

In the Woevre district and in Lorraine, where bad weather prevails, there is nothing to report.

GERMAN CRUISERS LEAVE VALPARAISO

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

VALPARAISO, Nov. 14. — The German cruisers Leipzig and Dresden sailed this morning at daybreak.

Lt.-Col. W. A. Grant, R.O., of Montreal, has been appointed commanding officer of the new battery being formed at Kingston.

B. A. Aylesworth, of Bath, near Kingston, was found dead in his cellar, as the result of a seizure of apoplexy.

NO LAMP AT SCENE OF TRAINMAN'S DEATH

Mr. Joseph Succee has returned to the city from his errand to Midland, where his son Wilbert, met death in a railway accident, Wednesday night. Mr. Succee attended the funeral in Lindsay yesterday and also the preliminary proceedings of the inquest.

It appears that the deceased brakeman met his death, through what is alleged to have been the carelessness of others, as there was no lamp at the switch, where the train took the wrong track and the van on which Succee was standing crashed into a car loaded with slabs. The body was badly marked.

GEN DE WET IS FAIRLY BEATEN

Official Statement Regarding South African Battle

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa, Nov. 14.—The official statement of the defeat of Gen. De Wet, commanding the rebel forces, by Gen. Louis Botha, Premier of South Africa, his companion in arms in the Boer war against Great Britain, is published to-day.

Gen. Botha moved out from Winberg in the Orange Free State after De Wet, who it was reported had 2,000 rebels with him. Co-operating with Gen. Botha were Gen. Lukin, Col. Brits and Col. Brand.

Botha's plan was to surround De Wet's force by a concerted drive against it. But for Gen. Lukin and Col. Brits being prevented from coming up in time the plan would have succeeded.

As it was, Gen. Botha, with whom Col. Brand co-operated actively, inflicted a heavy defeat on De Wet, making 250 prisoners and capturing two laagers, which contained motor cars and 100 carts and wagons.

An incident of the battle was the catpure by the rebels of Commandant Fouche and forty men. But Gen. Tobias Smuts effected a brilliant rescue of Fouche and his men. Among the prisoners whom the Government forces released were Senator Stuart and the Magistrate of Winberg, whom De Wet made prisoners when he entered Winberg. De Wet's defeat has made a profound impression in the Orange Free State.

Legacy For Minister

Toronto, Nov. 14.—The sum of $200 was left by William Hunter, of Manvers, in his will made forty-one years ago, the interest on which was to be applied to supplementing the salary of the Presbyterian minister at Bethany church. If the church ceased to exist, the money was to be paid in to the Aged Ministers' Fund.

"Not a very rich living," smiled Mr. Justice Middleton, when the matter was mentioned to him in court yesterday morning. He made an order allowing the fund to be paid into court, the interest to be paid to the minister on application. It will provide the reverend occupent of the Bethany pulpit $9 a year at the rate of interest allowed by the Accountants' Office of the Supreme Court of Ontario.

Children's Aid Society is Asked to Provide Accommodation

The Children's Aid Society have been asked to afford accommodation for some Belgian orphans. An executive meeting will be held in the near future to deal with the matter. Undoubtedly there are many families in Peterborough who would care for one of these children, whose parents have been torn from the by England's arch-enemy.

ATTEMPT ON LIFE OF NEW GOVERNOR

Bomb Placed Under His Offices Discovered in the Nick of Time

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 14. — A bomb of similar construction to the one that wrecked the entrance of the Bronx county court house last Wednesday night, was found in the Tombs court room under the offices of Governor-elect Whitman today. The room was crowded. The bomb contained gunpowder, slugs end bullets. The fuse was partly burned. George O'Connor, who saw smoke coming from the fuse, picked up the bomb, tore off the fuse, and carried the dangerous thing out of the court room. The bomb contained enough explosive to wreck the entire building.

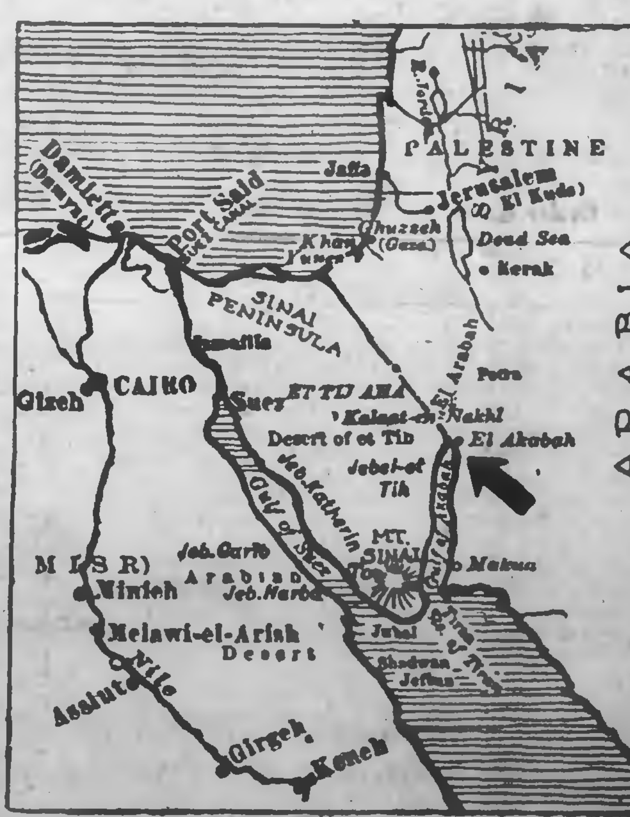
SANTA CLAUS SHIP SAILS

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—On the eve of the sailing of the collier Jason, laden with Christmas gifts for children in the European war zone, a message bidding her Godspeed was received from President Wilson. The message read:

"U. S. Jason: My best wishes for a safe voyage. May your goods carry comfort and relief to the distressed sufferers.—Woodrow Wilson."

The Jason, lying at a Brooklyn dock, had received her entire cargo last night and will sail to-day.

THE SINAI PENINSULA, BATTLE GROUND FOR TURKEY AND ENGLAND



The Sinai peninsula is the famous strip of land which lies between Turkey's Asia Minor and England's Egypt. It is 100 to 125 miles wide. It was in this peninsula, which is mostly a desert, that the children of Israel wandered for forty years before they began to think of settling down in the "milk and honey" land of Palestine. At the foot of this peninsula is Mt. Sinai, where the Ten Commandments were handed down to Moses. The Suez Canal, which Turkey wants to seize, is on the west of this peninsula. Arabia, with all its tribes of fierce tent dwellers, is to the east. Arrow shows the town of El Akabeh, where England opened the ball with Turkey. The cruiser Minerva bombarded the town, driving out the Turkish soldiers, and took possession.

PETERBOROUGH, SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 14, 1914

MR. WADDELL'S GENEROUS GIFT.

A NUMBER OF people, by means of letters to the press and otherwise, have been boosting the twenty thousand mark for the Patriotic Fund. Let $20,000 be the slogan, say some. Mr. R. M. Waddell has made an offer that sets the Patriotic Fund at a decent mark for this city. Kingston has already raised $52,000; smaller places, like Galt and Lindsay, have also far surpassed this city. Mr. Waddell offers $2,500 if the city raises $50,000. There are plenty of well-to-do citizens who could give the assistance required to attain this mark as easily as the one and two dollar donations that have been given by many humble citizens. It is to be hoped that the committee in charge of the Patriotic Fund will be able to avail themselves of Mr. Waddell's offer of twenty-five hundred dollars.

WHAT DO YOU THINK OF THE SNOW-PLOUGH?

THE SUPREMELY SLOPPY condition of Peterborough's streets yesterday ought to be sufficient to convince any sane person that the old snow-plough is an antediluvian method of cleaning the streets. A good many thousand dollars have been spent on street improvements, and the question of providing an adequate system of street cleaning is becoming more imperative with every dollar so spent. No better time than the present could be had to inaugurate a proper system, especially when labour is so scarce and when men are pleading for work. A proper flushing waggon is needed for the asphalt roads in summer, and, if the city is to clean the sidewalks of snow, some efficient method, which the snow-plough is not, is urgently required. What is the good of having nicely-paved streets if they are not to be kept clean and presentable?

WHY NOT CRITICIZE FAIRLY?

SOME PEOPLE in Peterborough have a distorted idea of what criticism is. Criticism is the prerogative of every person with the capacity to consider a subject and pass an opinion concerning it. Actually, the capacity to consider, is left to the judgment of the individual. The consideration, above all should be fair. To take one sentence of what a man says or writes and discuss it away from the tenor of the whole, or in a manner in which it was not obviously meant, is to resort to a carping sort of back-biting that is small, if not despicable. It is not good English, much less fair criticism, to bring in matters that have no relation to the subject under discussion. If the object of such criticism is cheap notoriety based on suddy ebullitions, the sooner it is quashed the better. What is the good of it all, anyway? Discussion is supposed to have some worthy object or purpose, and not to be an occasion for letting off mental steam.

A MOST IMPORTANT JUDGEMENT.

THE FOLLOWING ITEM appearing in the Mail refers to the settlement of an often-vexed question. It means the loss of hundreds of thousands of dollars to the Provinces and much power as well. The item is:

> "'A most conclusive victory for the Dominion contention in every way,' was the statement made by Mr. E. L. Newcombe, Deputy Minister of Justice, today, in reference to the Privy Council's decision in the case of the John Deere Plow Company versus the British Columbia Government, a copy of which has just been received by the Department. The text of their Lordships' decision makes it plain that the right of the Dominion to incorporate companies whose operations no Provincial Government can materially restrict, is fully established. According to the statement of Mr. Newcombe today, the judgment practically determines the general effect of the decision which the Privy Council will shortly give in the companies' case."

"CASE OF DEAD DOG."

WE HAVE NOT had the inspiration lately to assail Henri Bourassa. For some unaccountable reason, the Promethean fire is cold, possibly because Bourassa, if not played out, is not just now a vital, heat-producing entity. The Montreal News explains why it has taken a similar position, in the following lines:

> "Bourassa writes to a Winnipeg paper that the Mail-News—meaning this great family journal—ceased its attacks on him because we were losing circulation in consequence of protests showered upon us.
>
> The circulation books do not show it. If Mr. Bourassa's megalomaniac imaginings will allow their possessor to accept the true reason for ignoring his unpatriotic talk recently, we will give it to him.
>
> It is not worth while to belabor a dead dog."

A FEW REMARKS.

TORONTO SATURDAY NIGHT has a few words to say of Preston's slam at the late Lord Strathcona. They are highly illuminating and interesting:

> "MR. W. T. R. PRESTON has written a Life of Lord Strathcona, in which the text is not what Lord Strathcona did for Canada, but what Lord Strathcona did Canada for. Mr. Preston's contention is that Lord Strathcona cost Canada the Canadian Pacific Railway and an endowment in land double the size of Ireland. He says that several Canadian Governments will fall before the Northwest farmer regains his freedom. This looks like sound gospel, and W. T. R. Preston is the man to preach it. His duties brought him in close touch with the late High Commissioner, and he had ample means of knowing to what extent Strathcona used his office for the agrandizement of Strathcona. Indeed, rumor has it that in one case at least the former Canadian Immigration Commissioner thwarted one of Strathcona's gradiose imperial schemes and saved this country several millions of dollars.
>
> "If Preston had not been a brave man he would not have written Strathcona's life from this particular angle. He would have muttered 'Of the dead nothing but good,' and put the cap on his fountain pen. But being washed clean of politics he has bathed in the truth as he sees it, and has written a book which challenges the enmity of powerful interests. It only goes to show what a political freebooter can do when he becomes his own man. . . .
>
> "W. T. R. Preston, by the way, is a much happier man now than he was when entangled in party politics. He says the thing he will and doesn't give a button. At last accounts he was agent for a high explosive which he spoke of as a peaceful change from employment under the Government. Every day, after he has sold enough powder to blow up London, he takes five-o'clock tea at the National Liberal Club, when he talks of old times with any Canadians who are lucky enough to meet him. Now that the war is on and high explosives are in momentary demand, Mr. Preston has probably cut out five-o'clock tea owing to pressure of business. When he found time to write the ninety-year life of Strathcona passes comprehension unless he did it between midnight and breakfast."

WILL THE SECOND CONTINGENT GET THERE?

PREMIER ASQUITH, in a recent notable speech, made the significant remark that the war would not likely be as long as they anticipated. That may mean that Germany's food supplies are really becoming seriously short; it may mean that Germany's trade or economic condition has become so bad that she must soon sue for peace; it may mean the morale of the German army is broken, or it may mean something else. The remark is encouraging, but we expect a great deal of hard fighting has yet to be done, both on sea and land, before German militarism is broken. Moreover, it would be disappointing to the second contingent if the war ceased before they got a crack at the Empire's greatest enemy.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

ORILLIA is going to have a very handsome monument to the great French explorer Champlain. It is proposed to erect this statue in commemoration of the three hundredth anniversary of the advent into Ontario of the white race.

WE DO NOT WISH this to be taken for more than a statement of fact—In the New Testament there is a passage telling us to draw the sword and another telling us to love our enemies. Viewed in the right light, this is not inconsistent.

EMDEN got here on the Coco—says a heading. Were Coco not a real proper name, most people would be justified in taking this statement for a new addition to the already large vocabulory of slang.

The Old Farm Lane.

(Clinton Scollard, in New York Sun.)

The maples, with their crimson stain,
Beguile me down the old farm lane,
Where the slow moving cattle go
At dew fall in the afterglow,
When dreamily there drifts across
The pastures, wrapped in amber gloss,
The milking cry, "Co' boss! Co' boss!"

Here sumachs show their gleaming fire
Above the purple spire;
And here, like embers in an urn,
The bending barberries blush and burn;
While from the opened milk-weed pod
Drift snowy sails, and o'er the sod
Lift torches of the goldenrod.

The air is soft, the air is sweet,
The bygone lure of truant feet
Calls as it did in distant days
When all the world was hung with haze,
The haze of youth, and dreams were fain,
And filled with glories that remain
A halo round the old farm lane!

Canada and the Panama Canal.

(Baltimore News.)

It would appear that Canada even more than the United States is preparing herself to take advantage of the opening of the Panama Canal. This is evidenced by the extensive improvements which Vancouver is making in her harbour and dock facilities. Activities and heavy expenditures in the improvement of the principal port of British Columbia indicate the importance placed upon the preparations for handling the heavy ocean-carrying trade from the northern Pacific coast by way of the canal.

More German "Humanity."

(La Presse.)

Germany continues its march towards "Humanity"! She now announces that unless the Belgians return to their normal occupations she will confiscate the ships which are bringing them relief. The use of the expression "normal occupations," after Germany has so barbarously devastated Belgium, is nothing but a joke!

CANADA AND ENGLAND.

Editor Review,

Sir,—While Peterborough has not done nearly as well as some other places in proportion to population it must be remembered that the only war fund in Great Britain is the Prince of Wales War Fund and it takes charge of all cases of distress arising from the war. The fund amounts to $16,000,000. $16,000,000 for 45,000,000 people is $16,000 for 45,000 people which would be about $7,000 for Peterborough. We must do justice to ourselves and in this light, all the circumstances considered, Canada is doing even better than the Old Country. My authority for this statement is the fourth column of the Mail and Empire which appears to speak authoritatively. It is gratifying to note that we are not so ungenerous after all and while the number of rejected must draw the attention of all those concerned in the physical wellfare of our young men to the serious number of our defectives still the number volunteering has been quite large although how we are going to raise the additional 50,000 men in Canada which we have been called upon to raise is a question.

Yours truly,

READER.

DR. WALLACE'S STATEMENT.

Editor Review,

Sir,—Will you be kind enough to publish the following taken from a letter to a Toronto journal:

Yourt truly,

READER.

"The following paragraph taken from the report in the Toronto World of Oct. 20th of the proceedings of the great Baptist convention is remarkable for three things. The paragraph says:

Rev. O. C. S. Wallace, M.A., delivered an address in the afternoon on the 'Gravity of the Situation at Home.' He said that the reason why Christianity seemed to be passing away was because of intellectualism, imitativeness and preoccupation. The remedy lay in the organisation that Christ founded, namely, the church.

1. Prof. Wallace is an ex-chancellor of McMaster University.

2. He admits that there is a passing of Christianity.

3. And most astounding of all, he says that the remedy lies in "The Church." Here we have the creeping in of the "magisterium of the church," so constantly dwelt upon by the R. C. hierarchy. We could understand him if ex-Chancellor Wallace had said at this great Baptist convention that what was necessary was "Christ." But he has deliberately put forward that strange and fatuous claim to a divinely-founded church as the great necessity of the age, without which Christianity is "passing." So the church must rescue us! The church this, and the church that! Now, therefore, is coming to pass what has been so constantly foretold by the R. C. hierarchy, viz., the triumph of the theory of the necessity of the church as a mouthpiece of Christ. There is no greater evidence needed of the extreme danger of our people. We must redouble our vigilance.

OBSERVER."

NO PROPOSALS FOR PEACE TILL GERMANY IS CRUSHED.

Editor Review,

Sir,—Let me say in reply to the gentleman who in The Examiner though he dreaded nought fired from behind the safe protection of a pen-name at those in the open who objected to being included in the "City of Peterborough" public meeting to discuss war and peace the other evening. I. That Mr. Asquith, the foremost Britisher of his time has repeatedly said that Britain will consider no proposals for peace, arbitration, etc., until Germany is crushed. If then Germany now proposed arbitration and Mr. Asquith refused as he surely would the City of Peterborough is on record as opposed to Mr. Asquith's policy a nice performance for any sensible municipality during the crisis of the greatest war in history. Then we have Sir Robert Borden and Sir Wilfrid Laurier striving with might and main to support the British premier. They too must come under the ban of the city of Peterborough if the meeting had materialized as intended. No people can say "We are loyal, we are with you; only don't do it again and stop as soon as arbitration is in sight for that is our fixed principle." No people can advocate arbitration as a substitute for war and go back on it. Hence we would wake up to the fact that all Canada was attacking us for bringing odium on the country and how Germany and the German-Americans would rejoice. But "compulsory" arbitration was what the meeting was called to endorse. In Heaven's name what sort of a substitute for force is anything that is compulsory. The resolution would be worded in that case "if you don't arbitrate we'll kick holes in you." The fact is good intentions are not always a safe guide in war time and Peterborough narrowly escaped a catastrophe. In concluding let me say that some knowledge of law does not always qualify a writer for an argument and with these few remarks I remain not a dreadnought but

A DESERTED BRIDE

By DONALD CHAMBERLIN

Edward Warbeck went to Rome to see the Coliseum, the palace of the Caesars, the column of Trajan, the Arch of Titus. He saw all these antiquities and many more, but they were of small importance compared with something else he saw, not an antiquity by any means; on the contrary, very young and tender. It was an Italian girl with a pair of black eyes, a long, thick rope of hair hanging down her back and a figure that rivaled the famous Venus di' Medici's in Florence.

Lita Caracola spoke and understood just enough of English to enable Warbeck to make love to her, which is not saying much, for there may be more love expressed in one look than in a thousand words. Signorina Lita Caracola's father was poor in funds, but rich in blood, for he claimed descent from Marcus Tullius Cicero, who shook Rome with his eloquence. Caracola's principal business was sitting on the Piazza Colonna at a sidewalk cafe drinking liters of Italian wine.

Warbeck was obliged to settle 50,000 lire ($10,000) upon Signorina Caracola before being permitted to marry her, which she divided with her father that he might continue to drink wine on the Piazza Colonna. The rest she kept for an emergency. Warbeck was a stranger to her, and she was taking a matrimonial leap in the dark. Besides this, she was to sail with her husband for a distant country, which was as remote and uncertain to her as it had been four centuries before to Christopher Columbus on setting out on his voyage of discovery.

There was a gay wedding in a side street on the Esquiline hill, where Signor Caracola lived, after which a party of the bride's friends accompanied her to the railway station, where she and her husband took a train for Naples, and the next evening a ship sailed over the beautiful bay of the same name, like a white bird, bearing the happy couple, happy in their love, though little Lita wept at leaving her beloved Italy.

In three days the ship stopped at Gibraltar. The bride was laid up with a headache and kept her stateroom, while the groom went ashore to visit the famous rock. Falling in with a British army officer whom he had met before, he was introduced at the club, lunched, drank several bottles of champagne and fell asleep on a lounge.

The steamer passed out to sea through the strait, and Signora Warbeck was surprised that her husband did not come to their stateroom to see her. Finally she called the room steward and asked him to find Mr. Warbeck and tell him his wife would like to see him. The steward hunted the ship through, but did not find the gentleman. After a diligent search it became evident that he was not aboard.

Signora Warbeck's worst fears that she had entertained before her marriage were realized. An American had married her and deserted her at the first stop made by the ship. She kept her room for the rest of the voyage, holding tight her share of the money that had been settled on her that she might return to Rome the moment she reached New York. After inquiry she learned that a steamer sailed for Italy the day she would arrive in America, and by wireless telegraph she engaged passage for Naples.

When Mr. Warbeck awoke in the Officers' club at Gibraltar and through a window saw the moon peacefully shining down on him he was seized with horror, for he knew that the steamer bearing his bride was well out at sea. No steamer for New York was due for three days, but when it came he boarded it. After passing ten worrying days he reached port, but not his bride. Why should he? Thinking that he had deserted her, she took no pains to discover his American connections. She simply sailed for Italy the same day she arrived in New York.

Warbeck was in agony. To have his beloved bride landed without a protector on a shore foreign to her and no means of tracing her was excruciating. The only comfort he had was the $5,000 she had with her. He cabled to her father to report the misfortune and ask if Lita had communicated with him. Lita had done nothing of the kind.

In a month after her departure the bride turned up in Rome. The matter of her husband's apparent desertion having been explained to Signor Caracola, he sent his daughter back on a steamer sailing the next day, cabling Warbeck of her departure. When the cablegram reached the groom's office he was sailing along the Long Island coast bound for Italy. Thinking his wife might have returned to her home, he had searched the passenger lists of outgoing steamers and found her name.

Signor Caracola's cablegram was repeated by wireless to Warbeck, who sent a wireless message to Gibraltar to stop his wife there. On his arrival he found her, and great was the happiness of this reunited bridal couple. They took the next steamer for America, both having crossed and recrossed the Atlantic since they had been at Gibraltar before.

At Madeira Warbeck proposed to go ashore.

"No, no," said his wife; "I do not wish for you to desert me another time."

The young husband gave a sickly smile. Since then she has never permitted him to leave a train when they travel together.

Vanished Vegetation.

The ancient vegetation which grew in South Carolina and Georgia during upper cretaceous and eocene time—or, as geologists state, at least several million years ago—included the sequoia or "big tree," now confined to the Pacific coast. Also there were three kinds of araucarias or Norfolk island pines, which at the present time live only in South America and Australia, a pine with the leaves in clusters of three, as in the living pitch pine, and a number of cypress-like trees which were once widely spread over the world but are now extinct.

Easy to Hide It.

"Mary," said a lady to her housemaid as she surveyed the furniture, "just look at the dust! Didn't I tell you to go carefully over it? I expect company this afternoon, and I shall feel disgraced. Every one will go away talking about it."

"Well, mum," said the girl, "why don't you pull down the shades?"—New York Globe.

COAT FOR GOLFERS.

Useful and Smart Wrap For Early Autumn Sports.

STENCILED COAT.

For fall sports the coat pictured here is smart and pleasing. The wrap is of white cotele adorned with a stenciled border in blue and white and caught in front with a fringed sash. The coat may be worn with a little white sports hat of the same material.

FINE WHITE VEILS.

Frenchwomen Are Wearing Them Now in Elaborate Patterns.

The Parisiennes wear fine white wash veils with hats. Many of the veils have elaborate spider's web designs worked all over them, but one of the latest beauty veils is made of fine white wash tulle, with spots worked all over its surface in colored linen thread. For example, a white tulle veil is worked over with butcher blue linen spots, or the same tulle is combined with pale heliotrope linen thread. The spots are at some little distance from one another, and the veils are delightfully light and summerlike.

Parisiennes are very careful about their veils. They have them frequently washed or cleaned, and they do not hesitate, in the first instance, to pay very high prices for them. It is a charming idea to wear wash veils, and these only, with hats covered with white fabrics.

Wear Jet Ornaments.

Jet will be worn by every one this season. Jet ornaments with a white gown or with a black and white costume are considered especially chic. Pictured here is a cut jet pendant which may be worn on a band of ribbon velvet. The necklace, also illustrated, is an elegant affair and is made up of large cut jet beads alternated by ornaments built up of small ones. It is finished with a handsome pendant.

JET PENDANT AND NECKLACE.

Fall Trimmings.

Among smart fall trimmings are radium cup spangles, beaded fringe tassels, ornaments of jet and of fancy braid. Binding braids promise to have much use.

CRITICAL TIME OF WOMAN'S LIFE

From 40 to 50 Years of Age. How It May Be Passed in Safety.

So. Wellington, B.C.—"For a year during the Change of Life I was all run down. I was really too weak to walk and was very despondent and thought I was going to die, but after taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier my health and strength returned. I am very thankful to you and praise your medicine. I have advised several women who suffered as I did to try your remedies. You may publish this if you wish."—Mrs. DAVID R. MORRIS, South Wellington, Vancouver Island, B. C.

No other medicine for woman's ills has received such wide-spread and unqualified endorsement. We know of no other medicine which has such a record of success as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. For more than 30 years it has been the standard remedy for woman's ills such as inflammation, ulceration, tumors, irregularities, periodic pains and nervous prostration, and we believe it is unequalled for women during the period of change of life.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

Guarding the Health Of School Children

Scholars in Remote Sections of Ontario to Have Physical Inspection

In future the physical welfare of the children attending Ontario public schools will be regarded as quite vital to their ultimate success as the attainment of promotion marks at examination time. In every school of the province the new regulations of the department of education concerning school medical inspection will apply, and considerable power is placed in the hands of medical officers and their assistants to enable them to ensure a high standard of health and physical efficiency among the scholars. The practice is not new in the larger centres, and the success with which it has been worked out here influenced the department to make the regulations as practicable and universal as possible. A regular programme of inspection is outlined, and it is ordained that medical officers are to visit schools in cities at least once a week, in towns once a fortnight, in villages once a month and in rural school sections once a quarter.

The examination to which every pupil must submit includes an inspection of head, eyes, ears, nose, throat, heart, lungs, spine and the skin of the neck, face and hands. Where any unusual examination is necessary parents or guardians will be present. The principal is required to see that every pupil submits to such examinations, and has the power to exclude from attendance any one who has the symptoms of smallpox, scarlet fever and other juvenile diseases.

In addition periodical inspections of the teeth are ordered. The officials known as school dental officers, require to be competent dental surgeons of experience. Once every half year and at such other times as the board and a special committee may direct an inspection must be made and in cases of faulty conditions parents are to be notified. If they are not able to meet the necessary expense, it may come out of the general maintenance school fund.

To save unnecessary outlay a number of boards may co-operate, and in this case the inspection will be under the charge of a school medical inspection committee. One or more medical practitioners are to be appointed, or failing these, the district health officer may take charge of the work.

Aeronautic Laboratories

There are six great aerodynamical laboratories in the world. The oldest of these is that directed by Doctor Riabouchinsky, at Koutchino, in Russia; next comes that of M. Eiffel, in Paris, a private institution where this famous engineer has carried out research work of inestimable value for years past. Paris possesses another laboratory, controlled by the University of Paris, and worked on an extensive plan. At Rome there exists a well equipped laboratory belonging to the Italian Aviation Corps; and there is the admirable aeronautical section of the National Physical Laboratory at Teddington.

An Afternoon Diversion.

A hostess who wished to provide a novel diversion for her afternoon guests prepared a number of sheets of paper with the name of a course of an elaborate dinner written on each, and at the bottom of each sheet were written the words, "I vote for."

The papers were distributed, and the guests were invited to write an original recipe for the course, which fell to her lot. A quarter of an hour was allowed for the writing of the recipes, and at the end of the time the papers were gathered up and redistributed, so that no one had the paper she had written. As no names were on the papers no one knew whose paper she held, and thus with perfect boldness she read aloud the recipe on the paper in hand. Only the culprits knew who had written the recipes which provoked so much mirth when they were read aloud.

When all the recipes had been read each guest voted on the paper she held for the recipe she liked best. The papers were then collected again, and after the votes had been counted the prize, which was a cookery book, was awarded.

Some players were very serious and did the best they could with the limited knowledge at their command. The others were nonsensical and amusing.

Ballroom Etiquette.

Guests are privileged to arrive at a ball at any hour before midnight. Men and women check their wraps in their respective dressing rooms and bow courteously to those who stand by the door to receive them.

If a woman is not asked at once to dance she should seat herself beside her chaperon.

As soon as a dance is over a woman, should she wish to be free of her companion or feel that he is eager to leave her, is at liberty to ask that he accompany her back to her seat beside her chaperon.

When leaving the ballroom the guests should say farewell to the hostess and thank her for the evening's pleasure.

Silk gloves should not be worn on such an occasion. Kid ones are proper.

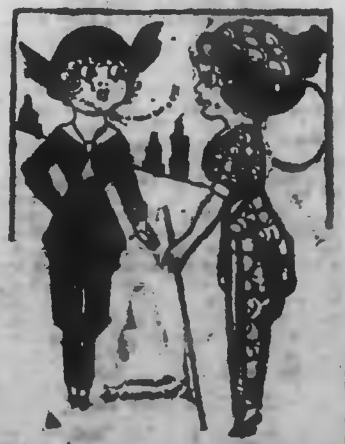
Five o'Clock Tea.

An afternoon tea is supposed to be late in the afternoon, yet not so late as to interfere with the dinner hour, while refreshments should always be light. No salads or meats are required, and often a hostess confines herself to the custom of serving hot toasted and buttered English muffins with the tea. Sweet cakes are not good with tea; neither is fruit of any sort. The simpler the fare the better may be the rule. Invitations are informal—just a call over the telephone or a line to ask friends to come up for a "cup of tea" at 5 o'clock such a day.

CHILDHOOD CONSTIPATION

Baby's Own Tablets are an absolute cure for childhood constipation. They never fail to regulate the bowels and sweeten the stomach, and unlike castor oil, their action is mild and they are pleasant to take. Concerning them Mrs. G. Morgan, Huntsville, Ont., says: "My baby was greatly troubled with constipation and colic till I began giving her Baby's Own Tablets. The Tablets are surely the best remedy I know of for little ones as they quickly banish all signs of constipation and colic. I would use no other medicine for baby." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

One Friend to Another.



"Yes, I know Billy is very wild, but I'm going to marry him to reform him."

"I told that boy a dreadful punishment would overtake him."—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

Taking No Chances.

Prospective Father-in-law—You've got some crust to ask me for an advance payment of the dowry. I think you are a fortune hunter.

The Count—Oh, no, monsieur, I am only what you Americans call a "safety first" crank.—Puck.

The German objective is Calais, but there is no reason why their army should get there. It failed to reach Paris, and its approach on Calais has been even more stubbornly resisted.

EVERYDAY HELPS

To keep patent leather shoes in good condition, rub them with a little olive oil on a piece of wool, then polish with a clean soft rag. This will keep the leather from cracking.

For chronic night cough try taking a teaspoonful of whisky and pure glycerine in equal parts. This can be kept in a bottle by the bed in case of need, and will be found invaluable.

To clean linoleum without washing, remove all the dust, then take a bit of flannel sprinkled with paraffin and rub the linoleum. It will not only make it appear like new, but will preserve it.

Paint can be removed from silk or woollen goods by soaking the spot in spirits of turpentine and letting it stand for some hours. Then rub the stain between the fingers and the paint will fall away and no mark will remain.

To clean tarnished brass curtain rings, boil together two cupfuls of water, one of vinegar, and a tablespoonful of salt. Then steep the rings in this mixture for two hours, remove and dry, and they will look as bright as when new.

A good remedy for a cough is to put a lemon into boiling water. Boil it for a quarter of an hour. Then press out the pulp into a jar, removing the pips, and mix it very thoroughly with a quarter of a pound of honey. Take a teaspoonful when required.

To cure squeaking shoes take a large plate and pour just enough oil on it to cover the bottom. Then stand the shoes, with their heels propped, so that the soles rest in the oil. Let them stand overnight, and in the morning wipe off any excess of oil there may be.

Swedish Peat

Owing to the fact that Sweden has enormous peat deposits, many attempts have been made during the last few years to invent and develop devices for utilising these deposits. Experiments have been made in stoking stationary engines, and the results have apparently been satisfactory. Quite recently experiments were made in stoking railway engines, and it is claimed that these efforts have also been crowned with success. The heating power of Swedish peat is said to be such that one ton and eight-tenths of clod peat are equivalent to one ton of steam coal.

You Must Break The "Family Group" When It Comes To Music

EACH one's taste is individual — his own — and different. No one, not even a genius—could suit you all. And yet every one in the family loves music and regrets the silent piano none can master. The

New Scale Williams Player Piano

With the "Meister-Touch—most human of all."

spans the "Great Divide" between you and music. It enables you to play as though yours were the most perfectly trained fingers in the world. The intricacies of MacDowell's harmonics—the crashing chords of Liszt's stupendous Rhapsodies—the brilliant two steps or the dream-like waltzes of Strauss; all roll from under your fingers without effort or fault. You play what you love most—in the way that suits you best. And so does everyone else in the family. The New Scale Williams Player Piano combines the technical ability of the world's greatest musicians with the opportunity for your own individual interpretation. Write for our Player Piano Book and the personally autographed letters of the renowned artists who use the New Scale Williams Piano. Both gladly sent on request. 4D

CARDIFF EDITOR'S STIRRING APPEAL FOR MORE MEN

Present War is a Hundred Tines More Important Than the Boer War

London, Nov. —Arthur Mee, the well known Cardiff editor and journalist, has written the greatest appeal yet made to the men of England to take up arms for their country. He declares that England is facing possible annihilation, and that unless its citizens put forth every effort they can, they may become subjects of the Kaiser. His article follows:

"England is fighting for the right to be a free nation. She is fighting, not only for France and Belgium, but for our own homes.

"This war is a hundred times more important than the Boer war. It means life and death for us. We are fighting to keep our word, but we are fighting also to keep our homes. We are fighting, with France and Belgium, to keep Germans out of England.

"But the German army presses on, and your home, your country, these quiet streets, are in peril. You must help England now if you want to save her. If the Germans win you will be a subject of the Kaiser. You will no longer be a free citizen; you will be a Prussian slave, ruled with an iron rod by the officers from Potsdam.

"There is no doubt about it and it is possible. It is possible that unless you strike a blow now, the last days of our free nation may be upon us.. It is possible that the German army may defeat the Allies. It is possible that the British fleet may be beaten, and that the German troops will land in England.

A Colonist of Prussia?

"If Germany should beat us you will be a colonist of Prussia. Your children will be taught German and compelled to speak it; your boys will be German conscripts. You will be taxed to keep up the German army; which will keep you down. You will lose all that England has given you—your free speech, your vote, your free newspapers, your right to organize.

"Germany is not a democratic country. In England the people own the government; in Germany the governmet owns the people. The British idea is that the will of the people must prevail; the German idea is that the will of the people must agree with the will of the Emperor,

"In England the army is the servant of the nation; in Germany the military class overrides the people. In England the King rules through the ministers; in Germany the Emperor rules without them.

"There is no secret about the German Emperor's intentions. He means to conquer England and France. He is throwing away masses of troops to stagger the Allies to defeat by force of numbers, and is terrifying the civil population by cruelties too horrible to believe.

"He could have stopped the war by a word; he could even now stop the shooting down of innocent populations and the destruction of beautiful buildings and works of art.

Master of All Europe.

"But he does not, because he dare not. It is his way of winning and he must win at any cost, if he is to save his throne. He has staked his crown on the defeat of England in order that he may strip us of our trade and our Europe and be master of all Europe.

"The Germans are almost at our gates. The gallant Belgians and French are keeping them back until more British troops arrive in France. Our little army is doing its best, but the dauntless spirit of our thousands cannot hold out forever against Germany's millions. Soon they must be at our doors.

"Then, if the German army should come, your freedom, your home, perhaps your life, will go. Nothing will matter to you then. These streets will be filled with German troops; perhaps your house will be burned down; but those things will be nothing. What will matter is that all your life you will be under the heel of the German army; you will lose even the right to put a poster like this on your walls unless it has been passed by a German officer. That will be the end of England.

Will You Help Now?

"Men—will you let England go down? She has done something for you. She has given you freedom and sheltered you, while tyrants trampled on other lands. She has given you peaceful years and your children opportunities. She has made you prouder than a Roman.

"Will you help her now? England is in the gravest peril she has ever known, and 10,000 men can save her. Our little army is fighting against great odds, while you stand here. Will you stand and see it beaten?

Give yourself for Home Defense or Foreign Service. Your family will be cared for, and you will be free after the war. Apply at the Post Office.'

TEMPERANCE IN THE ARMY

Drunkenness Discouraged Both by Britain and Her Ally, Russia

Thanks very largely to Lord Roberts, drunkenness in the British army has been daily growing in disfavor. So much so that one might spend weeks in a large garrison without ever seeing a drunken soldier. Both in the officers' mess and the barrack room, the man who drinks to excess sins against the unwritten law, and is told so in terms that are unmistakable.

And apparently Russia's commanders have taken a leaf out of Lord Robert's book and resolved to copy his temperance crusade. Orders were issued a short time ago forbidding the drinking of vodka in camp. Furthermore, officers are ordered to set an example of sobriety, and the most strict rules and regulations now govern the conduct of the soldier in regard to drinking. No man who is known to be addicted to drink is allowed to receive any money from home without the express permission of his commanding officer.

Commanding officers do their best to improve the lives of the men under them by the introduction of games, the promotion of libraries, and the giving of facilities for studying foreign languages.

Railways in Belgian

One of the great factors of the prosperity of Belgium is the fact that travel by rail is the cheapest in Europe. You can be carried six miles for two cents, at short season tickets rates still cheaper, and the light railway and electric railway systems are far ahead of anything in England.

Two hundred thousand Welsh miners agreed to a weekly levy of 12 cents per man and 6 cents per boy in aid of the Prince of Wales' Fund.

BRITISH REPULSE OF PRUSSIAN GUARDS WAS NOTABLE VICTORY

Two Brigades of the German Emperor's Pet Troops Were Hurled Against British at Ypres and They Broke Through at Their Points, But Finally Were Driven Back With Great Loss.

LONDON, Nov. 14. — The official press bureau issued the following communication at 11 o'clock last night:

"A very severe attack against the portion of the line held by the First Army Corps before Ypres was delivered on Wednesday, the 11th, by a Prussian Guard corps. The enemy made an especially strong effort on this occasion to break the line, which they hoped already had been weakened by attacks of infantry of the line.

"The facts briefly are as follows: Our troops were subjected to the heaviest bombardment that we have yet experienced, from dawn for three hours. This was at once followed by an assault in force, carried out by the first and fourth brigades of the Prussian Guard Corps. It is understood that these picked troops had been brought up specially to act against us in order to force their way through at points where previous efforts made by the infantry of the line had failed.

"The attack was pressed with the greatest bravery and determination. Owing to the gallantry of our troops and their splendid resistance against great odds, the attempt to penetrate to Ypres was repulsed, but the weight of the enemy's advance enabled them to break through our lines at three points. They were, however, hurled back and prevented from gaining further ground.

"An immense loss had been inflicted on the Germans, seven hundred of their dead having been found on the ground behind our front trenches alone. The casualties suffered by them in advancing up to our line under direct and enfiladed fire must have been enormous. Our casualties also were heavy."

MISSIONARY WITH POLICE IN JAPAN

There's a fighting chance, and that is all, of Japan and the United States ever becoming involved in military conflict.

J. Cuthbertson, police missionary in Tokio, summed up the matter thus when chatting to a newspaper man this morning, to whom he described his efforts. Mr. Cuthbertson has been in missionary work for ten years in Japan, and he has experiences and incidents galore encountered in the land of the sturdy little Jap.

"Do you place any confidence in the reports that Japan and the United States will some time be at each other's throats?" asked the reporter.

Mr. Cuthbertson laughed a little, and then proceeded to explain that only on the streets of Japan is there ever heard any talk of war some day with the Americans.

"You can say," he said, "that there is but a fighting chance of war. The officials who are on the inside of things know that a struggle would be most untimely, owing to Japan's present financial embarrassment. They are still laboring under the enormous war tax incurred in their fight with Russia." It is true that the feelings of the Japs one meets on the street are much incensed against the land of the eagle, over the American attitude at the time of the peace conference held in Portsmouth, when "Teddy" Roosevelt urged that the war be concluded. Japan in that way was blocked from proceeding with her victorious movements against Russia. The California land act also aroused their ire.

Mr. Cuthbertson't work lies in missionary labors among the 4,000 police of Tokio. In a sense he strives to minister to their spiritual needs and bring good moral influences to bear upon them.

Japanese people are very willing to listen to the gospel. They discuss it openly and with none of the embarrassment Christian people feel in mentioning the name of God.

Last evening Mr. Cuthbertson spoke in the Y. W. C. A. in connection with the Y. W. C. A.'s world's week of prayer. He described conditions in the boarding homes and hostels for girls, also the work of the Y. W. C. A. in Tokio. Some of the boarding schools, stated Mr. Cuthbertson, were supported by Canadian philanthropists and they were performing a grand work in giving good home-like accommodation to girls.

Mr. Cuthbertson is en route to England.

Kaiser's Headquarters at Coblens.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—This information reaches The Hague in a telegram from Berlin, which reads as follows:

"Emperor William has now established his headquarters at Coblens and he has invited his five daughters-in-law and his sons, including the Crown Prince, to come to Coblens to visit him. Two Zeppelin airships, armed with machine guns, are constantly circling over his Majesty's private apartments."

Don't suppose that because a man asks you for advice he wants it.

ST. VITUS DANCE

Another Severe Case Cured Through the Use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills

St. Vitus dance is a common form of nervous trouble, which affects not only young children but men and women as well. The only cure lies in plenty of pure blood, because good blood is the life food of the nerves. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure the most severe cases of St. Vitus dance because they actually make the rich, red blood that feeds and restores the starving, shattered nerves. This has been proved in hundreds of cases, among them that of Mrs. John Duncan, London, Ont., who says: "About a year ago I found myself becoming very nervous. At the outset I did not pay much attention to it, as I thought the trouble would pass away. In this I was disappointed, for I soon found myself rapidly growing worse. My right arm and leg began to jerk and twitch all the time, even when I was in bed, and I found great difficulty in walking or doing any work. Finally the trouble affected my speech and it was with difficulty I made myself understood. Of course I was doctoring for the trouble, but was not being helped, and finally the doctor wanted me to go to the hospital for treatment. This I did not care to do, and it was at this stage that I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. By the time I had used four boxes I felt much better, and in a short time longer I was quite well and strong. My neighbors look upon my cure as quite wonderful, and indeed I think it is, and shall always be grateful for what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills did for me."

These Pills are sold by all medicine dealers or can be had by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by writing The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Searchlights on Snow Capped Peaks

One of the strong attractions for tourists at Niagara Falls has been the use of searchlights which play their light upon the foaming waters. An interesting proposal has been made to use a similar scheme at Banff, the capital of the Canadian Rockies. There are enormous unused waterpowers in this district and the proposal is to generate electricity from the mountain streams to supply electric searchlights on the snow-clad peaks which surround this tourist resort. If carried to completion this would undoubtedly create a veritable fairyland in the mountains which would draw tourists from all over the world.

The best effect in polishing floors is gained by having them finished to the point of a soft glow and not a shine. They will then harmonise with the furnishings.

OBITUARY

MRS. DAVID GUIRY.

The death took place this morning in St. Joseph's Hospital of Mrs. David Guiry. She was seventy years of age, and had spent nearly all her life in Ennismore. Deceased was highly respected by a large circle of friends who had learned to admire her, and hold her in high esteem for her sterling qualities, and for her cheerful disposition. She was a loving wife and an affectionate mother.

Her death is mourned by her sorrowing husband and six daughters, Mrs. John Sullivan, London; Mrs. William Crough, and Mrs. Alexander Geary, Ennismore; Mrs. M. Donoghue, of this city, and sisters Ethelreda, and Anna Maria, at the Mount; also one son, James, at home.

The funeral will take place from the family residence, Ennismore, on Monday morning at 10 o'clock, to St. Martin's Church and cemetery.

Friends and acquaintances will accept this intimation.

Faces As Fair As A Summer's Day

Are Possible If Stuart's Calcium Wafers Are Used for a Short Time After Each Meal.

Many people have been heard to say that they used creams and lotions for years without effect, yet after five or six days of Stuart's Calcium Wafers their complexions were perfectly clear.

"I Get Rid of Blackheads in a Jiffy by Using Stuart's Calcium Wafers."

It's easy to understand why. Creams and lotions only get at the surface, while Stuart's Calcium Wafers go right into the blood and instead of a sluggish deposit in the skin and impurities that cause skin diseases are destroyed in the perspiration that is exhaled through the pores in the form of invisible vapor. You'll never have a good complexion without pure blood, but you positively will have a fine, beautiful complexion if you use Stuart's Calcium Wafers.

They contain no poisonous drug of any kind, are perfectly harmless and can be taken with absolute freedom, and they work almost like magic. Calcium Sulphide, their principal ingredient, is the greatest blood-cleanser known to science.

No matter how bad your skin may be, Stuart's Calcium Wafers will quickly work wonders with it. It's goodby to blackheads, pimples, acne, boils, rash, eczema and a dirty "filled-up complexion." You can get a box of Stuart's Calcium Wafers at any drug store at 50 cents a box, and you will be positively delighted with their wonderful effect. A small sample package mailed free by addressing F. A. Stuart Co., 175 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

Soldiers Kept Pretty Busy

Mr. W. Gordon Hall, of this city, is in receipt of a letter form Pte. Oliver White, with "E" Company of the Second Contingent at Kingston. It is as follows:

Kingston, Nov. 14.

Dear Mr. Hall:

Just a few lines to acknowledge your letter and paper, which I received, and was very glad to get them. I met Perks here yesterday, and was surprised to see him. We are having a pretty good time here thus far, and hope it lasts for a while. We were innoculated here last Wednesday, and have not properly recovered from the effects of it. We expect that it will be repeated in about ten days' time, and that will mean another rest for us.

Our barracks are at the old cereal building, which affords accommodation for the left half of the battalion, while the right half are staying at the Armouries. I suppose you saw in the press that Major-General Sam Hughes inspected us today. There was an inch of snow on the ground and it was pretty cold standing around waiting for him. Well, I guess I will close, as we are kept pretty busy.

Yours, etc.,
OLIVER WHITE.

A Contagious Thrill

There used to be a familiar diversion in the high school laboratory, when the science master stuck two slabs of metal into an acid and got a whole string of boys and girls to join hands in a circuit. The more people there were in the circuit, the greater the fun. With only one or two, the shock seemed to hurt. With a large number, it made everybody happy. It's the same way with buying goods made in your own country. At first it may seem an awkward thing to do. But as soon as a few people get into it, and these few get each a few more into the swing and the good cheer of the movement, there begins to be a general feeling of elation that becomes contagious. Everybody catches it. Everybody is delighted. There is about this made-in Canada movement the exhilaration that comes from being part of a great revival of home interest. Looking at it individually, no man sees much in it. Looking at this and that purchase as part of a grand general movement, every individual act along that line gets a snap and a determination about it that creates its own desire for more. Once this made-in-Canada movement gets going, a man or woman might as well be out of the world as out of the fashion. And the joy comes from being one of a large number engaged in the same thing.

POLICE COURT

Before Magistrate Dumble this morning. Tom Trennum who conducted himself in a disorderly manner in front of a local theatre last evening, was fined $2.00 and costs, amounting to $5.75.

BELGIUM THE HERO NATION

Dean McColl Gives Address to Ladies' Literary Society

The first meeting of the Ladies' Literary of the Total Abstinence Society was held in St. Alphonsus Hall last evening, and a very appreciative audience listened to a most interesting and instructive lecture on "Belgium," the hero nation of the present war, by Rev. Dean McColl.

The reverend speaker dealt with the geography and early history of the country, going back as f... as Julius Caesar, whom, he said, found great difficulty in overcoming the people — the Belgae. He described the situation of the country as being very beautiful, its soil rich, its lands level, and advantageously situated for commerce. Its lack of mountains, and the smallness of its rivers, taken in conjunction with its position with regard to other countries, has made it for centuries the battlefield of Europe.

At one period in the early history of the country it belonged to Austria; when Charles V. reigned it was given to Spain, and by the Treaty of Utrecht part was given to Austria again. From 1795 to 1815 it belonged to France. At the close of the Napoleonic wars, Holland and Belgium united, but the union was very distasteful to Belgium, and in 1831 she declared her independence. At the close of the Franco-Prussian war the neutrality of Belgium was guaranteed by the five great nations of Europe. Despite this fact, Belgium knew that in the event of war breaking out, this neutrality would be broken, and she accordingly prepared herself for such an event. Liege and Namur are examples of the fortifications which Belgium constructed at that time.

The next part of the lecture dealt with the peoples of Belgium. There are two distinct races in this country and both languages have been preserved perfectly. To the north are the Flemish of Teutonic blood and possessing qualities similar to the Germans and English. They speak a language distinctly their own and largely follow manufacturing and agriculture. Lace and gloves are two of their main manufactures. Antwerp — which means on the wharf —Ghent meaning glove, and Bruges the city of bridges — are some of their main cities, and these very names are testimonies of the great industry and activity of this people. To the south are the Walloons, originally from Gaul and speaking a language closely resembling the French. They are the very antithesis of the Flemish people — they are energetic, active, high-strung and brave.

The lecturer dealt long on the great prosperity of the country, which is almost universally catholic, having a Catholic king and Catholic government and enjoying freedom of religion, freedom of the press and freedom to express views on any matter. The beauty of the architecture, the superiority of its educational institutions, and its immense wealth all go to show the enlightenment of the people, who were described as valiant, thrifty, brave and God-fearing—in fact, an ideal nation.

The following musical programme was presided over by Mrs. L. B. Treacy:

Instrumental duet—Misses Pierce and Giroux.

Vocal solo—Mr. Minicola.

Vocal—Miss Margaret Clancy.

ALLIES CREDITED WITH REOCCUPATION OF DIXMUDE

Allies Carry Town at Point of Bayonet—Franco-British Positions Along Entire Line Are Held, Especially at Lombaertzyde Where a Desperate Attack Was Repulsed

LONDON, Nov. 14.—The Germans have not had long in which to congratulate themselves on the seizure of the mass of ruins which was once the ill-starred town of Dixmude. Towns are more danegrous to hold nowadays than forts. The Germans have been sprayed with shrapnel and shattered by high explosive shells until extermination threatened them. Thus, when a force of gallant French marines appeared with bayonets fixed and guns leveled at the charge, the Germans became convinced that it was not worth the candle to resist further. Hence, Dixmude is again in the hands of the allies.

The northern section of the line is intact, but the situation further south remains obscure. It seems that the Germans have made slight advances before Ypres, but it is doubtful if they can hold the village of Saintelol, which they claim to have occupied, officially.

At La Bassee, as at Antwerp, the Germans are attempting to drive a wedge into the allies' line by concentrated heavy artillery fire. It is known that many heavy guns are at Giveuchy, whence they are bombarding Bethune. In a month the Germans have gained five kilometres (three miles) at this point. The fortress of Calais of 100 kilometres from La Bassee, and the time it would take the Kaiser's troops to reach the Channel at this rate of progress can be easily estimated.

There has been a considerable bulge in the line at La Bassee for some time. North and south of it the allied troops hold positions on either flank.

On Wednesday the Prussian Guard launched an attack against the British positions at Armentieres, but was unable to make any headway because of the deadly shooting of our men. They were supported efficiently by guns firing shrapnel. The attack was courageous, but finally petered out.

The fury of the German attack lessened somewhat yesterday, and there was a general lull all along the front, as compared to the activity of the past few days. It is believed that the enormous losses by the Germans in the past few weeks have contributed to this slackening of the assault.

North, east and south of Ypres the British have thrown back onslaughts in great force, and continue to hold all of their positions. French and British troops are defending every foot of ground on the Belgian front with a tenacious resistance that has completely baffled the Kaiser's troops. They have absolutely nothing to show for weeks of campaigning, and their tenure is extremely precarious in the positions won.

Lombaertzyde, recently taken by the allies, was the scene of fierce fighting yesterday, the Germans striving to drive back its defenders. The town is of great strategic value. Nieuport is again the centre of a fierce engagement, the Belgians being supported by a steady play of the allied fleets' big guns. German submarines are reported to have made several attempts to clear away the big sea fighters, but without result.

Letters found on German prisoners show that the infantry and artillery ammunition of the invaders is running low, the men having been advised to husband their supply whenever possible. Other letters and orders found on men and prisoners show that great masses of second and third line troops have been in Flanders for ten days, the German leaders hoping to break through the wall of steel which confronts them by sheer weight of numbers. In order to meet this condition, the allied lines have been heavily reinforced by French infantry, including some of the best regiments in the service and several of the chasseur battalions which have rendered such distinguished service on the centre.

There are many indications of a resumption of the fierce fighting along the Aisne, which has been stilted while the Flanders operations were in progress. The French have retaken Tracy-le-Val and driven the Germans as far northeast as a cemetery beyond the town, where they are now entrenched.

East of Tracy-le-Mont, southeast of Nouvron, and between Vregny and Crouy, the French have made advances. Northeast of Soissons successes are also reported in the neighbodhood of St. Mihiel and north of Pont-a-Mousson. A surprise attack delivered by the French against German forces in the villages of Val and Chatillon was notably successful. The outposts were driven back in headlong flight, and before the Germans could muster increased strength a part of their troops were cut off and compelled to surrender.

German efforts to dislodge the French from their trenches at Berry-au-Bac, and from the villages of Soupir and Chavonne, were without result.

In short, along the Aisne, around Verdun and in the Argonne, the Germans are evincing renewed strength, and it is not unlikely that they will abandon their unfruitful attempts along the Channel in favor of a concentration at other points. The German headquarters at Ghent are expected to be removed within a few days.

Six Escaped From Tsingtau.

LONDON, Nov. 14—Capt. Zimmerman and five other German officers escaped from Tsingtau before the surrender of that city and have arrived at the German Embassy in Pekin, according to The Frankfurter Zeitung.

SUDDEN CALL TO WIFE OF JUDGE HAYES

End Came Without Warning to Highly Respected Lady

Telegrams received here last night by friends contained the extremely sad news that Mrs. L. M. Hayes, beloved wife of Judge Hayes, of Guelph, had died suddenly from heart trouble. Very brief illness, as far as known, preceded her demise, and this made the tidings doubly shocking to her hosts of warm personal friends and many acquaintances in this city.

Mrs. Hayes left Peterboro about October 1st for her new home in Guelph, her husband, L. M. Hayes, K. C., of Peterboro, having been appointed to the office of county judge there. She corresponded with numerous friends here, to whom the realization of her death is yet almost impossible.

She will be remembered in Peterboro for her great activities in the promulgation of various philanthropic and charitable enterprises. Her abundant energy in these lines found an outlet in the work of the Daughters of the Empire, of which she was second vice-president when she left Peterboro. She was also chairlady of the St. Joseph's Hospital Aid Society and one of its really good workers.

Her maiden name was Margaret Macdonell. The late Mrs. Hayes came of excellent family, her father being Angus Macdonell, of Toronto. One of her brothers is Claude A. Macdonnell, M. P., of Toronto.

Mrs. Hayes had been a resident of Peterboro since her marriage up to the time she removed to Guelph. She made friends quickly, and her friendship and assistance might invariably have been found linked to any worthy and deserving charitable or philanthropic cause. She was a noble helpmate to her husband, her home standing for hospitality and good cheer at all times.

A family of three girls and two boys, besides her husband, are left to deplore the loss of a kind mother and loving wife.

One son, Stewart, is now with the soldiers at Salisbury Plain. Robert is at home. The daughters are Nano, Pauline and Margaret, all living at the family residence in Guelph.

The late Mrs. Hayes will be interred in Toronto on Monday, the funeral to take place at ten o'clock.

Fish and Frost.

Some varieties of fish can stand any amount of cold without harm. Perch will live in ponds which are frozen practically solid in every hard winter. The whitefish of Canada, caught through holes in the ice, have been picked up frozen so stiff that they would break like brittle sticks, yet when carefully thawed out showed signs of life.

COURT CHEMONG FORESTERS TO HELP LODGE VOLUNTEERS

The semi-monthly meeting of Court Chemong, No. 530, Independent Order of Foresters, was held in the W. O. W. Hall, George street, on Thursday evening. Bro. David Wallace, P. C. R., presided over the meeting in his usual able manner. The name of Wallace, famous in Scottish history, evidently brought the present warfare before the Court. The veteran financial secretary, Bro. G. W. Powell, could not refrain from mentioning a number of members who had responded to the call of the Empire and gone forward with the Canadian contingents. The Court considered it their duty to do something for their brethren. The members are therefore asked to rally at the next meeting on Thursday, the 26th, when light refreshments will be served, and the matter of holding a patriotic social and concert will be discussed and decided.

A number of ladies were present, and volunteered their services to assist in entertaining the members and public at a patriotic social and concert in the W. O. W. Hall on Thursday evening, December 10th.

RUSSIAN ADVANCE IN PRUSSIA NOW THE EVENT OF MOMENT

Great Enveloping Movement is Being Vigorously Pushed and Military Experts Are Watching it With Intense Interest---Germans Concentrating East of Masariea Lakes and Bringing Up Guns.

LONDON, Nov. 14. — While the battle in West Flanders continues to hold the public attention because of the desperate character of the fighting, the numbers of men engaged and the territory at stake, military men now look upon East Prussia as the centre of gravity of the war.

In this latter field of operations a big battle is developing. The Russians are pushing vigorously a great enveloping movement. They are engaging the Germans along a wide curve of one hundred and fifty miles from Stalluponen, in the northeast, through Goldap and Kruglanken, which is well within the tangle of lakes, down to Soldau in the southwest. Military observers say the Germans have apparently checked their retreat in Poland and by counter-attacks are endeavoring to create a diversion. They say, however, that the Russians are not to be turned from their plan, which is believed to be an attack on Danzig. They argue that the Germans will have to either allow East Prussia to be overrun the second time or bring up reinforcements, and that they can hardly weaken their army along the Polish frontier, for that would leave Posen and Silesia open to invasion. The allies naturally are hoping that an effort will be made to relieve East Prussia, and thus lead to the weakening of the German armies in Belgium and France.

In any fighting in their own country the Germans will have the advantage over the Russians, as they have a net work of strategic railways to move their troops quickly, and, besides, they use motors to a larger extent than their opponents. Military men are watching the operations in this region with the deepest interest.

The Petrograd correspondent of Reuter's Telegram Co. sends the following:

"The Germans have concentrated strongly south of the Mazurian Lakes (East Prussia) with heavy guns from Koenigsberg. Along the Soldau-Lyck line they have constructed heavily-timbered, strongly-armed blockhouses with barbed wire defences."

The Petrograd correspondent of the Havas Agency sends the following despatch:

"The conclusion is drawn from the latest news that the German troops, who in their retreat have occupied all the defiles to the east of the Mazurian Lakes (East Prussia), where they have placed heavy artillery, intend to resist the Russians tenaciously in that section. The Germans hope that on these positions, which they consider impregnable, the shock of the Russians will be broken. However, yesterday the Russians were successful in sorties to the east of the lakes.

"Throughout all Prussia railway passenger traffic has been suspended. The lines now are transporting troops only, apparently with a view to a new concentration which is said to have been decided upon by a recent council of the Austro-Germanic General Staffs at Cracow. This council is reported to have decided to change completely the plan of battle."

Rumors continue to circulate in financial circles that Austria-Hungary is anxious for peace and has already made private overtures as to peace terms.

The Army Messenger announced yesterday that the Russian army had won another victory over the Germans near Kalisz, in western Poland. The Germans were forced to retreat, it says, abandoning thousands of dead and wounded on the battlefield, and the Russians captured twelve howitzers.

These guns are believed to be part of the heavy artillery with which the Germans had planned to batter the fortifications of Warsaw and Ivangorod.

OFFICIAL BULLETINS

PARIS, Nov. 14.—Last night's official bulletin says: "From the sea to the Lys, the German action has not been so strong, and some parts of front we ourselves have taken the offensive.

"We have progressed to the south of Bixschoote.

"At the east of Ypres we have retaken by a counter-attack a village which had been lost.

"At the south of Ypres we have repulsed an offensive movement of the Prussian Guard.

"On the other part of the front only cannonades are mentioned."

The afternoon announcement says:

From the sea coast as far as the Lys, the fighting has been of a less violent character than on previous days. Several efforts of the Germans to cross the Yser Canal, at the western outlet from Dixmude and at other points of passage in the Amont district, were checked. Generally speaking, our positions have been maintained without change.

To the north, to the east, and to the south of Ypres, attacks of the enemy were repulsed, at the end of the day at different points of our line and that of the British army.

From the region to the east of Armentieres and as far as the Oise, there have been artillery exchanges and actions of minor importance.

In the course of the last few days of foggy weather our troops have not ceased to make progress little by little. They are to-day established almost everywhere at distances varying from 300 to 500 metres from the network of barbed wire entanglements of the enemy.

To the north of the Aisne we have taken possession of Tracey-le-Val, but with the exception of the cemetery to the northeast of this village. We have made slight progress to the east of Tracy-le-Mont and to the southeast of Nouvron, as well as between Crouy and Vregny, and to the northeast of Soissons.

In the vicinity of Vailly, a counter attack by the Germans, delivered against those of our tropos who had re-taken Chavonne and Soupir, was repulsed.

Equal failure attended the German efforts in the environs of Berry-au-Bac.

In the Argonne there has been a violent artillery duel.

There has been minor progress in the vicinity of St. Mihiel and in the region of Pont-a-Mousson.

A surprise attack delivered by our troops against the villages of Val and Chattilon, near Cirey-Sur-Vezouse, made it possible for us to capture a detachment of the enemy.

A German attack directed against the heights of Mount Sainte Marie, resulted in failure.

It is reported that snow is beginning to fall on the heights of the Vosges Mountains.

DYSPEPSIA MADE MY LIFE MISERABLE

Did Not Think I Would Ever Be Able To Enjoy Another Meal, Until I Decided To Investigate Claims For "Fruit-a-tives"

W. F. ALLEN, ESQ.

Halifax, N. S. Nov. 22nd, 1913

"I feel that I would be doing "Fruit-a-tives" a great injustice if I did not make known to you the wonderful results that I have obtained from its use. For the past eight years, I have been afflicted with Dyspepsia. I had given up all hopes of ever being able to enjoy another meal, when I chanced to see your advertisement in the papers, and as a last resort, I decided to investigate and see if all you claimed for "Fruit-a-tives" was true. Now, after having used six boxes, I find that your claims for "Fruit-a-tives" are well founded. I am now in perfect health and can enjoy my meals as I formerly did, and I cannot praise "Fruit-a-tives" too strongly". WELLARD F. ALLEN.

Just as sure as day follows night, just so sure will "Fruit-a-tives cure every trace of Indigestion and Dyspepsia. "Fruit-a-tives" keeps the stomach sweet and clean. "Fruit-a-tives" insures the digestive juices being fresh and plentiful by ridding the whole system of impurities. "Fruit-a-tives stimulates the stomach muscles, and insures every meal being promptly and completely digested.

If you have any Stomach Trouble, such as Belching Gas, Pain After Eating, Sour Stomach, "Heart Burn"—and especially if your Bowels are not regular, by all means take "Fruit-a-tives".

WINNIPEG GRAIN MARKET.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 13.—Wheat prices on the Winnipeg market opened unchanged to ⅛c lower, oats ⅛c higher, and flax 2c to 2½c higher. Heavy selling operations developed later, causing sharp declines. Peace rumors were again prominent, causing the break. Trading was fairly heavy in options. Previous to noon wheat had declined 1⅛c to 1⅜c, and showed weak. Closing figures were ⅜c to 1⅜c lower for wheat, oats ⅛c to ⅛c lower, and flax 2½c to 3c higher.

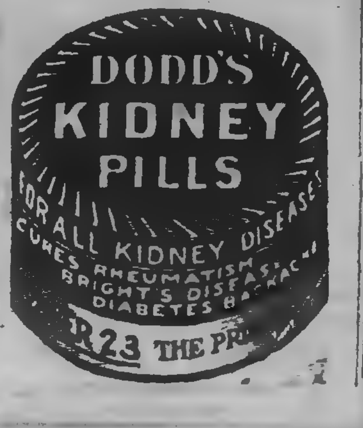
A feature of today's trading was the excellent demand for all grades of cash wheat by millers and exporters, yet prices went lower. Cash oats and barley were in fair request, while cash flax was in keen demand, and a number of sales were put thru at higher prices.

Inspections were 587 cars inspected Thursday as against 1448 last year, and in sight were 425 cars.

MONTREAL GRAIN MARKET.

MONTREAL, Nov. 13.—Business in Manitoba spring wheat over the cable today was very quiet, there being few firm bids in the market, and those that did come forward were 1s 6d to 1s 9d below what exporters offered to sell for last night. The local market for coarse grains was unchanged, with business slow.

Export trade in flour was quiet, but the local demand for small lots was fair at firm prices. The trade in millfeed continues active, and the tone is firm. Butter quiet. Cheese in good demand at firm prices. Eggs active and strong.



SUBMARINES DESTROYED

Britain Accounts for Two Germans and France a Third

LONDON, Nov. 14.—The Standard publishes an interesting report, which the official press bureau permits, that two German submarines have recently been lost. There has been no official announcement of either, but The Standard says there is every reason to believe that two submarines which have been raiding in the English Channel have been satisfactorily accounted for.

According to information from credible naval sources, one of these submarines has been carrying out a series of daring reconnaissances in the vicinity of Dover, and a patrolling cruiser has reported attempts by this German craft to torpedo her. Patrol flotillas from Dover searched for the submarine, which was believed to be lying on the sea bed.

During one of the very calm days for which the end of October was notable, bubbles were seen rising at a certain point. Vessels went out and dredged over this area in a similar manner to mine-sweeping, but using a powerful chain with explosives attached. This was dragged at a depth that would catch the submarine if lying there. After patrolling several times over the area there was a heavy explosion, followed shortly by large quantities of oil rising to the surface. Those who took part in the operation have no doubt that a German submarine was blown up.

The second case concerned a German submarine that had been particularly troublesome to ships of the Dover flotilla that had been engaged in the bombardment of the Belgian coast. Seamen state that she was trapped into believing herself safe in an attack and then was heavily shelled and sunk.

It was also reported yesterday that a French torpedo boat rammed and sank a German submarine off Dunkirk.

Rival Leaders Meet.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14. — The following cablegram was received here yesterday from Tokio:

"The formal meeting of the commander-in-chief of the Japanese army, Lt.-Gen. Kamio, and Capt. Meyer-Waldeck, formerly governor of Tsingtau, occurred on Nov. 10 at the Moltke Barracks. Capt. Waldeck will go on board a transport bound for Japan to-day. The total number of prisoners taken is 5,000.

"The ceremony of entry by the Japanese troops into the city of Tsingtau is expected to take place Nov. 16."

Zeeland Ashore Near Sorel.

MONTREAL, Nov. 14.—In a blinding snowstorm the Red Star Liner Zeeland, operating in the White Star-Dominion service, ran ashore at noon yesterday in Lake St. Peter, about 10 miles below Sorel. She stuck fast on a mud bottom, although the reports indicate that she has not suffered damage. It is thought she may be released before long, although some dredging may possibly have to be done first. About 100 passengers were taken off the Zeeland and brought to Montreal on Grand Trunk and Quebec Southern trains.

Australians Oppose Reception.

LONDON, Nov. 14. — A storm of protest has been aroused in Melbourne by the suggestion that Capt. Carl von Muller, commander of the German cruiser Emden, which was destroyed recently by the Australian cruiser Sydney, be given a public reception in recognition of his gallantry and courtesy when he arrives in that city. This statement is made in a despatch from the Melbourne correspondent of Reuter's Telegram Co.

PETERBORO BOYS ASSIST ST. MICHAEL'S TO CONQUER OVER McGILL SECONDS

Kevin Corkery and Cecil Feeney in Limelight When Father Carr's Team Wins Intermediate Intercollegiate

Toronto, Nov. 14.—It was a mud-covered lot of players who trotted off the field at the U. of T. Stadium yesterday afternoon after the Intercollegiate intermediate game. To get to the point of the story, let it be said that St. Michael's College won from McGill University II. 24 to 13, and are champions for the second year in succession.

The field was a regular quagmire, but despite the treacherous footing there were few fumbles. In various parts of the gridiron there were large pools of water, while the few "dry" spots were very "greasy." A strong breeze which blew down the field gave the team kicking in that direction a decided advantage.

McGill Best in First Half.

McGill had all the better of the play in the first half, and at the rest period led by seven points. Things looked bad for the locals. However, Father Carr gave them a talk at half-time, and for the remainder of the game they played with bulldog determination. Every man was on his toes throughout, and they had it all over McGill. In the last two periods the locals scored nineteen points, while the visitors notched but a single point on a kick to the deadline.

Canfield and Corkery composed the St. Mike backfield, and played safe, clever football throughout. Canfield gained considerable ground by his dodging runs, and relieved his team in many tight situations when playing against the wind. Broderick was used on the line, but moved back to do the kicking.

Feeney's Tackling Featured.

On the wing line Kelly was the most successful ground-gainer. Time and again, especially in the last half, he ripped through the McGill line for many yards, while his defensive work was just as effective. Brown, on the other side, was also a successful ball-carrier. As usual, Ryan and Feeney featured at outside wing with their deadly tackling, and the McGill backfield generally failed in their attempts to run the ball back. The entire St. Mike team played good football, and showed the effect of Father Carr's teaching.

The bulk of the visitor's gains were made by the wing line, although Williscroft, on the backfield, caught and punted cleverly. Williscroft carried the brunt of the work on the backfield and, with Forbes, made an excellent job of handling the greasy ball on Broderick's long punts. Major and Ryan were the best ground-gainers on the line. A number of the famous McGill plays, introduced into Canadian football by Frank Shaughnessy, were tried by the visitors, but seldom netted any noticeable gains.

Won Round by Thirteen Points.

By winning this game, St. Michael's take the round from McGill by thirteen points, as the score of the first game in Montreal last Saturday was 8 to 6 in favor of the locals. St. Michael's won this title last year in the play-off with McGill. The teams:—

St. Michael's—Flying wing, Lellis; halves, Canfield, Corkery and Broderick; quarter, Beck; scrimmage, Hickey, Malone and Creamer; inside, Colgan and Harris; middle, Brown and Nealon; outside, Ryan and Feeney.

McGill — Flying wing, Rosegorough; halves, Forbes, Williscroft and Rainsbroth; quarter, Woods; scrimmage, Tucker, McDonald and Rowanwaith; inside, McLaughlin and Ferguson; middle, Magor and Ryan; outside, Lodd and Parkins.

Referee—O'Connor. Umpire—O'Halloran.

PLANK FOR YANKEES

Veteran South-paw Secured by Farrell

New York, Nov. 14. — The sale to the New York Americans of Eddie Plank, the veteran left-handed pitcher of the Philadelphia Athletics, who assisted Connie Mack in winning six American League pennants and three world's championships, will likely be completed within the next few days.

Secretary Tom Davis of the local American League team said yesterday that President Farrell of the local team put in a claim for Plank as soon as Mack asked waivers, and that Farrell was now negotiating with Connie Mack for the veteran pitcher, and expected to close the deal in the near future.

Britain is not deeply concerned over the official statement from Constantinople that the Turks, "with the help of Allah," have crossed the Egyptian frontier. It is not believed that the invasion can be of any great consequence.

NEW OTTAWA HOCKEY CLUB

Big Program for Winter Already Outlined in the Capital

Ottawa, Nov. 14. — Two Toronto teams will be interested in a new organization formed here, known as the Ottawa Amateur Hockey Club. Arrangements are now under way to arrange games with St. Michael's and the T. R. and A. A., Toronto, and the Grand Mere and other Canadian teams, while it is also expected that the team will make a two weeks' jaunt through the United States. Alex. Currie, Bourse Hutton, and a few other well-known hockey players have offered to lend their services to the club in the capacity of coaches.

I. g. Sims and Hubert Thebo have been named as managers of the team, and it is not unlikely that the new club may make arrangements to practise with the Ottawa (professional) team.

TO HOLD BONSPIELS FOR PATRIOTIC FUND

MORE MONEY NEEDED.

Britain's Newest War Vote Officially Placed at $1,125,000,000.

LONDON, Nov. 14—The announcement of the presentation of Parliament of a measure to vote a credit of $1,125,000,000 was issued officially yesterday afternoon. This money is intended to cover not only the naval and military expenditures, which may be incurred before March 31, but all the expenditures which may be necessary or desirable to meet trade or other abnormal conditions created by the war. This further sum, added to the previous credits voted by Parliament, brings the total of credits to $1,625,000,000.

The credit of $1,125,000,000 will cover the $14,550,000 advanced to Belgium, the $4,000,000 advanced to Servia and sums necessary to facilitate the raising of funds for his Majesty's dominion and protectorate and by the allied powers.

Advances in the way of loans will be made also to the dominions and the allied powers for the purposes of war and to meet difficulties arising out of the war, and to local authorities and other bodies for relief work.

No Epidemic Among Prisoners.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—In reply to the charge made by the Frankfurter Zeitung that forty-six German prisoners have died in England from pneumonia and typhoid fever, it is officially stated that there have been only five deaths among the prisoners. One death was accidental and the others were due to natural causes, the statement says there has been no typhoid or pneumonia.

740 Lost on the Monmouth.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—It is officially announced that the British cruiser Monmouth, which was destroyed recently in the battle off Chile with German warships, carried 42 officers and 698 men. Captain Frank Brandt was in command of the Monmouth.

Sarnia Man Wounded.

SARNIA, Ont., Nov. 14.—Word has reached here that Capt. Dudley Gulston of this city, has been seriously wounded in action in France while serving with his regiment, the Northumberland Fusiliers.

COMMENT As You Like it

WHAT'S THE MATTER with the Peterboro Hockey Club? Every other town and city represented in the O. H. A. have their men, particularly the Juniors, getting into shape. Is the hockey calibre to wear the blue and white this season so much superior to the players in other centres that they can afford to jump on the ice without preliminary training? It may be true that the Intermediates are doing a little private training, but the Juniors are not, and any one with the least conception of how to run a hockey club knows that they should. If the members of the executive don't do their part, how can they expect to get any following? Signs thus far don't look very promising.

THE BOUT BETWEEN Freddie Welsh and Jimmy Duffy in Buffalo next Thursday night is creating a great deal of interest. Reports from Toronto state that 150 fans expect to cross the border to see the "go." With Duffy as an opponent, the British champion will step every minute of the ten-round mill, and it would not be a great surprise to see the Yankee get the decision. Efforts are now being made for a match between Welsh and Packey McFarland.

THE ADVENT of the Toronto Bankers into the O. H. A. class is meeting with great approval in Toronto. The Bank League has always been a good attraction in the Queen City, and they are sure to have a big following for the O. H. A. team. Ken. Crane, the former Peterboro boy, is expected to land a place. It would not be surprising to see Harry Clancy, the old Bear Cat, out trying for a place.

AFTER TODAY'S Rugby games, Argos and Tigers should be tied for the Interprovincial honors. Varsity and McGill should be on even footing in the Intercollegiate, and Hamilton Rowing Club and T. R. and A. A. equal in the O. R. F. U.

THERE IS SOME doubt in Toronto as to whether St. Michael's will have a team this winter or not. It's safe to state that when the curtain raises the Irishmen will be there with the same old formidable aggregation.

IT IS EXPECTED that skating will be enjoyed at the Toronto arena the first week of December. In Detroit the boys are already at it.

THE NEW ARTIFICIAL ice plant at Montreal is all but completed and ice is promised early next month.

Federal House To Meet Soon.

TORONTO, Nov. 14—A sign pointing to the opening of the Federal House at no distant date appeared with the publication in The Ontario Gazette yesterday of the condensed rules for private bills. It is customary for a warning notice to be given within a month or so of the assembly and attention is called to the fact that all applications for private bills must be advertised in The Canada Gazette and subscribe to other regulations. All notices are to be published for five consecutive weeks.

Premier Hearst stated last evening that the Cabinet had as yet given no consideration to the calling of the Ontario House or to the appointment of a speaker.

German Deserters Watched.

LONDON, Nov. 14. — A despatch from Amsterdam says it has been confirmed that secret agents were posted at Antwerp to keep a watch on deserting German soldiers. Organized relief is going ahead for the necessitous and unemployed. Last week 8,000 families received support.

British Casualties 57,000.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—In reply to a query made by Edward T. John, M.P. from East Denbighshire, Premier Asquith yesterday announced in the House of Commons that the British casualties up to Oct. 31 approximated 57,000 men.

HUNTERS BACK WITH SPOIL BAGS FILLED

Report Good Success and all Kinds of Excitement

The Black Creek Hunt Club have returned from their happy hunting grounds. They report the deer as being very plentiful.

Many are their tales of adventure and excitement, and as one reads over the account of their hunt, he wishes he had been able to drop in just at one of these opportune times.

The diaries impressed one with the warm reception which was given each deer as it passed the watchers on the runway.

The club were successful in obtaining their full complement of deer.

The party was composed of Messrs. L. D. Letellier, J. Louckes, A. Rose, A. Letellier and J. Windsor. This party this year hunted north of Madoc.

Another hunting party, composed of Messrs. R. A. Elliott, Sterling; M. Cook, Sterling; T. Mitchell, Cobourg; G. Mitchell, Toronto; H. Barnard, Hamilton; R. J. Soden, C. S. McClelland, H. Taylor, C. Cheverill, of this city, and R. J. McCamus, Keene, who hunt in the Sudbury district, have returned with their full number of deer. They had one grand time, as a local member of the party put it. The partridges are very scarce, and this is something new for this district, and is a sad fact for the hunter, who likes a little excitement apart from watching a runway for deer.

-- THE BROWNING CLUB --

On Friday, at 8 p.m., in the Y. W. C. A., the Browning Club held their weekly meeting. There were twenty members present. It was decided at the meeting to revert after this week to the regular day of Thursday, and the Organizing Committee desire once more to make it known that in the interests of English Poetry and its lovers, guests, friends and others are welcome at the meetings. The poems next to be read and interpreted are "The Epistle of Karshish" and "Rabbi Ben Ezra." Last night the three short lyrics, "Home Thoughts from Abroad," "Prospice" and the "Epilogue" to Asolando were discussed. The leader for the evening, the Rev. F. J. Sawers, read the poems and explained the occasion and circumstances of their being written. Out of the leader's questions on the interpretation of the verses, a general discussion developed among the members, in the course of which many interesting sidelights of opinion were brought to bear on the poems and instructive parallels suggested. The poems are of special interest, because they are all personal, Browning's own thoughts, with little or no attempt at disguise. The Epilogue was the last poem ever written by the poet, and was revised only a few days before his final illness. It expresses Browning's view of the hereafter — a characteristic view, and forms a most interesting pendant to the more familiar poem of "Prospice." As it is not included in some editions of Browning's selections, we venture to reproduce it here:

EPILOGUE
TO ASOLANDO

At the midnight in the silence of the sleep-time,
When you set your fancies free,
Will they pass to where—by death, fools think, imprisoned—
Low he lies who once so loved you, whom you loved so,
—Pity me?

Oh to love so, be so loved, yet so mistaken!
What had I on earth to do
With the slothful, with the mawkish, the unmanly?
Like the aimless, helpless, hopeless, did I drivel
—Being—who?

One who never turned his back but marched breast forward,
Never doubted clouds would break,
Never dreamed, though right were worsted, wrong would triumph,
Held we fall to rise, are baffled to fight better,
Sleep to wake.

No, at noonday in the bustle of man's work-time
Greet the unseen with a cheer!
Bid him forward, breast and back as either should be,
"Strive and thrive!" cry, "Speed,—fight on, fare ever
There as here!"

HOME GUARD FROM C.G.E. TO ACT WITH RIFLE ASSOCIATION EMPLOYES ARE URGED TO HELP

The following notice which speaks for itself was issued this morning by Mr. E. G. Patterson, of the Canadian General Electric Co. No doubt this meeting will be largely attended and definite steps will be taken to form a Home Guard.

It ought to be possible to form at least three companies from the members of this firm which would make a large unit for defence in conjunction with the rifle association.

November 14th, 1914.

To all foremen, employes
and ex-employes:

There will be a meeting held in the public library hall Tuesday next at eight o'clock p.m. for the purpose of organizing a home guard from and amongst the employes of the Canadian General Electric Company, to be part and parcel of the Peterborough Home Guard that is being organized amongst the citizens.

The City of Peterborough has sent quite a number of representatives to the front to defend the Empire and it surely is our duty to prepare to defend not only our own homes but the homes of those who have gone to fight for us.

I would urgently ask your attendance and co-operation in this movement.

E. G. PATTERSON,
General Superintendent.

Competent Instructors.

A largely attended meeting of the executive of the Rifle Association was held last evening in the armouries. Arrangements were made whereby the members are to be formed into different companies, and leaders appointed and these men are busy getting their respective members rounded up. In all probability there will be a bumper turnout next Thursday night. Arrangements were made with the officers of the 57th Regiment, who have kindly consented to supply the rifle corps with competent instructors.

The members will be thoroughly instructed in squad drill, and musketry, including practice on the miniature range.

The Rifle Association will drill every Thursday evening at the armouries, and a splendid opportunity is given for every one to become identified with this movement.

HELPFUL ADDRESS AT TEACHERS' CONVENTION

The annual county and city school teachers' convention closed yesterday afternoon at four o'clock with a union meeting in the Collegiate assembly hall. The nominating committee presented their report, which was adopted. The officers for the next year are:

President—Miss O'Connell.
Vice-President—Mr. Clarke.
Secretary—Maurice Park.
Committee — Sister St. Paul, Mr. A. K. Hone, Miss Bristol, Miss Gordon, Mr. Yenney and Miss Esme Tomlinson.

Good addresses were delivered by able teachers on common every-day problems confronting the teachers in both rural and city schools.

How to Teach English Literature was discussed by Dr. Pakenham in the morning. F. J. A. Morris, M.A., enlarged upon the use of books in assisting teachers to train their classes in the various branches of the school curriculum.

The address by C. Ward Butcher on School Discipline was given careful attention and dealt entirely with the proper and most satisfactory methods of enforcing orderly conduct in the schools.

A good address in the afternoon was delivered by Dr. Pakenham on Teaching of History. The other addresses were delivered by A. K. Hone, who spoke on Defects in Our Educational System, and F. A. Vosden on School and County Communities.

CLASS ENTERTAINED.

Mr. A. K. Hone, entertained the young ladies of his Bible Class, of George Street Church, last evening. Officers of the class were elected.

Fur-faced drop skirts are seen in the latest winter modes, and one velvet costume had vest collar and underskirt edged with fur.

AEROPLANES ARE BROUGHT DOWN

Shrapnel Fire Near Ypres Did the Trick

PARIS, Nov. 14.—A thrilling encounter in which eight aeroplanes, four German, two French and two British figured, occurred in the vicinity of Ypres. The German machines were destroyed finally by artillery and the eight officers whom they carried killed.

The Germans were seen approaching to reconnoitre the lines of the allies. The French and British airships immediately ascended to meet them. For some time the aircraft circled about each other, rising and descending, while machine guns spattered bullets among them. The sky was clear and the gunners on the ground had a good view of the aeroplanes, but failed to cripple any of the German machines.

Then suddenly four of the allied aeroplanes made a swift dash toward their own trenches and were followed by the Germans, who too late discovered the feint and perceived the peril of the situation only when shrapnel burst among them. In a few minutes the four German aeroplanes crashed to earth.

Pleasures of Reading

Sociology, according to the dictionary definition, is the "science that treats of the origin and history of human society and social phenomena, the progress of civilization and the laws controlling human intercourse." Most people, unfortunately, seem to be deterred from a study of this subject by reason of its somewhat forbidding title. Many confound it with Anarchism, Nihilism, and a few of the other "isms" that at times raise their spectral heads above the ocean of life. Others again, seem to have an idea that it is simply another term for socialism, a subject which even yet is referred to with bated breath in so-called orthodox circles under the hazy belief that its doctrines are subversive of all law, order and morality, and its expounders fit victims for the common hangman. As a matter of fact, it is none of these yet all, for it takes note of all and discusses all, the sum total of the information and deductions to be derived therefrom being entitled sociology.

That sociology is a study which is absolutely essential for everyone who is anxious to obtain other than the most superficial ideas of modern society and the foundations on which it is based can easily be seen when such matters as statistics, political economy, political science, law and its administration, education, commerce, and the popular life of the people necessarily find a place therein.

The best thinkers of all ages have had something to say in regard to social principles. Plato, Aquinas, Hobbes, Locke, Montesquieu, Rousseau, Hume, Bentham, Burke, Hegel, to mention only a few, developed many valuable thoughts along these lines, but it was not till 1838 that Comte, the great French philosopher, used the term, sociology, to designate what to him appeared to be the master science of all. But Comte shared the fate of every other philosopher; he did not satisfy everyone, particularly in his argument that social law should be constructive, and based, not on an assumption of God or man but only on proved facts. Following him, Herbert Spencer, in 1876, published his great work entitled "The Principles of Sociology." It is a stupendous piece of reasoning, but he also failed to gain more than a limited number of adherents chiefly owing to the fact that he raised the argument that the State should assume no more than the simplest governmental functions. Both these men gave much of the highest value to the question. Comte's chief claim to distinction is that he first raised sociology to the dignity of a science and that he laid emphasis on facts rather than on theories.

If one were to attempt to sketch the full course of the social system it would take a volume to do so adequately. All that can be done here is to show the agencies whereby man has been enabled to raise himself to his present status and then leave the reader to trace out for himself the history of the social system.

Man is not the only animal that is social. Most created beings are social. The associations of bees, ants, beavers and birds are well known. But with these the feeling is instinctive, born of a necessity for help in the great struggle for existence. In human beings of low calibre and even in some instances of highly developed minds it is instinctive also and manifests itself in panics, fads, mobs, crazes, revolutions and lynchings. But with the human being the social idea is, in the main, due to the great parts that memory and speech play in the mind. Through the possession of these attributes tradition has afforded to the social mind a certain continuity which is responsible for the level to which society has attained.

To assert that that level is high, would be, in the light of present happenings in Europe, manifestly fallacious. Yet, in spite of the tremendous conflict now raging and the rending of the great social fabric thereby entailed there is ground for hope and courage, because the longer the warfare lasts the more apparent does the source of the evil become. It is the old story of opposing theories. Too many men have regarded themselves in the light of saviours to society and have attempted to match their amateur handiwork against that of the greatest Architect of all. There has been too much of the sand of materialism and too little of the cement of Christianity employed in the building and now that their efforts have wrought ruin and destruction through half the civilized world men will begin to realize on what grounds the social system will have to be reared in order to be rendered imperishable.

There are about 500 volumes in the library dealing with various aspects of society and sociological problems. There is little indeed, touching on the great questions of the past and the present, with which the reader may not get in touch by looking through the shelves.

CERTAIN POINTS OF SUPPORT ARE RECONQUERED

GERMAN REGIMENT DESTROYED---ATTEMPTS TO CROSS YSER CANAL FRUSTRATED

London, Nov. 16, C.P.---A despatch to the Star from Rotterdam says a big force of Germans have been cut off at Dixmude by floods caused by heavy rains

SURPRISE ATTACK BY ENEMY IS DEFEATED

Germans Driven Back in Their Attempts to Cross Yser Canal Between Dixmude and Bixschoote --- Attacks to the Southeast of Ypres Were Repulsed

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

PARIS, Nov. 16. — The afternoon announcement says:

"During yesterday, along the Yser Canal, from Nieuport to the country up the river from Dixmude, the fighting was limited to artillery exchanges.

"The country having been further inundated, the submerged territory now stretches to the south of Dixmude, to a point five kilometres (three miles) to the north of Bixschoote.

"Forces of the enemy, which endeavored to cross the canal between the region of Dixmude and Bixschoote, were driven back beyond the bridges. A German regiment was completely destroyed at a point to the south of Bixschoote.

"To the southeast of Ypres two other German attacks were repulsed. On our part, we have taken the offensive and reconquered certain points of support which the enemy some days ago ago succeeded in capturing.

"In the Argonne region, the town of St. Hubert has again been attacked by Germans, but without success.

"In the region of St. Mihiel, a surprise attack undertaken by the enemy against Apremont resulted in failure.

"There has been little activity in the Vosges."

INDIA'S WONDERFUL RESPONSE TO THE CALL OF THE MOTHERLAND

Eye Witness Describes the Activity Displayed in Bombay in the Dispatch of Troops

Mr. John Nugent has received the following letter from his brother-in-law, Rev. J. Smith, secretary of the Bombay Tract and Book Society, Kelbadevi P. O., Bombay, India:

P. O. Kalbadevi, Bombay, 16th Oct.
John Nugent, Esq., 205 Brock street,
Peterboro, Ont., Canada.:

Dear Brother,—We are now in the midst of the bustle of war here as you are in Canada, but we pride ourselves on having landed our contingent in France, 6,000 miles away, quicker than you were able to land yours, although so much nearer, as, according to your War Minister, the redoubtable Sam Hughes, you ought to have delivered your contingent in 24 hours at least. It would do you good to see the activity displayed just now in Bombay in the despatch of troops for the front. A stream of men, horses, mules, guns, carts and other war material has ben passing through our port for many weeks past, and by this time everything we can possibly spare must have been despatched to the front. About a fortnight ago I, myself, saw 33 ships sail in line out of our harbor, from the back verandah of our house, which is near the lighthouse. India has responded wonderfully to the call of the Government at home for recruits. You have no doubt seen it stated in the papers that every Rajah in India has offered not only his personal services but all the resources of his state. While this is true of the tributary and feudatory states, it is also true of the wealthy mill owners, merchants, and other men of means and influence throughout the Empire. If India were offered her independence tomorrow, she would reject it with the alacrity that would do credit to Canada. India's interests are apparently bound up with the Empire forever, and a great question of statesmanship lies before our higher officials of government when the war is over; though India may not demand a larger measure of self-government as a reward for her loyalty in this crisis, it will be recognized, I hope, in Great Britain that she is deserving of a larger measure of independence, and that nothing but good will result from putting authority and power in the hands of her leaders in the future. The only danger is from agitators and demagogues who, in the past, have been able to stir up sedition amongst irresponsible, hot-headed, half-educated college students and school boys. That age has now gone by; sedition is no more, and we have entered upon a new era, and it will be a task worthy of the best statesmanship so to guide the new current of thought that it may flow into the channels for the betterment of India, and for the closer union of India with the colonies and the Mother Country.

A very regrettable incident occurred a few days ago on the arrival of the "Hindus" who went to British Columbia in the "Komagata Maru." The Government of India brought them back from Hong Kong to Calcutta, where special trains were in readiness to take them to their homes in the Northwest. This arrangement, although at the expense

LOSS OF THE AUDACIOUS

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16. — The United States Government has been informed for over a fortnight of the sinking of the British battleship Audacious by a mine off the Irish coast, but has scrupulously kept the knowledge a secret.

Ambassador Page cabled his Government a day or two after the incident occurred, saying he had been officially informed of the catastrophe to the Audacious, but the British Government wanted the loss kept secret for the present.

No Contracts Placed In United States

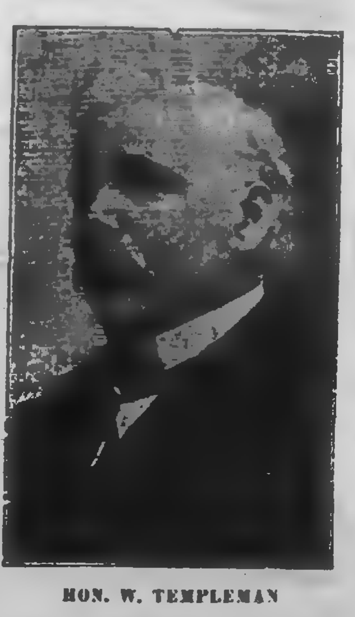
Ottawa, Nov. 16.—Hon. Robert Rogers returned from New York yesterday and gave a most emphatic denial to the reports industriously circulated by the Opposition press that the purpose of his visit was to let contracts for military equipment. The Minister said that he had let no contracts, discussed none, nor had negotiations of any kind in respect to contracts for military supplies during his trip.

WM. TEMPLEMAN PASSES AWAY

Was Former Minister of Mines and of Inland Revenue

VICTORIA, Nov. 16. — Hon. William Templeman, former Minister of Mines and of Inland Revenue in the Dominion Government, and proprietor of The Victoria Times, died at three o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Hon. William Templeman was born at Packenham Village, Ontario, Sept. 28, 1844. He was, therefore, 70 years of age. He established The Almonte Gazette in 1867, and he moved to Victoria, B.C., in 1884, establishing The Times, which he has since published. He was an unsuccessful candidate for the House of Commons in 1891 and 1896, and was called to the Senate in 1897. He entered the Laurier Cabinet in 1902 without portfolio. He became Minister of Inland Revenue in 1906, and Minister of Mines in 1907. He was elected to the House of Commons for Victoria, B.C., in 1906, and was elected by acclamation in Comox-Atlin in 1909, when he was defeated in Victoria. He was defeated in the Dominion general election of 1911.



HON. W. TEMPLEMAN

Former Minister of Mines and Inland Revenue in the Dominion Government, who died at Victoria, B. C., Sunday afternoon.

Major Bennett is Third in Command

In a postcard received from Major Bennett, he states that all the boys are fine and feeling fit.

His many friends will be pleased to learn that Major Bennett is now third in command of his regiment. All the officers, he states, are mounted.

BRITISH BOATS DISABLED OFF BELGIAN COAST

Berlin Hears That Three Were Damaged by German Guns

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

Berlin, Nov. 16.—(via wireless). Reports from Geneva say the British destroyer Falcon, cruiser Brilliant, and sloop Rinaldo, have been disabled by German guns on the Belgian coast.

BISHOP DUNN DIES AT SEA

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

Quebec, Nov. 16.—Bishop Dunn, who recently resigned the Anglican bishopric of Quebec died Sunday night while on his way to England on the steamer Hesperian. He had been suffering from paralysis for some time.

Japanese Troops Enter Tsing Tau

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

TOKIO, Nov. 16.—Japanese troops today entered Tsing Tau with various ceremonies, including memorial services for the dead.

Deputy Speaker in House of Commons

Otawa, Nov. 16.—There are four principal aspirants for the position of Deputy Speaker of the House of Commons: Albert Sevigny, M.P, for Dorchester; Joseph Rainville, M.P. for Chambly, A. A. Rainville, M.P. for Yamaska; and Ferdinand Robidoux, M.P. for Kent, N.B. The chances favor Mr. Sevigny.

The Deputy Speaker in one Parliament is always Speaker in the next, providing he is re-elected and his party is returned. The present vacancy results from the Hon. P. E. Blondin's entry to the Cabinet. The appointment is not likely to be made officially until near the opening of the session.

COUNTY COURT

Action to Recover $295 is Postponed

At a special sitting of the County Court this morning before His Honor Judge Huycke, the case of Malcolm McConomy vs. Jennie Allen to recover $295 was opened. Counsel for the defence made application for postponement on the grounds that the defendant could not be present. His honor adjourned the case sine die.

CHARITY BOARD.

The Central Charity Board will meet this evening at 7.45 and the executive of the committee in charge of the Patriotic Fund will meet at 8 o'clock.

TEN VOLUNTEERS LEAVE TO REPORT AT KINGSTON

The third allotment of men to leave Peterborough for Overseas Service left this morning at 8.30 for Kingston on the G.T.R.

Before they left, the Women of the War Fund presented each of them with a cap and wristlets. They also received the usual grant of $2 from the officers of the regiment. The men who composed this contingent were George Mehew, Sidney Spooner, William H. Saxby, James E. Jobe, Robert G. Gardiner, James M. Grieve, G. Batley, William W. C. McKim, Herbert C. Brown, and James F. Connolly.

Officers of the local garrison were at the station.

ASSESSMENT APPEALS ARE COMPLETED

Few Changes are Made by the Court of Revision

At the Saturday afternoon sitting of the Court of Revision, the following cases were dealt with:

C. E. Graham, overassessed for property on Charlotte Street. Land $9,380, buildings $6,000, total $15,380. Represented by D. O'Connell. Appeal dismissed.

Mr. O'Connell also represented G. N. Graham asking for reduction on Empress Hotel, owing to vacancy. Judgment reserved. They also appealed on grounds of property being over assessed. Land $15,000, building $28,000, total $43,000. Assessment confirmed.

The assessments of J. E. Middleton and Dickson Co.'s farm were confirmed.

E. Donald, land commissioner for the G.T.R., had a written argument before the court claiming the G.T.R. property on Bethune St. was wrongly assessed by $13,300. The assessment was reduced by that amount.

The assessment on the J. A. Armour Estate of $21,000 was reduced to $18,960.

The assessments on the Bradburn Estate properties were confirmed.

Alex. Gibson, 388 George St., assessed for $8,280. Land reduced $200.

A. J. Johnston (Nugent Drug Co.) 386 George St., assessment $7,290. Land reduced $300.

C. M. Moncur, 407 George Street. Assessment reduced by $1,000.

Burnham Estate and Morgan Hardware Co.'s assessments were confirmed.

The assessment of the buildings of the Quaker Oats Co. was reduced from $480,000 to $328,890.

The assessments of J. Sutherland, Sanford Mfg. Co., and C. F. Mason were confirmed.

W. English Canoe Co., 182 Charlotte Street, land $5,500, building $600, total $6,100. Land reduced to $4,340.

Oriental Hotel, business $2,520 on lot part 3, struck off. Assessment otherwise confirmed.

The assessor's appeal for E. L. Payne, T. S. and L. Co., J. T. Stenson & Son, and Wm. Lech, on the grounds of the first two being overcharged and the latter two being undercharged, was sustained and the assessment as amended was confirmed.

This completes the list of appeals.

TWO TURKISH STRONGHOLDS ARE TAKEN

British Indian Troops Take Fortresses by Storm

CRUISER ASSISTED

LONDON, Nov. 16.—The Secretary of the Admiralty announces the success of the operations against the Turkish forts at Sheikh-Said, on the Strait of Babe El Mandeb, at the entrance of the Gulf of Aden, and of the occupation of the Turkish forts at Turba by Indian troops, assisted by the British cruiser Duke of Edinbergh.

The Turkish forts of Turba, says the Admiralty report, is situated on the rocky heights close to the boundary of Turkish territory and the Aden Protectorate. The guns of the fort command the isthmus connecting the peninsula of Sheikh-Said with the mainland.

Three battalions of troops were landed in the face of opposition, but under cover of the Duke of Edinburgh's fire, which had previously disabled the Turba fort. The Indians attacked the enemy's positions, being opposed by well-concealed artillery and infantry fire.

When the hills commanding the forts were taken the defenders weakened and 200 of the enemy escaped over the isthmus on camels or by boats. Six Turks were killed, the remainder being wounded or taken prisoners.

To Protect Arabs.

LONDON, Nov. 16.—Britain, it is announced, has no intention of undertaking any military or war operations in Arabia, except for the protection of Arab interests against Turkish or other aggression, or in support of any attempt of the Arabs to free themselves from Turkish rule.

LIVELY ROW IS SECOND HAND STORE

Proprietor's Wife Used Stove Shaker With Telling Effect

Chas. Swanson and Eric Ricourd were charged in police court, this morning, with assault upon Abraham Chenikoff, who conducts a second-hand store on Simcoe St. It appears that one of the men had raised money on a watch he had left there some time ago, and when he came back for the watch Saturday night, he found it had been sold. This started the row. The plaintiff and one of the prisoners presented a much battered appearance. The latter's nose had come in contact with the shaker of a coal stove in the hands of the Jew's wife. The prisoner's were allowed out on bail of $400, and the case was remanded till Wednesday.

NAIAD LAID UP FOR THE WINTER

Is Docked at Kirkfield After Busy Season

Capt. Carson has arrived in the city after docking Steamer Naiad, the government patrol boat, at Lock No. 4 on the Kirkfield Canal, about a mile from Gamebridge. This has been the most successful year particularly along the lines of placing bass fry and fingerlings in the Kawartha Lakes. In all, over 200,000 have been deposited. Other branches of work has likewise progressed. Only last week 2,000 yards of net was shipped by Capt. Carson to Belleville.

The reason for docking at Lock 4 was because the Kirkfield lift lock was closed. Last year about the same time the Naiad was docked in this city. The boat is to be fitted with an electric light system this winter.

THE PASSING OF "BOBS."

THE SUDDEN DEATH of Field Marshal Lord Roberts, familiarly known all over the Empire as "Bobs," came as a shock to all its citizens. Just the other day, the news was given out that the old warrior was going to France to inspect the Indian troops, and now his passage of the Dover Straits is known to be but the preliminary to the more solemn passage of the Dark River, from which there is no return.

Four score years and two he has served his Sovereign and Empire. He began low down in the army, won his Victoria Cross and each succeeding rank through sheer force of ability and courage alone. He knew all phases of military life, was the hero of many wars, and was one of the few men in Britain who had eyes to see the real emergency occasioned by German policy.

The life of Lord Roberts has been an inspiration to the British Army and to the forces of the whole Empire. He never hesitated when duty called him. His only son fell on the South African veldt, early in that war, and the father, then nearly seventy years of age, took the field for the greater part of that conflict. Had the infirmities of age not prevented him, he would undoubtedly have been actively engaged in the present war, and, as it was, he felt it necessary to take more interest than a man in his position usually would. He has lived a long life, the best days of which were spent in useful service and in setting a noble, manly example to his own day and generation. While a great loss, and while he had passed the stage of active service, his work shall not die, nor shall his soldierly qualities fade from memory while there are men left to uphold the honour and the glory of British arms.

BANGING THE MEN.

A CASE has just been decided in Toronto by Chief Justice Meredith whereby pre-nuptial gifts are not returnable. Any young man giving his lady-love gifts of value, must in future be prepared to say good-bye to them if she breaks her engagement to marry him. Now the men are in a quandary. If they are cautious and sensible, they won't blow their salary on expensive gifts. If they do not, the young ladies will say they are cheap and no good, and will drop them. If the men break their engagements to marry, they have to pay damages for heart balm. Clearly the men get banged on all sides in this loving business. However, there is tolerance for their moral lapses, which there isn't for women.

TOO BAD, ISN'T IT?

ALL THE GREAT WRITERS of the neutral nations are sad over the feeding of the flames of war with art, philosophy, literature—and Christian civilization. Are we going back to the rule of Force? That is the question they are asking themselves. Is the desire to do Right strong enough in the practical and the vicious to enable the well-beloved to put down their arms and throw off their armour? They all say, "No." That is the regrettable part of it. Because apart from the vicious altogether is the struggle amongst diverse opinions of what is Right and Justice. All the courts and other machinery of justice throughout the world depend on common, everyday force to back them up and make them effective. Hence, it is argued, we can never get away from Force as the final arbiter. These doleful lucubrations may be the abstract argument of it all, but we are persuaded, notwithstanding the present strife, that a spirit of peace will infuse itself into all peoples, at least, the dominant ones. The dominant? Ah, there's the rub. What makes them to dominate? That is the question our neutral friends are discussing.

STRONG AT THE END.

BRITAIN usually looms bigger at the end of a war than at the beginning, comments the Toronto Mail and Empire. No matter how long the contest and how heavy the drain on blood and money, she always seems to be able to collect strength for still greater efforts. She began this war with a small army. At the end of it she will have in the field, or ready to take the field, an army which in numbers, equipment and efficiency will be a match for nearly any army in Europe.

When Lord Kitchener announced that he meant to recruit the strength of the army up to one million, those who remembered how difficult it had been to bring the Territorial Force up to the 300,000 mark, felt that he was looking for wonders. Very possibly he was. Lord Kitchener had no doubt in his mind that when the safety and honour of the State are concerned the patriotism of the British people can be depended on to work wonders. In less than three months the army was brought to a strength of considerably more than a million. Mr. Asquith now says that another million men are wanted. They will be forthcoming; and it will be a grand thing if they come of their own volition. We believe that universal military service can be made of the highest benefit to the State—that it can be made of even more civil than military value. When the young men of a nation have had the advantage of good bodily training and of the strict discipline of camps, they will be of more robust and serviceable physique throughout their lives, they will be more self-controlled, and they will think more of their duties than of their rights as citizens. It is much to be desired, however, that the building up of the British army at the present time be altogether the result of volunteering. But when in order to devote themselves to the national defence men put aside their own private affairs and their responsibility to their families it is but right that the State should have regard to their sacrifices. The men should have good pay, and their pension allowances must be liberal.

In Canada the enrolment goes on, and it will be quickened as our expeditionary forces are enlarged. Though 33,000 of our men are now camped in England, and as many as 50,000 will be there early in the New Year, the enlisting movement is just getting started. As the mass of the Canadian army increases, its attraction increases, and it will probably be even easier to raise the third 50,000 than it was to raise the first. When the latter days of the war are reached, there will be an Imperial British army behind Sir John French that will give Mr. Asquith's Government weight in the councils of the treaty makers.

PLEASE EXPLAIN.

A PARAGRAPH thus appears in the Montreal Mail:

> "The Toronto Globe writes one solid column of froth in response to a letter from one who was pained by its screed entitled, 'Here am I; send me.' A lot more people were pained, but didn't complain."

Having read the Globe's article alluded to, we would be much interested to know how the Montreal paper would have treated the subject of the "screed."

EDITORIAL NOTES.

SWISS military experts figure that a total of 15,490,000 men are devoted to war, of which 10,000,000 are actually fighting. Germany has a grand total of 4,260,000; Russia, 6,000,000; France, 4,500,000; England, 470,000; Servia, 260,000. The estimate does not include Turkey, which has half a million men engaged.

HILAIRE BELLOC, of Paris, estimates total cost of the first 100 days of war at $4,128,000,000, apportioning expense as follows: England, $368,000,000; France, $660,000,000; Russia, $700,000,000; Germany, $1,250,000,000; Austria, $600,000,000; Belgium, $200,000,000; Japan, $200,000,000; Servia, $100,000,000.

A LETTER in Saturday Night asks who Sam Hill is. The writer says he has heard a man say another can run like Sam Hill, but doesn't know this personage. The question is the heighth of absurdity and foolish ignorance. Sam Hill is the anglicized name of Baron Munchausen.

THE RAINBOW AND NIOBE, with a speed of seventeen to twenty knots an hour, would stand a fine chance against the Emden, with a speed of twenty-four knots, or against others with a speed of twenty-seven to thirty knots.

BAVARIAN PRINCE writes poem of hatred against England, says a news item. We know now why the Allies fight so fiercely. The Germans are bad, but their poetry must be "fierce."

WE IMAGINE W. T. R. Preston's own autobiography would be more interesting and a bigger seller than his diatribe on the late Lord Strathcona.

IF Professor Hugo Munsterberg looks anything like the pictures of him, we are not surprised that he failed to win the American public.

WE don't hear of Laurier's battleships, the Niobe and Rainbow, capturing any Emdens.

With Their Martial Cloaks Around Them.

("One night, during the fighting along the Aisne, the fire slackened; we brought our dead to a little village churchyard, where the peasants dug a grave. We stood around: just the stars for light, the priest—in French—said the service. We didn't understand much about it, but we saluted, and filled up the grave. The villagers promised to plant flowers and take care of it.")

Between the spiteful tongues of fire
We slowly marched along
In silence, with our precious trust,
No drums, no flags, no song!

The little village churchyard lit
With stars from heaven above
Laid bare her faithful bosom for
The burden of our love.

In reverence the villagers
With loving toil prepared
The last sad resting place for those
Who lived, who fought, who dared.

And daring, died a hero's death,
Have sealed their trust anew,
Now patient souls with pious thoughts
Will tend their graves for you.

We, in Thy gracious keeping, Lord,
Commend their souls to Thee.
O let their bright example prove Beacons of Victory!

At a trial in Baltimore a youthful physician was summoned as a witness, and naturally in the cross-examination a lawyer seized the occasion to be sarcastic.

"Are you," demanded the lawyer, "entirely familiar with the symptoms of concussion of the brain?"

The young physician replied, "Yes, sir, I am."

Then the smart lawyer put a hypothetical case before the doctor, in this way—

"If my learned friend, Mr. Reid, and myself should bang our heads together, would we get concussion of the brain?"

The young physician calmly replied: "Mr. Reid might."

LORD ROBERTS.

Editor Review,

Sir,—Lord Roberts was the ideal Knight, courteous and kind, but able and willing to the very last, to fight against the forces of evil with all his might and all his chivalry. He was a fighter. No doubt people have said to him "Why make such a fuss, why bother about it all? The world will last your time anyhow and you can't do much good." But Lord Roberts was never guilty of the sin of inanition. Never a crow sitting on a branch by the roadside watching the pilgrims of life pass by and swooping down occasionally to pick up what might fall. He had higher aims than to be satisfied with working for himself or his immediate family circle. He was a man of all the world in the truest sense and the world is grateful. He died as he lived a hero and a gentleman. It is an old saying of some people that "they will neither dance nor hold the candle." It is a homely saying but expresses much. He was not like that and although modest he was bold. He had a duty to perform, to the world and performed it. No drivelling milksop was he or frail weakling who needd constant help and support. He was a lesson surely to us all.

Yours,

READER.

FREE ADVERTISING.

Editor, The Review:

Sir,—Many of us have been thinking of forming a league for the suppression of free advertising. I am sure your excellent journal will agree with that idea. It is all very well for public men or people generally to air their views on public matters. That is the way communities develop. That the life and soul of the greatest city of ancient times, Athens. But private parties are sometimes too fond of advertising themselves at the public expense, in Peterborough, at any rate, and not for its good or for the newspapers' good, either, Mr. Editor. Now, for example, what is the good of long screeds about cases in the police court where Lawyer So-and-So appears to be a great criminal counsel or a man of parts? He defends some beast who, ten to one, ought to be in gaol or get the lash, and all the nasty business is brought before the public. I don't want my growing children to read such stuff. It counteracts all the good their parents can do them. Indeed, more. It does them great harm, and frequently all because Lawyer So-and-So wants some advertising at an extra cheap rate. Well! It's too cheap, Mr. Editor, altogether too cheap, and nasty. A committee lately brought a very clever man here to teach the grown-ups how to behave themselves in ordinary matters of every-day life, sort of how to hold their knife and fork, don't you know. Dr. Gordon is a fine speaker, and I think did good. But what would he say to the drunken, filthy drivel "brought out" by lawyers who ought to wait to shine in more elevated circles in the upper courts if they can. It ought to be decent, anyhow. If lawyers' names did not appear in these cases, much of the "need" of long reports would not arise, and we would have fewer such reports. The criminals or drunks, when punished, get what's coming to them, without being dangled from Tyburn before the eyes of the community, and, when innocent, instead of getting off, they are still pointed at by the gossips as "havin' bin in court," all because of the advertising. I have heard it. It is no good, and I can tell you it ought to be stopped. And while I am at it, sir, it is all wrong for people to shoot in the newspapers from behind hedges, the way they used to do at home (you haven't any hedges in this country) at our public men. It's cowardly, and doesn't give the men attacked half a chance. It does no good, for no self-respecting man would read such stuff and not say, "Well, if that is true, why don't he put his name to it?" That kind of attack is never resorted to by self-respecting people. It's only the "niggers' that get behind the fence or the woodpile, Mr. Editor, and the public knows it.

SOUTH END.

Altogether some 100 members of the House of Commons are now serving with the forces although only one, Mr. Aubrey Herbert, the member for South Somerset, has as yet actually taken part in operations at the front.

COLLECTING AN ARMY

Conscription Methods of Various Continental Countries Explained

The reason for the great disparity in the number of Britain's troops and those of Germany is, of course, that whereas Britain's armies are raised by voluntary service, Germany's 5,400,000 men have been raised by conscription. Military service in Germany, France, and Russia is compulsory, the liability in Germany commencing at the age of seventeen and ending at forty-five. But actual service really begins at the age of twenty.

The term of service in the active army is seven years—two years in the ranks and five in the reserves, except in the cavalry and horse artillery, in which the periods are three years and four years respectively. During the period of reserve service, however, the soldier is regarded as belonging to his corps, and is obliged to join it twice in the five or four years for a period of training which is limited by law to eight weeks. After five years or four years in the reserve, all soldiers pass into what is known as the Landsturm, a purely home defence force, in which they remain until they have reached the age of forty-five.

Russia, which has a fighting force of 5,500,000 men, has a compulsory system somewhat similar to that of Germany, except that it extends to the completion of the forty-third year instead of the forty-fifth. Speaking generally, service in the first line, or active army, is for three years in the infantry, field and foot artillery, and for four years in other terms. The soldier is then transferred to to the reserve, in which he serves for fifteen or fourteen years, undergoing during this period two trainings of six weeks each. Having completed eighteen years in the first line and its reserve, he passes into the home defence until he has completed his forty-third year.

Both France and Austria have armies of almost equal strength. The liability to service in France exists from the age of twenty to the age of forty-eight. For three years the men serve in the active army, and then go into the reserve for eleven years, after which they pass into the territorial army for seven years, finishing up with seven years in the territorial reserve.

On the other hand, the liability to military service in Austria-Hungary extends from nineteen to forty-two, the men going into the various reserve forces after two years active service.

The Belgian army is raised in a rather curious manner, for it is recruited partly by voluntary enlistment and partly by conscription, the latter consisting of 49 per cent. of the annual contingent. Voluntary enlistment is retained for those who desire to make the army a profession, the first engagement being for five or seven years for those not eighteen, and three or five years for those over that age. Conscripts serve for fifteen months in the infantry or two years in the cavalry, after which they are drafted into the reserve forces.

An appropriation of $125,000 for the purchase of wheat, to be shipped to the stricken Belgians as soon as a vessel can be chartered at Montreal, was decided upon by the Belgian relief fund committee at the headquarters.

Fort Henry, Kingston, has now 301 military prisoners within its walls and carpenters are at work remodelling the lower floor.

SWEET SIXTEEN

Were They "Different?"

By AURANIA ELLERBECK

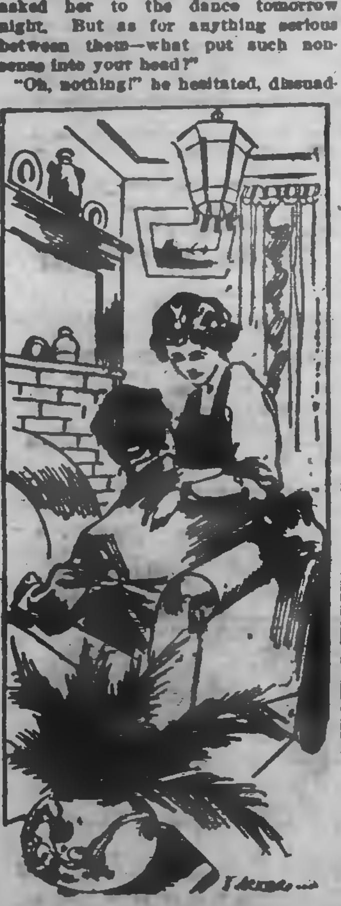
In the alcove leading from their bedroom sat the judge and Mrs. Parker.

"There comes Dean Cutler," indifferently remarked Mrs. Parker after a desultory glance at the walk below where she espied a boy of twenty striding up the steps.

"You don't think there's anything serious in his attentions?" asked the judge.

"Thomas!" exclaimed his wife in eloquent denial. "The idea! Virgie and Dean are still boy and girl together. He's barely twenty and she's just sixteen. Mere children! If she's been moping lately it's because he hasn't asked her to the dance tomorrow night. But as for anything serious between them—what put such nonsense into your head?"

"Oh, nothing!" he hesitated, dissuaded; then thoughtfully, "Only weren't we just about their age when"—



SAT IN LOVER-LIKE ATTITUDE.

"Oh, but you and I were different!" with placid assurance. "Don't you suppose I know my girl?"

Downstairs in the flickering fire broken twilight of the parlor Dean and Virginia sat in lover-like attitude.

Dean was in a low chair before the fireplace; Virginia was on his knees, one fresh, round arm thrown around his ruddy, sunburned neck, the other clasped in both his hands.

He dropped a kiss in the hollow of her elbow near his shoulder, then questioningly looked up at her.

"Are you going to the dance with me tomorrow night?"

"Ye—es. Why didn't you ask me before?" she wistfully demanded, drawing back with a helpless sigh.

It was bewildering how the anger she had felt at his remissness fled at a look—at a kiss! Would she never cease to be as putty in his hands?

"I knew you wouldn't go with any one else," he said with egotistical assurance, reluctantly letting her go as, at a sound from the stairs, she jumped up and made for the electric switch.

When she came back and posted herself on the arm of his chair the full streaming light discovered to her two cuts on Dean's face, one at his temple, unsuccessfully concealed by a lock of hair; the other on his cheek, red and angry.

"Why, how did you do this—and this?" she cried in alarm, her brown eyes wide with question as she held back the curls from his forehead.

Rising, Dean stepped to the mantel and examined his curls. "Oh, that's nothing!" he vaguely replied, turning his back to the fire and pocketing his hands.

"How did you do it?" she repeated with insistent curiosity.

He perceptibly hesitated. Then, "I took a tumble last night—bowling—at the new alley," he mendaciously supplied, jingling coins in his pocket.

"Bowling—last night!—what time?" she took him up, narrowing her eyes as she became cognizant of his uneasy manner.

"Why—I don't know!" he parried, kicking a strayed cinder back on the hearth. "Some time between 9 and 11"—

"And then what did you do?" she probed, rising slowly and approaching him.

A vague presentiment was tugging at her heart. Having been to the new alley herself last night, she knew that he had lied. But why? Was there some ugly truth to conceal?

"Oh, just ran around town with Tom Baker and the bunch," he reluctantly admitted, pressed to the point of irritation.

"What do boys do when they just 'run around town?'" she went on earnestly, putting her hands on his shoulders and turning him toward her. In her love was something of a mother's yearning.

Then like a flash came two and two together. Her face blanched, and her hands fell like dead weights at her sides. She remembered now!

After she and Cousin Wes had left the bowling alley they had stopped in to see the last act at the Empire. When they came out it was nearing midnight. As they passed a certain alleyway that sneaked off Center street a noisy group of boys turned in.

She had distinctly seen the loose belted figure of Tom Baker and another—curly headed, hatless! But she had immediately argued herself out of believing her eyes. Now she felt convinced.

"I saw you downtown last night," came from Virginia's lips in a frozen tone, unlike herself.

"Where?" demanded Dean, flushing darkly.

"Center street, between First and Second West, in an alley."

"Virginia, you didn't! I wasn't there. Some one's been talking. Just let me catch"—

"I saw you myself. Don't lie to me again!"

It was an undreamed of Virginia who confronted him!

"I—I only went in with the boys—to look on," he defensively offered instead. Her sternness put him at a disadvantage, but anything to hold her!

"You said you were at the bowling alley last night and you weren't."

Stampeded, confused, Dean hurried with the truth.

"Well, then—I'll tell you. Only you mustn't be too hard on me. A fellow hit me here with a billiard cue in a place on Columbine alley. And then there was a fight."

"Oh, Dean!" Shuddering under the destruction of hope and faith—a shattered ideal—Virginia hid her face in her hands and sank into a chair.

"Look at me," he pleaded, falling on his knees beside her and attempting to raise her chin.

But her head only sank lower, and she pushed away his hand. "I can't look at you any more—you lied to me. It wouldn't—be—the—same."

Dean stood up. He looked around the big, familiar room, suddenly grown strange and hostile, and then at the dark head bent because of him.

She was like a flower still, but lifeless, bitten by the frost. A sob clutched his throat, and he tried the hardest thing of all.

"Virginia, I'm not fit to touch your hand—but—can't you forgive me, Virgie—please?" he implored, bending over her with trembling lips and heart smitten with remorse.

But her one vulnerable spot had been pierced. Pain had quenched the flame of her love, and the ashes lay like stones in her breast.

"I don't know. It isn't that. Whether I forgave you or not, it could never be the same," she repeated dully.

Sixteen and twenty, but the lightning had struck.

Dean straightened his shoulders. "Do you want me to go?"

"Yes," with a suggestion of eagerness. "And you had better take this with you."

Rising, Virginia handed him his signet ring.

The tragedy was complete. This last concrete instance of their parting was as the closing of the casket in a funeral service.

The front door closed, and a man of twenty stumbled down the steps.

"Virginia, didn't you hear the dinner bell?" peremptorily called her father from the dining room.

"No—I—I don't want any dinner," replied Virginia from the hall where she stood, outwardly calm as a statue, inwardly nauseated with the pressure of unshed tears.

"Nonsense! Hurry in here! We've got noodle soup. Where on earth is Dean?" demanded her father, looking up from a steaming tureen, ladle poised in the air, as Virginia crept alone into the dining room.

"He—didn't stay," she quietly remarked, slipping into her place at the table.

"What's the matter? Didn't he ask you to the dance?" interrogated her mother, righteously indignant.

"Yes—but—I'm going with father if I go," was the astounding reply.

"Certainly you may go with your father," largely consoled the judge, with a comprehending wink at his wife.

"Of course! That's the very nicest way to go! And what are you thinking of wearing?" pursued Mrs. Parker with tactful enthusiasm.

"I think—I'll wear—I'd like to wear my old white"— began Virginia, but at the thought of that dress and its intimate history she could no longer keep back the tears. Choking with sobs, she buried her face in her napkin and groped her way from the room.

"No, mother," advised the judge as Mrs. Parker made a movement to follow. "Let her have her cry out alone. That young scoundrel—he didn't ask her to that dance at all! Confound him!"

"I suppose not. And those things mean so much when one is just sixteen. You don't imagine it was anything else?" she suggested.

"Of course not—just a spat! He'll call up again tomorrow," and the judge began on his soup with a relish.

"And yet—we were about their age when we had our quarrel," renewed Mrs. Parker and heard herself with alarm. Thirty years ago, and this was the first mention of it since that day! Mrs. Parker had been able to forget when she decided to forgive—

"I know, mother," said the judge, reaching over to pat her hand across the table. "But, as you say, they're children! We were—different!"

Children War Prisoners.

Two children are being held by the military authorities as prisoners of war. They are detained owing to the fact that their Austrian mother and father are under detention. The party were brought to Kingston from Sarnia. The wife is the first woman prisoner of war made in this country. They were arrested while attempting to get across to the United States. What will be done with them is not yet known, as there is no accommodation for women prisoners at Fort Henry, where 225 men are detained. In the meantime they are being held at Tete-du-Pont Barracks.

Not English Custom To Murder Helpless

Even the Savage Zulus Knew it and Took Advantage of it

"We need not fear that the British soldier will ever descend to making reprisals. Thirty-five years ago I was commanding 18,000 men, who fought against 23,000 brave Zulus for five hours and a half. They attacked with the undaunted courage of savages who did not realize the effect of modern rifles, and the following morning we buried, besides a vast number elsewhere, 884 close up to one face of the wagons behind which our men had stood. When the fight was over I desired a few friendly Zulus who were attached to the companies under my command to collect men of every regiment promising for each uninjured man a 'stick' of tobacco. Next morning there was a group outside my tent of magnificent specimens of humanity. When I got all the information I required, I said, 'Two months ago, when after a skirmish our doctors cared for your wounded, and a few days later you overwhelmed our camp, killing 1,500 of our men. You did not spare those who had been attending on your own brothers. Will one of you say why I should not kill you?' Said a young giant, 'May I speak, O Master? You ask why you should not kill us; I answer, because it is not the English custom.'

"This is the character our race bears in the North, South, East and West Africa, and I hope it may ever continue, for reprisals are not only useless, but would sensibly lessen the grand fighting value of our soldiers. The troops at the assault of Delhi in 1857, when embittered by horrible stories, many exaggerated, and at Jhansi in 1858, were seen deliberately lifting women and little children out of the line of fire. Such conduct is a part of our national inheritance."

A Blue-blooded Artist

PRINCE PAUL TROUBSTSZKOY

hates to be reminded of the fact that he is a member of the Russian nobility, preferring to be on equal terms with those about him. His marvelous creations have won for him a high place in the world of art.

RUSSIA AS A REPUBLIC

It may not be generally known that a Republic composed of the States of Nicaragua, Salvador, and Honduras, and known as the United States of Central America, was established in 1898 by a party of enterprising individuals. On November 1st of that year deputations of the three mentioned States met at Nicaragua, which had been decided on as the new capital, and constituted the United States of Central America, taking the oath to support the new Republic, and making laws to be observed by all the people of the States concerned.

The new constitution was modelled on the lines of the United States of America, but it did not live to take a place in the government of the Western Hemisphere. Less than a month after it had been established the Republic mysteriously collapsed.

Not so very long ago Ivan Narodny floated a company in New York for establishing a Republic in the domains of the Czar. At a meeting of Russian Jews Ivan solemnly arranged to divide Russia into twelve united states, with himself as the President.

Bonds of the value of one hundred dollars were issued, and each bond contained this statement: "Know all men by these presents that the United States of Russia acknowledges itself indebted to —— in the sum of one hundred dollars for value received, which sum the United States of Russia promises and agrees to pay on the 1st of January, 1915, with interest thereon at 10 per cent. per annum, payable in gold coin."

The Spirit of Self-sacrifice

That British soldiers are animated by the old spirit which has made the Empire what it is is illustrated by the story of a couple of men of the Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders who had been cut off from their regiment during a battle. One was badly wounded, but his companion had stuck by him all the time in a country swarming with Germans, and, though they had only a few biscuits between them, they managed to pull through until picked up. "I pressed the unwounded man," says Lance-Corporal Edmondson, of the Royal Irish Lancers, who tells the story, "to tell me how they managed to get through the four days on six biscuits, but he always got angry and told me to shut up. I fancy he went without anything and gave the biscuits to the wounded man."

For the Children

Every year at Asbury Park, that delightful beach on New Jersey's shore, is given a baby parade. This baby parade is the main feature of the season's jollifications and is witnessed by thousands. People from all parts of the country make it a point to be present at Asbury Park's baby parade, and they are always repaid for their journey. Hundreds of prizes are given in a great number of classes, but perhaps the most interesting exhibits are those dressed in burlesque costumes. The first prize winner this year was Ralph B. Moore of New York city. Ralph is four years old and was represented as a war veteran who had seen hard times. The present war in Europe no doubt induced Ralph's parents to present him as a war worn soldier. "After the War" his makeup was called. While his costume was a burlesque, it is sad to think that it very nearly approached the appearance of many real soldiers now in Europe. Little folks happily do not know much about the horrors of warfare.

Game of Initials.

This is a jolly game, requires no preparation and makes lots of fun. The guests sit in a circle around the room. One sits in a revolving chair in the center of the circle so that he can easily face any one in the room.

"Ladies and gentlemen," he begins, "I am here for criticism, advice and condemnation. I am not sensitive and it doesn't matter what I get, but the principal words of your answers must begin with my initials, J. C. F." Turning to the first player, he says: "What sort of a chap am I?"

"Jaunty, careless and fresh," might be answered.

To the next one he asks, "What sort of a wife ought I to have?"

"Jolly, crisp and flirty," would be a rather appalling description. Questions and answers might go on somewhat after this fashion:

Q. "What ought I to eat?"

A. "Jam, custard and fish."

Q. "What profession am I best fitted for?"

A. "Janitor, carpenter or fisherman."

Q. "What other business would I succeed in?"

A. "Judge, commercial lawyer or financier."

And so on as long as questions and answers can be thought of. When a person fails to make an answer he must change places with the questioner and give his own initials, then proceed to ask questions about himself.

No question is allowed on any other subject or about any one else. Two minutes may be allowed for thinking of an answer, but it is more fun to answer quickly and keep the game lively.

A Spanish Game

The "gate of Alcala," a favorite game among the children of Spain, is much like "London bridge." "Moon and the morning stars" is their game of tag. One child is chosen for the moon and has to stay within the shadow. The other children, who are the stars, have to stay only where it is light. If the moon catches a child in the forbidden shadow the child takes the place of the moon. Then as the stars dance and run around in and out of the shadow they sing:

Oh, the moon and the morning stars!
Oh, the moon and the morning stars!
Who dares to tread, oh,
Within the shadow?

Phonetic Word Building.

Outside I heard a gentle ——, and, laying down my ——, I called up to my brother —— and said, "I'll need some help from ——." He laughingly said, "O ——!" and ran down and stood the post —— (the whole word).

Answer.—Purr, pen, Dick, you, la—perpendicular.

Luck, Pluck.

"I wish you good luck," is no word to say.
"I wish you good pluck" is better,
For pluck means more in every way
Than just an additional letter.

It is good to believe in your luck, I know!
It is bad to be thought unlucky;
But the best of luck for us folk below
Is the habit of being plucky.

You can turn your luck if you have the pluck.
You can conquer the ill that shakes it.
So I will not stop at a wish for luck,
But here's to your pluck that makes it!
—St. Nicholas.

The Late Rivers Bulkeley

(From Beck's Weekly, Montreal)

Major Rivers Bulkeley was a man whom to know was to respect, but not to the majority was given the knowledge. His was an exceedingly quiet and retiring disposition. He was not one to thrust himself upon others. His many medals, worn upon occasion, told their own tale. His bravery was proverbial, but his modesty was such, that he really did not appreciate his own virtues. Captain Long—who was aide-de-camp to His Royal Highness the Duke during the term of Major Rivers Bulkeley's Comptrollership—told a friend that he was "one of the very bravest men he had ever known." His reserve covered a rare character of extraordinary strength. He had served with distinction, had been mentioned in despatches on three different occasions, was the proud possessor of the Queen's medal with six clasps, and the King's medal with two clasps, yet he never spoke of his achievements, and apparently shrank from publicity on that count. As Comptroller and Equerry of the Household of Their Royal Highnesses the Duke and Duchess of Connaught, Major Rivers Bulkeley's position was no sinecure. His duties and responsibilities were great.

Ordinary people are apt sometimes to envy those in the higher walks of life, but trouble and sorrow follow all ranks, and on very many occasions it proved "the sadness of farewell," between the two lives, now so ruthlessly torn asunder. Although good comrades, as fate had thrown them together, it was not quite a year previous to their marriage, that Major Bulkeley and Miss Pelly became engaged, with the pleased consent of Their Royal Highnesses the Duke and Duchess, who later graced the wedding by their presence. But even after that happy event, little time could be spared from their high social duties to allow of much intimate intercourse. During the all too short honeymoon, death cast its shadow by removing the bride's step-father, Sir Henry Francis Yorke. In January, 1914, their small son "Bobbie" was born, followed shortly afterwards by the death of Mrs. Rivers Bulkeley's mother, Lady Lillian Yorke, whose long illness made it impossible for her to join her husband in Canada. This was again followed by the death of her grandfather, Lord Wemyss; so that, in reality only a very infinitesimal portion of their lives was spent together. Therein lies the extreme tragedy of his death. Each had a striking personality, which, having passed, left its mark. Those of us who were privileged to have met and known them, even ever so slightly, are the better for the contact. Aching hearts there are in plenty for the stricken wife and fatherless boy, who, if he be spared, will no doubt in time learn that he had a father of whom he could be proud. As someone somewhere fitly says:

"We live in deeds, not years, in thoughts, not breaths;
In feelings, not in figures on a dial.
We should count time by heart throbs—He most lives
Who thinks most, feels the noblest, acts the best—"

GALLANT FRENCHMAN POPULAR IN BRITAIN

General d'Amade Recently Promoted For Distinguished Service, Acted as Military Observer in War

To the average reader Sir John French's description of the manner in which General d'Amade's cavalry relieved the pressure on the English troops at a critical moment meant no more than that a French commander had done his duty valiantly and well. But to many military leaders the name was already interesting and familiar. General d'Amade was before in touch with the British army on active service. He went through the South African War as French military attache, and though he escaped the Boer bullets, he fell a victim to a common enemy—typhoid.

In South Africa he made friends with several of the British generals now fighting in France. In all senses, even to the point of being able to amuse and be amused by his escort, he proved an exemplary attache, and when he did walk alone he had a way of impressing the most suspicious sentry with his good intentions. An attache, let it be known, runs a risk of being treated as a spy if he shows the least disposition to nervousness. When he goes forth to observe the country, he must never avoid the eye of patrols or let himself be merged for long in the landscape; it is not safe for an alien-looking gentleman of military bearing to appear too suddenly round the corner. But it is possible to go through a campaign without being taken for a combatant. General d'Amade's bearing is fit for all occasions.

GENERAL d'AMADE

It is the bearing of a first-rate fencer. It has the alacrity and finish proper to an exponent of that politest of the arts. General d'Amade has done a great deal for the cult of the foil and epee in England. He has offered prizes at London clubs, and shown how useful competitions and displays may be in spreading the vogue of his favorite exercise.

More than would be the case with most Englishmen, he is able to keep the martial character intact under a pile of social attainments. A man of about fifty, with grey moustache and grey-blue eyes, a brilliant horseman and of established valor, he is the best type of the able and active soldiers who are upholding the honor of France in the present encounter. His allies can find no fitter description than that he is an officer and a gentleman.

A Soldierly Speech

In his ode on the death of the Duke of Wellington, Tennyson spoke of his hero as one "who never spoke against a foe." Lord Roberts is evidently a soldier of the same type. He says:

"May I give a word of caution to my countrymen against the unsportsmanlike practice of abusing one's enemies? Let us avoid what Kipling, during the Boer War, described as 'killing Kruger with our mouth.' Let us rather devote all our energies to defeating our foemen by the superior fighting of adequate numbers of British soldiers in the open field."

Heroes of the Fishing Fleet

The name of Skipper Harris, captain of the Grimsby trawler Kilmarnock, which was blown up by a mine in the North Sea, must be writ large on the roll of heroic deeds; for it was his patriotic action which led to the destruction of his vessel and himself. After reaching the North Sea, he observed some floating mines. He located them, and ordered the crew to put out a buoy in order to mark where they were. After this had been done the skipper decided to bring the vessel back until he fell in with some of the British warships, in order that he could inform them where the mines were, and thus have them blown up and prevent the possibility of any vessels fouling them. As she was proceeding the Kilmarnock struck another mine right under the engine room, and she split completely in twain, sinking like a stone.

Pay For Prisoners' Keep

An account is being kept of the cost of the maintenance of the German prisoners of war in England. This is very necessary, for when it comes to a question of peace the vanquished enemy will be called upon to settle this account, which, as the war advances, will become more and more considerable.

TOWNS EVACUATED

Breslau and Koenigsberg May Not be Defended.

Stockholm Has Advices That Germans Will Give up East Prussian and Silesian Fortresses and Will Not Defend Cracow---Another Correspondent Says Bases Will be at Thorn and Oppein.

LONDON, Nov. 16. — A despatch to The London Telegraph from Stockholm says:

"A diplomatic despatch from Vienna states that the German army is evacuating both Breslau, in Silesia, and Koenigsberg, in East Prussia.

A despatch from Petrograd says: Russian troops advanced rapidly yesterday toward Danzig, the objective of the campaign in East Prussia.

The Austrian army continues their retreat towards Cracow.

Berlin reports the flight of the population of Cracow. It is expected the railroads will be cut and that Cracow will not be defended.

The following official communication was issued from General Headquarters at Petrograd last night:—

"On the East Prussian front, at Stalluponen, around Angerburg, and near Johannesburg, our troops are making successful progress in the fighting. The action continues in the region of Soldau and Neidenburg, where we have progressed, notwithstanding the desperate resistance of the enemy.

"On the left bank of the Vistula the battle proceeds, developing along a front from Plock (Poland) to the River Warta. On the front between Kalisz and Wielun the enemy has withdrawn. In the neighborhood of Czenstochowa and towards the south the enemy has attempted an offensive, but this has failed.

"Our march on Cracow continues.

"In Galicia the Austrians are seeking to organise a defence on the San river, in the Doualets region, west of the front comprising Zabno and Tarnow, and on the Wisloka, on the Jaslo front.

"In the region to the south of the Galician front our troops are advancing towards the passes across the Carpathians."

Leaving the defence of Cracow mainly in the hands of the Austrians, and attempting to hold the Russian advance along the Polish frontier only by desultory rearguard action, the Germans, according to the view of the situation held in Petrograd, are to-day withdrawing their main forces into Silesia, whence many are being sent north to the region between Thorn and the River Warthe. In this territory the Germans, taking advantage of the small numbers of Russian troops, are attempting an energetic advance at the same time as they move forward on both banks of the lower Vistula.

The Petrograd correspondent of The Daily News says:

"The German eastern army will conduct the home defence from two bases. They are organizing their northern forces at Thorn, using the back belt railways to maintain towns with their East Prussian army. The new southern base is Oppein, on the Oder, fifty miles southeast of Breslau.

"A quantity of guns are being brought to Oppein from Cracow, and the latter place evidently is to be abandoned to the Austrian garrison.

"In the last stages of the retreat from Poland the Germans covered twenty-five miles daily. Their column, which fell back on Kalisz, lost 80,000 men, of which 20,000 were killed."

The Morning Post correspondent at Petrograd says:—

"Another big battle is developing on the Polish frontier, the Germans having drawn forces from the East Prussian front for these operations. The German object in turning back from its retreat and again advancing on Poland is plainly an attempt to relieve the pressure on East Prussia. The failure of such diversion, however, is a foregone conclusion."

NATIONAL ANTHEMS WHICH THE NATIONS ARE SINGING THESE DAYS

The Austrian National Anthem is being sung and played in every city and village in the dual empire at this moment, and it is one of the finest in existence. It was composed in 1797 by that great national composer, Haydn, who is chiefly known to concert-goers in this country by his magnificent oratorio, "The Creation," in which occurs the splendid and florid chorus "The Heavens are Telling." The anthem was based upon an old national song, but Haydn made it a thing of beauty. It is the only National Anthem composed by a musician of the foremost rank.

But the song which is sung in cities by civilians is not always, or indeed generally, the one sung by the soldiers who have to bear the brunt of battle and siege and march. At present the most popular song in Vienna—shouted every night in theatre and music hall as well as by reservists going to the front—is "Prinz Eugen der edle Ritter," which tells how the "noble cavalier," Prince Eugene of Savoy, who was the ally of the great Marlborough, the ancestor of our present First Lord of the Admiralty, laid siege to and captured Belgrade from the Turks in 1717. It ought to be a good song for its present purpose, for it was actually written in the trenches before the very city which is now again occupied by the Austrians.

Probably the most stately National Anthem is the Russian. Its very title, "God, the All Terrible," seems to strike an heroic strain. Sung by a great mass of peasant soldiers with simple fervor, its effect is grand in the extreme. Played upon the great organ in the cathedral at Moscow it sounds like a prayer. Not only are the words very poetical, but the tune is forceful and haunting.

Of course the greatest of all war songs pure and simple is unquestionably "The Marseillaise." What memories it has clinging to its fervidly patriotic words! It was the song of the French Revolution, and did more to bring down the dynasty of the Bourbons than half-a-dozen army corps. It was called by the name which still is universally applied to it, because the men—and women—of Marseilles, the port of the Mediterranean, marched all the way to Paris singing it as they went. Its first fruits were reaped a few days after their arrival when the hated Bastille fell to its strains. It is now the National Anthem of Republican France, and it will be heard all over that fair country as the French army goes marching on to victory.

In Germany no patriotic song has been sung with such fervor as the famous battle hymn of the Germans, "Die Wacht am Rhein" ("The Watch on the Rhine"). It was written in 1840, but remained practically unknown until the outbreak of the war with France, when it was sung by every soldier, and every man, woman, and child throughout the German Empire. "The Watch on the Rhine" was to Germany at that time what "The Marseillaise" was to France—a soul-stirring composition, which made men eager to take up arms and fight for the cause which they thought was right.

Our own National Anthem is a Georgian product and originally opened with the words "God bless Great George our King." It has been honored by Beethoven with seven variations for the piano, and it is introduced into his Battle Symphony. On the whole, perhaps, the tune to which we sing—all the words we can remember—"God Save the King" has probably the largest circulation of any tune in the world.

Then there is "Rule Britannia," perhaps the finest national song possessed by an nation, and which was composed by Dr. Arne, the English musician, who wrote several operas. "Rule Britannia," was included in the "Masque of Alfred," a musical farce produced in 1740.

Just as the Austrian National Anthem is the only one set to music by a great composer, so the Norwegian Anthem is the only one whose words were written by a real poet. This was Bjornstjerne Bjornson. On one occasion he was asked when he got the greatest pleasure out of his fame as a national poet. He replied, "It was when a delegation from the 'Right' came to my house in Christiania and smashed all my windows. Because when they had done all the damage they could and were starting home again they felt they ought to sing something. So they began to sing 'Yes, We Love This Land of Ours.' They could do nothing else. They were obliged to sing the song of the man whom they had attacked!"

PRO-GERMAN MATTER MAILED

Canadian Post Office is Used Says Prof. Leacock

MONTREAL, Nov. 16.—Prof. Stephen Leacock of McGill University, the well-known humorist and author, has written to The Montreal Star protesting against the distribution by the postoffices in this country of mail matter calculated to prejudice public opinion against Great Britain and her allies in the war. He states:

"The Canadian postoffice has been, and is still, deliberately handling and distributing news matter posted in Germany, with German post stamps, and intended to influence public opinion against the British cause. German newspapers are folded up, and inside them are placed leaflets, printed in English in Berlin, for Canadian consumption. False accounts of German victories, English piracies and French atrocities, are thus prepared in Germany and despatched. The Canadian postoffice does the rest."

Prof. Leacock states that he has made private protest to the Government and to the Montreal postoffice, but without avail.

Vera Cruz Occupation Cost $5,000,000

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—A high official of the War Department last night estimated that the occupation of Vera Cruz by the American Government had cost for the army alone, close to $5,000,000. In addition to this cost, merely for quartering and feeding the army, the protection and feeding of Mexican refugees, who fled to the United States after the battle of Ojinaga, cost in the neighborhood of $800,000, for which there have been no returns. This cost is exclusive of the money required to keep the fleet ready for action on both coasts of Mexico. No attempt has been made to figure the cost of this expenditure.

TRIPLE DEFENCE LINE IS READY

Germany Prepared for Retreat Into Own Territory

GENEVA, Nov. 16. — (Via Paris.) —The German army staff has prepared three formidable defence lines from the North Sea to Rhine, to be used in event of a retreat, according to a high Swiss army officer, who recently returned from Germany.

The first line of defences extends from Antwerp southward to Namur and Sedan, he says. The second is on the frontier between Maestrich, Luxemburg and Metz. The third is on the Rhine itself, extending from Basel to Cologne, and even further. The officer didn't visit Alsace or Lorraine.

The Swiss officer predicts that long battles similar to those of the Marne and the Aisne will be repeated on each of these lines unless Russia attacks strongly meantime.

U. S. TO WARN REPUBLICS.

Will Use Influence To Make Ecuador and Columbia Stay Neutral.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16. — The American Ministers to Ecuador and Colombia have been instructed by Secretary Bryan to investigate the charges of the French and British Governments of the alleged violations of neutrality in aiding German naval vessels by coaling them and permitting them to communicate with the shore through radio stations on neutral ground.

This action was announced by Secretary Bryan last night. It is stated here that it is in complete compliance with the request of Great Britain and France that the influence of the United States Government be exerted to bring these South American countries to a realization of the responsibilities in permitting breaches of neutrality, and to remind them of the terms of the neutrality proclamations published by both. The matter will not be taken up in any way with the Ministers of these countries in Washington, it was learned at the State Department.

Turkey Has Divine Aid Too.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 16.—(Via Berlin and London.) — Enver Pasha, Turkish Minister of War, and leader of the Young Turk party, has published a proclamation to the Turkish army as follows:

"Comrades, I have the honor to announce to you a noble irade from the Sultan. Our army will destroy our enemies with Allah's help and the assistance of the prophet, and by the pious prayer of the sovereign. Forward, always forward. Victory, glory and paradise are before us. Death and disgrace behind. Long live our Padishah."

STRONG IMPETUS TO FUNDAMENTAL PRINCIPLES OF LIFE AND CONDUCT, RESULT OF DR. GORDON'S MEETING

Thousands of people who heard Dr. J. L. Gordon preach night after night were stirred and drawn to a better life, declared Rev. R. G. Peever to a large congregation in the George Street Methodist Church on Sunday morning. Many Christians felt they were living on too low a level, and not the same Christian life they were before.

The pastor dealt with possible benefits to church and city life from Dr. Gordon's recent visit. His text was the miracle of Christ feeding the five thousand and of gathering up the fragments that remained. How to conserve the good was one of the great ruling ideas in the world today, in physical science, in the industrial world, and in political economy. As a unifying principle in the Christian Church, how could people gather up the enthusiasm to use and forge the moral force of manhood and womanhood; co-ordinate the ideals of a community, for the uplift of mankind That was one of the great thoughts of the larger mind of the Church today.

As an illustration, Rev. Mr. Peever referred to the Y. W. C. A., the Y. M. C. A., the Laymen's Missionary Movement — three bodies and institutions seeking to conserve good and eliminate waste.

Came as a Challenge.

From Dr. Gordon's visit emanated a challenge to the pastor: How shall I take advantage of this situation and turn to account the aspirations, the convictions and decisions of my people? Quickly came the answer: Gather up the fragments, co-ordinate the desires and register the convictions of my people for deeper experience and larger service.

What was the good emphasized in the recent campaign? Nothing new, but a strong impetus to the great fundamental principles of life and conduct. Points emphasized were that religion in effect should enter each life; that our civilization gathers its best, its mightiest and sweetest from religion; that religion makes true homes and keeps the home full of the gospel of good cheer and comfort and peace. The last point was that honesty and integrity in business were contrasted with double dealing, truth contrasted with falsehoods, sincerity with sham and hypocrisy.

Rev. Mr. Peever's address was thoughtful in the extreme and was given close attention.

Law of Adaptability.

In the evening he referred to the purifying and refining influences of grief and adversity upon humanity. People could help themselves during times of stress and strain by applying the law of adaptability to circumstances.

Large congregations were present morning and evening.

GERMANS ON DEFENSIVE FLOOD DISTRICT TO CHECK ADVANCE OF ALLIED TROOPS

Latest Advices Say That the Allies Have Been Actively Attacking all Along the Battle Line and Have Made Some Notable Gains.

German Attack on Verdun Fails—Allies Gain Heights at Arras.

LONDON, Nov. 16. — Finding the pressure exerted by the allies more than the Germans could withstand, the Kaiser's troops blew up yesterday all the culverts on the Leopold and Schipdonck canals in Belgium, flooding a large area and temporarily halting the advance of the Franco-British soldiers. The allies have assumed the offensive in that section with fresh attacks.

Latest advices from the French capital add that the attacks made by the Germans were repulsed at every point of conflict from the North Sea to the Vosges Mountains.

The Franco-British armies, as a result of their offensive throughout France and Belgium gained ground yesterday at several points of strategic impotrance especially in the region of Arras where the enemy had to give way on a wide front a wedge being driven by the allies between two detachments of the Kaiser's army. One German section was completely cut off and isolated and several other sections were forced to retreat. The allies have captured positions on a plateau where they have mounted heavy guns and control the roads leading north.

Strong counter attacks by the Germans were repulsed all along the line notably in the Verdun region where the Teutonic troops fought desperately to cut a path through the French field army defending the approaches to the Verdun fortification. Furious efforts proving unsuccessful the Germans were ultimately compelled to retreat to their trenches.

In a violent attempt to recapture ground lost by the Germans in the severe fighting of the last three weeks along the line of the River Aisne the Germans made temporary gains only to be driven back by withering artillery fire.

Couriers from the battlefields near Verdun reported that another large German army is being concentrated north of that place probably for an attack on the Verdun fortifications.

A large French field army is guarding the fortress, and it is said all onslaughts of the Germans in that region have been defeated.

The fact that the Germans have attempted advances at widely-separated points indicates, in the opinion of military observers, that the German general staff is seeking to discover a weak point in the Franco-British lines, with the chief object of preparing a new concentrated aggressive campaign against the allies in France. The revival of general activity on the French battlefield included a resumption of the fighting at Dasigny. For the last six weeks the Kaiser's men have attempted to break through the French defence at that place, and each attempt has failed.

The opinion prevails here that the German campaign in western Belgium has passed its high-water mark, and that both the allies and the Germans will seek other ground on which to bring the long-drawn-out battle to a decisive issue. The slackening of the German attacks has given the allies a welcome rest. The trenches are filled with water or mud, the weather is cold and damp, and fogs conceal the enemy's movements. The forces which have successfully borne the brunt of the German works have been reinforced, particularly near Dixmude. It is believed the Germans will not be able to longer withstand the assaults of the French and British troops, and that the Germans will be driven from the town.

According to despatches from Amsterdam, German troop movements in the last day or two in Belgium were unusually active, but it is not known whether they were reinforcements to strengthen the battle line or reserves being brought up to replace the exhausted men on the firing line. Landwehr regiments have been moved from Ostend to Blankenberghe. New troops have entered Bruges, and German soldiers are constantly moving toward and from Roulers. Landsturm soldiers in the German forces in Belgium are reported as being disgusted with the failure of the Germans to advance to the coast. It is said many have been imprisoned through their unwillingness to go the front, and that some of them have attempted to desert at Dixmude after having seized civilian passports.

Meanwhile one discerns no weakening in the line of the allies. Reinforcements are coming forward regularly and marching to battle with amazing cheerfulness. Now and again the French, the British or the Belgians are accepting the insistent challenge of the Kaiser's hordes and striking out desperately against them. When they do attack the German aggressors, the latter seem almost invariably to yield.

He Died Before Getting Honors

PARIS, Nov. 16.—"During the recent fighting the German troops after a fierce charge retreated, carrying all their wounded, except one man. A British officer who went out to bring in the wounded soldier was himself wounded, but managed to drag the German to shelter, where later both were picked up by a German ambulance. As a reward for his bravery and humanity, the officer was decorated with the iron cross by the German commanding officer. The Briton was sent back to his own trenches, where he was recommended for the Victoria Cross, but he soon died of his wounds.

The village of Marmora, near Belleville, sent sixteen men to the second contingent, representing the 49th Hastings Rifles.

GREAT WARRIOR PASSES IN DEATH OF LORD ROBERTS

Famous Soldier Succumbs to Pneumonia in France.

After Visit to the Front to See His Beloved East Indian Troops Hero of Kandahar Contracts a Chill and is Taken to Headquarters For Treatment.

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

LONDON, Nov. 16. — Westminster Abbey has been offered for the burial place of Earl Roberts, subject to the usual condition on cremation. Lady Roberts, it is announced, is unable to accept the offer. It is understood Earl Roberts wished to be buried at All Saints' Church at Ascot, near his home. Definite announcement regarding the burial place is expected shortly.

Earl Roberts is the eighth distinguished officer of the British army and navy to die since the beginning of the war. The list includes Generals Grierson, Franklyn, Kekewich, and Carrington.

GERMAN APPRECIATION OF EARL ROBERTS.

BERLIN, Nov. 16. — The Lokal Anzeiger, in an editorial on the death of Earl Roberts, says: "On the occasion of the death of Earl Roberts, the whole German press expresses itself alike, appreciatively, about a fallen enemy. Even in war, moments occur when the fighter salutes the enemy with the sabre instead of striking him with it. Such a moment has arisen with the departure of Earl Roberts."

LONDON, Nov. 16.—Field Marshal Earl Roberts died Saturday night in France from pneumonia. A telegram from Field Marshal Sir John French, commander of the British expeditionary forces on the continent, apprised Earl Kitchener, Secretary of State for War, of the death of Britain's great soldier. The telegram reads:

"I deeply regret to tell you that Lord Roberts died at eight o'clock Saturday evening."

Field Marshal Roberts, who was colonel-in-chief of the Indian troops, had gone to France to give them his greeting. Soon after his arrival he become seriously ill. He suffered from a severe chill on Thursday, and pneumonia rapidly developed. His great age, 82 years, militated against his recover, the crisis in the disease coming quickly. He was recently given an honorary command in connection with the stay in England of the contingents from the overseas Dominions.

The death of Lord Roberts, which occurred Saturday at the headquarters of the British expeditionary force in France, was extremely sudden. He was in his usual good health when he left England on Wednesday with his daughter, Lady Aileen Roberts, and his son-in-law, Major Lewin. The party had a rough trip crossing the Channel, but the aged general felt no ill-effects, and went through with his program on the continent. In fact, he was about to return home when his death occurred.

Earl Roberts had motored to the British bases and camps, had reviewed the Indian troops, and had conferred with the leading officers. It was not until about dinner time Friday evening that be complained of a chill. His condition grew steadily worse and death came Saturday evening while he slept.

The passage of the great warrior has created profound grief throughout the country. At all churches and in the camps where the soldiers are training, touching references were made yesterday to his death and the "Dead March in Saul" was played.

Lord Roberts' devotion to the interests of the army, his hard work in this connection, and his seeming good health had been the subject of comment since the beginning of the war. He was the most popular military figure in Great Britain.

Field Marshal Earl Frederick Sleigh Roberts of Kandahar, Pretoria and Waterford, was born at Cawnpore, India, on Sept. 30, 1832. He was a son of Gen. Sir Abraham Roberts, G.C.B., and Isabella, daughter of Major Abraham Bunbury, of the 62nd Foot. He was educated at Eton and Sandhurst, and entered the Bengal Artillery in 1851. He became a lieutenant just before the Mutiny. He served throughout the siege of Delhi, where he was wounded, and won the Victoria Cross at Hodagunge in 1858. During the campaign he was mentioned seven times in despatches. Ten years later he was made Quartermaster-General of the Abyssinian Expedition and the became Q. M. G. in Bengal, where he attained his full colonelcy. Lord Roberts commanded the column in the Afghan war, and it was be who captured the enemy's positions at Pelwar and who occupied Cabul. He then led the dash on Kandahar, for which exploit he was made a Baron. He rose steadily in rank until he was made commander-in-chief of India, during which time be commanded the Burmese expedition and took Mandalay. For four years be was commander-in-chief in Ireland, and then took command of the British forces in the Boer War. In 1901 he became commander-in-chief of the British army, retiring in 1904.

Canada Expresses Sorrow.

OTTAWA, Nov. 16.—The Duke of Connaught cabled the following message to Premier Asquith: "In my own name, and that of the Canadian Government, I desire to express our deepest sympathy with the British nation and army at the loss they have sustained by the death of the distinguished field marshal, Lord Roberts, whom we are proud to remember as the colonel of the Royal Canadian Artillery."

Messages ware also sent by Sir Robert Borden and Acting Premier Sir George Foster.

LORD ROBERTS HAD RELATIVES LIVING HERE

Opinion seems to vary among local military officers and others as to whether Lord Roberts ever visited Peterboro. Some claim that he passed through the city en route to Toronto to officiate at the opening of the Toronto Industrial Exhibition in either 1911 or 1912. Others affirm that it was in 1908, at the time of the Quebec Tercentenary celebration. Confirmation of this or definite information could not be obtained.

Major Walker stated that not to his recollection was the noted leader ever in this city, or that any reception was ever tendered him. It was just possible that he passed through the city, that was all.

Among many who lay claim to the honor of being connected with the grand old warrior is Mr. Percy Price, son of the late Samuel Price, whose widow resides two or three miles out on the Norwood road. The late Mr. Sam Price was a cousin of "Bobs," and his son Percy is a second cousin. Percy served as a private under Lord Roberts in the South African War. Alfred Price, another son of the late Sam Price, now living at Enderby, B. C., was a member of the Canadian troops who took part in the late Queen Victoria's jubilee in the Old Country. When reviewing the troops Lord Roberts called Private Alfred Price from the ranks and spoke a few kind words to him, enquiring after his folks.

The late chieftain seems to have been very widely connected. Two cousins named Charles and John Roberts lived here all of twenty years ago, afterwards removing to Winnipeg. The former has since died, but John is still in the West. Another cousin, Franklin Roberts, appeared on the stage in Toronto twenty years ago in a performance called "Robin Hood." Dr. Pyne, Minister of Education in Toronto, is a grand nephew of the departed Lord Roberts.

POST OFFICE PASSES.

The post office at Springville has got to go the way of all flesh. The farmers nowadays prize rural mail delivery more than the old post office and this is being demonstrated time and time again, after the farmer has fairly tested the new system of mail delivery.

CHEERFUL INDUSTRIAL OUTLOOK IN CANADA

(Christian Science Monitor.

Connected with the government of Ontario in Canada is a workmen's compensation commission the duties of which extend practically over the entire domain of industrial activity in the province. For one thing, this commission inquiries into the anticipated expenditures of manufactureers for labor for each calendar year. It uses a form to be filled by employers, one of the most important items in which is that relating to wage rolls, or payrolls, as they are called in the United States. Returns of these forms are now being made for 1915, and an analysis of them seems to establish the needlessness of an alarm in the province, or in the Dominion, with regard to the future of trade and labor.

A very large proportion of the forms have been returned, it appears, and of these very few fix the wage estimates below those for the present year. In many instances the estimates show that employers are looking forward to an increased business. In the building and allied trades such reductions as are reported are the most numerous and pronounced. This might to taken to mean that there will probably be less expansion than in any recent year, but it is evident that there will be little contraction in any line.

It seems to us that there is logic in the view that the natural tendency of the employer in giving an estimate of this character is to place it lower, rather than higher, than he expects his wage roll to be. But looking at the matter in a broader way, there is apparently no reason why next year in Canada should not be a prosperous one. Nothing that has occurred in any part of the world recently has affected in the least the fertility of the soil. The prairie provinces will produce, in ordinary circumstances, greater crops next year than ever before, since the acreage is certain to be largely increased, while if the war continue, prices will be high. In short, it is difficult to see how Canada can escape profiting materially by the deplorable conditions in Europe. Apparently it will have plenty of money to spend in 1915, and since it must spend the greater part of it at home its home industries should realize prosperity.

The Best Place.

The illustrated Bible had a strong fascination for small Geraldine. With the book open on her lap, she looked up and said:

"Mother, do folks marry in heaven?"

"The good book says they do not, Geraldine."

"Well, do they marry in—in—the other place?"

"I suppose not, my dear."

Geraldine shut the Bible.

"Then I'm going to stay right here," she said.—New York Times.

STUDYING MUSIC IN GERMANY

Thrilling Experiences of a Canadian Girl

Miss Florence Eggleston is the only resident of London, Ont., who was in Berlin, Germany, at the outbreak of the war. She has returned to London after many thrilling experiences and says that it would need a volume to tell them all.

Miss Eggleston is a talented violinist and sailed from Montreal June 27 to study music with a European master. After her arrival in London, Eng., she decided to study with Theodore Spiering, a world-renowned violinist. He, with his family, was at Sanct Peter, a summer resort on the North Sea near the border of Denmark. From London to Sanct Peter Miss Eggleston traveled alone, not knowing one word of German, nor whither she was going.

About July 26 rumors of war began to reach them, and steadily increased till they became confirmed by an admiral and officers of the German navy, who were summering at Sanct Peter, being ordered to their posts of duty. The following morning Miss Eggleston left Sanct Peter with the Spierings for Berlin, where they found the greatest excitement prevailing.

Had she not lost her baggage on the way to Berlin, she might have been able to cross to England before war was declared; but she stayed in Berlin hoping that war would not be declared and that she could continue her studies.

While in the capital she heard the Kaiser's address to the people, witnessed the marks of their devotion to him, and patriotic demonstrations, also many scenes of sorrow as the troops left for the front, as well as acts of violence to Russians. Conveyances became so limited that it cost her $2 to get to a place six blocks away.

When England declared war she was forced to change her boarding house, the woman with whom she had been staying having changed her attitude towards her. So great was the bitterness toward England that it was necessary for her to remain in the house for three days. She then received an American passport which gave her protection, but would not allow her, as a British subject, to leave the country, nor was she able, either by cable or letter, to communicate with her home.

As she was able to continue her studies with her teacher, she practiced for hours each day to keep her mind from the thought of her danger. When on the street she was afraid to speak English. The reports which she heard of the war represented Germany as winning and the allies as losing.

After she had been a state prisoner for seven weeks her teacher got her release by taking his oath that he would be responsible for her actions till she reached home, and that she should not go near England.

With the Spierings she left Berlin on a train arranged for Americans and upon reaching Rotterdam sailed for home, arriving late in September, after a perilous trip through the English channel and a rough voyage across the Atlantic.

Not Always Dangerous.

Except in the far back regions of Canada, where wolves have yet to learn what man is, there is very little likelihood of a traveler being followed by a pack intent on mischief. A single wolf will invariably follow man, however, simply out of curiosity, though the man seldom knows he is being tracked. So keen is the scent of these animals that they will follow a trail a considerable distance from them, running to the windward side of it and never venturing forth from cover.

Should the man be carrying a rifle, however, the gleam of the barrel in the moonlight is quite sufficient to satisfy their curiosity. Sometimes wolves will run the trail of a man simply because they do not recognize it. It is then that cool nerves and a steady hand are necessary. Providing the man behaves in a proper way, there is no danger whatever. The best thing to do if the cold is intense, is to keep moving till the wolves are quite near, then to turn and await them in an open place. The sight of a man standing alert with rifle ready is sufficient to frighten any pack, while, should one behave in a panic-stricken manner, there is just the chance that their hunger may prove the deciding factor.

Wolves Destroy Young Deer.

From different sections of the district around Kenora come reports of the presence of wolves in great numbers, and of the destruction they are making of the young deer. Recently while Mr. G. Alcock was going to his farm near Sturgeon Lake he encountered two wolves, which came towards him in their usual threatening attitude. Mr. Alcock had taken a rifle with him, and, taking aim, succeeded in wounding them. He states that wolves have killed off all the rabbits and have destroyed many deer.

At a meeting of the Board of Trade in Kenora recently a resolution was again passed, requesting the Government to place a bounty on brush wolves, in order that their destruction may be encouraged.

Students Feel the Pinch.

The halcyon days when dollars were as thick as autumn leaves have gone from Canadian universities.

"Well, no fussing this year. Me for the bleachers." This is the student refrain. It is reported that very few season tickets for the Rugby games have been sold in Toronto. Gymnasium lockers which last year were completely taken up are as yet only about half sold, and student societies are struggling for their very existence.

ESCAPING GAS PLACED FAMILY IN DANGER

Tenants Above Micks' Hardware Store Had Unpleasant Experience

Fumes of gas from a broken pipe leading into A. E. Micks' hardware store, came within an ace of asphyxiating the inmates of rooms above it late Friday night. The second floor is occupied by Mr. and Mrs. W. Armoury and babe, who had a narrow squeak from death, in fact Mrs. Amoury was overcome and required medical aid.

At 6 o'clock Friday evening Mr. Micks detected the odor of gas in the front of his premises. Not thinking it serious he went home after waiting around a while. Late that night he was summoned from his bed by telephone to come down to his store. Mr. Micks moved quickly in the next few minutes and on arriving at his store found several people collected there and an extremely strong smell of gas. Mrs. Amoury was being led downstairs almost overcome, having been aroused in the nick of time by passers-by. She was lying on the floor, semi-conscious, when discovered. Her husband was not so much affected and with assistance managed to descend helping his wife to escape from the sickening fumes. Mr. Micks rushed up and carried down the child. Dr. and Mrs. W. D. Scott who chanced along assisted in helping the family to a neighbor's house, where they soon regained normal condition. Had the family been asleep, those present say sure death would have ensued.

The gas from the broken pipe flooded the whole neighborhood and invaded the premises owned by Mr. Micks making a stay there impossible. Repair men were called out next morning and excavated a portion of street and located the source of trouble. It was found to be a fracture of the sleeve of the pipe leading off from the main. The fumes created a most unpleasant atmosphere all day Saturday.

OBITUARY

JOEL E. RICHARDSON.

The death took place in Nicholls Hospital yesterday of Joel E. Richardson, an old resident of Cavan, in which place he was born 71 years ago.

His death is mourned by one sister, Mrs. Griffin, Bethany, and two brothers, Ralph and Alonso of Wisconsin.

The funeral will take place from Comstock's Undertaking Parlors, tomorrow afternoon at 1 o'clock to Gardiner's Cemetery.

HENRY HEAD.

The death of Henry Head removes an old and highly respected resident of this city. He was born in England and has resided in this city for a long time. He was 77 years of age.

The late Mr. Head passed away Sunday morning.

The funeral will take place from the family residence, 111 Stewart St., on Wednesday afternoon at 2.30 to Little Lake Cemetery.

Rev. R. B. Grobb will conduct a service at the home at 2 p.m.

DEER FRIGHTENED BY WOOD CUTTERS

Eagle Lake Hunt Club Bagged Three

The Eagle Lake Hunt Club have returned to the city after spending the last two weeks in the north country. The deer was very scarce this year, the party only securing three. This is accounted for no doubt by the number of men who are cutting wood in the vicinity of their hunting grounds. The party consisted of J. C. Gunsolus, C. Westlake, J. Gibbs, A. Fuller, W. Evans, W. White, A. Johnston, and G. Sawers.

KAISER'S PRESS AGENT

Manufacturer of "Official News" in Berlin is Dr. Hamann

Who is the author of the astounding reports which come by wireless from Germany to Sayville, Long Island, for American consumption. The French Ambassador at Washington insists that they come by "telepathy."

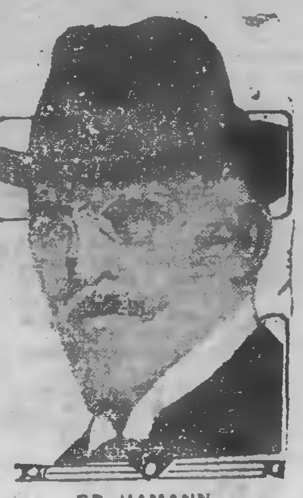
It is Dr. Hamann, "the notorious head of the Press Bureau of the German Foreign Office," as he was termed by Sir Edward Goshen, Britain's Ambassador to Berlin, who sends out the daily wireless from the Fatherland, telling of imaginary German victories and French, Belgian and British atrocities.

The Press Bureau of the Wilhelmstrasse, over which Dr. Hamann presides, has certain very definite objects and duties in addition to other functions more or less obscure. To the German official mind journalists fall into three categories. There are those journalists who have been bought outright; those who are anxious to keep on the right side of the Government, and, finally, those, mainly the Berlin correspondents of the great foreign newspapers, whose goodwill it is important to secure by flattering attentions.

The manipulation of these three classes of newspaper people involves a great deal of work, and gives the chief manipulator, as is easily understood, immense opportunities for intrigue. That is why Dr. Hamann is at the same time the most hated and the most feared man in official Germany to-day. He and his assistants, two or three in number, have to read and mark, first, the whole of the German newspapers for the Imperial Chancellor, as also to perform the extremely delicate task of preparing and "arranging" such newspaper cuttings as may be found suitable for the Emperor's perusal. The daily batch of cuttings sent up to the Kaiser by the Press Bureau during the past few months would make extraordinarily interesting reading!

Dr. Hamann and his henchmen have to write in the Press Bureau the articles they are entitled to insert in those German and foreign newspapers receiving German subsidies. Very often these articles take the form of "telegrams" dated from one or other of the foreign capitals intended to produce some carefully calculated effect.

The modus operandi of the Press Bureau, with regard to its personal relations with journalists, is as follows: Every morning Dr. Hamann has an interview with the Imperial Chancellor and settles with him the tone of the reply to be given to journalistic inquiries on the different topics of current policy. The "line" is then passed on to Dr. Hamann's henchmen, to assist him in receiving the Press, so that a set reply is forthcoming, generally in identical words to each inquirer.



DR. HAMANN

This, then, is the intricate machinery over which Dr. Hamann presides. But his immense power does not lie in these outward duties, but in the tortuous intrigues which he spins behind the scenes. At his beck and call he has innumerable servile ink slingers, who daily cool their heels for hours in the ante-rooms of the Wilhelmstrasse, anxious to curry favor with their editors to obtain some increase of the miserable pittance paid to journalists in the Fatherland or scheming to obtain yet another decoration to tinkle musically on their manly bosoms. These tools he can use for inspiring mean little attacks on foreign diplomatists in Berlin or statesmen abroad who have crossed Germany's path.

Tall, pale, short-sighted and silent, unknown even to millions of his countrymen, Geheimrat Hamann, though actually only a subaltern official of the Wilhelmstrasse, did much, it is believed, to bring about the present war.

CANADIAN IN INDIA

Immensity of Work of Y.M.C.A. Shown by Ottawa Man's Letter

The immensity of the world-wide work being carried on by the Young Men's Christian Associations in all lands and the wonderful strides that have been made during the last few years by the foreign work division of the international committee are doubtless not generally known to the public.

At present the Young Men's Christian Association is established in over forty countries, and flourishing on every continent in the world. The total number of associations is 8,906 and these embrace a world membership of 1,066,765. The number of paid officers directing this vast organization is 5,008. The buildings owned and occupied by the associations total 1,808, while the approximate value of these, with grounds, reaches the enormous sum of $90,285,728.

Mr. George P. Bryce, who is the representative of the Ottawa branch in India and is supported by the Y.M.C.A. of that city, wrote an interesting letter to the officials of the association in the capital, giving a glimpse of the work and his life in that country.

The following is part of the letter describing Matheran, Bombay Presidency, India:

"This is a hill station, of the sort beloved of the European in India. It is really the summer resort of Bombay, which is four hours away, and 2,500 feet down hill. Matheran is a bit like Muskoka, with its rocks and trees and ozone, except for the water. All we get of that comes in large and picturesque water skins brought by patient bullocks; but from a rock crag we get a view of the Indian ocean shimmering away to the horizon."

In further describing Bombay, Mr. Bryce wrote: "Bombay gives a good introduction to the Orient. It is highly Europeanized for India; but in the panorama spread out before us we had a chance to see India as she is—European, Eurasian and native. Hindu and Mohammedan, Jainist and Parsee, the babu and the coolie, the Brahman and the Sudra.

"There are drivers of huge bullock carts, incessantly calling 'Hai! Hai!' at unwary foot passengers. There are men, women and children carrying all manner of burdens on their heads. There are prosperous Parsee merchants with patent leather hats and Prince Albert coats; loungers or beggars sitting in the sun, with the paint spot on the forehead to show recent attendance at the temple; wearers of turbans of brightest hue, with costumes of drapery most simply and ingeniously arranged; toothless age and careless childhood—a stream of life that captivates the eye, but brings home to the heart some sense of the seething, suffering multitudes of this India."

OFFICIAL BULLETINS

PARIS, Nov. 16.—The French War Office issued the following report last night:—

"The most notable incident of the day has been the throwing back of the enemy on the right bank of the Yser Canal. That part of the left bank which the Germans previously held has been completely evacuated.

"We have retaken to the south of Bixschoote a small wood, which had been lost following a night attack.

"At the end of the day the enemy had shown, without success, an offensive to the south of Ypres.

"On the rest of the front there is nothing to report."

The afternoon report was as follows:—

"Yesterday, relatively a quite day on the whole front, was characterized principally by artillery combats. The Germans, however, again attempted several attacks to the north, east and south of Ypres. They were all repulsed with considerable losses.

"To sum up: All the efforts made by the Germans during the last several days have resulted only in the capture of the ruined village of Dixmude, whose isolated position on the right bank of the canal rendered its defence difficult.

"Between the Lys and Loise the pushing forward of approach works has continued along the greater part of the front.

"Upon all the remainder of the front to Lorraine and in the Vosges there was detached artillery firing and minor actions without importance."

Revolt Fomented By Germany.

COPENHAGEN, Nov. 16.—A secret agreement with Generals De Wet and Beyers was secured by the German Government prior to the war that the insurrection in Cape Colony and the Transvaal would take place, according to advices from Berlin. It is hoped in Germany that the revolt in South Africa will compel the British to divert territorial troops from India or Australia to South Africa and keep them from the conflict in Europe.

When Writing Was Undignified.

The years have brought a change in the estimation of authors and authoresses. A century ago to be "literary" in public spelled social disaster. When Lady Scott, for instance, published her novel "Trevelyan" in 1833 it was remarked that "of course nobody from London would call on her now." This was a view typical of the period. Now even butlers write poems.—London Express.

WINNIPEG GRAIN MARKET.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 14.—Liverpool cables were firmer than anticipated, considering the weaker markets on this side on Friday, which was responsible for the steady opening. For some time following there was quite a lot of selling, causing a decline of ⅜c to ⅝c under Friday's close, but nearing the close shorts covered and prices advanced to previous high points. Oats showed extremely weak, declining to the extent of 1¼c to 1⅜c, recovering in sympathy with wheat. Flax opened ½c to 2c higher, and previous to noon had advanced 3c to 3¼c higher. Trading was active the greater part of the session. Winnipeg futures closed ⅛c lower to ⅝c higher. Oats closed unchanged to ⅛c lower. Flax was strong, closing 1½c to 1¾c higher.

The demand for cash wheat was again excellent for all grades, and a fair volume changed hands. Millers and exporters were buying extensively in this department. Cash oats and barley were quiet, while there was a good enquiry for cash flax.

Inspections Friday were 504 cars, as against 1272 last year, and in sight were 400 cars.

Deliveries thru the clearing house were: Oats, 3000 bushels; flax, 12,000 bushels, and barley, 4000 bushels.

MONTREAL GRAIN MARKET.

MONTREAL, Nov. 15.—There was no improvement in the demand for Manitoba spring wheat from foreign buyers today, and what few bids were received were unchanged to 3d lower. The tone of the local market for coarse grains is steady. The demand for oats in carlots was better today and a moderate amount of business was done. The demand is principally for Ontario and Quebec grades, owing to prices for such being much lower than Canadian western grades. The tone of the market for flour is firm, but business on the whole is rather quiet. Demand for millfeed is good, and the market is active, with a very firm undertone.

There is an easy feeling in the butter market. Cheese is firm under a continued good demand and small offerings. Export demand for eggs continues good, and the market is active.

Stocks: Wheat, 4,361,158; corn, 11,657; oats, 1,123,915; flax, 140,342; flour, 110,510 sacks.

MINNEAPOLIS GRAIN MARKET.

Corn—No. 3 yellow, 53c to 64c.

Oats—No. 3 white, 45⅝c to 46c.

Flour and bran unchanged.

Australia Modifies Ban.

OTTAWA, Nov. 16.—Notification has been received by the Government that, although the exportation of wheat, flour, meats and sugar from Australia is prohibited, unless with the consent of the Minister of Trade and Customs, there will be no difficulty in obtaining permission to export Australian and other frozen meats to Canada, provided the Minister is satisfied that the shipments will be used for home consumption in Canada.

While the basic industry of Canada is agriculture, yet the Dominion is a large importer of some products of the farm, such as butter, eggs, mutton, wool and hides.

Mysterious German Under Probe.

LONDON, Nov. 16.—A mysterious individual known as Horst Von Dergoltz and Bridgman Taylor, described as a major in the Mexican army and suspected of being a German spy, was remanded in the police court on the charge of failing to register as an alien enemy. The prosecution said that although the prisoner was charged with this minor offence he was under the very grave suspicion of the Foreign Office, the Admiralty and the police, and that he might have to answer more serious charges when the inquiry into his career had been completed.

Van Horne

◆◆◆◆◆◆

BY A FELLOW ARTIST

◆◆◆◆◆◆

It is hard to describe Sir William Van Horne in fairly moderate language. One finds superlatives cropping up all the time, for there is nothing average about this modern Leonardo da Vinci, this man of many parts, this universal genius.

My first impression of him was that of a man full of strength and kindness, with a tremendous tolerance and understanding of human nature. Then one after another of his different sides appeared as conversation took a wider field, and when I left him I was marvelling at his personality.

Not that Sir William was what one would call a handsome man, though it was hard to judge what he may have been in his youth. But his extraordinary sympathy and understanding of all things beautiful from the effect of all natural scenes to the most exquisite of man-made objects gave one the impression that here was a man who knew.

The highly trained scholar and overcrammed college youth is not really an interesting person, his knowledge does not seem to make any others better, but the wide knowledge of a man of Sir William's experience given out through his magnetic personality must have had a tremendous effect on all with whom he came in contact.

I went first to see him in order to get his permission to make a sketch of him in black and white. I will admit I had just a little bit of fear for I was told Sir William was an "Empire Builder," and the man more or less responsible for the great Canadian Pacific Railway. I felt for a moment that I was going to meet the man who laid the rails from the Pacific to the Atlantic—who operated the trans-Pacific ships from Vancouver to the Orient, and the trans-Atlantic from the Maritime coast to the British Isles. It was a great joy when he came slowly into the big drawing-room with a genial smile and an apology on his lips for keeping me waiting—then I knew my request would be granted. His first words were, "Now what can I do for you?" And on my stating my request, he immediately replied in the affirmative with none of the "shilly-shallying" of lesser men who might wish to pretend that they are much too important to give up any time to such an unimportant person as an ambitious artist. He at once fixed a day and hour and it was with great delight that I started on the sketch in his own studio, a wonderful room full of curios and "objets d'arts" from all countries and of all ages. The inevitable cigar was in his mouth most of the time, but every now and again he would take it out and say, "You will tell me when I am to stop smoking, won't you? May I have another puff?" Being an artist he could understand how one felt and his chief idea was to make it easy as possible for a fellow artist.

Without touching on personal experiences I may say that I have met some of the greatest men of the age, politicians, artists, explorers, musicians and writers, but among them all he stood out in strong relief. He was so essentially human and never was there the slightest hint of trying to show off his power and knowledge, a failing one sees often amongst the world's favourites. His love for his little grandson was one very noticeable trait in his character, and amongst his own paintings one of a group of "Teddy Bears" on a good sized canvas painted—so says the inscription at the wish of "Little William."

His work, his different interest and talents are widely known and perhaps he is best described as "cosmic" for he seems to be made of all this earth's elements and spiritually in touch with all that makes for progress.

Patriotic Appeal to Farmers.

Acting on the suggestion from one of the members of the Saskatchewan Grain Growers' Association, the central organization is making an unique patriotic appeal to the farmers of the province. The appeal is that each grain grower will set apart one acre of land and sow with wheat next spring, the proceeds from which will be given to the patriotic fund. The central organization has adopted this plan, as it appeals to them as a fair one in which all the farmers, whether they had a poor crop this year or not, may take part.

As the association has 850 locals, it is anticipated that the acreage under cultivation for patriotic purposes will be 50,000 acres and the crop, at an average of 12 bushels per acre, as this year, would mean 600,000 bushels of grain or almost an equal number of dollars, truly a princely offering from the farmers of Saskatchewan.

His Company.

THE SPORTING WORLD

GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY FOR P.C.I. ENTHUSIASTS

Bright Prospects for Intercollegiate Hockey League in This Section of Ontario

In the various branches of athletics, particularly rubgy and hockey, the Peterboro Collegiate Institute always takes an active interest. The rugby and hockey teams which wear the garnet and grey are always of good ability and invariably make a good showing. Games are arranged with the Lindsay Collegiate Institute, Lakefield High School and Trinity College, Port Hope, and although only exhibition conflicts they occasion considerable interest and enthusiasm.

Considering these facts and the possibility of O.H.A. hockey being rather dormant this winter, there are excellent possibilities of forming an Intercollegiate Hockey League which would embrace the P.C.I., Lakefield High School, L.C.I., T.C.S., Norwood and Havelock High Schools, and perhaps other high schools or collegiate institutes in this vicinity. The support of such teams would not rest entirely upon the students of the schools but the fans of the towns represented would fall in line. Lindsay has no O.H.A. opposition, Port Hope's opposition amounts to practically nothing, Norwood, Havelock, and Lakefield would be keen for competition and P.C.I. teams are always well supported in this city. It might take considerable energy and real hard work to get the league started but such bright prospects should urge the officials of the various institutions mentioned to make a little sacrifice.

We understand that there are teachers of the P.C.I. staff at present who, being old time athletes, take an active part in any athletic ventures of the students. If this be true, here is a chance for them to accomplish something of note.

WILL IT BE MERCANTILE OR CITY LEAGUE THIS WINTER?

Prospects Look Good for the Latter — Should Accrue From Mercantile League Meeting

According to the constitution of the Mercantile Hockey League the annual meeting is to be held prior to December 1st. The rules and regulations of the organization further states that the meeting is to be called by the president. As yet we have heard of no move being made and join with many fans in saying it's about time to start something. President W. Nelson should call for a meeting the latter part of this week or the fore part of next week and get the preliminary details well under way before the rink is flooded.

We'll "let by-gones be gy-gones," and not mention anything about the success or failure of the Mercantile League last season but a little murmuring on the prospects for the coming winter wouldn't go amiss. It is generally believed by members of the hockey community that a City League would be a better proposition to present to the fans this season in preference to a mercantile league. The factories of the city have thinned out most of the young men and it's the young element that keeps hockey going. Several teams represented in the league last year couldn't secure a mascot from their factories at present and such being the case, a mercantile league would be mercantile in name only.

A City League, say embracing four or six teams would afford the pleasure of playing the game to every hockey player in the city and would present a good calibre of hockey to the fans. It would be a simple matter to induce six teams to enter a stage three games a night, once a week, as the Mercantile League did last season.

The Bankers should be able to produce a team, the nucleus of last year's Tool Room team is still in the city, the P.C.I. has material for a good septette, the puck-chasers who perform on the canal should be able to enter a team and there must be enough hockey artists around the city to fill fourteen other sweaters. If there isn't, Lakefield can nearly be depended upon to support a team.

It might require a little effort to get the organization work completed but the sooner that work is commenced the better. The first step is for President Nelson of the Mercantile League to call a meeting and the next thing is for the various hockey teams or prospective teams to get busy and boost it along. After all it will be the boosting that will count.

THE SOCIETY EDITOR says her friends in the millinery circles are wondering if Peterboro will wear black and white this winter "to be in style." Nay, nay, Kathlyn it'll be blue and white again. The Printers' hockey team, however, will consider the suggestion.

TOD SLOAN AT FRONT.

Probably no man in the world has led such a varied and exciting life, has been the centre or near the centre of more stirring events than has James Todhunter Sloan, who a few years ago we knew as Tod, premier jockey of the world. Today Sloan is driving an ambulance in the French Red Cross service and recently was mentioned in the despatches from Belgium for great courage in taking his ambulance onto the battlefield and bringing away wounded under fire.

JUN. BUSINESS MEN DEFEATED BANKERS 21-7

Excelsiors Won in Fast Game With Pirates by 26 to 13

Two fast basketball games were played in the "Y." gymnasium Saturday night, when the Junior Business Men trimmed the Bankers' quintet with a score of 21-7, and the Excelsior Club of George Street Church put it over the Pirates by a score of 26-13. Speedy work featured both clashes, and it would be hard to give more credit to one than to another. At half-time in the first game the score stood 11-5 for the Business Men, who maintained and increased their lead without trouble. For the losers, Bartlett and Morrow were always in the limelight, while the Turner brothers and Cranfield played good fast ball and were mainly responsible for the Business Men's win. The teams lined up as follows:

Bankers—Jepson, Smith, Bartlett, Morrow and Weller.

Business Men—Metheral, Cranfield, Johnston, F. Turner and M. Turner.

In the second game, the Pirates went down at the hands of the Excelsiors, an exceedingly fast aggregation of George street church young men. The Excelsiors are a speedy lot, work a successful combination and appear to be able to locate the baskets any old time, as shown by the big score piled up.

The lineup in the second game was:

Pirates—W. Pew, A. Austin, W. English, T. Gilchrist, E. Brown.

Excelsiors—H. Long, H. Knapman, C. Stewart, B. Hamilton, A. Darling.

Ross Dobbin refereed both games very capably. Mr. George Robertson was timer.

On Wednesday night at 9 o'clock the Senior Business Men will stack up against the Excelsiors, and a fast game is predicted.

HAMILTON ROWING CLUB CHAMPIONS OF THE O.R.F.U.

St. Pats Did it by Defeating T.R. and A.A. — Big Four and Intercollegiate Are Tied up

When the Ottawa St. Pats won their first game of the season on Saturday from T.R. and A.A. by 10-2, they put Livingstone's team out of the running and automatically gave the Hamilton Rowing Club the championship of the Senior O.R.F.U. The Toronto aggregation were confident of winning over Kilt's team but the field was covered with ice and snow and the bad footing gave the breaks to the lowly Saints. In the second quarter Kilt charged De Gruchy as the latter was catching the ball and the "Minnie McGiffin of the gridiron" earned ten minutes. The players of both teams started rough-housing it and a few moments later a free-for-all occurred in which Manager "Livy" took part. He was handled a trifle "rudely" but escaped unhurt.

The following is the standing of the clubs:—

	Won.	Lost.
Hamilton R. C.	3	1
T.R. and A.A.	2	2
Ottawa St. Pats	1	3

Tied up Big Four.

As was expected Argos experienced very little trouble in taking Montreal into camp at Rosedale. The score was 33 to 3 and bespeaks the style of game. Bob Dibble, the oarsman, was given a tryout, and looked good.

The Tigers had about as easy a task as the Oarsmen when they met Ottawa in Jungle Town. While an Arctic breeze swooped down from the mountain Old Man Isbister and his assistants piled up a score of 22 and the men from the capital were contented with one point, caused by McKelvey being grassed for a rouge as the whistle for the end of the first quarter blew.

The standing of the teams in the Big Four is:

	Won.	Lost
Argonauts	5	1
Hamilton	5	1
Montreal	2	4
Ottawa	0	6

Game next Saturday: Argos and Tigers.

Easy for McGill.

Shaughnessy's McGill team had to win from Queen's to tie up the Intercollegiate and a la his baseball records, "Shag" came through. The team from Kingston offered very little resistance and after the hour of pleasure on ground frozen like rock and piles of snow the score stood McGill 31, Queens 7. The feature of the game was the playing of George Laing, the McGill half. The fracus had hardly begun when he tore off a brilliant 60 yard run and from then till the final whistle was always in the limelight. The standing of the teams is:—

	Won.	Lost.
Varsity	3	1
McGill	3	1
Queen's	0	4

Game next Saturday: Varsity and McGill.

COMMENT

As You Like it

YALE BULLDOG won over Princeton Tiger on Saturday by 19-14 on Princeton's field. It was the first victory for Yale over Princeton since 1910. The gridiron clashes between the two teams are unique. For 39 years they have met each year and of the 40 games played Yale has won 21, lost ten and there have been nine tie games, seven of which ended in 0-0 score. When Ainsmith went over for a touch in the first period on Saturday he scored the first touchdown made in Yale-Princeton battles since 1911. In 1912 the score was 6-6 all made by the field goal route while last year the score was 3-3.

AS YET NOTHING has been done along the line of getting the Junior City League started. Another two weeks should find all details for the season completed. The league was an eminent success last season and this winter will undoubtedly be but a repetition.

A SERIES of all-star games will be played this season by the N.H.A. in all cities of the circuit of the Association, the proceeds of these games will go to the Patriotic Fund. The O.H.A. and Interprovincial will be invited to participate.

THE PLAY OFF between McGill and Varsity for the Intercollegiate title will take place in Montreal or Toronto while the Tigers and Argos will battle for the Big Four honors either in Hamilton or in Toronto.

THE N.H.A. have decided to cease allowing a puck to be faced off within ten feet of the mouth of the nets. Their season opens December 26 with Canadiens at Torontos.

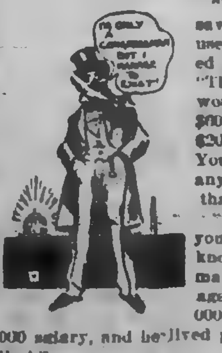
THE MEETING of the National Hockey Association held on Saturday in Montreal elected T. Emmet Quinn, president, and Frank Calder, secretary.

EXPERTS SAY that Dorizas, the big guard of the University of Pennsylvania rugby team is the most powerful player on the gridiron.

VARSITY DEFEATED Hamilton Rowing Club at Toronto on Saturday by 19-13.

McGILL AND TIGERS look like the best selections in next Saturday's crucial games.

A Modern Improvement.



"People don't save like they used to," observed the old man. "The first year I worked I made $900 and saved $200 out of it. You don't see any one doing that now."

"Oh, pshaw; you were slow. I know a congressman who managed to save $15,000 out of a $5,000 salary, and he lived pretty well at that."

Painful.

"You look distressed."

"I have corns on my soul where that conceited thing has rubbed against me."

Natural Inference.

"That fellow is a fool."

"Where is the chap who got his money?"

O.H.A. Annual Convention

The annual meeting of the Ontario Hockey Association will be held at the Temple Building, Toronto, on Saturday, December 5, at 9 a.m. Proposed amendments to the constitution, the regulations and rules of competition, and the rules of the game must be in the hands of the secretary by Saturday, November 21, and nominations for office by Saturday, November 28. The present officers are:

Past President, H. E. Wettlaufer, Berlin.

President, Charles Farquharson, of Stratford.

Life Member, J. Ross Robertson, Toronto.

A. A. U. of C. governor, Francis Nelson, Toronto.

First vice-president, Kenneth Casselman, London.

Second vice-president, Jas. T. Sutherland, Kingston.

Secretary, W. E. Hewitt, Toronto.

Treasurer, Dwight J. Turner, Toronto.

Executive Committee: Sheriff J. T. Paxton, Whitby; Frank Hyde, Woodstock; A. E. Copeland, Midland; Louis Blake Duff, Welland; R. M. Glover, Peterboro; C. L. Macnab, Orillia.

YALE BOWL

The Greatest Amphitheatre of Ancient or Modern Times

The greatest crowd ever assembled to witness a sporting even in North America — the 74,000 enthusiasts who are expected to see the Yale-Harvard football game next Saturday, November 21 — will be ushered into the greatest amphitheatre of ancient or modern times. This is the Yale Bowl, the great stadium that has ben built as the centre piece of the New Haven university's new athletic field. It is set down in the earth 27 feet, and the rim of it rises 29 feet above the normal grade. The field within the inner retaining wall is 500 feet long and 300 feet wide. From the top of this wall to the last row of seats the distance is 150 feet. The length of the structure over all is 900 feet and its width 750 feet. Under normal conditions there are seats for 66,000 persons. For the game with Harvard new top rows have been built, increasing the seating capacity by 8,000.

These figures may give some idea of the proportions of the thing, but the architect and the engineers are prouder still of the things they have done to make this playground notable for its conveniences. You get into the thing by way of 32 portals set in the outer retaining wall. They are at normal grade, and when you get through the tunnels leading to the seats you are half way up the sides of the bowl. Each of these tunnels will serve 2,800 spectators, and 90 feet is the maximum distance any one of them will have to walk after getting through the tunnel. The same principle is employed that theatre managers have found advantageous in emptying their places of amusement. All of the 66,000 persons could get out of the bowl in six or seven minutes if that were necessary.

The whole amphitheatre covers about 16 acres. It was built from a fund subscribed by Yale alumni and Yale men constructed it. There is nothing ornamental about the structure itself. It is essentially a concrete design and the concrete has been so treated that it will retain its pinkish grey color.

Eventually there will be a board walk around the rim of the bowl with railings and hedge. Shrubs will be planted in the embankment above the portals and ivy will be grown over the outer concrete walls. The scheme of which this amphitheatre is a part contemplates the construction of nine practice fields for football, 200 tennis courts, 12 baseball diamonds, a running track and a central clubhouse. The whole will be laid out after the fashion of a great park.

Humor and Philosophy

By DUNCAN M. SMITH

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

An egotistical person delights in seeing an exhibition of modesty. It brings out his own qualities so beautifully.

The only fault that some people find with credit is that it never seems to keep well for them.

It is now up to our intrepid explorers to find out who trade with the trade winds and why.

"WATCH ME DISCHARGE THAT COOK"

Courage is a great thing, but sometimes it takes heavy lifting to keep it up.

As a rule, the male shirk marries a woman who knows all about the big stick.

Perhaps it depends upon who utters them whether actions speak louder than words.

Not Qualified.

"They are disappointed in their son, and they had such great hopes for him."

"Doesn't he get on in school?"

"It isn't that. Like all parents, they expected him to be president, but they have given that up."

"Doesn't he take to politics?"

"Yes, somewhat, but he is six years old and hasn't shot a bear."

Wise.

"Why does she wear her hair in that peculiar way?"

"For the best of reasons."

"What is it?"

"She says it is the most becoming to her peculiar style of homeliness."

Just Curious.

"Doctor," said the blushing young lady to the young and bashful doctor, "how can you tell by feeling the pulse if one is well or sick?"

"We count the heartbeats and judge by that."

"But when you hold any woman's hand her pulse must beat so much faster that I should think it would fool you."

The doctor blushed furiously and fixed up a mixture for that patient that wasn't very hard to take.

Protected.

"She says she is not afraid of smallpox."

"I shouldn't think she would be."

"Why?"

"That face would make smallpox ashamed of itself."

Father Rocke, Superior-General of the Bazilian Order, of Toronto.

Why not help along a worthy cause? You can materially assist the Daughters of the Empire in their patriotic efforts by patronizing the cosy Oriental tea room any afternoon on these cool, blustery days. Four members of the organization will be present there every afternoon this week to serve tea, from 3 oclock till 6. On the last three days of the week they will also provide tea in the evenings. This afternoon the ladies who will serve are: Mrs. E. B. Clegg, Mrs. J. H. Eastwood, Mrs. G. S. Cameron and Mrs. R. Cottrell.

FIRST OF THIS SEASON'S TWILIGHT MUSICALES

Among musical entertainments supplied by local talent, none give more promise of being popular than the twilight musicales conducted in winter months under the auspices of the Woman's Art Association. The initial musicale was held on Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Conservatory of Music hall. Talent of the highest order contributed a program which pleased an audience that almost filled the spacious hall. Professor Rupert Gliddon has surrounded himself this year with musicians of the highest calibre particularly his orchestra, whose brilliant performances on Saturday set a splendid standard.

Among violin artists now appearing before local music lovers, the work of none surpass that of Misses Lord Logan and Edwina Palmer. Their selections more than delighted the audience, both individually and in duets. In the duet "Concertante" by Danda, by these two artists, their complete mastery of expression and technique proved a delightful surprise in view of the extreme intricacy of the composition. Miss Logan also excelled herself in the solo "Liebesfreud," by Kreisler, showing a splendid command and control of the delicate shades of meaning within the composition. Miss Jean Hill contributed a difficult pianoforte selection "Magic Fire Scene," a descriptive number by Wagner, in exceptionally clever style. Miss Hill while already in possession of a good control of the instrument promises to soar high in musical circles.

Mr. Ed. Daly was in good voice in his rendition of "Somewhere a Voice is Calling."

In "The Veteran's Song," Mr. Ed. Hanrahan demonstrated the possibilities wrapped in his resonant baritone. Mr. Hanranhan gives evidence of noticeable improvement and may truthfully be classed among the best baritone soloists in the city.

A pleasing selection was a trio by Misses Dean, Palmer and Mr. Dean, a charming love song by Nevin. Cello, violin, and piano blended beautifully and the number received warm applause.

It remained for the Conservatory orchestra to demonstrate some of the ability that has justly sent it to the front rank of musical organizations in the province. Professor Gliddon has his orchestra highly educated and able to interpret in accurate style any composition however difficult or intricate in their repertoire. Future musicales judging by Saturday's performance will draw even larger audiences of Peterborough musical lovers. Following is the program that scored so completely Saturday:

of the government, did not suit a few of the leaders, who were very sore over their disappointment, and determined upon marching from the Port, several miles through the streets of Calcutta so as to make a "demonstration." The police got wind of their intentions in good time and a large number of the leading police officers, including the chief police official of Calcutta, went down to the port accompanied by a large number of native police, and tried to induce these men to go to their homes. Some did, but in a moment, when everything seemed to be settled, the rest began to fire at the police, killing two officers and wounding a large number of others. There was the danger for a few days that this might upset things in Calcutta and elsewhere, but the loyalty of the Sikhs (these men were Sikhs) has been equal to the occasion, and this morning's papers say that the Sikhs in several places in India have held meetings and expressed their deep regret and severe condemnation of the action taken by their countrymen in Calcutta, so this incident may be considered as closed.

We are getting on as usual in the Tract Society; forging steadily forward, business reviving in spite of the war, which has put a damper on many industries and much trade in Bombay. We are publishing a steady stream of new books and tracts and succeed generally in securing advance orders for nearly everything we produce. I am a little tired; have not had a holiday since I arrived here two years ago, not even Sundays, but I am hoping at the end of the cold season next April that I may be allowed to go away for two or three months and have a change in the Himilayas. This reminds me that perhaps some misapprehensions may be held with regard to the powers of endurance of men of our Indian troops. I may tell you that only North India men are being sent. I know them well, and have tramped with these men for ten days in succession over deep snow in the Himalayas when I found the cold as hard to endure as in Canada, and was very glad of warm shelter at night. These men, however, refused to come inside and preferred to sleep on verandahs and under trees, although there was a hard frost. It is amazing to see how hardy they are and how capable of enduring exposure and hardship.

I shall be glad to hear how things are going with you at home.

With very best regards to all,
Yours very sincerely,
J. SMITH.

Enter Mr. Hatton.

G. W. Hatton, County Crown Attorney, made his first appearance in his official capacity at police court this morning.

P. C. Kidd Reports.

P. C. Kidd, late of Brampton, and formerly with the local police force, who has recently been re-appointed to the force, reported for duty this afternoon.

Merchants' Appeals.

If the Retail Merchants wish to pursue their appeals against the city's assessment, they will have to enter an appeal before Judge Huycke. E. H. D. Hall, solicitor for the association, informed The Review today that he has not as yet received orders from the members to take any further action.

To Discuss Relief.

The councillors of North Monaghan did not put in an appearance at the meeting called for Saturday evening, when the city relief committee and North Monaghan council were to meet. The reeve was present, however, and made arrangements for a meeting of the two bodies on Thursday evening of this week in May's School House.

St. Paul's Announcements.

The Young People's Guild meets tonight at eight o'clock. The midweek service on Wednesday evening will be a congregational meting, when a recommendation from the board of managers in reference to the purchase of a site for a new Sunday school hall will be considered. A full attendance of the members of the congregation is requested. The meeting will be opened at eight o'clock.

St. John's Church.

Mrs. A. W. Turner was elected president of the Church Woman's Association of St. John's Church at the annual meeting held last Friday afternoon. The treasurer's report for the year ending November 13 showed receipts of $307.76; disbursements, $258.39; balance on hand, $49.37. The officers for the year are: President, Mrs. A. W. Turner; Vice-Pres., Mrs. T. W. H. Young; Treasurer, Mrs. Percy Bond; Secretary, Mrs. C. L. Brewer.

GARDEN HOSE HELD FLAMES UNDER CONTROL

Serious Fire Prevented at New Dwelling on Water Street

A spark from a grate fire dropping down to the basement and igniting a pile of shavings directly below, nearly resulted in a serious fire yesterday in a brand new house at 747 Water street, occupied by Mr. George Ruth. The building has just been completed, and Mr. Ruth only moved into it recently. In the cellar was stored a pile of shavings below the grate chimney. A spark from the grate fire dropped upon the shavings which quickly flared up. Neighbors noticed the smoke coming from the cellar windows. These were smashed in, and a line of garden hose trained on the blaze, while an alarm was sent in. The garden hose held the flames in check until a wagon and a couple of chemicals despatched by Chief Howard arrived and soon controlled the outbreak. About $200 damage by smoke occurred.

SEWER WORK HOLDS UP STREET CARS

The inclement weather has caused citizens to be greatly inconvenienced by the demoralized condition of the street railway sytem, but the fault does not rest on the company, as there has been considerable delay in placing a sewer trench under the car track on Lock street south in connection with the construction of the outfall sewer. When the work first began it was stated that it would be completed in a few days, but over two weeks have elapsed and the track is still broken. It is expected that the trouble will be rectified before the end of the week.

Rather Freeze Here Than Starve to Death in Mexico

A. W. Donly of Mexico City, was in the city today the guest of F. D. Kerr. The Review secured an interview with the visitor from the troubled country and learned that although Canadian and American papers have stated the fact that the trouble in Mexico is being settled, it is far from so. Business is at a standstill and everything is upset. Mr. Donly whose home was formerly in Simcoe, Ont., and is a brother of Hal Donly, editor of the Simcoe Reformer, was Canadian Trade Commissioner up till two years ago. Last June he came to Canada in the interests of a business enterprise expecting the United States was going to go down and clear matters up but the officials in Washington have not done so. Mr. Donly stated that he expects to remain in Canada for the winter, remarking that he'd rather freeze to death in Canada than live on beans and starve to death in Mexico.

In reference to the editorial in today's Toronto Globe under the heading of "A Mexican Moratorium, which stated, "It seems fairly clear that the longer the period of controversy lasts the more likely reason will take the place of blind partizanship," Mr. Donly remarked that it is impossible, as there is no reason in Mexico.

RECRUITS ARE LEARNING FRENCH

British Soldiers Abashed When Told to Try it on Comrades

In the intervals between drill and route marching and the handling of a rifle, the new army recruit is pluckily learning the French language. He wants to be able to "parley vous" with a sporting chance of being understood by his red trousered Allies when he goes across the Channel to take his place in the fighting line. But in a characteristically British way he is shy about it.

I met (says a representative of a London paper), one of the ladies engaged in teaching him, and she told me about the work.

"It is awfully interesting," she said enthusiastically. "We go to the schools and barracks where the men are and take different groups of them. They are so keen about it all—almost as keen as they are to get to the front. But their shyness! I mean their shyness in speaking to each other in a foreign language! This is the most difficult thing in the world for them to get over. When I say, 'Now let me hear you speak to each other in French,' they look as if they would rather be shot. You can't imagine the expressions that come to their faces."

OLD TAPESTRY

How the Product of Different Eras May Be Distinguished.

The word "tapestry" needs to be defined, for it may mean anything from figured furniture covering to carpets. Tapestry as the word is here used is a pictured fabric woven by an artisan on a hand loom, in which the design forms the cloth and is not worked upon a basic tissue. The design itself is painted by an artist, and the loom, either upright or horizontal, has altered but little from prehistoric times to the present. The difference in the tapestries through the ages lies in the dyes, in the design and in the talent of those who translate the drawings in weaving. The species of stitch alters not and belongs to all peoples—Asiatic, European, aborigines of North and South America.

For those who would be quickly wise in a general classification of old tapestry it may be said loosely that three great periods of design and weaving dominate the history of the art. First, the primitive or Gothic; next, the renaissance, and then that florescence of decorative design which belongs more peculiarly to France in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries. As these three great periods of artistic development prevailed all over the Christian world in all varieties of art one can, by using this simple key, arrive almost instantly at the century to which a tapestry belongs.—Scribner's Magazine.

Turkish Inns.

To the traveler accustomed to the luxury of up to date hotels a Turkish khan (inn) comes as a rude surprise. One finds oneself suddenly whisked from the twentieth to the tenth century. Beneath a central archway one passes into a quadrangle, which, with its fountain, suggests university precincts. The ground floor of the building forms the stables. Above are the guest rooms. The principal guest room—the one above the entrance gateway—is allotted to travelers of note. It is innocent of the appointments proper to a European bedchamber, its furniture consisting merely of a roll of matting to spread on a low wooden platform and an earthenware pipkin for water.—London Answers.

GERMANS FAIL IN INFANTRY ATTACKS

BRITISH LINER LONG OVERDUE

Carried Cargo of Meat Worth Million Dollars

RUMORS OF BATTLE

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

London, Nov. 17. — The British liner La Correntina, from Buenos Aires for Liverpool, October 5, is three weeks overdue. She carried a cargo of meat worth a million dollars. The liner was armed for defence and one rumor suggests she has been in action with the German armed liner Kron Prinz Wilhelm and both vessels have been sunk.

The German Cruiser Berlin Would Act as Raider

NOW AT TRONDHJEM

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

London, Nov. 17. — Despatches stating that the German auxiliary cruiser Berlin has appeared at Trondhjem, a seaport of Norway, probably indicate, according to underwriters that she is endeavoring to escape from the North Sea to act as a commerce raider.

STREET RAILWAY EMPLOYES MEET AT MIDNIGHT TO FORM COMPANY FOR HOME GUARD

Fifty Men Sign the Roll and Will be Identified With the Civilian Rifle Association

The employes of the Peterborough Radial Railway Company are to the front with practical evidence of cooperation with the Civilian Rifle Association. While the majority of Peterborough citizens slept the sleep of peace and contentment, the employes of the company met Saturday at midnight and a company was organized, to be added to the strength of the Rifle Association.

Over fifty of the most active and able-bodied men of the city have signed the roll, indicating their willingness not only to promote to the utmost in their power the plans for home defence, but also to do their full duty as British subjects, should further necessity arise, in maintaining the integrity of the empire in this and in other times.

The entire Street Railway Employes' Union is incorporated in the company, and that fact is a further indication of the attitude of organized labor toward those who have undertaken to shatter the institutions of that empire, which stands for the truest liberty in the civilized world.

The following men have joined the company:

J. F. Collins, J. C. Drummond, R. H. Guthrie, W. Cornell, Geo. Hetherington, P. McGrath, A. J. Burton, F. Rosborough, M. Meade, Geo. Eason, J. O. Storey, J. Donneley, D. Donoghue, H. Smith, A. FIRST V. C. LIST

Nine British Soldiers Are Honored

LONDON, Nov. 17.—The first list of Victoria Cross awards to be published during the present war, contains the names of five officers and four non-commissioned officers, of which two recipients have since been given commissions and three have died of wounds.

Lt.-Gen. Sir Douglas Haig has been promoted to general for distinguished service in the war.

Those on whom the crosses were conferred are Capt. Francisco Grenfell of the Ninth Lancers for aiding and saving the guns of the British in Belgium, Aug. 24; on Capt. Douglas Reynolds of the artillery, who was wounded in a similar exploit; on Capt. Theodore Wright of the engineers, who was mortally wounded while rescuing a wounded man; on Surgeon Harry Sherwood Ranken for attending men under fire after he had received wounds from which he died later; on Lieut. Maurice Dease and on four non-commissioned officers.

SHAWANAGANS BROUGHT DOWN THIRTEEN DEER

"Young" Larry Steele Was as Good as the Best of Them

The Shawanagan Hunt Club returned last evening after a grand and glorious time in the Parry Sound district. Many are the exciting tales the members tell of how this deer and that deer got away from them. The party got their full number, thirteen in all. That "grand old man," Larry Steele, of Lakefield, who is 82 years of age, was with the club again and enjoyed the chase as much as any of them, and, despite his age, was able to show the way to several of the younger members.

The party consisted of Messrs. C. Gladman, S. Ray, Chas. Curtis, A. Laing, M. McFadden, H. Evans, L. Steele, Lakefield, W. Evans, A. Curtis, J. Brooks, B. A. Lillie, Toronto, Nelson and Carpenter.

Ketchecum Party.

The Ketchecum Hunt Club have passed another milestone in their history. This was the fiftieth year for the veteran Harry Winch, to follow the hounds and there is no doubt but what he enjoyed this year as much as he did his initial chase. The deer are becoming scarce in their hunting grounds. They were only able to secure five deer, but nevertheless they report having a grand time.

The following constituted the party: H. C. Winch, W. G. Morrow, Dr. McPherson, Dr. Frederick, Fred Roy, B. Gillespie, R. J. Munro, H. A. Morrow, M. Comstock, J. T. Collins, E. F. Mason and A. Collins.

Bottle Lake Club.

The Bottle Lake Hunt Club are back again after having a successful hunt. They were successful in securing their full number. The party was composed of the following members: Messrs. J. E. A. Fitzgerald, Gus Corcoran, Arthur Head, M. Blewett, S. Keyes, C. Stone, N. Wigg, G. Hall and S. McKee.

ENEMY IS DEFEATED IN HIS EFFORTS TO BUILD DYKES

Advances by Allies Between Bixschoote and the Canal to the South of Verdun and in the Region of St. Mihiel

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

PARIS, Nov. 17. — The official announcement this afternoon says:

"Artillery fire from Nieuport and Dixmude and around Ypres reached a climax in violence yesterday.

"The Allied artillery compelled the Germans to desist from building dykes, and floods compelled the enemy to evacuate part of the trenches.

"German infantry attacks south of Bixschoote, south of Ypres, and on the Aisne at Vailly failed, the enemy being either driven back or destroyed.

"The Allies have advanced between Bixschoote and the canal to the south of Verdun and in the region of St. Mihiel."

WHOLE OF NORTH SEA IN MILITARY AREA.

LONDON, Nov. 17. — Premier Asquith stated in the Commons today that the British Government had decided to declare the whole of the North Sea to be in the military area. All subjects of the enemy found on neutral vessels, the Prime Minister also said, would be liable to detention as prisoners of war.

Mr. Asquith also announced that oil and copper would be declared contraband of war.

RUSSIAN FLEET TO ENGAGE THE GERMANS.

LONDON, Nov. 17. — A Copenhagen despatch to the London Star says it is learned from German sources that the Russian fleet has sailed from Helsingfors and is steering southwest, intending to engage the German Baltic squadron.

"BOBS" TO BE BURIED IN ST. PAUL'S CATHEDRAL.

LONDON, Nov. 17. — Earl Roberts will be buried in St. Paul's Cathedral with a public funeral of an elaborate military character.

THE REVIEW'S SUPERIOR SERVICE

The superiority of The Review war news has again been demonstrated, this time in its despatch on Saturday announcing the loss of the British super-dreadnought "Audacious." As yet some papers have not discovered that this boat has been lost. As pointed out some time ago, The Review has superior facilities in this regard, being supplied by the Canadian Press, Limited, an association composed of the best newspapers in Canada, of which The Review is the only member in Peterborough. It costs money for this service, but we believe it is due our readers to give the very best available, and this we are doing. It might further be noted that The Review publishes despatches of importance fully an hour and a half later than the regular editions of the Toronto evening papers of the same day. If you want the latest and most reliable news, you will have to read The Review every night.

HEAVY SHIPMENTS OF GRAIN PASS THROUGH PETERBORO THIRTEEN DOUBLE HEADERS

Approximately 252,000 bushels of Western grain were shipped through this city between Saturday night and Monday morning on the Grand Trunk Railway. Thirteen freights, all double headers, passed through in that period, nine of which were loaded with wheat going east for ocean shipment.

This extremely heavy movement would indicate that the commencement of the grain shipping season has been ushered in and the railways anticipate from now on a heavy volume of business in grain.

Figuring on 20 cars to each train and 1,400 bushels to a car, it can readily be seen what the grain business means to the railways of which the Grand Trunk seem to be obtaining their share. Most of the wheat that passes through this city on the Grand Trunk is loaded from the big elevators at Midland.

In addition to these grain trains which were all extras, regulars that go through daily had to be handled.

It is believed that considerable of this wheat will be converted to the relief of the Belgians in the Old Country.

Board Selects Jurors for Year

This being the third Tuesday in November the board which selects the jurors for the coming year are in session today at the County Court, selecting the usual 40 grand jurors for the High Court, 40 grand jurors for the County Court, 120 petty jurors for the High Court and 120 petty jurors for the County Court.

Those constituting the board are: Judge Huycke, Sheriff Hall, County Treasurer E. Elliot, City Treasurer F. Adams, Warden R. Shaw, and Mayor Buller. The latter was unable to be present today owing to absence from the city.

D. R. WILKIE DEAD

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

Toronto, Nov. 17.—D. R. Wilkie, president and general manager of the Imperial Bank and one of the foremost financial men of Canada, died at his residence, Sherbourne St. this morning of apoplexy.

KILLED IN ACTION

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

London, Nov. 17.—Brigadier General Chas. Fitzclarence of the Irish Guards, has been killed in action at Ypres.

PATRIOTIC PICTON.

Picton, Nov. 17.—Patriotic League collections to date are $5,500, with the canvass still in progress. It is expected the total amount will reach $7,000.

A Home Guard was recently started, with a muster roll of 150, mostly young men, under Drill Instructor Sergt.-Major Noble. With recruiting from neighboring townships the officers expect a total of 300 before the first of the year.

A squad of twenty-one left here for Kingston to join the second contingent. This makes a total of sixty-three to enlist for the oversea forces from this town and vicinity.

CHARGED WITH HIGH TREASON

Members of Family Accused of Helping Austrians

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., 17.—Joseph Snyder, 60 years old, his son Richard, 24 years old, and his brother, Arthur, 27 years old, are prisoners at the Armory, on a charge of treason. Joseph Snyder and his son live on a farm near Slater's Point, about a mile above Chippewa, and has a wife and family.

The Snyders were arrested by men of the 44th Regiment stationed at the Armory, who, it is said, had laid a trap for them. It is said the militiamen caught the Snyders in the act of starting out for the American shore in a motor-boat with four Austrian reservists. The foreigners claimed they paid Snyder to ferry them across the river. The three Snyders and the Austrians found at the Snyder place were brought to this city and lodged at the Armory.

It is alleged the Snyders have conveyed a number of reservists across, receiving $10 for every one they succeeded in landing on the American side.

FOUR HUNDRED ARE CAPTURED

Eighty British Infantryman Performed Feat

PARIS, Nov. 17—A remarkable incident is narrated by a correspondent of Liberte yesterday. He says that during the desperate fighting to the south of Ypres on Nov. 11 a British infantry detachment of 80 men found itself isolated and unable to join its main body and took refuge for the night in a wood. The position seemed hopeless, but the men rested till dawn. They were then aroused by a fusilade near at hand, and found that a German column was being driven toward the wood by a force of allies. Holding their fire they waited till the Germans were near and then charged with fixed bayonets. The diversion was so decisive that 400 prisoners were taken and the lost Tommies received a doubly warm welcome from their comrades.

JAPS COMPLAIN OF THE STATES

Allege Breach of Neutrality in Case of Emden

TOKIO, Nov. 17.—The first allegation that the United States has failed to live up to the standard of neutrality it set, is made in a despatch received from Kobe yesterday.

It declares that the German cruiser Emden was enabled to find and sink the steamer Troylus as the result of a wireless despatch sent from Manilla.

The information contained in the wireless message, it is declared, was secured in Kobe by a German merchant who has been arrested and will be tried as a spy.

HEAVY LOSS FOR FOE AT YPRES

Casualties in Four Days Estimated at 100,000

GAINS FOR ALLIES

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

London, Nov. 17.—The Dunkirk correspondent of the Daily Mail says, "There was heavy fighting around Ypres on Monday. The casualties were large but the battle resulted in excellent progress for the Allies. German casualties are estimated at one hundred thousand in the past four days."

DE WET WOUNDED IN THE HEAD

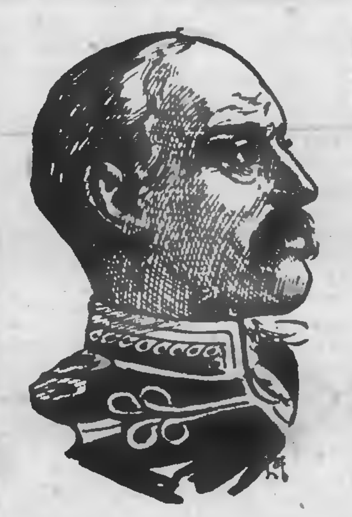
Followers are Dejected and Lack Ammunition

ARE POORLY ARMED

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

London, Nov. 17.—A Pretoria despatch to Reuter's states that General De Wet who headed the recent rebellion in the Orange Free State and Western Transvaal, has been wounded in the head. De Wet's followers are reported much dejected, and it is said they are poorly armed and lack ammunition.

FOURTEEN VOLUNTEERS FROM LAKEFIELD GIVE SERVICES TO EMPIRE



GENERAL ROBERT G. KEKEWICH
the gallant defender of Kimberley against the Boers, who committed suicide in London last week supposedly because ill-health prevented his participation in the present war.

Fitting Send-off Given to Six Young Men, Who Left This Morning

The people of Lakefield gave an enthusiastic send-off to six volunteers, who left this morning for Kingston. In all, fourteen men from Lakefield and vicinity have answered the summons to arms and the majority are now at Salisbury Plain, England.

The band and the militia took part in the proceedings, which were in charge of Captain Bygott and Lieut. Ben Oliel.

Each of the volunteers received $5 which was voted by the council, and the ladies of the Soldiers' Comfort Club presented gifts suitable to the soldier's needs.

The party was composed of Reginald Murduff, Roy Robinson, Fred Balsdon, of Lakefield; Fred Hall, of Hall's Bridge, and Norman Hurl, of Smith. All the men are unmarried.

Reginald Murduff was presented with a silver wrist watch by the Anglican Young People's Association, he having been a member of that organization and also of the Anglican Church choir.

NEW GERMAN LEVIES CANNOT STAND THE STRAIN OF FIGHTING

Official British Bulletin Says Young Men in Trenches in in Belginm Want the Stamina and Older Men Lack Ardor—Hastily Trained Troops March Steadily up to the Muzzles of Rifles of British.

LONDON, Nov. 17. — The official press bureau has issued an account, dated Nov. 10, of the movements of the British force and the French armies in immediate touch with it. After giving in detail the events from day to day, it continues:

"In describing the operations for the six days from Nov. 4 to 9, it can be said that during that period the Germans have nowhere along our front, made an attack in great force, such as was launched against Ypres at the end of October. What they may be contemplating remains to be seen. Their policy has appeared to be to wear us out by continual bombardment, interspersed with local assaults at different points.

"On the whole there is evidence to show that the Germans are beginning to be affected by their heavy losses. From prisoners it is gathered that the young men of the new corps cannot withstand the fatigues and privations of campaigning, and that the middle-aged men lack ardor. From the same source also, it is learned that the recruits who have not previously served, have only received some eight or nine weeks' training instead of the 12 weeks' course prescribed for them; that they have had practically no instruction in musketry, and that they have not practiced entrenching.

"Whatever deterioration there may be in the material now being drafted into the ranks of our enemy, it must be admitted that the Prussian war machine, acting on a nation previously inured to the sternest discipline, has obtained the most remarkable results.

"It is true that a considerable proportion of the masses recently thrown into the field against the British has consisted of hastily trained and immature men, but the great factor remains that these ill-assorted levies have not hesitated to advance against highly trained troops. In spite of lack of officers, in spite of inexperience, boys of 16 and 17 have faced our guns, have marched steadily up to the muzzles of our rifles and have met death in droves, without flinching."

WILL BUY 200 BAGS OF TUBERS

Charity Board to Get in Stock of Potatoes

The Central Charity Board last evening decided to purchase 200 bags of potatoes at 55 cents per bag, or less if possible. In speaking to The Review today, Relief Officer Miller stated that the "murphies" were the cheapest food this winter.

The Montreal regiments are full and recruiting has stopped.

PETERBOROUGH, TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 17, 1914

TURKEY'S PART IN THE WAR.

GERMANY has many advantages in view by involving Turkey in the European war, but to see what there is for Turkey to gain is difficult. Bernhardi explains why Turkey should fight. "Turkey," he says, "is of paramount importance to us. She is our natural ally; it is emphatically our interest to keep in close touch with her. The wisest course would have been to have made her earlier a member of the Triple Alliance, and so to have prevented the Turco-Italian war, which threatens to change the whole political situation to our disadvantage. Turkey would gain in two ways: she assures her position both against Russia and against England—the two States, that is, with whose hostility we have to reckon. Turkey, also, is the only power which can threaten England's position in Egypt, and thus menace the short sea route and the land communications with India. We ought to spare no sacrifices to secure this country as an ally for the eventuality of a war with England and Russia."

Turkey is expected to attack Egypt, block the Suez Canal, stir up Mohammedan risings in both Egypt and India, bring terror to European communities in the East, stir up the Balkans and set Italy and Greece by the ears. Britain, however, is prepared to meet the two most important of these feats. She is ready in Egypt to protect that country and the Suez Canal with plenty of men and ships. The loyalty of India ought to suffice there. The other points are of minor importance. The truth seems to be that Turkey has held off either too long to be effective, or not long enough to strike an important blow.

SIXTEEN MORE APPLICATIONS FOR DIVORCE.

THE CANADA GAZETTE just received contains sixteen notices of applications to the Parliament of Canada for divorce. Eight are from men and eight are from women, all on statutory grounds. The occupations of the men include those of university lecturer, mechanic, fireman, farmer, broker. The information concerning the applicants is not sufficient to form an idea of their individual wealth. The variety would indicate that they are not rich, but mechanics have been known before now to have considerable money. The charge that in Canada only a rich man can get a divorce would not be warranted on this evidence. As to the failure of marriage, these cases only represent those who seek to have it legally dissolved, and tell little of those cases where the marriage has been violated, but for one cause or another resort has not been had to the courts. That the number of divorces is on the increase is true, and it is reasonable to assume that these cases are an indication of the way the marriage vow is being respected by the general public. It is a serious criticism on modern society and the social customs of the home. There are other important considerations, the economic side, for example. How much does a man have to be earning before he should get married? What kind of a home does the woman expect? Then, is the rising generation being trained for home life or just pleasant flirtations? Is life to be danced away or worked away? We do not say what the answer is, but we think the problem is one that cannot safely be ignored.

FOUR SONS FOR THE EMPIRE.

WAR DEMANDS the greatest of sacrifices from those either at home or at the front who are involved. We hear of the deaths of thousands of men who have given their greatest possession, the spark of human life. But, on the other hand, we hear little of what the mothers give. They give their sons, to the rearing of whom they have given a life of tender care filled with a thousand nameless sacrifices. To give a son to the guns of the Empire's enemies is a sacrifice beyond measure. To give a family is what some have done. The Westminster Gazette contains the following item, which shows to what lengths England is facing the war and sacrificing her best in the struggle:

> "The death at the front of Sir Frank Rose is the last chapter in a remarkable family record. The late Sir Charles Rose (the father of the baronet now killed) had four sons. All four fought in the South African war, two losing their lives. Of the two who survived, one died six years ago, and now the solitary survivor of the four sons is killed in the present war. Though the names are inscribed on the Roll of Honour, it is none the less true that the story is a tragic one—we know of none in which Death has so ruthlessly swept off a whole family."

DON'T FORGET IT, Peterborough can raise $50,000 for the Patriotic Fund if it thinks it can.

THE SECOND OVERSEAS DOMINION.

AUSTRALIA, our sister Overseas Dominion, has come into prominence lately by the exploit of her battleship Sydney in defeating the Emden. The Montreal Journal of Commerce says, in furnishing a contingent for the defence of the Empire, Australia expresses her determination to send a second and third, and more if necessary. Australia has a much smaller population than Canada, having but 4,400,000 people. She has an area of 2,973,000 square miles, so that her population is only one and a half to the square mile, and permits of immense growth.

Australia is noted for her gold mining and her sheep ranching. The island contains over 100,000,000 sheep and between 30,000,000 and 35,000,000 head of cattle and horses. It has given to the commerce of the world over £400,000,000 in gold, copper, coal, and tin. Two provinces alone have contributed over £100,000,000 of gold. The island exports annually to Great Britain over £40,000,000 worth of metals, grains, wool, beef, tallow, hides, and mutton. The greatest exports are mutton and wool. Forty years ago the output of wool amounted to 8,000,000 pounds; now Australia produces 700,000.000 pounds, or one-fourth of the world's wool, while the quality of the Australian wool is so superior that it makes up one-third of the total value of the wool consumed in the world. In the early days of the sheep industry ranchers killed the sheep for the wool and the tallow, and left the carcases to rot. When cold storage was introduced, Australia developed the frozen mutton trade, which now amounts to over 225,000,000 pounds per year, while her shipments of tinned meats last year exceeded 45,000,000 pounds.

Australia has produced as much as $60,000,000 of gold in a year, while her silver production is one-ninth of the world's total. She possesses immense possibilities in other minerals, such as copper, tin, lead, antimony, iron, quick silver and coal. It is, however, as a great sheep-raising country that Australia is best known. She possesses one-sixth of the world's sheep, and in the past fifty years the value of the wool exported by this one country is placed at £650,000,000. The Australians are ultra-loyal, and are not only furnishing soldiers to fight in the Empire's battles, but have also had their ships patrolling the Pacific, capturing German islands, and assisting in the protection of trade routes. Australia is nobly doing her part.

Is H. M. S. "Audacious" Lost?

(Toronto Telegram.)

Official news may discredit the report of the disaster to H.M.S. super-dreadnought "Audacious."

Disaster is perhaps not the word that should be employed in describing the loss of even a super-dreadnought when that loss was unaccompanied by loss of life. Britain's superiority to Germany in dreadnoughts was 31 to 17. The reported fate of the "Audacious," if verified, will reduce that margin to the difference between 30 and 17. That margin will be still further increased by the early delivery of Turkish and other dreadnoughts that are now almost ready to leave the shipyards.

The policy of concealing naval losses was successfully followed by Japan. Togo admitted the loss of one battleship in contact with a Russian mine. Not until the great Russian fleet was defeated was Japan or the outside world permitted to know that another Russian mine had blown up a second Japanese battleship on the day of the first disaster.

Britain is still safeguarded by a margin of superiority in dreadnoughts. The margin is none too great, and would be at least three dreadnoughts greater if Canada had not failed to do this country's duty in 1909. Three or five Canadian dreadnoughts would now be in the North Sea if this country had acted as Australia and New Zealand acted in 1909. Three Canadian dreadnoughts might conceivably make the difference between safety and destruction, between life and death to the British Empire.

Britain can spare more than one dreadnought and still overwhelm Germany with a superior strength of capital ships. Britain has already suffered the loss of too many seamen and stokers. The 57,000 casualties reported in the army from August 23 to October 31 include few, if any, more deaths than the over 5,000 men in the ships' companies that have perished in battle for Britain on the sea. The loss of the "Audacious" is cause for regret, but not for mourning, as Britishers would have mourned the addition of nearly 1,000 to the British lives that the sea has swallowed since August 6. The crew of the "Audacious" was saved. The rescued sailors will man another dreadnought and go forth to battle singing:

"Come, cheer up, my lads, 'tis to glory we steer,
We will add something more to this wonderful year;
Hearts of oak are our ships, jolly tars are our men,
Steady, boys, steady, ready, boys, ready,
We'll fight and we'll conquer again and again."

Current "Uplift."

(Montreal Star.)

A number of manufacturing companies in the United States have established what is termed "home visiting nurses." The nurses are under control of physicians engaged by the companies, and it is their duty to visit the homes of employes where there is sickness. The nurses not only give their attention to the sick, but explain the proper preparation of foods and advise in the matter of of economical purchasing. The results of the innovation have ben extremely satisfactory. Not only are the sick infinitely better attended at little or no cost, but there has been a marked improvement in the home life of the people generally.

The Dry Canteen.

(Christian Guardian.)

Col. W. E. Hodgins, who is in command of the first military division now in training at London, Ont., will not allow a "wet" canteen. Not only so, but last week he sent home three recruits, who had been accepted and were in training for active service, and their only offence was that they had become intoxicated. The colonel is wise, and his action will be commended by all who do not care to run the risk of having His Majesty's uniform disgraced by drunken soldiers. War is no picnic, and the drunken soldier is a danger to his comrades, and may possibly be a disgrace to his country.

Uninteresting Scandal.

"Aw, what's the use of listening to the scandals of a lot of perfect strangers?"

The ladies think they are the chief knitters for the British army just now, but they are mistaken. The Kaiser is the chief knitter. He is knitting the British Empire together.

FRENCH REPULSE MOVES ON THEIR POSITIONS

Casualties Have Been Very Heavy But German Losses Are Greater.

LONDON, Nov. 17.—The Germans yesterday made a fierce onslaught against the French positions in the forest of Argonne, the attack being met with an unflinching resistance followed shortly after by a vigorous offensive movement, which forced the Germans to retire. The Kaiser's troops made an attack on the Town of St. Hubert, but were repulsed.

A semi-official explanation of the French position in the forest of Argonne was given out in Paris yesterday afternoon. It said:

"The fighting line has not changed perceptibly in the last two months. The French and German trenches are separated at some points by a distance not exceeding fifty yards. Infantry fire is constantly going on, while all the experience of siege operations are being utilized. This siege resembles greatly that of Sebastopol. Daily engagements occur, resulting sometimes in bending either the French or the German lines back for a distance of 150 yards.

"The casualties have been very heavy for both opposing armies, but here, as elsewhere, the German losses certainly have been superior to those of the French."

This explanation was brought forth by the publication in the German press of a statement to the effect that the French had been completely driven out of the Argonne, while the siege of Verdun was proceeding. Regarding the latter, it is declared that the French are advancing and that they are now from five to ten kilometres (three to six miles) further forward than they were a month ago.

The loss of life in Flanders has been appalling, with the effect that the German offensive in the extreme west has shifted southward toward the French border. Snow and rain have fallen over the battleground in West Flanders until the roads have been turned into channels of mud, where heavy fighting and artillery movements are impossible, and where a big force of Germans is said to have been cut off by a flood. The region from Dixmude to Nieuport is a lapping swamp. Men have been driven out of the trenches, wherein now float the ghastly, mutilated bodies of the dead. Guns and ammunition wagons have been abandoned, and there is recorded thereabouts an increase of sickness, especially lung and throat affection.

Notwithstanding these harrowing conditions, the Germans are pressing, with almost non-human determination, their attempt to jam through to Dunkirk and Calais. An artillery duel is now said to be in progress. The Germans have now completed several new lines of defence through Belgium.

Japanese gunners, skilled in the use of the heaviest types of cannon, are on their way to France to aid the artillerymen of the allies.

Twenty-five thousand fresh Indian troops arrived in Paris yesterday from Marseilles, and started immediately for the front. They reached Marseilles Thursday, after a twenty-three-day voyage from Bombay.

The National Swiss yesterday published a long letter from a Swiss who is doing Red Cross work at Brussels. An extract from the letter says: "The number of German wounded arriving here is unimaginable. Trains—which we call cemetery trains—full of piled-up dead soldiers continue to arrive from the front. They contain bundles of dead; that is, four bodies tied together to facilitate transportation.

"The bodies are burned promptly in special furnaces erected just outside Brussels."

An observer with the British army who furnishes the newspaper reports from the front announces that the German attempts to batter a wedge through the British lines have greatly decreased in force during the past few days and that they bear little semblance to the attacks in great force launched against Ypres at the end of October. They are, he adds, more in the nature of demonstrations in force than serious assaults.

The writer pays high tribute to the bravery of raw German youths and untrained men of middle age who, he says, does not hesitate to march against the trained British troops.

If the Germans have abandoned their repeated furious battering ram efforts, their failure to thrust back the allies' lines and reach Calais will, from the allies' point of view, constitute a distinct victory for the allies, since, it is asserted, they have not tried nor were they expected to accomplish anything more than to hold their own on the defensive.

To Bury Roberts at Ascot.

LONDON, Nov. 17.—It has been decided that Lord Roberts will be buried at Ascot, either in All Saints' Church or on his Englemere estate. The funeral service probably will be held in London in deference to the national demand. Lady Roberts declined the offer to have the remains interred in Westminster Abbey.

The Prince of Wales arrived at the British army headquarters in France yesterday to pay the respects of the Crown to the late warrior. The journey home to London is being made today between lines of troops who are guarding the army's line of communication.

Capt. Carr Harris Was a Canadian.

LONDON, Nov. 17.—Capt. E. D. Carr Harris of the Royal Engineers, whose name appears to-day amongst those killed in the Indian forces operating in East Africa, belongs to a well-known Montreal family. He was graduated from the Royal Military College, Kingston.

RUSSIANS RETALIATE.

They Are Now Fining Prussian Towns as Per Belgium Schedule.

LONDON, Nov. 17.—A Daily Mail Copenhagen despatch says that it is learned that the Russians are imposing fines on the conquered East Prussian towns corresponding to the German fines imposed on Belgian towns.

The military authorities in East Prussia, adds the despatch, have given orders that as the Russians advance the inhabitants must abandon their homes and remove all their flocks and herds, as well as their valuables, and burn their houses so as to prevent the Russians subsisting on the country. Many villages are reported to have been already evacuated.

The German General Staff has issued urgent orders for 10,000 sledges for the winter campaign in Russia.

The German government has consented to facilitate the departure from Germany of British women, children under 17, and men except between the ages of 17 and 55.

TENDERS FOR SUPPLIES 1915

THE UNDERSIGNED will receive tenders up to noon on Monday, 30th November, 1914, for supplies of butchers' meat, flour, oatmeal, potatoes, etc., for the following institutions for the year 1915, viz.: —

At the Hospitals for the Insane in Brockville, Cobourg, Hamilton, Kingston, London, Mimico, Orillia, Penetanguishene, Toronto; the Central Prison and Mercer Reformatory, Toronto, and the Hospital for Epileptics at Woodstock.

Exceptions—Tenders are not required for the supply of meat to the Hospitals in Brockville, Hamilton, Kingston, London, Mimico and Toronto, nor for the Central Prison or Mercer Reformatory, Toronto.

A marked cheque for five per cent. of the estimated amount of the contract, payable to the order of the Honourable the Provincial Secretary, must be furnished by each tenderer as a guarantee of his bona fides, and two sufficient sureties, or the bond of a guarantee company authorized to do business in the Dominion of Canada, will be required for the due fulfilment of each district. Specifications and forms and conditions of tenders may be obtained from the Inspector of Prisons and Public Charities, Parliament Buildings, Toronto, or from the Bursars of the respective institutions. The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted. Newspapers inserting this advertisement without authority from the department will not be paid for it.

THE FARMER'S DAUGHTER

By JOHN Y. LARNED

I was peddling tinware on the Massachusetts coast, driving a pair of horses attached to a wagon on which I carried my merchandise. I stopped at a farmhouse at noontime and exchanged some kitchen utensils for a dinner. The farmer's wife did the cooking, and his daughter waited on the table. Another stranger besides myself partook of the meal—a short, thickset man with a bushy beard.

We peddlers are usually gifted with a good deal of talk, which we find essential in selling our goods. I rattled on at the farmer, and, he appearing to be taciturn, I let fly at the stranger, who sat opposite me, asking where he had come from, where he was going, what business he followed and other questions usually attributed to the curious New Englanders. But this idiosyncrasy was assumed, I having been born and bred in Maryland. The truth is I began by asking him which way he was going, thinking that if his direction and mine were the same I would give him a lift for company's sake. He seemed to be averse to telling me of his movements, and I noticed that his reluctance interested the farmer's daughter, who at the time was standing behind him. On her account I pursued my questions till the man abruptly arose and left the table. A few minutes after this, looking through a window, I saw him riding on horseback the same way I intended to go.

Having finished my dinner and turned over in payment to the farmer's wife a washboard and a dozen tin pie plates, I got into my wagon and drove on. About a half hour after starting I heard the sound of a horse's hoofs behind me and, looking back, saw the farmer's daughter coming. She was so intent on her own thoughts as she passed me that she was not conscious that I had dined at her home. Her gait being faster than mine, I, jogging along behind a pair of horses drawing a heavy load, was soon left in her rear. As I drove on I was thinking about the man I had questioned and the girl's interest in his answers, or want of answers, and wondered if her coming had anything to do with him. The anxious look on her face both in the farmhouse and on the road caused me to think that he might be bent on something she wished he wouldn't do.

I saw nothing more of either of them during the afternoon. I stopped at several houses, plying my trade, and about dark, reaching a point where the road passed within a hundred feet of the ocean, I came upon a house in which I thought I would ask for lodging during the night. But, unfortunately, I found it closed. I was about to drive on when it occurred to me to see if I could effect an entrance to the barn. I pulled out a rusty staple, thereby opening the barn door, and, driving my team in, unhitched the horses, fed them and went to the house.

I had no more difficulty in getting into the house than the barn.

I was awakened in the middle of the night by a shot. I listened and heard another and another, the second and third seeming to come from directly above me. Then there was another from the outside. Next I heard the sound of a pair of heavy boots, followed by a pair of light ones, rapidly descending a staircase from the second floor and continuing down into the cellar. Soon after this the front door of the house was smashed in, and several men rushed into the room where I lay and flashed a bullseye on my face

"By thunder!" exclaimed one of them. "If it isn't that confounded Yankee peddler!"

I recognised the voice of the man I had questioned so closely at dinner the previous day.

"Are you one of the gang?" he asked.

"What gang?"

He told me that smuggling had been going on at some point near where we were, and they had located it in the house we were in. I told him how I happened to be there, and he believed me. Then he explained to me that my questions had annoyed him because he wished to keep the object of his presence in the neighborhood a secret. Then it occurred to me that the farmer's daughter was interested in the smugglers, had suspected the man's errand and had ridden on to warn them. I hurriedly told him of my having heard footsteps going downstairs, and the party rushed to the cellar expecting to find her quarry.

We found a lot of goods, but no living person. Opening a door, we stood in a tunnel which we followed and came to a recess in the rocks on the shore. Hearing the sound of oars, we knew that the smugglers had escaped.

I said nothing of my suspicion of the farmer's daughter, since I had no wish to implicate her. The next time I went her way I stopped and told her that I was in the house when the revenue officers had attacked it. After I had won her confidence she told me that there was but one smuggler, her husband, and owing to my inquiries of the man she had served at dinner she suspected his errand and had ridden on to give him warning. She was with him at the time I entered the place and saw me come in. She had gone down the staircase and escaped with him. He had since abandoned smuggling and had gone west, where she was soon to join him.

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

A bird on the hat is worth a dozen in the shop window.

Diplomacy may be defined as the guileful art of getting what you want while handing the other fellow a lemon.

A man isn't necessarily much of a horseman just because he has horse sense.

The reason why a man never forgets his first love is because the present love is always his first love.

An easy mark is an object that offers small resistance and yields rich returns.

The only way to keep a cook is to hedge her round with dollar bills.

What a boy doesn't know about love he reads in yellow covered literature.

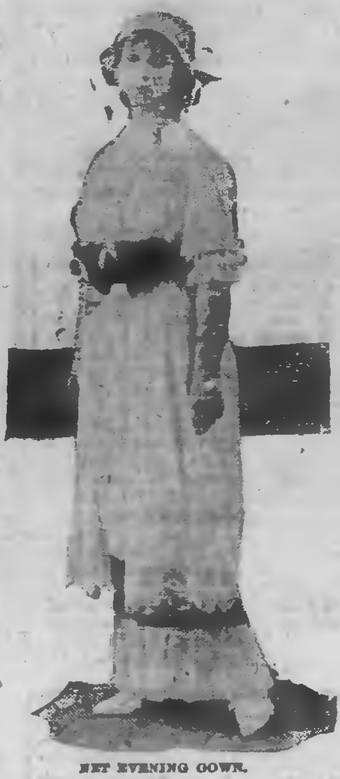
FOR EVENING WEAR.

Charming Frock of Net For the College Girl's Entertainments.



NET EVENING GOWN.

There will be various entertainments at college which will demand evening dress of the fair student, but a simple, pretty evening frock of modest style will be the requirement, not a fluffy, coquettish dance frock of tulle with a daring decolletage.

Soft pussy willow taffeta in blue, raspberry or oleander pink or in some dainty shade of lavender, buff or pale green will make a dainty frock. The skirt may have scalloped frills, and chiffon or lace may be used for the bodice, provided its style is not too decollete for the student.

Pictured here is a charming evening gown for a young girl. It is fashioned of plain and embroidered net. An insertion of black moire ribbon is applied to the foundation skirt. The tunic is of embroidered net clasped by a black satin girdle. The elbow sleeves are finished by frills. The little Dutch cap of net makes a charming accessory to the costume.

WASHING DELICATE FABRICS.

How to Cleanse Them So They Preserve Their Loveliness.

It is always a safe precaution to set the color in most wash fabrics. It is decidedly worth while for delicate colors, says the home economics department of the University of Wisconsin.

Salt is a valuable aid in making colors fast, as it acts as a mordant for the substantive dyes most commonly used for cotton and linen. A handful of salt in a dish of cold water, however, is not sufficient. The material or garment must be placed in a strong hot solution and allowed to stand until the water is cool to obtain the best results. Salt is cheap, is usually on hand and is probably best for all around use, but the effect of brine is said not to be lasting.

Among other good mordants are sugar of lead for all colors except pink and blue, saltpeter for pinks and blues, vinegar for pinks, alum for greens, mauve, purples, etc.

The following proportions should be used: To one gallon of water add one-half cupful mild vinegar, two cupfuls of salt, one tablespoonful of alum or one tablespoonful of sugar of lead.

Faded blue garments are freshened by rinsing in a strong bluing solution. Other delicate colors would often profit by a similar treatment in a dye solution of the same color.

Testing Out the Dog.

The Browns recently took up their abode at a new house in the suburbs, and Robinson, who, by the way, was Brown's most intimate friend in his bachelor days, went down to see them one Saturday afternoon.

As he approached the house a large dog ran out and began barking at him fiercely through the fence.

Robinson hesitated. He didn't altogether like the looks of that dog. Just then, however, Mrs. Brown came to the door.

"Hello!" she exclaimed. "How nice of you to come down here to see us! Come right in. Don't mind the dog."

Nervously Robinson fingered the latch of the gate.

"But are you sure she won't bite?" he asked, glancing toward the dog, which he was by no means anxious to meet until he had received some assurance of personal safety.

"Oh," replied Mrs. Brown, "that's just what I want to find out! You see, I only bought him this morning."

Travelers' Wash Clothes.

Small disks of cotton compressed into pill box size expand when they are dropped into water to the size of the ordinary face cloth. These are sold, ten of them, in a little Morocco case, and they find favor with the woman who is traveling rapidly—so rapidly that the face cloth has no time to dry before it must again be packed into its receptacle for further journeying, for these compact little cloths are thrown away in the assurance that another can be had from the leather case at the next stopping place.

In Daily Fear Of Death—Until "Fruit-a-tives" Brought Relief.

CHATHAM, ONT., April 3rd. 1913.

"Some two years ago, I was a great sufferer from Indigestion. One day my eye caught a billboard of "Fruit-a-tives" and I said to myself "if Fruit-a-tives will build me up like that, it is good enough for me". I bought some. After taking these wonderful tablets for only three weeks, I found myself wonderfully improved. In a short time longer, I cured myself entirely. My case was no light one, either, Gas would often form in my stomach and I was in daily fear that it would get around my heart and kill me. "Fruit-a-tives" is the only remedy for Indigestion".

TWO HEARTS IN ONE BODY

Strange Freak of Nature Found in Mother of Three Children

A doctor at Easton, Pennsylvania, discovered a family of four, composed of mother and three children, each of whom has two hearts. The medico was called to attend one of the children for chicken-pox, and much to his astonishment discovered a heart beating on the child's right side as well as the left. This led him to examine the two other children and the mother, with a similar result. This remarkable two-hearted family bear the name of Perkins, the children being Anna, Allen, and Doris, aged thirteen, eleven, and four respectively. It is imagined that the hearts of the mother and her three children grew in two parts. That is to say, the component parts of the organs did not unite, the right ventricle of each heart (the chamber which receives the blood from the auricle and veins) and the right auricle growing on the right side of the body, and the left ventricle and the left auricle on the left.

Some years ago an Italian doctor discovered that one of his patients, a young man, had two hearts, one of which, however, was quite insensible and immobile. The heart that discharged all the cardiac functions was on the right side of the body.

One Good Effect

He was a lover of music who had just been to hear one of the great operas, and he was expatiating upon its beauties to an unresponsive friend, whom he observed to yawn. The music-lover was hurt.

"Look here, John," he protested, don't you think music is of some practical benefit in life?"

"Oh, yes," said the unresponsive one. "Why, judging from the portraits I have seen of eminent musicians, especially pianists, I should say that music is great to keep the hair from falling out."

Germany's Biggest Gun

Details of the German 16½-inch siege gun, which is operated only by Krupp's own engineers, show that it is discharged electrically from a considerable distance, its action being such that the operator cannot remain near. Its projectile weighs approximately 1,900 pounds, and on leaving the gun describes a parabola, covering a distance of twelve miles and rising to an altitude of 1,200 yards. It is added that the shell in exploding emits deadly gases.

WINNIPEG GRAIN MARKET.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 16.—The wheat market opened ⅛c higher on all months except July. Oats for December were ⅛c lower and flax 2½c higher for November and 1½c higher for May.

Trading was quiet in options, a light volume of business being transacted. The demand for all grades of cash wheat was brisk, and spreads have narrowed up considerably in the last two days, No. 1 northern wheat being now ¾c over November option. Exporters were keen buyers of nearby stuff to fill space.

About noon prices for wheat were ⅛c to ½c higher. Flax was easier, except for December, which was holding steady. The large increase of about five and a half million bushels wheat in the United States visible supply caused a decided weakness on the close, and wheat finished ⅜c to ¾c lower, oats ⅛c to ⅛c lower; flax closed very weak, following a steady market, being 1⅝c to 2⅝c lower.

Inspections for two days were 802 cars, as against 2919 last year, and in sight were 600.

MONTREAL GRAIN MARKET.

MONTREAL, Nov. 16.—Business in grain today over the cable was very quiet. There was a fair demand from local buyers for oats, but the trade with outside points is very quiet. There was a better demand for Argentine corn, and sales of several carloads were made at 83½c per bushel, ex-store. Another shipment of 100,000 bushels of this corn is expected to arrive here this week. Flour was unchanged, with demand quiet. Millfeed continues active and firm. Demand for butter quiet and easy, finest creamery at auction today selling at 27c.

Cheese quiet. Exports for the week, 31,273, against 37,304 for the same week last year. Eggs strong. Exports for week, 15,774 cases, as compared with 13,-899 for the like week last year. Dressed hogs stronger and 25c per cwt. higher.

DULUTH GRAIN MARKET.

DULUTH, Minn., Nov. 16.—Wheat—No. 1 hard, $1.17¾; No. 1 northern, $1.16¾; No. 2 do., $1.13¾; Dec., $1.14¾.

CATTLE MARKETS

UNION STOCK YARDS.

TORONTO, Nov. 16.—Receipts of live stock at the Union Yards were 5322 cattle, 3435 hogs, 4167 sheep and lambs and 230 calves.

Butchers' Cattle.

Choice butchers' were worth $7.50 to $8, good butchers' at $7 to $7.40; medium at $6.50 to $6.75; common at $6 to $6.25, light butchers' heifers at $5.50 to $5.75; choice cows at $6.50 to $6.75, good cows at $6 to $6.25; medium cows at $5.25 to $5.75; canners and cutters at $3.50 to $4.50; bulls at $4.50 to $6.50; and an odd bull of extra quality will sometimes bring $6.75 and $7.

Stockers and Feeders.

Choice heavy feeders, 900 to 1050 lbs., sold at from $6.50 to $6.75; good feeders, 800 to 900 lbs., $6 to $6.25; medium quality steers, $5.25 to $5.50; stockers, $3.50 to $5, according to breeding and color.

Milkers and Springers.

Milkers and springers were selling at steady prices, that is, those of choice quality. Late or backward springers are not wanted. Prices ranged from $50 to $100, the bulk selling at $70 to $85.

Veal Calves.

Choice calves, $9 to $10; good calves, $8 to $9, medium, $6.50 to $7.50; common, $5 to $6, and inferior eastern grass calves at $3 to $4.50.

Sheep and Lambs.

Sheep, ewes, $5 to $5.75, culls and rams at $2.50 to $4; good to choice light lambs at $7.75 to $8; heavy lambs at $6.75 to $7; culls at $5.50 to $6.

Hogs.

Selects fed and watered sold at $7.75 for the bulk, and $8 weighed off cars, and $7.40 f.o.b. cars.

MONTREAL LIVE STOCK.

MONTREAL, Nov. 16.—At the Montreal Stock Yards, West End Market, the feature of today's trade was the active demand from packers for canning stock, which was attributed to the fact that some of them during the past few days had made some large sales of canned beef for export account, consequently a brisk trade was done in this class of stock, but as the offerings were smaller than they have been of late the feeling in the market for such was stronger and prices showed an advance of 25c per cwt. with sales of bulls at $5.50 to $5.75, and cows at $3.75 to $4.25 per cwt.

There was no important change in the condition of the market for butchers' cattle, notwithstanding the fact that the supply was small, and good to choice steers scarce. The demand was only fair and principally for small lots to fill actual wants owing to the unsettled weather prevailing. Sales of a few good to choice steers were made at $7 to $7.75, but the bulk of the trading was done in fair stock at $6 to $6.75 per 100 pounds.

Small meats continue firm and the trade in Ontario lambs was active at $7.50 to $7.75, while Quebec stock sold at $7 to $7.25 per 100 pounds. Demand for calves was good at firm prices. A stronger feeling developed in the market for hogs, and prices advanced 40c to 50c per cwt. with a good demand from packers and sales of selected lots were made at $8.40 to $8.60, sows at $6.40 to $6.60, and stags at $4.40 to $4.60 per cwt.

LURE OF GOLD.

ANOTHER "camp" has spread its lure
 Where in the shining summer sun
That on Alaska fiercely beats
 The sands a golden current run,
And men are straining purse and limb
 And doing deeds that shrink the soul
To be the first to reach and reap
 The harvest in this distant goal.

Not after learning do they strive,
 Nor after honor, place or fame,
The treasures that enrich the mind
 And cast a luster on the name,
And even love they leave behind,
 Though it may shrivel in the cold,
And turn their eyes and minds and hearts
 Toward barren lands that promise gold.

All human feelings cast aside,
 As wolves they struggle for the prize
That at the end of strife and stress
 And bitter, stern privation lies.
Their only god is yellow gain,
 Their only end and aim is dross.
For that they brave the icy plains
 And mountains tall and frowning cross.

And many in the frenzied rush
 Who on the die have staked their all
Will never reach the promised goal,
 Will falter by the way and fall.
And victims of the yellow lure
 Will line the long and weary path,
Food for the coyotes of the wild
 And victims of the gain god's wrath.

WOMAN REFUSES OPERATION

Tells How She Was Saved by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Logansport, Ind. — "My baby was over a year old and I bloated till I was a burden to myself. I suffered from female trouble so I could not stand on my feet and I felt like millions of needles were pricking me all over. At last my doctor told me that all that would save me was an operation, but this I refused. I told my husband to get me a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I would try it before I would submit to any operation. He did so and I improved right along. I am now doing all my work and feeling fine.

"I hope other suffering women will try your Compound. I will recommend it to all I know." — Mrs. DANIEL D. B. DAVIS, 110 Franklin St., Logansport, Ind.

Since we guarantee that all testimonials which we publish are genuine, is it not fair to suppose that if Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has the virtue to help these women it will help any other woman who is suffering in a like manner?

If you are ill do not drag along until an operation is necessary, but at once take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

THE PASSING OF THE TURK

Written exclusively for The Review by J. P. Laycock, M.A.

Turkey has wrung its own neck. The Russians from Trans-Caucasia and the British from Egypt are preparing to pluck the feathers. The best Parisian chef is on hand to do the cooking, and all the allies will take an active interest in the carving.

What imp of adversity influenced the Ottoman empire to make the plunge has been a puzzle to many. On the French and Belgian frontiers the Kaiser's forces had been checkmated for a couple of months. In the eastern area of conflict the army of the other Kaiser had lost control of Buckowina and the major part of Galicia, and the German forces were being hurled back from Poland. There was in addition the peril to Turkey of the Balkan states once more hurling themselves upon Constantinople. The plea of the Ottoman authorities that the sinking of Russian naval and commercial ships and the bombardment of Odessa and other Black Sea ports were due to the disobedience of foreign naval officers in its employ and the resultant confession that the policy of their empire was at the mercy of aliens in its service cannot absolve them from their responsibilities for the outbreaks. The conclusion must be that these raids were part of a well laid plan to bring the Ottoman empire into the conflict, and that the Grand Vizer was winking at the capers of Enver at the very time of his simulated opposition.

But why should the Sublime Porte, never known for its generosity, seek to bolster up the tottering thrones of the kaisers? Why should it, ever noted for its skilful duplicity and diplomacy in eking out a precarious existence, hazard the fruits of such labors at such an inauspicious time? While it is conceivable that its German subordinates did plunge the Turkish government into such straights for patriotic purposes, happen whatever might to their own heads, the more plausible explanation, in view of the refusal of the Sultan to dismiss the guilty parties, seems to point to a deliberate Turko-German alliance by which the Porte promised to enter the fray if promising opportunities occurred. The auspicious actions of the Turkish government from the time of its taking the Goeben and the Breslau under its wing, the mobilization of its army under German officers, and its threatened if not actual invasion of Egyptian soil which led Russia to despatch sufficient forces to Tiflis to prosecute a campaign against Constantinople without dislocating the plans in Poland and Galicia, and the British action in stationing the Australian and other troops along the Suez canal, point in the same direction. Perhaps, when the whole story leaks out it will be found that the orders were given to the Turkish fleet to bombard the Black Sea coast at the very time that the German operations against Warsaw and Ivangorod had reached their maximum success, and that the damage was done before the true state of the Teutonic retreat became known to the Sultan's advisers. Hence the Grand Vizer's frantic efforts at apology and the ominous reply of the northern colossus, "Too late."

Real Cause of the Turk's Entrance Into the Conflict.

What was the underlying cause for the entrance of Turkey into the fray, the real sections of that Turko-Teutonic alliance that proved the bate to fish the sultan from his safety in the Bosphorus? Obviously it was not any hope to recover immediately the territory lost in the Balkan peninsula for such an aim would have meant the opposition of those tempestuous little states who had caused her previous debacle as well as that of the allies. It seems probable that the Grand Vizer, influenced by Enver Pasha, his pro-German minister of war saw an opportunity in the threatening European strife, perhaps through the information of the Teutonic diplomats, to seize Egypt while the British were busy in Europe and thus to come once more in territorial proximity with Tripoli to wreak vengeance on Italy, and on the other hand to restore the natural frontier of Asiatic Turkey at the Caucasus, or even to restore the sway of the crescent to part of the northern coast of the Black Sea. The extension of the Ottoman anachronism from the Crimea to the Nile is a natural craving of the Turk, but its realization would be disastrous to the peoples of the Black Sea and the Caspian for the hand of the Tsar, heavy as it is, is light to that of the Sultan. Similarly, its triumph in the Khedive's kingdom would be a turning back of the hands of the clock, an undoing of the work of Lord Cromer, Sir Eldon Gorst, and Earl Kitchener, a destruction of the fruits of Tel-el-Kebir and Khartoum, a return to the hunger, barbarism, caprice of the old Khedive rule and Turkish suzerainty, the Turko-Arabian domination.

How Allies Have Received Turks' Aggression.

The allies have welcomed the entrance of the Turk, since it seemed doomed to come as a chance to settle the "bag and baggage" problem forever, to relieve the sick man of Europe whose sickness was ever disturbing his neighbors, and to banish him as they would some leprous thing to the solitudes of the Arabian desert. He had been indirectly the mainspring from which this world war drenching the earth with the blood of the most cultured of the cultured and the steadiest of the peasantry, and visiting the mothers, widows, and children with the sorrows that time cannot heal. The atrocities of Turkey in Europe had led to the first and second Balkan wars, to the Austrian robbery of the Servian fruits of victory, to the augmentation of the Pan-Serb campaign in Bosnia-Herzegovina, and to the tragedy at Serajevo, and had thus given the German Kaiser the opportunity to drag an aged Emperor, who only sought to die in peace, into a world war as his unconscious tool. The massacres in Macedonia had led directly to the massacres in Belgium, the burning of villages in the Balkans to the sack of Louvain and the firing of Rheims.

So the Russian has said, Let us settle this intruder at Constantinople, the historic centre of the Orthodox Church, our national religion, and the natural capital of the Slav Empire, once and for all now that those eternal thwarters of our ambition, France and Britain are our allies." France has thought, "Let us assist our strongest supporter on land and get our returns in augmented territory elsewhere." The United Kingdom is thinking, "These Russians are more progressive than we thought, as the development of their Duma shows; let us allow them to take their racial brothers, the Slavs of Austria and Poland, to their bosom, and Constantinople the long sought summer port, under their wing, and see if we can secure world peace by granting them their legitimate desires. So all the allies have declared that this obstacle in the path of permanent world peace must go. "It is not the Turkish people," Mr. Asquith has proclaimed, "it is the Ottoman Government that has drawn the sword and I do not hesitate to predict that that government will perish by the sword. It is they, and not we, who have rung the death-knell of the Ottoman dominions not only in Europe but in Asia. With this disappearance of Turkey will disappear, as I hope and believe, the blight which for generations past has withered some of the fairest regions. We have no quarrel with the Moslem subjects of the Sultan. Our Sovereign claims among his most loyal subjects millions of men of the Moslem faith. Nothing is further from our thoughts than to encourage a crusade against their creed. Their holy places we are prepared to defend, should the need arise, against all invaders, and to maintain them inviolate, but the Turkish empire has committed suicide and dug with its own hands its own grave."

Difficulties in the Path of the Allies.

Flinging the Turk into the grave he himself has dug, however, is no light task. Rumors have hinted at hundreds of thousands of Ottoman troops hastening towards the Caucasus, and other hundreds of thousands hurrying towards the Suez canal, but it seems hardly conceivable that even with the aid of the thorough German reorganization of their army the Turkish government could attain such success so shortly after the debacle in the Balkans. If the task of overcoming the Moslem hordes proves difficult for the Muscovite, Petrograd can probably secure the co-operation of Bulgaria by offering the latter any Bulgarian sections of Macedonia and compensating Servia by some such plan as additional territory on the Dalmatian coast lying between Bosnia-Herzegovina and the Ardiatic; but the present indications seem to show that Russia regards such concessions as unnecessary and has the utmost confidence that she can hew her own way to the Dardanelles. The enormous reserves that Russia can constantly add either to her western or eastern army makes the Trans-Caucasian dreams of Turkey unattainable, but the latter's immediate, though not final success, may be achieved in Egypt, and important reverses may be the initial news from the land of the Nile. The strength of the Anglo-Egyptian forces there, as well as of the Turko-Arabian hosts opposing them is shrouded in mystery. We know that there are the small bodies of trained Egyptian and Sudanese troops, the entire Australian contingent, and British Territorial regiments as well; but their total strength is unknown although the British authorities claim to be prepared for emergencies. It may be possible that an extensive expeditional force, more used in fighting in the tropics than in the German winters, has been sent from India's efficient native army, numbering 230,000 men at the outbreak of hostilities; but whether the Mohammedan soldiers will fight zealously men of their own faith remains to be seen.

The net result of the Kaiser's success in bringing the Sultan into the area of conflict, then, is to relieve the pressure upon the Austro-German combine, and possibly to place upon the forces already in the field the main task of overthrowing that war machine, as the mass of further reserves of either Britain or Russia may have to be sent to the Near East. The Canadians and the bulk of Kitchener's first army may receive their first baptism of fire in Egypt and the Holy Land. Great stress has been laid upon the desert wastes of Sinai as a natural protection of Egypt, and the intolerable roads of that peninsula as a factor rendering the bringing of heavy siege guns and the service of an efficient commisariat exceedingly difficult; but on the other hand it should be remembered that huge military hosts have gone by that route before now, that the invaders are men inured to the climatic conditions there, and that Turkey has been probably preparing for this eventuality at least since the war began, if not before. However, the final outcome can hardly be a matter of doubt. The command of the sea enables Britain on the one hand to land troops at the Dardanelles to assist the Muscovite and at the same time to land expeditionary forces in Palestine or the peninsula of Sinai to cut the communications of an apparently successful army in Egypt.

The Problem of the Partition of Turkey.

There could be no more stupid blunder in diplomacy on the part of Great Britain than to abandon entirely her policy of keeping neutral territory between Russia and the route to India, and yield up to St. Petersburg the whole of Asiatic Turkey, merely because Petrograd is now her ally. The pacificists know no more about the absence of a future conflict with the Cossacks than they did about the impossibility of an Anglo-German war. Still wisdom does sanction giving the Northern Colossus Constantinople as the summer port, which is a legitimate demand, even if the Mediterranean communications with India are threatened by the act, for permanent peace can only come through the recognition of the rights of others. The other right, which has long been claimed by Russia, has been that of protector of the Christian sects of Turkey in Asia, concentrated chiefly in Asia Minor, Armenia, Kurdistan, Syria, and Palestine. As these Asiatic Christians belong chiefly to the Orthodox Greek Church, or to the Armenian Church, the latter also of its own initiative having sought protection under the wing of the Orthodox Greek Muscovite, the general principle in the settlement of territory after the fires of war die out since the Armenian and Greek population prefer Russian suzerainty, as indicated by the rush of recruits of the former to the Muscovite banner in Trans-Caucasia, should be to acknowledge their wishes as far as is permitted by the interests of others. The fact that the Moslem population as a rule has not risen against Russian domination, and at this time in Trans-Caucasia, has openly expressed its loyalty to the Czar, shows that the British people have little to fear through Moslem disaffection due to Cossack supremacy; but on the other hand, the presence of important Jewish and Roman Catholic elements in the population of Palestine aggravates the solution there.

The existence of a diminished Turkey seems desirable as a buffer state between Russia and the route to India, as long as the claims of the Christian population in the Asiatic parts of the Ottoman empire are respected. It has been the existence of this population that has caused Turkey to be the source of European wars; remove the Christian from the domination of the Moslem, and there seems no reason why the purely Mohammedan sections of Asiatic Turkey, namely, Mesopotamia, which stands in the Russian path to the Persian gulf, and Arabia, together with part of Syria, which form an obstacle in its road to the Red Sea should not remain as a racial Islamite empire.

It seems that the national claim to a territory of their own of the Jews, scattered everywhere, persecuted at the whim of ignorant Christians, like the Messiah they rejected without a home to rest in, should be respected, and that Britain, on their behalf, should take Palestine under its protection. The very fact that their ancient home should be under the control of the British Empire would lead, without invitation, the Jews from Russia and Roumania en masse, and from other lands of the dispersion in large numbers, to return once more from captivity, benefitting the empire by the presence of one of the worlds most virile people and presenting a buckler in the face of any Muscovite march on the Suez Canal. For it should be remembered that the adult males of the Jewish race have received as a rule compulsory military training, and would therefore fight with organized and trained patriotism for the restored land of their dreams. For the Turk alone would be as paper in thwarting a Cossack charge to the Suez Canal, but the Jew is a different proposition. In rescuing him from the terrors of the pogrom, as indefensible in principle as the Turkish atrocities the British race would be performing a service to civilization as well as to their empire.

Future Anglo-Turkish Relations.

One other principle remains. The diminished Ottoman empire would be no buffer state between the enlarged Russian empire and the British empire if the Palestine protectorate of the latter bordered on Muscovy. For this reason, that part of Syria which is not embraced within the frontiers of ancient Palestine should be assigned to what is left of the Ottoman dominions. For the protection of the route to India, then there would exist three frontiers, the neutral zone of the Turkish dominions, the human Jewish barrier in Palestine, and the Anglo-Egyptian forces in Africa. Back of all would stand the potential strength of the British Empire. It is true the Orthodox Greek regard for Jerusalem as its Holy City might lead to a Russian invasion of Palestine, but this should be of little weight to the British Empire in seeking to maintain the proper frontiers of the British Empire, and secure for the Hebrew the attainment of his praiseworthy ends. As far as the Turks themselves are concerned, Greater Britain should remember that as she has within her limits the strongest Mohammedan empire in the world, Mr. Asquith is right in acknowledging the duties of the empire toward the Moslem world once the causes that have made the Turk a byword in history have been removed. Greater Britain has no justification in accepting in a European war Moslem troops from India to protect her empire unless she is prepared to return that aid to Islam in Asia if essential to Moslem rights and integrity. If a war between the Saxon and the Muscovite occurs in the future, as is possible, the remnant of the Turkish empire, if it has to choose, will fight beside its historic friends rather than its traditional exploiters.

BIG SUM VOTED

British Commons Unanimous in Granting War Credit

LONDON, Nov. 17.—The meeting of the House of Commons yesterday was entirely devoted to war measures and without partisan politics.

Premier Asquith requested a vote for $1,125,000,000, and another million soldiers, both of which the House granted without a dissenting voice.

The condition and morals of the soldiers; the inevitable spy system and the press censorship were discussed freely. The Prime Minister characterized the crisis as "the greatest emergency in which the country has ever been placed." He said there were already under arms 1,200,000 men; that the war was costing nearly $5,000,000 per day and that the Government proposed to lend Belgium $50,000,000 and Servia $4,000,000 without interest until the end of the war.

Timothy Healy, the Irish Nationalist, said that the money should be given to them.

John Hodge, the Labor member for Lancashire, endorsed the proposal, with the suggestion: "Later on we can collect it from the German emperor."

Reginald McKenna, Secretary for Home Affairs, informed the House that there were 14,500 alien enemies in the concentration camps in the British Isles and 29,000 at large.

Walter Hume Long, Mr. Healy and Lord Charles Beresford discussed the question of publicity and urged that the country should be given fuller details of the achievements of the troops in the field.

In his closing speech, Premier Asquith placed the burden of the censorship on France, and said it was necessary to defer to the wishes of the country which was doing the greatest part of the fighting, and where the fighting was being carried on.

He announced that Earl Kitchener, Secretary for War, had prepared a scheme for increased pay. He concluded by declaring that sickness among the troops had not exceeded 0, possibly 15 per cent., and he believed no body of men had ever been brought together who had comported themselves better than the present army.

DIRIGIBLE IS DAMAGED

Airship in Bad Plight Collapses on German Border

AMSTERDAM, Nov. 17. — (Via London)—The Telegraaf learns from Maestricht, Holland, that Sunday a badly damaged dirigible airship flew over Limburg, Holland, coming from the direction of Belgium. It was evident that the airship had been damaged, either by artillery fire or a storm. When over Maestricht the airship disappeared in the direction of Germany.

Another dirigible was observed on Sunday from Sittard, 13 miles northeast of Maestricht, coming from the southeast and flying in a northerly direction along the Holland frontier.

Collapsed at Frontier.

LONDON, Nov. 17. — The correspondent of The Evening News at Rotterdam says of the Zeppelin airship reported in distress near Maestricht, Holland, Sunday:

"The airship was badly damaged in the rear, but by desperate efforts managed to reach the German frontier, where it collapsed a total wreck."

Schaefer's Plea Is "Not Guilty"

MONTREAL, Nov. 17. — Israel Schaefer, ticket agent and former court house interpreter, charged with high treason, in aiding the King's enemies, providing transportation to subjects of the Austro-Hungarian monarchy, telling them to represent themselves to Canadian and American authorities as Roumanian subjects, appeared before Judge Leet in voluntary statement yesterday morning. He pleaded not guilty and was remanded for trial at the March term of the Court of King's Bench.

Deer or Wireless?

FARMINGTON, Me., Nov. 17.—The Duke of Montpensier, a brother of the Orleans pretender to the French throne, passed through here late Sunday night, ostensibly bound for a hunting trip in the Maine woods.

But the rumor is current that he is on a search for the German wireless station supposed to be secreted somewhere in the forests of this state.

Letters Must Go By Post.

LONDON, Nov. 17. — An Amsterdam despatch to Reuter's Telegram Co. states that a German official communication announces that the general commander of the seventh army corps at Munster, Westphalia, has issued an order prohibiting the transport to Holland, and vice versa, of letters or other written communications other than through the post.

THE OPERATION OF THE CO-INSURANCE CLAUSE

(Montreal Chronicle, Nov. 13.)

In view of the characteristic attack made upon the practice of co-insurance by the self-styled insurance "expert" of Toronto Saturday night, the occasion may be taken to state once again plainly and accurately what co-insurance is and does. Co-insurance affords to the insured reduced rates of premium in consideration of an undertaking to carry a certain specified proportion of insurance as to value. Supposing that an 80 per cent. co-insurance clause is inserted in a policy on property value 1,000, then the requirement upon the insured is that he shall maintain insurance upon that property of 800. If he carries $800 insurance, then in the event of a loss, the insurance company pays any loss up to the face value of the policy. If on the other hand, the insured fails to carry $800 insurance as he has undertaken to do, then he is regarded in the event of a loss, as a contributor to the loss in ratio of the deficiency in insurance. For example:—

Value of property	$1000
0 per cent. insurance under Co.-Ins. clause	800
Insurance carried	600
Loss	500
Company pays 6-8 or	375
Insured pays 2-8 or	125

Operating on Partial Losses Only.

It must be clearly understood, however, that the co-insurance clause only operates in case of partial losses under 80 per cent. of value; it does not operate in cases where the loss is total or more than 80 per cent. of value. For example:—

Value of property	$1000
80 per cent. insurance	800
Insurance carried	600
Loss	800
Company pays 6-8 or	600
(A total loss under the policy)
Assured loses 2-8 or	200

It is of importance also to note that co-insurance is only insisted upon by the insurance companies in the case of blanket ratings which are based on the understanding that a certain proportion of insurance will be carried. In other and very usual cases a lower rate is offered as direct return, but the insured then has the option of paying the higher rate without the co-insurance restriction.

A Charge Without Evidence.

The insurance "expert" of Toronto Saturday Night who has been girding at the insurance companies for their use of this clause, frankly accuses them of utilizing it as a means of defrauding policyholders at the time of settlement of losses — a charge which he makes without bringing a shred of evidence in support of it. He omits to mention another point of which he must have become perfectly well aware in the course of his extensive practice in adjusting losses, that the fire companies are continually paying losses which they would be well justified in contesting. The trouble is that at the present time it is too easy to collect fire insurance. It would be eventually to the advantage of the public if fires and their origin were more closely investigated and, in the settlement of losses, the conditions of the policy more rigidly adhered to. Were this course of action followed, it is pretty certain that there would be a decided reduction in the fire waste.

DEFEAT FOR THE TURKS

East Indians Capture Guns and Prisoners in Engagement

LONDON, Nov. 17.—It is officially announced that since the occupation of Fao, at the head of the Persian Gulf, by a British Indian force, on Nov. 8, two actions have been fought with the Turkish forces, who "on both occasions have been severely handled and defeated after stubborn resistance."

The announcement continues: "The first of these attacks occurred early in the morning of Nov. 11, when the Turks made a determined attack on the British outposts. On the fourteenth further reinforcements arrived from India, and the following day the Indians, commanded by Gen. Delamain, sortied and attacked the Turks, occupying a post about four miles distant, assisted by the sloops Espiegle and Odin.

"The enemy's camp was captured and many prisoners and guns were taken. The British casualties were two officers wounded and eight men killed and fifty-one wounded."

NO CHANGE IN PLANS

Civic Depatation Waited on the Provincial Health Officer Today

DISPOSAL PLANT

When Saturday morning's mail contained a letter to Mayor Buller from the Provincial Board of Health asking if it were possible for the city to construct the sewerage disposal plant on some site other than the one selected across the Otonabee River in the Township of Otonabee, the city officials were given cause for alarm. Five or six thousand dollars had already been spent in securing levels and performing the preliminary work in the erection of the outfall sewer and sewage disposal plant and if the city was to be denied the right to place the plant on the other side of the river at the end of Lock Street, it would mean that the money was practically wasted.

Mayor Buller immediately conferred with City Engineer Parsons and old communications between the city and the Provincial Board were gone over. It was found that the plans for the work had been submitted to the Board, as is customary, and the plans were approved. Dr. McCullough and Engineer Dallyn of the Provincial Board were in the city some time ago and went over the proposed route of the outfall sewer, and it was then pointed out that the sewage disposal plant could be placed in no other site than across the river from the end of Lock Street.

Armed with this ammunition and accompanied by his body guard, Ald. Johnston, Ald. Duncan and the City Engineer, Mayor Buller arranged for a conference with the Provincial Board for this morning. That the deputation was successful in their efforts to have the work progress after the original plans is shown by the following telegram received at noon by The Review:

"Everything indicates that the Provincial Board will allow the sewage disposal plant to be erected on the original site in Otonabee.

(Signed) WM. BULLER."

Just why the Provincial Board should have stepped in at such a late date and requested the plans to be altered is hard to explain. Mayor Buller, in speaking of the matter to a Review man yesterday, stated that to his mind it was the result of other influences being brought into play. The residents of Otonabee have been decidedly opposed to the plant being erected within the boundaries of their township, and it is thought that some champion of their cause urged the Board to try and have the city decide on another site. Evidently to gratify the request, the Board sent Saturday's letter to this city.

The quick action of Mayor Buller and the success of the same cannot be too highly commended, for it undoubtedly saved the city a handsome sum. From now on it will be clear sailing, so far as the outfall sewer and sewerage disposal plant are concerned.

The land on the opposite side of the river has not been purchased as yet, and it will very likely have to be expropriated. The work of expropriating this property and constructing the sewage disposal plant will be the main work awaiting execution by the 1915 Council. Consideration of the latter fact has caused many citizens to be extremely desirous that Mayor Buller retain the position of leader of the Council of Ten for another term.

Bobcaygeon Man Found Not Guilty

(Lindsay Post.)

The charges of alleged conspiracy to defraud the Canadian Express Co., which had been preferred against Mr. A. R. Croft, of Bobcaygeon, were dismissed by His Honor Judge Harding at the Court House Saturday afternoon, after a few witnesses were heard. The court held that no evidence whatever had been produced to show that the accused was in any way guilty of the charges laid. Over a dozen witnesses were subpoenead, but some four or five only were examined.

The circumstances leading up to the charges being laid are fresh in the memory of our readers. The Express clerk on the Lindsay-Bobcaygeon C.P.R. train had been arrested, charged with defrauding the Dominion Express Co. It was afterwards claimed that Mr. Croft was a partner in the alleged offence and his arrest followed.

The dismissal of the charges against him by the Court on Saturday shows clear that Mr. Croft was innocent of the crime. The result was received with great satisfaction by his friends.

Officers May be Interned

LONDON, Nov. 17.—Telegraphing from Christiania, the correspondent of Reuter's Telegram Co. says that the British steamer Weymar, on her way from Archangel, Russia, to Leith, Scotland, ran ashore on Borre Island, off the coast of Norway. All hands were saved and taken to Torndhejem. Among them are 20 British officers who recently brought over a Canadian icebreaker for the Russian Government.

The question is now being raised as to whether these officers are to be interned.

Move Back To Paris.

LONDON, Nov. 17.—It is reported that the seat of the French Government is being returned to Paris. All of the official Government staff and the Chamber of Deputies will arrive here to-day.

CRACOW INVESTED

Russians Have Laid Siege to City From the North.

Italian Paper Declares That Capital of Galicia is in Flames and That the Inhabitants Are in Flight---Reports at Petrograd Say Germans Have Taken Charge and Have Ousted Austrian Defenders.

LONDON, Nov. 17.—The Giornale d'Italia of Rome publishes a despatch from Venice which says that news has been received there that Cracow, the capital of Galicia, is burning and that its inhabitants are fleeing. Cracow is invested on the north, and is expected to fall immediately.

From reports of Russian scouting detachments which had ridden within a few miles of Cracow it appears the Germans have taken command of the forts and defences there, and have substituted German soldier for Austrians in garrisoning the stronghold.

This step has caused further dissentions between the Germans and Austrians, the latter being relegated to the defence of the Carpathians, and not allowed any voice in directing the campaign.

All indications point to a rupture between the two armies.

Petrograd further reports that the Russian campaign is developing favorably in East Prussia.

On the Polish frontier and in Galicia two enormous armies are massing for a battle which may decide the fortunes of the war in the east.

The possibility is being discussed that the Austrians may abandon Cracow without defence rather than submit the city to a destructive bombardment.

The Russian advance in East Prussia, according to advices received at Petrograd from the front, is being assisted materially by cold weather, which enables the troops to move more rapidly. In the swampy region of East Prussia movements of the army have been retarded by soft roads. This condition has now been remedied by the cold weather, which has frozen the roads.

A fall of snow during the last two days is reported over the entire field of operations, but not to a sufficient extent to prove a serious obstacle to the movement of troops.

Fresh troops now being sent to the front are supplied with short coats of tanned sheepskin. Relief societies in Petrograd and other Russian cities are bending every effort to collect woollen garments.

Despatches to Petrograd papers indicate that the Germans are making slow progress along the line which extends from the River Warthe across the Vistula to the southern frontier of East Prussia, fifty miles east of Thorn. The new front extends over a distance of three hundred miles from the Warthe to the extreme northeastern section of East Prussia.

The German right wing now appears to be feeling its way. The centre of the line is stubbornly resisting the determined advance of the Russians. The left wing is protected to some extent by the broken character of the country and by complicated artificial fortifications. In this region the chief German reliance appears to be heavy artillery, since cavalry operations are almost impossible in such a country.

"The Germans are concentrating great armies at Thorn, Posen and Breslau and plan to fight desperately to prevent the Russian occupation of the important parts of Silesia and Posen. Only the utmost need will persuade the Germans to send any troops back to the western front at present."

A word of caution to the allies comes from Petrograd. This is that they must not expect the Russians to sweep on to Berlin over night, as it were, as this may take months and even longer. The Germans occupy the defences they have been preparing for years, and in addition to this they may be able to spare even more men for the operation on their eastern front.

BISHOP O'BRIEN TOOK PART IN BIG TEMPERANCE RALLY

Montreal, Nov. 16—"There should not be one bar in Montreal," declared His Grace Archbishop Bruchesi, speaking to twelve hundred persons at the temperance rally held yesterday afternoon in St. Ann's Hall, Ottawa and Young streets, under the auspices of the St. Ann's Total Abstinence and Benefit Society, and as part of an entire day's program in the cause of temperance in St. Ann's parish. On the platform were men holding some of the foremost positions, including the following, who spoke: Rt. Rev. M. J. O'Brien, Bishop of Peterborough; Hon. C. J. Doherty, Minister of Justice, who presided; Sir Charles Fitzpatrick, who told of having become a total abstainer because he felt his duty to his fellow-men demanded it; Hon. J. J. Guerin, ex-Mayor of Montreal; J. C. Walsh, K. C., Crown Prosecutor in Montreal; Rev. Jerald J. McShane, Pastor of St. Patrick's Church, and Rev. G. Daly, Pastor of St. Ann's Church. S. J. Carter, President of the Dominion Alliance, was also on the platform.

Patriotism was evident throughout the meeting. As the invited guests entered the hall the orchestra played "It's a long, long way to Tipperary," and as the meeting closed "God Save the King" was played. The building was decorated with Union Jacks, Irish and United States flags, and the forces fighting for the cause of temperance were several times compared to the allied army in Europe.

His Lordship Bishop O'Brien followed His Grace Archbishop Bruchesi. As long, he said, as there was a saloon, the fight against liquor must be waged. The entrances to the saloons might be made more respectable, dance halls might be removed, but "the meanest thing about a saloon is the saloon itself."

Last night Bishop O'Brien preached on "Total Abstinence" in St. Ann's Church, urging all young men to enlist in total abstinence societies. Archbishop Bruchesi gave the benediction, and 150 boys under 18 years of age took the temperance pledge.

At 2.30 o'clock in the afternoon Rev. Charles Kelz and Bishop O'Brien addressed the school children of St. Ann's parish; in the morning Rev. Father Campbell, S. Cannot Export Nickel

Embargo Placed on This and Several Other Commodities

Canada, possessing the largest and richest nickel deposits in the world deposits which have in the past, been drawn on generously to supply armor plate for what are now enemy countries, now prohibits, the export of that commodity to Europe except to Britain, France and Russia.

An order-in-council under the customs act has been passed prohibiting the export to enemy countries not only of nickel and nickel ores but of several other commodities which may be used in war.

The prohibited list embraces graphite for range finders, nickel and nickel ores, motor engines, aeroplanes and all air craft, wool and sheep skins, warships, including boats used on them, food stuffs for animals, gold and silver coin or bullion, vehicles of all kinds, vessels, crafts and boats, powder and explosives, barbed wire and devices for cutting, etc., unwrought copper, lead, pig, sheet or pipe, hæmenatite, iron ore, magnetic iron ore, hides and skins, raw or tanned, but including the dressed variety and rubber of all kinds.

The general purpose of the government's order is to prohibit the export to the countries with which we are at war of any commodities which may facilitate the operations of the enemy or supply them with munitions. As regards nickel the prohibition is of particular importance considering how essential is that mineral in armament manufacture and in view of Canada's great and almost exclusive supply.

BLIND BAGGAGE FOR HONEYMOON TRIP OF ELOPERS

Girl in Male Attire Was Found Out When Her Hair Fell Down

IS ONLY FIFTEEN

Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 17.—Wishing to elope in romantic fashion, Evelyn Ashford, age fifteen, of No. 4805 Winton Avenue, Cincinnati, and Frank Nolan, age eighteen, also of Cincinnati, climbed aboard the blind baggage of Big Four passenger train No. 43 at Cincinnati and were taken into custody by the police here when the train reached this city.

The boy and girl were half frozen. The girl was dressed in boy's clothing, having donned a suit belonging to her companion. She carried with her a bundle of her own clothing, together with a shorthand and spelling book.

The girl's father is a silversmith, and the boy has been working in a factory at Cincinnati. They have known each other only a few weeks. On account of the girl's age she dared not suggest marriage and so decided to run away to Chicago to marry Nolan. Miss Ashford was taken to the Martha Home and the boy was detained in jail. Word has been sent to the girl's parents.

The girl broke down and cried when the police told her she must go back home. She said she did not want to face her family and friends. She attended business college and immediately afterward met young Nolan. They then arranged to ride the passenger train to Chicago.

When the train reached Indianapolis the girl's hair had fallen from under her hat and the trainmen saw it and told the Indianapolis police. The couple, however, eluded the police there and climbed aboard the train again. No word was sent to the local police by the Indianapolis police, but it was through railroad authorities that the runaways were arrested.

PREPARING FOR THE NEW EFFORT TO RAISE FUNDS

Officer to Distribute Patriotic Fund Has Yet to be Appointed

A PUBLIC MEETING

The executive committee in charge of the Patriotic Fund met last evening in the council chamber and dealt with a few necessary matters by way of preparation for starting a second campaign to raise money for the Fund. Despite the fact that the committee embraces some fifteen men, chairman D. O'Connell called the meeting to order with the following present: Rev. Pogue, G. A. Gillespie, M.L.A., E. Navy, B. D. Hall, A. H. Stratton and Secreary S. R. Armstrong. On motion of Messrs. Stratton and Pogue, F. D. Kerr, R. M. Waddell and Rev. Jas. Rollins were added to the committee.

The resolution passed by the general meeting a few days ago which called for the appointing of an officer to perform the duties of distributing the funds to the families, was considered. Mr. O'Connell explained that the fact of Mr. Miller officiating at City Relief Officer, has a tendency to affect the feelings of the families in distress. It was decided to leave the matter in the hands of Messrs. Stratton and Gillespie who will report to another meeting of the executive on Friday evening of this week.

It was resolved to have Mr. Stratton work in conjunction with Mayor Buller in endeavoring to hold a public meeting in the Grand Opera House and have Rev. Canon Cody and Rev. Father Minehan as the principal speakers.

F. D. Kerr was appointed assistant secretary to assist Mr. Armstrong. Both will put forth extra efforts to have all the members of the executive present on Friday evening.

MINE KILLS SEVEN

Three Officers, One Civilian and Three Sailors Meet Death.

LONDON, Nov. 17.—A mine washed ashore near West Capelle, Holland, exploded yesterday while being examined, killing three naval officers, one civilian and three sailors. This information was contained in an announcement made by the Dutch Ministry of Marine and cabled from Amsterdam to Reuter's Telegram Co.

Several mines had been taken to pieces successfully before the accident occurred. Between 30 and 40 mines were seen in the Scheldt near Flushing Sunday. Some were destroyed, the Dutch officials say, by torpedo boats and others were washed ashore.

The liberality with which the Germans have spread mines in the North Sea is indicated by the fact that during the last week the Dutch coast guards have picked up from 12 to 20 mines daily.

OFFICIAL BULLETINS

PARIS, Nov. 17.—The night bulletin issued by the War Office said:—

"The situation is without modification."

The afternoon bulletin was as follows:—

"During all of yesterday on the Yser Canal, from Nieuport to the point on the river opposite Dixmude, the fighting was limited to artillery exchanges, the country having been further inundated. The submerged territory now stretches to the south of Dixmude to a point five kilometres to the north of Bixschoote.

"The forces of the enemy which endeavored to cross the canal in the region between Dixmude and Bixschoote all were driven back beyond the bridges. A German regiment was completely destroyed at a point to the south of Bixschoote."

"At the southeast of Ypres two other German attacks were repulsed.

"On our part we have taken the offensive and reconquered certain points of support which the enemy some days ago succeeded in capturing.

"For the last few days, between the River Lys and the River Oise, there have been only small minor operations by small units, and we have made slight progress in our works of approach.

"In the region on the River Aisne, in the district of Champaigne, only cannonades, without result, have occurred. In the Argonne district the Germans have made another attack upon St. Hubert without success.

"In the region of St. Mihiel the enemy has failed in a surprise attack in the forest of Apremont, and the Vosges there is little activity."

MR. BOWSER'S STUNTS

He Consets to Show what He Can do on Roller Skates

By M. QUAD

[Copyright, 1914, by Associated Literary Press.]

As a rule Mr. Bowser sits down after dinner to his newspaper and cigar for an hour or so, but the other evening he made ready to go out.

"Is it the club?" queried Mrs. Bowser.

"I may go around to the club," he answered evasively.

"Perhaps there's a ward caucus or something?"

"Yes, mebbe."

Mrs. Bowser didn't press the subject, and after an interval of five minutes Mr. Bowser turned to her.

"I'll tell you where I'm going. I'm going up to Roller hall with Barnes. He's been at me for a month to go with him some night, and I've finally consented. He wants me to show him a trick or two."

"A trick or two about what?"

"In roller skating. He's got it bad, you know. He's been out every night since the hall was opened."

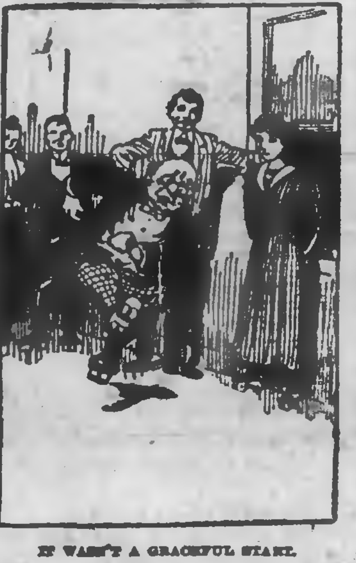
"But you—you don't know anything about skating," protested Mrs. Bowser.

Won't Argue the Question.

"Excuse me, madam," replied Mr. Bowser as he drew himself up, "but I beg to dispute with you. I don't say that I have had any great practice, but I've looked into the theory carefully, and I think I can show Barnes and all the rest of 'em a few wrinkles."

"Are you going to take an ambulance and a surgeon along?"

"That will do, Mrs. Bowser. You'd oppose me, of course, but don't try to be funny. I am going to the hall. I shall put on skates and cut pigeon wings, figure eights, crosses and all sorts of scrolls. It will not only be an outing for me, but will take the stiffness out of that left knee. You needn't sit up for me."



IT WASN'T A GRACEFUL START.

"If you are badly injured I suppose they will take you to the hospital and notify me?" observed Mrs. Bowser as Barnes rang the doorbell.

Mr. Bowser choked back a hot reply and passed out. Mrs. Bowser got out a roll of plaster and placed it in the hall.

"Watch Me!" Says Mr. Bowser.

As a boy Mr. Bowser had "shot the ice skate" to some extent, and he had confidence that the lapse of thirty years would make no difference in his curlycuing about. That confidence grew larger and more liberal every minute as he journeyed along with Barnes, and he was not yet halfway to the park when he gleefully and confidentially observed:

"I'm not after a prize for fancy skating, but I think I'll open the eyes of the crowd a little before I'm through. I'll play off at first, but you watch my zigzags when I get down to business. I'm pretty heavy for a swan or a gazelle, but I think I can cut a few dodges—just a few."

It was a fine night, and the rink was crowded. It was not until Mr. Bowser saw the jam that he felt any loss of confidence. Most of the skaters were young people, and it suddenly occurred to him that he might have grown a little heavy. He was wondering if he couldn't work that left knee off on Barnes as an excuse when a bad faced young man who was looking on as a spectator turned and said:

"Don't yer put 'em on, old man."

"What do you mean, sir?" demanded Mr. Bowser.

"Don't put on dem skates. Yer too fat and loggy. Yer might roll downhill in a bar'l, but yer can't cut no pigeon wings on dis floor!"

Warning Only Spurs Him On.

Mr. Bowser got mad all over, and from that minute his determination was fixed. He would skim that floor as the gull skims the sea, only with a good deal more grace, and after the skimming act was over he would make that bad faced young man beg his pardon for the insulting words.

"How are you going to work it?" asked Barnes as his skates were adjusted and all was ready.

"He'll work it wid a flipflop and a dumdum," put in the bad faced young man. "Say, cully, when old Uncle Josh gits out dere on skates dere's goin to be a time to beat der band. Look at the heft on him. Look at der curves on his hind legs. I wouldn't miss de sight for a hatful of coin."

Mr. Bowser was reaching out for the young man with the firm intention of wrecking his life when a policeman interfered. There were fifty people about when a start was made from the edge of the floor. It wasn't a graceful start. It was a start with a hippo and a hobble, with the left leg dragging behind. The crowd decided that it was a bluff by a professional skater, and the policeman called out:

"Our Uncle Eli has got a trick up his sleeve!"

The Cynosure of All Eyes.

"Give in, old man, and cut da pigeon wing!" yelled a third.

Mr. Bowser would have given a million dollars in cash, a brick house and a yoke of oxen to have been toasting his toes at his own fireside just then, but he was in for it and must carry it through. As he wobbled around on the floor he tried to remember how he used to start in to cut a Roman scroll, but memory failed him. The shouting continued, but there was nothing encouraging. He finally determined to get his feet together and make a circle of the room to drive the weakness out of his knees, and then the end came. At his first move his heels shot forward, his body dangled in space for an instant, and then he came down with a crash and a concussion. The concussion took place when the back of his head hit the floor, and it was just as well for his peace of mind that he lost consciousness for the next sixty seconds and didn't hear what was said. When he came to he had been dragged to the door, the skates were removed, and the policeman was saying:

"Now, old man, if you've any home to go to you'd better git! Your line is jumping over eight horses and an elephant, and you should stick to it."

"It was dis way," said the bad faced young man, who had cautioned old Mr. Bowser in the beginning. "We was a happy crowd here and all was going well, when dis old rooster comes along and begins his brag as how he kin crisscross and flipflop and razzle-dazzle. He blows so much dat we give him a show. De fust ting he does is to bump into Jimmy de Kid. Den he caroms against Foxy Doles, knocks de heels from under two females and skeers de life out'n four innocent children. We t'ought he was only hilarious, but when he tried de grand flipflop and lost his legs and got up with his ears flappin' we seen dat he was only a bill on wheels. As many of dis crowd as favors giving him de grand chuck will hold up de right hand."

Wants to Know How It Happened.

Most of the hands went up, but the policeman interfered and again advised Mr. Bowser to cultivate the acquaintance of his fireside without unnecessary delay.

Mr. Barnes said he'd go home with him, but Mr. Bowser glared at him and made threatening gestures. Then Mr. Bowser said he was sorry about the crash and the collision and asked how it happened, but Mr. Barnes waved him aside and left the hall alone. There were fourteen different aches in his back, and his head seemed to be four times too large and full of wheels, but he wouldn't take a hack. It was an hour before he reached home. Mrs. Bowser was still up, and she met him at the door. One look at him told the story.

"Woman"— he began as he held on to a peg of the hall tree with one hand, but she stopped him with a gesture. Then she gently deposited him on the lounge and said:

"You evidently fell out of a tree. Just lie quiet and I will do all I can. It may take years to reduce this bump on your head, and I notice that you are lop shouldered and have one leg twisted out of shape, but don't worry. It's all in the pigeon wings, you know."

After the War--What?

When the war is over, what then? Are there good times or hard times in store for us? Will the era of high prices continue, with steady work for all, or will we experience a setback that will keep us poor for years?

The answer to that question is very largely in our own hands. It depends on us Canadians—not on the few in high places, but on every one of us.

Every year we are importing hundreds of millions of dollars worth of goods, much of which could be produced just as well in Canada.

Suppose they were produced here. Think of the number of workmen who would be employed. Think of what it would mean in wages, and money kept in circulation. Think of what it would mean to our farmers, to our shopkeepers—to our builders, to everybody.

Think of what it would mean to you.

They can be produced here, they will be produced here, if you just stop and think every time you make a purchase.

Think, say and see that you get:

Friendly Wild Geese

Extraordinary Results of Ontario Men's Kindness to Game Birds

That wild geese are shrewd enough to know friend from foe, and that if you "throw a handful of feed to them instead of a thimbleful of shot," they will lose their fear of man and make their home within a stone's throw of human habitations, has been clearly demonstrated by the experiments of Mr. John T. Miner of Kingsville, Essex county, Ontario, who provides for the large flock of wild geese which, of recent years, has each spring visited his farm.

The history of the growth of this flock furnishes an interesting example of what can be done to tame wild birds. In 1904 Mr. Miner obtained seven wild geese, clipped their wings, and placed them on his pond as decoys, but wild geese were so scarce that it was four years before any others joined them. In the spring of 1908 eleven came, the following year 32, and in 1910 as many as 350. Since that time they have been too numerous to give any exact estimate, but probably about 1,000 may be found on the premises at a time. Since 1911 no shooting whatever has been indulged in within the reserve. By moving the feed by degrees the geese have been coaxed to come right up to the house.

Wild ducks also frequent the pond, and some of these have been identified by aluminum bands, bearing Mr. Miner's address. By means of these he has established the fact that they return to his place every spring, or, if they fail to return, he has been able to learn what has happened to them. One was shot as far off as Paris, Kentucky. Those that return nest in the neighborhood and bring up their young before again migrating.

Mr. Miner's experiments are a striking illustration of how easy it would be to conserve the migrating bird life of this continent if only refuges were provided, where the birds could remain for a short time unmolested during their seasonal flights to their breeding grounds and back again.—Rod and Gun.

Incubation Problem

Not Definitely Known Why Well-Developed Chicks Die in Shell

The main problem in incubation vexing the poultrymen of the world is the finding of well-developed chickens dead in the shell. A definite cause is apparently unknown. Sometimes the chickens are in such a position that it would be impossible for them to make a natural turn in order to cut their way out, while in other cases the chicks may be so large that they cannot make the necessary movement to break the shell.

Where sufficient moisture has not been present in the machine the skin on the inside of the shell is so tough that the chicken cannot pierce it, and consequently, the beak of the chick comes in contact with fluid when turning, and consequently it becomes smothered or drowned.

The arrangement of the air cell is thus seen to be a matter of vital importance, for upon this being brought down to the correct position, and the membrane being at the same time of the desired condition, the success of the incubation process mainly depends.

OUR NORTHERN WATER POWERS

The statement is sometimes made by the uninitiated that the water powers north of the settled parts of our Dominion are of little value. The existence of numerous falls and rapids in these parts is not denied, but the argument is advanced that the temperature and other climatic conditions existing where these falls and rapids are situated will prevent their utilization. As a direct contradiction to the above assertion, we need only turn to Norway, the latitude of which is about the same as that of the Yukon and where climatic conditions are similar to those of northern Canada. In size, Norway is only slightly larger than our Maritime Provinces, and yet we find their water power plants with a total capacity of over 1,500,000 h.p., either in actual operation or in course of construction. Hydro-electric stations of considerable size have been constructed in different parts of that country. Many of the smaller ones have been erected for municipal use; but the larger ones are for the electro-chemical industry, in which a main factor of success is cheap electric power.—Canadian Engineer.

A New Projectile

A new projectile, something between a torpedo and a shell, has been submitted for consideration to the French Admiralty. It glides and skims the surface of the water like a flat pebble, and has a range of nearly ten miles. It can be fired from either a torpedo tube or a twelve-inch gun, and contains a charge sufficient to destroy Dreadnoughts or a breakwater. The method of firing is particularly simple and can be effected from a conning tower without the use of the telemeter.

Saw-Edge Bayonet

Responsible Author and Correspondent Gives Proof of Their Use

Writing in the London Chronicle of the weapons found on the field of battle, Richard Harding Davis said:

"One of them is the most gruesome weapon of war I have ever known to have been issued to a civilized army. It is a German bayonet, half of which is a saw. When in London I was asked by English officers if I had seen in Belgium these bayonets, which because they rip and tear bone and flesh are forbidden by the laws of war. I had not seen them, nor did I believe they existed. I classed them with the other false charges that are being made in every war—of poisoned wells, dum-dum bullets, and firing on ambulances. Yesterday I saw three saw-bayonets found in trenches abandoned by Germans. The saw-edge was not given them by soldiers' hammering one blade against another, but was machine-made, and each bayonet bore a Government stamp, a number, an Imperial crown, and the word 'Erfurt.'"

Bank Clerks at War

"Taking the two largest of our joint stock banks," the London Financial Times remarks, "the London City and Midland and Lloyds, we understand that already between 700 and 800 men from each institution have enrolled themselves for active service during war. All consideration is being shown to them by the various Boards and their places are being kept open."

Prisoners in Russia

Russian tolerance towards prisoners of war is astonishingly illustrated at Kostroma, where a number of Austrians interned were permitted to lease a picture theatre, while another group of prisoners formed a band which plays Czech airs in the streets.

BIG FOUR SAW-OFF GOES TO HAMILTON

Argos and Jungle Kings Play in the Ambitious City — McGill and Varsity in Toronto

Toronto, Nov. 17.—Only one play-off for Toronto, Charlie Gage won the toss in Montreal on Saturday and McGill must play Varsity for the intercollegiate honors at the Stadium. The Argonauts failed to land the saw-off game with Tigers. Joe Wright tossed for the Scullers in J. Leslie Fergusson's office yesterday, and Bob Isbister of Hamilton named it right. So Hamilton it is, and only one game for Toronto.

The Argonauts are just as well pleased. While it would be nice and all that to get the gate here, they are satisfied to go to Hamilton and tame the Jungle terrors right in their own back yard. The Oarsmen are at top form, and it will be remembered that they trimmed the Tigers in Hamilton not so many months ago.

Eddie Phillips, the Big Four president, announces that Percy Roberts and himself will handle this important game. This is satisfactory to the teams concerned and Argonauts hope to come home Saturday night with the interprovincial honors, trim Hamilton Rowing Club a week later and meet Varsity for the Dominion championship Dec. 5.

EDDIE PLANK SIGNS WITH THE CHICAGO FEDERALS

Salary for the Postime is Said to be in Excess of $10,000

Philadelphia, Nov. 17. — Information which has reached here from an authentic source declares that Eddie Plank, baseball's greatest southpaw, will sign with the Chicago Federals. The report comes from a man who is close to the old Athletic warhorse, on whom Connie Mack recently asked waivers, in conjunction with Chief Bender and Jack Coombs.

Arthur Irwin, the scout for the New York Americans, was here for several days, and went to Gettysburg to talk business with the famous southpaw in an effort to secure him for Frank Farrell's team. Irwin departed for home saying that any statement about Plank's future would have to come from the latter.

Harry Davis, Connie Mack's right hand man, is also in Gettysburg, as a guest of Plank. Davis's visit to Eddie is purely personal, although there is also a report current here that Davis will also sign with the Feds in a manager's capacity.

Plank's tender from the Chi-Feds is said to be double the amount that he received from the Athletics, plus his share in the recent world's series. This would bring his season's salary in excess of $10,000.

TIGERS LOSE TROUT LECKIE

Norm Clark Will Also be Out of Argo-Tiger Game

Hamilton, Nov. 17. — The Tigers have lost Trout Leckie. The brilliant little halfback is giving up a bad job. For two seasons he has suffered from a bad knee, and this year he has twice been put out of the game owing to injuries to that knee. Saturday he got hurt early in the fray, and at half-time he declared that he would never play again. Leckie is a great player and his loss will be severely felt by the Tigers.

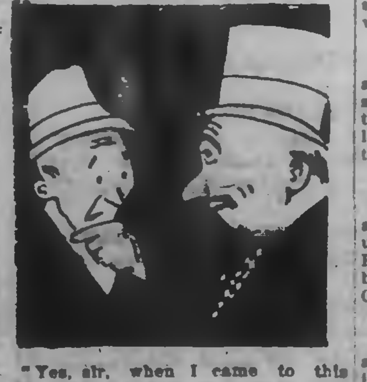
Norm. Clark's injury will hurt the Tigers' chances somewhat. He played the last half of the game with a bone in his left hand broken. The club physician is authority for the statement that the star middle wing will not be able to use his hand for at least two weeks.

Made Doubly Sure

Visitor: "why have you put two hot-water bottles in my bed, Bridget?"

Bridget: "Sure, mum, wan of thim was leaking, and I didn't know which so I put both in to make sure."

Must Have.



"Yes, sir, when I came to this town I didn't have a cent and in three years I was a rich man."

"Hum—joined the police force, I suppose."

Just New Scheme

"Hello, old man! Got a bad tooth?"

"No. Dentist owes me money; can't get near him. Trying new scheme!"

COMMENT As You Like it

THAT MONTREAL and McGill fans expect "Silver" Quilty, the former Ottawa College player to be their mainstay against Varsity on Saturday, can be readily realized on reading the following from the report of the McGill-Queen's game on Saturday:—

Quilty who was back in his old place at flying wing played the best line game on the field for he was a tower of strength to the locals at all times and was the man who headed most of the plunging bucks that gained McGill yards. The big fellow was at his best and deserves all that might be said of him in the way of praise. When he tackled there was no mistake about the efficacy of it for he hit his man with a thud that could be heard across the field. One would think that he would injure himself let alone hurting the other fellow the way he went at it but notwithstanding the fact that he did more of this work than any other man on the field, he seemed as fresh when called out by "Shag" in the final period as when he started in. He ought to be the mainstay of the locals in their line game next week-end.

IT WOULD not be "Livy" if he wasn't protesting. Just how strong he stands with Toronto fans is made known by the following from the Globe: "The childish claim that, because Ken Williams played in a game a couple of weeks ago, with the knowledge and consent of the T.R. and A.A. Ottawa should forfeit a game which he did not play is not likely to have any consideration at the hands of grown men, and if the T.R. and A.A. has any regard for public opinion the "protest" will be withdrawn, with an apology to the Ontario Union for lodging such a frivolous and ridiculous case. IT CANNOT REPRESENT THE PRINCIPLE OF ANY SELF-RESPECTING CLUB."

THE YANKEE RUGBY fans are beginning to realize the superiority of Canadian rugby over American football. Commenting on the Yale-Princeton game the New York Times says:—

"Yale's skill was the skill of the Canadian players. When Wilson, with the ball, was about to be tackled by a Princeton player, he deftly tossed the ball to LeGore, and when a Tiger plunged at LeGore be cleverly tossed the ball to Ainsworth or Knowles. With this play Princeton was up in the air. They had no defence for it, and the Blue played rings around them to their hearts' content."

IT WOULD be nice to see Varsity cop the Intercollegiate as they would participate in the Dominion finals. Six letters forming the word QUILTY denies us the privilege of securing a plain glimpse at that vision.

ONE OF THE greatest upsets of all baseball history occurred the past season and very little notice was taken of it. Hans Wagner batted less than .300, the first time such a thing has taken place since 1895.

ALTHOUGH "Gamey" Stratton and Dick Sheehy did not play on Saturday in the exhibition game against Hamilton Rowing Club the two local boys will undoubtedly be in the McGill-Varsity fray.

THE PRESTON HOCKEY teams are well into their preliminary training. We should fret about Peterboro, Preston cannot be called a good hockey town. Neither can Ty Cobb be called a consistent batter.

MIKE MULLEN, claimed by London Canadian League team and by Jersey City has been awarded to the Cockneys.

A FEW PETERBORO fans will be in Toronto on Saturday to see Intercollegiate decided.

PROTEST IS UNDECIDED

T.R. and A.A. Charges Against St. Pats Laid Over Till Tomorrow

Toronto, Nov. 17.—Much discussion but little work accomplished was the result of the meeting of the O.R.F.U. Executive at the King Edward Hotel last night. It was thought that the protest of T.R. and A.A. against Ottawa St. Patrick's on several different counts would be discussed and a settlement reached. It was discussed, and from all angles, but when the meeting was over, the Executive Committee were no nearer a settlement than when they started. It was finally decided to leave the matter over until Wednesday night, in order to give Ottawa a chance to send a representative who is acquainted with the facts of the case.

On Sunday Secretary Hugh Gall of the O.R.F.U. wired to Jack Williams of the Ottawa St. Patrick's that the protest against the club would be brought up at last night's meeting. The message was delayed until it was too late for St. Patrick's to send a representative, and they were forced to wire to W. J. Ryan of this city to represent them at the meeting. Mr. Ryan was at the meeting and placed the facts of the case, as he knew them, before the Executive Committee.

Secretary Hugh Gall, at the request of President E. B. MacGillivray presented to the Executive the protest of T.R. and A.A. against the playing of Ken Williams in the game at Toronto on October 31, and also the charges in connection with Saturday's game at Ottawa, namely:

1. That Bush of the Ottawa team is a professional wrestler.
2. That the Ottawa team made no effort to put the field into suitable playing condition.

CRESSMAN FIVE WON FAST GAME

Ford Turner Met With Mishap and Had to Retire

Another fast game took place last night at the Y.M.C.A. between Cressmans and the Jr. Business Men. During the first half of the game it was nip and tuck all the way, the half ending with the score of 8-6 in favor of Cressmans. About three minutes after the whistle had blown for the start of the second period, Ford Turner met with an accident which retired him for the rest of the game. Sisson took his place and showed his ability to fill an emergency in grand style.

Early in the second half Cressmans began to increase their lead and they were never stopped. Hunter, the new recruit on the Cressman aggregation, showed his ability not only as a good defence man, but also as having an eye for the basket. He got down the floor and succeeded in scoring four points. Fred Cressman was again high man for his team scoring 8 points while Raynor came second with 6. For the Business Men Johnson was the leader with 3 baskets and one foul to his credit, Cranfield and Metherall both played their positions well but could not seem to locate the basket.

There should be a fast game Wednesday night when Ross Dobbin' veteran aggregation meets the Excelsiors. Both of these teams won their first games by good margins, and they are both looked upon as runners up for first place. What the Excelsiors lack in experience and weight they make up for in speed, while the veterans have both experience and weight. All who are interested in this great indoor game should come out Wednesday night. Game at 9 o'clock. Admission free. Ladies cordially invited. The line up in last night's game:—

Cressmans.		Jr. Business Men.
H. Cressman	r.f.	Metherall
F. Cressman	l.f.	Cranfield
Raynor	c.	Johnson
Palmer	r.g.	F. Turner, C. Sisson
Hunter	l.g.	M. Turner

Time: 10 and 15 min. Referee, Carson.

BRICKLEY MAY PLAY SATURDAY

Harvard Captain Would Try Field Goal Against Yale

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 17.—Captain Brickley of the Harvard football team said yesterday he would play in the Yale game next Saturday should Harvard get into a position where a field goal would win for the Crimson.

The great drop-kicker, who was operated on for appendicitis five weeks ago, said: "I expect to play in the Yale game if the coaches think that a try at field goal is necessary. I am kicking now as well as ever. Of course, I shall get into no scrimmaging."

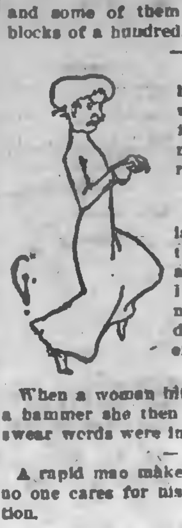
STILL the flowers bloom in the spring without permission or hindrance from the trusts as long as they try their blooming only in the backwoods.

There are people who stay up in the air a long time who have no connection with airships, parachutes or balloons.

We often judge a man by the things he doesn't get and the people he does not know.

Man wants a whole lot here below, and some of them want the lots in blocks of a hundred.



It wouldn't be so bad if knockers were discriminating, but discriminating kickers are rare.

No Chance.

He loved his wife, or claimed he did,
And yet the silence was unbroken.
In just an even dozen years
No word by him to her was spoken.
The neighbors shook their heads and said:
"There surely must be trouble brewing.
It seems a pity, too, for he
Was, oh, so ardent in his wooing!"

The days ran on and into weeks
And into months as time went flying,
But not a word from him there came
To break his silence long and trying.
Sometimes it almost seemed that words
Were just about to find expression,
But every time, on second thought,
The unborn sentence met suppression.

Though strange the statement may appear,
His wife, the picture of contentment,
Did not appear to notice it
Or hold his silence in resentment.
It didn't seem to worry her,
For he was so polite and formal—
In fact, as far as she could see
It was a situation normal.

"Why is it?" asked a friend one day
Who, after information seeking,
Inquired as to the reason why
He had cut off his family speaking.
"I haven't," he replied, with spunk.
"I try my end to hold with her din,
But for some years I haven't found
A place where I could get a word in."

Quite Proper.

"John?"

"Yes, dear."

"I saw you coming out of a saloon yesterday."

"And how glad you were, weren't you?"

"Glad?"

"Certainly. You wouldn't have me stay in a saloon, would you?"

Needed the Credit.

"I hear you have inherited a fortune."

"Nothing in it, old man."

"But how did such a rumor get around? Everybody is talking about it. Who started it?"

"I did. I wanted to get my trunk out of the boarding house."

"Is he good to his wife?"

"He is, indeed."

"Deals gently with her failings, I suppose?"

"Yes, and lets her keep 25 cents out of every dollar she earns."

Certainly.

"What should a young man do the first year out of college?"

"What should he do?"

"Yes."

"Try to get some useful ideas in his head, of course."

Had Enough.

"I heard you were working this morning."

"I was."

"What is going to happen?"

"Well, that isn't going to happen again."

GIFT OF CUFF LINKS AND PIN

For Wilbert Taylor From Dominion Express Co. Staff

Mr. Wilbert D. Taylor, who has been cashier here for the Dominion Express Co., for the past six years, has been transferred to Ottawa.

On Saturday evening the local staff presented him with an address, and gave him a set of gold cuff links and a tie pin. Mr. Taylor in a few well chosen words expressed his deep regret in having to sever his connections with the local branch, and spoke of pleasant memories that he would take away with him.

Mr. Taylor left last evening for Ottawa carrying with him the best wishes of success from the employes of the local branch.

Canon Davidson Took Services at Port Hope

(Port Hope Guide.)

Canon Davidson, of Peterborough, officiated yesterday at all services in St. John's Church. In the morning his subject was "The Religion of Good Cheer," as appropriate to present conditions. The power of Christ's religion should be manifest, the preacher urged, in His true disciples as people of strength and character, and an inward confidence and joy, which should overcome our depressing influences to which one might be subjected.

Canon Davidson congratulated the congregation on their strong and wise leader in the person of Rev. J. A. Elliott, so widely known in the Canadian Church. He also made patriotic references to the duty of all Canadians at the present time. Rev. F. W. Kennedy, Missionary in Japan, assisted at the evening service. Mr. Kennedy will shortly leave for his field of work.

TRENT CANAL OPERATIONS.

Work on the Trent Vanal this year has lasted considerably longer than last, according to the reports from the local office, and as a result the employes have been kept at work a much longer period.

LOCAL HUNTER CHARGED BY ANGRY BUCK

To be charged by a maddened buck after the contents of a rifle had entered its body, was the rather exciting experience of Mr. Tom Brightman last week. Mr. Brightman didn't want the reporter to say much about it, and with becoming modesty tried to laugh it off. It seems that he was at Gull Lake and spied a fine buck. He took a shot at the monarch, the bullet taking effect in the front quarter of the animal. Turning in its pain and rage, the wounded buck saw Mr. Brightman and bore down upon him with a bellow that sounded like his death-knell. Mr. Brightman dodged to one side, and the animal tumbled over a steep incline. Mr. Brightman quickly put an end to its suffering with a couple more shots.

The season this year was a poor one, said Mr. Brightman. He related a story that had come to him about a deer charging several hounds owned by the Miller party of Warsaw. One dog was killed immediately, its back being broken by the animal's hoofs.

Search For Survivors Fails.

VALPARAISO, Chile, Nov. 17.—The Chilean hospital ship Valdivia, which has been searching the seas for possible survivors of the British cruisers lost in the engagement with the German squadron off the Chilean coast on Nov. 1, arrived yesterday at Talcahuana and reports her search entirely without success. She found nothing in the way of wreckage or boats from the British vessels. The Chilean Admiralty announces that its search is now over.

Spies on Transport Shot.

MEDICINE HAT, Alta., Nov. 17.—A private letter to a citizen here from a member of the Canadian contingent in England, tells of the shooting of two members of the contingent from Edmonton as German spies.

In the letter it says they poisoned food on the ship going over, making many soldiers very ill.

A move to keep out foreign beer has been made in Toronto.

PLEASANT HOUR SPENT WITH YOUNG PEOPLE

Church Societies Have Attractive Programs for Monday Night Meetings

Winter activities among young people's societies promise to be extremely brisk. Gratifying interest is being shown by the members in the winter programs, and old members, backsliders, and new members are rapidly coming into membership. The majority of these societies are extending commendable efforts to provide a series of bright, profitable and entertaining meetings this winter, and there is no excuse for young people attending any church, feeling neglected or left outside the circle of church activities or associations.

An Illustrated Lecture.

An illustrated lecture was the feature of the Epworth League meeting at George Street Church on Monday evening. The subject concerned conditions in Larador and Newfoundland and the work of Dr. Grenfell in that district. The splendid lecture was heard by a goodly number of people, and their appreciation of it was shown by the hearty vote of thanks tendered Rev. R. G. Peever, who gave the address.

During the evening Miss Kemp and Mr. Brown rendered a duet in their usual pleasing style.

History of the Baptists.

Murray Street Church young people again had the privilege of hearing Rev. J. R. Webb speak last evening on "The History of Our Denomination." The address was the continuation of a series which Rev. Mr. Webb is delivering to the young people of the church. A large number were out to hear him.

Standards of Excellence.

The Young People's Guild of St. Paul's held an interesting service, about twenty minutes being given over to two-minute addresses by ten members, who took up ten standards of excellence. Each speaker chose some one standard, and was alloted but two minutes in which to speak.

Before and after the meeting an executive meeting was held, and it was practically decided that the guild should undertake responsibility for two or three poor families during the coming winter.

Mr. C. H. Brown presided at the meeting.

What is Worth While?

The Epworth League of Mark Street Methodist Church is rapidly growing, both in membership and enthusiasm. Mr. Ward Gamble took the topic last night, speaking on "What Is Worth While?" The meeting was under the auspices of the prayer meeting committee.

THEATRICAL

The Imperial Musical Company opened their six-day engagement at the Grand last night by presenting a New York musical comedy, "The Girl Question." The popular prices drew a fairly large audience, which, judging by the hearty applause, enjoyed the attraction and "got their money's worth." The play billed for tonight is "Mr. Dooley's Wedding Day."

There were a number of catchy songs, and the comedy was at all times refined. Christie and Feldman provide a lot of fun.

OBITUARY

HAROLD EVANS ALLISON.

Six year old Harold Evans Allison, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Allison, 593 Bethune Street, died this afternoon at noon. The funeral arrangements are pending.

The German government has confiscated 20,000,000 marks ($5,000,000) belonging to the Bank of Finland and deposited with various German banks.

The war is said to be costing the United States $6,000,000 daily now, against a daily average of $7,000,000 during the first three months of the war.

BRANDING OF DAIRY BUTTER

The Dairy Industry Act, 1914, is largely a revision of Part VIII of the Inspection and Sale Act, which Part it repeals.

The underlying principle of the law is protection to the consumer, the honest manufacturer and the honest trader. The whole object of the law is to prevent misrepresentation. No reasonable practice is interfered with.

A new subsection in the Act deals with the weight of butter as put up in prints or blocks. This subsection reads as follows:

> "No person shall sell, offer or have in his possession for sale, any butter moulded or cut into prints, blocks, squares, or pats, unless such prints, blocks, squares or pats are of the full net weight of one-quarter pound, one half pound, one pound or two pounds at the time they are moulded or cut. Nothing in this paragraph shall be held to apply to butter in rolls or lumps of indiscriminate weight as sold by farmers."

The regulations made under the authority of the Act came into force on Sept. 1, and provide that when dairy butter is put up in blocks, squares or prints and wrapped in parchment paper the paper shall be printed or branded with the words "Dairy Butter" in letters at least one-quarter inch square, in addition to any other wording that the buttermaker may desire to use. There is nothing in the Act or Regulations to prevent the use of the word "Separator" in addition to the words "Dairy Butter," but no such grade of butter as "Separator" is recognized by the law. The Butter Act of 1913 defined only two grades, namely, "Dairy" and "Creamery." The Dairy Industry Act of 1914 defines a third grade as "Whey" butter. Buttermakers may use any form of printing or branding, including the words "Dairy Butter," which is not inconsistent with the definition of dairy butter. Butter in rolls, crocks or tubs is not required to be branded.

The definition of dairy butter is found in section 3 of the Act and is the same as it was in The Butter Act of 1903. It reads as follows:

> (d) "dairy" means a place where the milk or cream of less than fifty cows is manufactured into butter;
>
> (a) "dairy" butter means butter which is manufactured in a dairy.

The exact wording of the sections of the Regulations that deal with this matter of the branding of dairy butter reads as follows:

"No person shall cut or pack dairy butter into blocks, squares or prints and wrap such blocks, squares or prints in parchment paper unless the said parchment paper is printed or branded with the words "dairy butter."

"No person shall knowingly sell, offer, expose or have in his possession for sale—

(e) Any dairy butter packed in boxes similar to those used for the packing of creamery butter unless such packages are branded "Dairy butter;"

(f) Any dairy butter packed, moulded or cut into blocks, squares or prints and wrapped in parchment paper unless such parchment paper is branded "Dairy butter;"

We would suggest the following forms as suitable for the printing of dairy butter wrappers:

GOOD WORK ACCOMPLISHED BY RED CROSS

Activities of Local Branch Shown in Report to Central Council

The following is the report of Peterborough branch of the Red Cross Society, forwarded to the Central Council, Toronto:

In presenting this, the first annual report of the Peterborough branch of the Red Cross Society, which has only been in existence three months, we would state that the sad war into which Britain has been forced and the urgent appeal for hospital supplies led to its organization. We have ten members; six meetings have been held, and with few exceptions all the members have been present.

The branch has been ably assisted by the Nurses' Association, the Sewing Circle of the George St. Church, the nurses of Nicholls and St. Joseph's Hospitals, the girls of the Young Women's Christian Association and Collegiate Institute and the Fairmount Women's Institute. Appeals through the press have been made from time to time for money and material. The response has been most gratifying. On Sept. 8 a box containing the following supplies was forwarded to Red Cross headquarters in Toronto: 10 pairs blankets, 72 hot water bottle covers, 133 cotton bandages, 50 flannel bandages, 52 flannelette bandages, 8 doz. handkerchiefs, 45 hospital night shirts, 50 pairs of grey woollen socks, 1 rubber sheet, 4 slings, 2 knitted scarfs, 7 pairs of wristlets, 27 pillows, 50 pillow covers. The total amount of money received by the branch is $139.75, with an expenditure of $74.05 for supplies. The balance, $65.70, we have much pleasure in forwarding to the treasurer of the Red Cross Society.

The officers of the Peterborough branch are:

Mrs. J. C. Davidson, president.
Mrs. Aylmer, 1st vice-president.
Mrs. Scott, 2nd vice-president.
Mrs. F. L. Roy, treasurer.
Committee: Mrs. Roger, Mrs. Allin, Mrs. Boucher, Miss Peacock, Miss Garrow.
L. J. Davidson, secretary.

The treasurer of the Red Cross Branch acknowledges the generous contribution of $40.25 from the Peterborough Nurses' Association.

Y.M.C.A. NOTES

The Life Problem Club of the Y.M.C.A. organized for the season Sunday afternoon at 4.15 o'clock. Dr. Moir delivered a very interesting address, after which the following officers were elected. Pres. William Hamilton, Vice-Pres. Donald Loucks, Sec.-Treas. Bruce Hamilton; Leader, G. A. Carson.

It is the purpose of this club to meet each Sunday afternoon for the purpose of discussing live subjects that will be of special interest to young men. The meetings will be open to all men.

Some thirty young men attended the opening session of the Young Men's Bible Club, Monday evening, Nov. 16th and the following officers were elected: Pres. T. E. Gilchrist; Vice-Pres., Hunter Lewis; Sec.-Treas. Mr. Austin.

Mr. Joseph Wearing delivered a very interesting address on "Why Young Men Should Study the Bible." He emphasized the thought that the young men's education was not complete unless he had a thorough knowledge of the Bible.

Three classes will meet each Monday evening at 6.30 o'clock for tea and a very profitable season is assured.

General Secretry C. N. Meserve will attend a special patriotic demonstration in behalf of the Y.M.C.A. work for soldiers, in Toronto this evening. The speakers at this meeting will be Hon. Sam Hughes, Minister of Militia; Hon. W. H. Hearst, Premier of Ontario, and several other prominent men.

The local association is specially interested in this work in view of the fact that about forty members of the local branch have been accepted for foreign military service.

The receipts of the field day held in October amounting to about fifty-five dollars ($55), were donated to the work in behalf of our boys in the military camps.

It is hoped that other contributions may be made by Peterboro friends to this important work.

MOTOR CAR BODIES OF PLASTIC MATERIAL

A French firm of motor car manufacturers makes its car bodies by a novel process of plastering. Builders are familiar with the process of making partition walls by erecting a screen of wire netting and coating it with a layer of plaster. Practically the same thing is done in the new process of making car bodies, except that a very different plaster is used. The framework of the car is made of wood, and on this wire netting is tacked. Then the modeller begins operations with palette and trowel, daubing the wire netting with the plastic material, which he spreads out smoothly. When the coating has set it may be dressed down with a plane and sandpaper, just like wood. After that it is painted and rubbed down with oils and varnish until it assumes a very high polish. It is claimed for the new process that the car bodies can be manufactured with a great saving of time, and also that a very light and durable body is obtained.

THE GOVERNMENT RETURNING TO PARIS

AUSTRIANS FLEE AS RUSSIANS ADVANCE

FURIOUS FIGHTING IN BUKOWINA

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

PETROGRAD, Nov. 18. — Furious fighting is reported from the northern part of Bukowina, where the Russians are proving victorious and the Austrians are fleeing in disorder before their advance.

FIRE DIRECTED AT AMERICAN CRUISER.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18. — Captain Decker of the American cruiser Tennessee has cabled the navy department that while proceeding from Vourlah to Smyrna yesterday to make an official call, his vessel was fired upon.

TOWNS HELD BY GERMANS BOMBARDED.

LONDON, Nov. 18. — A Rotterdam despatch says that a British fleet on Monday vigorously bombarded the Belgian towns of Knocke and Zeebrugge, destroying a German troop train and causing much damage to stores and supplies.

FEEDING OUT OF MY HAND.

PARIS, Nov. 18. — As a heavy London motor omnibus dashed towards the British camp in the second line yesterday, a sentry fired, and a guard turned out with loaded rifles and fixed bayonets, for in the vehicle were twelve Prussian soldiers with packs and rifles.

As the 'bus approached, thed river, a typical London 'busman, cried out: "Don't shoot; they're feeding out of my hand. They're hungry."

The Prussians had been on outpost duty. They stood in the middle of the road, threw up their hands, and surrendered, declaring they were starving.

Huge Sums Are Needed

Britain Requires $2,500,000 By End of Fiscal Year

LONDON, Nov. 18. — Proposals by Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George, Chancellor of the Exchequer, to increase the revenue of Britain by $1,697,855 were approved by the House of Commons last night with an outburst of enthusiasm.

The measures adopted include doubling the income tax and the imposition of an extra duty of three pence per pound on tea and one-half penny on the half pint of beer.

In presenting his financial statement, he said that he was making proposals not merely to meet the increased expenditure up to the end of March next, but to meet also the deficiency in the revenue. The total sum for which provision had been made already was £535,000,000 covering ordinary and war expenditure. The additional money which had to be found was £339,571,000. A full year of the war would cost £450,000,000.

He proposed that the income tax should be doubled, but that this year it would only be collected in respect of one-third of income.

The tea duty, he said, would produce £950,000 this year and £3,200,000 next year. The beer duty would yield £2,000,000 this year and £17,000,000 in the year following. The new taxation this year would realise £15,500,000 and suspension of the sinking fund would give £2,750,000

The additional income tax would amount to a shilling in the pound on earned and one shilling eight pence on unearned income. Next year, he said, the tax would be one shilling six pence and half a crown respectively, with the same rate for the super-tax. The amount collectable for the present year is £12,500,000 and next year £44.750.000.

MR. MILLER THE MAN FOR THE POSITION

Is Well Qualified for Job of Distributing Patriotic Fund

Some lively discussion is apt to be handed out when the members of the Patriotic Fund Association convene Friday to decide whether a successor shall be selected to succeed Relief Officer F. W. Miller. If the wishes of the committee carry weight there will be no change in the present system of administration of the fund now being raised by public subscription. One and all agree that F. W. Miller is the man for the job, but as far as information goes, many people, not exactly in the indigent class, object to the administration of the fund being in his hands. They don't relish the semblance it bears towards making them recipients of relief money.

Mr. Miller doesn't want the job. A reporter ascertained from him the information that he is desirous of relinquishing the post of relief officer at the earliest possible moment.

W. H. Bradburn, a member of the committee, is firmly convinced that Mr. Miller is well qualified to handle the job, "as well qualified as any man in Peterborough," to quote him exactly. "Of course," he remarked, "the man handling the work of Mr. Miller must be shrewd enough to see that he is not being imposed upon. On the other hand, he must see that every one gets a square deal. It seems to me that Mr. Miller is capable for the job, and has invariably discharged his duties satisfactorily, as far as my knowledge extends."

Mayor Buller stated that he understood that the main object of the meeting on Friday was to appoint a successor to Mr. Miller.

FOREST IS WON BY BRILLIANT CHARGE

Zouaves Are Victorious Near Bixschoote and Another Offensive Movement is Repulsed — British Front Maintained

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

PARIS, Nov. 18. — The official statement this afternoon says:

"Yesterday saw numerous artillery duels and some isolated infantry attacks, all of which were repulsed.

"From the North Sea to the Lys the front was subjected to a fairly active bombardment, particularly at Nieuport and to the east and south of Ypres.

"Near Bixschoote, Zouaves, charging with bayonets, brilliantly took possession of a forest which has been disputed between the enemy and ourselves three days.

"To the south of Ypres, an offensive movement on the part of the enemy's infantry was repulsed by our troops. The English army also maintained its front.

"In Alsace, the Landwehr battalions sent into the region of Saint Marie-aux-Mines had to be taken out, having lost half their effective strength."

SYDNEY WENT AFTER EMDEN'S FUNNELS.

LONDON, Nov. 18. — A despatch from Melbourne to Reuter's contains part of the report of Captain Glossop of the Sydney regarding the fight in which the German cruiser Emden was destroyed. It says: "The Emden's firing soon failed when the Sydney began to hit the mark. The Emden's rudder was destroyed early in the fight, her speed suffering greatly in consequence. Her next loss was number one funnel, then the foremast, and this was followed by number two funnel. Finally number three funnel fell."

BRITISH NAVAL CASUALTIES HEAVY.

LONDON, Nov. 18. — The First Lord of the Admiralty stated in the House today, in reply to a question, that the total British naval casualties to date were: Officers killed, 222; wounded, 37; missing, 5; men killed, 3,455; wounded, 428; missing 1. This list, he said, did not include the missing officers and men in the royal naval division at Antwerp and on the British cruiser Good Hope, sunk off the Chilean coast, which totalled one thousand and 875, respectively.

GERMAN GENERALS AMONG THE KILLED.

BERLIN, Nov. 18. — Casualty lists just issued record the deaths of two generals, General Von Vrielen and General Von Lepel, and the serious wounding of General Stenger.

LONDON, Nov. 18. — The Paris correspondent of the Times states that the whole legislative and administrative staffs of the French Chamber of Deputies will return to Paris tomorrow, as a prelude to the return of the French Government.

Organizer to Take Charge Of Patriotic Fund Campaign

The first steps taken by the finance committee of the Patriotic Fund to raise $20,000 or more was very business-like to say the least.

At the meeting held yesterday afternoon definite action was taken and a strong committee appointed to secure the services of an organizer, to come here and take charge of the campaign.

A strong feeling of confidence was shown by the members of the committee and it is felt that no difficulty will be met with in the new effort.

There were present, Messrs. W. G. Morrow, chairman; F. D. Kerr, W. Stocker, V. Eastwood, J. J. Lynch, A. W. Cressman, R. E. Layfield and Rev. Jas. Rollins.

THREE COMPANIES FOR HOME GUARD FROM C.G.E. COMPANY

Captains—R. E. Layfield, J. G. M. Wilson, C. E. Sisson.

Lieutenants—George Young, John Pilling, A. G. Grier, F. Oxley, S. P. Ecclestone, Enos Maybee.

Sergeants—J. Bryett, F. Derocher, P. Adamson, F. Hart, F. Lawless, W. A. Crawley, F. Distin, H. W. Christie, Jas. Derocher, F. Pakenham, C. H. Hicks, Frank Joyes, W. S. Robinson.

Corporals—W. Bletcher, J. Sanderson, E. Stanley, W. Lyburn, E. E. Lord, J. Theobald, A. E. Ames, R. S. Rose, C. H. Hill, W. Shiner, G. A. Salkeld, W. Rogers.

Instructor—Charles Peters.

The above are the officers last evening elected at the meeting in the Public Library of over 100 Canadian General employes and ex-employes, to command the three companies of the Peterboro Home Guard, which will be composed of the employes and ex-employes of the C.G.E. Mr. R. E. Layfield was chairman of the meeting and by way of explaining the movement said:—

The General Superintendent has called this meeting together tonight to give the employes and ex-employes of the Canadian General Electric Company an opportunity to join as a body the Home Guard of Peterboro.

This movement is general all over Canada and men of all walks of life are giving up the comforts of home and the relaxations of leisure hours to turn themselves into soldiers. They are drilling by night in armouries, parks, and school yards—lines of earnest, determined men intent on mastering the technique of the military art. Among the various movements centering in the main problem of home defence, none is more significant than the splendid scheme which has been worked out by the leaders of the Home Guard movement.

In joining the Home Guard or Rifle Association movement, a man is brought automatically under the jurisdiction of the military authorities in case of emergency or in the words of the regulations, "in case of emergency, the members of rifle associations and clubs shall become members of the militia and shall be under the command of the divisional or district officer commanding, and so long as the emergency exists and until lawfully discharged, all members of such associations and clubs shall remain members of the militia and shall be subject to drill, training, and discipline to the same extent as other members thereof."

The Declaration.

The oath or declaration required of a man who wishes to join is as follows: "I, the undersigned, do sincerely promise and swear (or solemnly declare) that I will be faithful and bear true allegiance to his Majesty, King George V. his heirs and successors. So help me God."

NO RUSSIANS PASSED THROUGH BRITAIN

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

London, Nov. 18. — It was announced in Commons today that no Russian troops had ever moved through Great Britain for the western arena of the conflict.

LONDON OFFICIAL

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

London, Nov. 18.—The official information bureau announces: "Our third division was subjected yesterday to a heavy attack, first from artillery and then from infantry, the brunt of the attack falling upon two battalions. These were shelled out of the trenches but they recovered them after a brilliant counter-attack which drove the enemy back in disorder, a distance of five hundred yards. An attack also made on a brigade of the second division but it was repulsed with loss."

PATRIOTIC FUND

The Peterboro Patriotic Fund has reached the amount of $6,040.70. The donations received today were:

Peterboro Choral Society, from Judas Maccabaeus, $76.98.
T. O. Donaldson, $10.00.
D. E. Eason, $5.00.

A deputation from the County Council is in Ottawa today to meet the minister of railways and canals in connection with certain bridge improvements in the county.

MRS. HERBERT M'GEE.

Mrs. Herbert McGee, who lived at the corner of King and Park streets, died early this morning in Nicholls Hospital. She had many warm friends in Peterboro, although a resident of the city scarcely two years. She came here from Bobcaygeon. Her maiden name was Mary Martin.

The deceased, up till as long as she was able, was a regular attendant of Knox Presbyterian Church.

The body is being forwarded to Bobcaygeon this afternon by A. Comstock for interment.

This evening the Conservatory Orchestra are asked to attend practice at eight o'clock without fail, as it is very important they should be on hand to rehearse special music.

ON THE ALLIES

Ross Dobbin was high man with a total of 456, at the "Y." bowling alleys last night. He rolled the biggest score of any, although the Harriers, of which he is a member, went down to defeat at the hands of the Gladiators. Everett, for the latter, made a good showing in the three games, rolling up a score of 415.

The following scores resulted:

Gladiators
Everett	415
Morrow	376
Borland	402
Total	1192

Harriers
Campbell	357

REBELS ARE IN FULL FLIGHT

Government Troops Rout Force of Fifteen Hundred

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

Capetown, Nov. 18.—General Beyers and his fifteen hundred rebels are in full flight before government troops under commandant Celliers. In a running fight, west of Boltfontein yesterday, four rebels were killed, twenty wounded, and one hundred captured.

Loyalists pursued the rebels until their horses gave out compelling them to abandon the chase.

IN INTERESTS OF DISCIPLINE

LONDON, Nov. 18. — A squad of "misfits" from the Canadian contingent, numbering 42, are being shipped back from Salisbury Plain to Canada in the interests of discipline. They left the camp under a strong escort in charge of Captain Grover, and will be embarked at Glasgow after deprivation of their rank and uniform.

The Princess Patricias have left Bustard Camp, Salisbury Plain, and have gone to Winchester, in order to be nearer Southampton. It seems probable that they will, be merged with the home division, and are therefore likely to see active service before any of the other Canadian regiments.

PETERBOROUGH, WEDNESDAY, NOV. 18, 1914

BRITAIN STOOD FOR EUROPEAN PEACE OR WAR.

IF the Toronto Mail and Empire has read the British White Paper, it would have been more circumspect in handing out its gratuitous slap to George Bernard Shaw. Certainly, Great Britain was committed to war with Germany if France was involved. The neutrality of Belgium did not matter.

No doubt the Toronto paper remembers all the talk about honour in fulfilling engagements that was in the papers before Belgium came into the limelight. Belgium furnished a clinching excuse, one of surpassing importance, that was desired. What Grey was fighting for was not British neutrality, but European peace. It is generally conceded that had Britain stood aside now she would very soon have had to defend herself against Germany. Grey knew this, and felt that one war in which Germany would be overwhelmed would be better than two, in which France and Britain would be soundly beaten and their power taken away. Nations always try to justify their going to war to gain the moral support of neutral nations, and a decent excuse is important. Britain had that in the case of Belgium, but her own interests and safety necessitated supporting France, if Germany was determined to go to war. Sir Edward Grey practically admitted this fact when he said he could not state terms on which England would remain neutral if Belgian neutrality were respected. Britain's hands were tied to fight if Germany went to war. Most people admit that Britain could not safely have taken any other course than to stand for European peace alone—or war.

THAT PATRIOTIC EXECUTIVE.

THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE in charge of the Patriotic Fund seems to need a German mine under it to give it a boost. Only seven members were present the other evening, and the tone of some of those on hand was apparently not enthusiastic for the fifty thousand mark.

There may be good reason for desiring a different man from the City Relief Officer to distribute the money from the Patriotic Fund. However, as the operations of those in charge must be done openly, the public will likely know who makes the distributions, just as well as they know the City Relief Officer. It appears that appointing another man would not satisfy the object in view. There may be over-sensitiveness or false pride involved in the complaint, and the matter was wisely left in the hands of a committee for a further report. If the distribution could be done through the mail, the difficulty might be bridged, but we see no reason why another appointment should be made, and expense thereby increased, if the purpose of such an appointment cannot be obviously realized.

It is hoped those on the executive will make it a point to be present at future meetings.

NO CANADIAN NICKEL FOR THE GERMANS.

THE PROBLEM concerning Canadian nickel is still receiving attention in the newspapers, and will not be lightly disposed of, either by the Canadian Government or by the Canadian press. The Stratford Herald (Conservative) takes a crack at the Globe for attacking Rockefeller for sending petrol to Germany, while nickel is going there at the same time. The Herald says:

> "The stimulus to Imperial feeling in Canada, which the war has produced, has directed wide attention to this subject of Canadian nickel. We are said to produce four-fifths of the world's supply, and it is also alleged that of recent years about 60 per cent. of our nickel output has gone to Germany and been of infinite aid to her designs for the overthrow of the British Empire. Whilst other newspapers, both Conservative and Liberal, are astounded at the folly which we have been committing and are crying for a radical reversal of policy, the Globe (vide its editorial of October 22) takes a whatsoever stand, but "goes for" Rockefeller on the companion subject of petrol! And yet Rockefeller is a citizen of a neutral nation, at whom it is crass impertinence of the Globe to preach as if he were a British subject."

The recent restrictions by the Canadian Government are not enough in dealing with this problem. Canada wants a few of the industries using raw nickel products located in Canada, and more solid assurances that no 60 per cent. of Canada's nickel output is going into German dreadnoughts. To secure this desired end, export of the ore to places outside the British Empire should be forbidden, for otherwise we have no way of preventing the finished product reaching a hostile country. At the same time, we think a great deal of care and caution is necessary to handle this question without friction, and, it would not be wise to adopt drastic measures which must affect a neutral country, too hurriedly. The Canadian Government has taken the first step in the right direction, and no doubt others will shortly follow.

EFFECT ON CANADA OF FOOT AND MOUTH DISEASE.

FOOT AND MOUTH DISEASE in the United States, which has now spread to 13 states, will have a serious indirect effect upon Canada, though there is not a trace of the disease in the Dominion. It is conceivable in fact that one of these indirect effects will be to retard the equipment of Canadian troops for the front and to interfere seriously with the filling of orders from the Allied Governments for war supplies. It has been found necessary by the Government here to prohibit the importation into Canada from the United States for a period of six months of cattle, sheep, swine, hides, heads, hoofs, raw wool, and anything else which might carry the disease. Two of these commodities, wool and hides, are of very considerable importance to industries now working hard on army supplies. During October last the Dominion imported from the United States 1,929,132 pounds of raw hides valued at $393,230. This went for the manufacture of leather, a commodity very much in demand for military boots, saddles, harness, and for which heavy orders have been placed in Canada. The prohibition of importation of these will have a serious effect on the industries. During October the Dominion imported from the United States 1,000,400 pounds of wool valued at $274,738. The manufacturers of military clothing in the Dominion have found it difficult keeping these mills going on account of the scarcity of wool. The closing of the United States market will not make the situation better, and it is probable that some steps will have to be taken to let wool in after a strict process of fumigation has been instituted. The export of cattle from Canada to the United States has been stopped. This will no doubt depress the market here, the price of cattle will go down, and beef should be cheaper. But look out for the time when the depleted markets of the United States are once more thrown open, then we will have high prices again.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

THESE SNOW FLURRIES act as speech accelerators, especially when lumps form on your heels every few yards and cause you to take a few tango steps.

IF the next session of the Dominion Parliament does all the newspapers and the Toronto World have pointed out it should do, it will be a busy body.

THEY SAY thick fur is a sign of a long, hard winter. That's why several mustaches are being cultivated these days.

WE are getting plenty of young winters these days.

THESE SNOW STORMS should be welcomed—they must be good for the crops or something.

Getting Even with Enemies.

(Quebec Telegraph.)

The Turks are claiming great naval victories. A gunboat and a Turkish steamer were threatened with capture by the British fleet. The Turkish gunboat first sank the steamer and then blew itself up, and so defeated the Allies. The incident recalls the Chinese practice that when a man desires to spite an enemy, he goes and commits suicide at his doorstep, and so gets square with him.

Over Delicate.

(Harper's Magazine.)

It was in a small Southwestern town that the town council, which we infer is becoming unduly delicate, caused this notice to appear in the local newspaper when a tax on dogs was imposed:

"Tax on each dog—male, one dollar; vice versa, three dollars."

Slums a Menace to Public Health.

(Montreal Star.)

Many landlords, owning slum tenements, say that if their places are razed they will look to the city for compensation. Against this claim is the contention of civic officials that as slums are a direct menace to health and threaten the whole community they should not be permitted to exist.

German Kultur of the Standard.

(Ottawa Citizen.)

The Kingston Standard hints that the mob may not allow Mr. J. S. Ewart the privilege of British free speech in that city. After all, there doesn't seem to be much difference between some brands of Canadian culture, even in centres of culture, and the alleged German variety.

Going Out Slowly.

(Harper's Magazine.)

The visiting lady had kept her hostess at the open door fully half an hour saying good-bye. Finally an irate masculine voice indoors called out:

"Say, Marie, if you're going out, go; if you're staying, stay; but for heaven's sake don't ooze out!"

The Ubiquitous Spy.

(Brooklyn Eagle.)

It seems hard for London hotels to "fire" good German waiters because of their nationality, but the Teuton spy system is everywhere, and, unlike the vaudeville detective, "his disguise never betrays him."

Rival Names.

(Philadelphia Ledger.)

As against Przemysl and Irkutsk and Crwgzvdt, we have Cuttyhunk, Mayayunk, Kokomo, Schenectady, and, not to forget, Skaneateles, Canajahorie, Waxahachie, Kankakee and Ishpeming.

An Indescribable Luxury.

(Rochester Talisman.)

"I tell you," said Poots, "there is an indescribable sense of luxury in lying in bed and ringing one's bell for his valet."

"You've a valet!" exclaimed Poots' friend.

"No," replied Poots; "but I've just got a bell."

Occupation and Business.

(Kincardine Review.)

To apply a famous "mot," the difference between "occupation" and "business" can be explained by pointing out that the Germans are in occupation of Belgium when they have no business there.

Our Duty.

(Le Canada.)

England has granted us a national status. The least that we can do is to go to her aid like an allied nation.

CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—Active buying, supposed to be largely for eastern exporters, rallied the wheat market today in the last hour, notwithstanding that previously the bears had had control of the market most of the time owing to the piling up of stock. The close was ⅜c to ⅝c above last night. Corn finished unchanged to 1-16c off, oats at a shade advance and provisions down 15c to 42½c.

WINNIPEG GRAIN MARKET.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 17.—Trading was quiet on the wheat market and prices opened higher generally, influenced by firmer Liverpool cables than expected, in face of the weaker markets on this side yesterday. Following the opening there was a decline, caused by a general bearish sentiment, the opinion spreading that the war will not be so prolonged as recently predicted, and considerable profit taking took place. A strong turn took place on the market before closing. New Zealand and Australia were said to be in the southern markets, and in addition the market was oversold during the early hours, which was responsible for the rally. Wheat closed ⅛c to ⅜c higher, oats ⅛c to ⅜c lower. Flax closed ⅛c to ⅜c higher after a very weak market.

The cash demand was much quieter today. No. 3 northern and lower grades were wanted, but there were few enquiries for No. 1 and 2. Oats, barley and flax were also quiet and dull, flax prices being about 3 cents lower from high points of the day. In the early part of the day some new export sales were made. Later, however, bids were out of line.

Inspections Monday totaled 351 cars as against 1523 last year and in sight were 450 cars.

MONTREAL GRAIN MARKET.

MONTREAL, Nov. 17.—There was a decided improvement in the demand from foreign buyers for Manitoba spring wheat today, but the prices bid for all grades were very irregular, some of them being 9s per quarter lower than others, which would indicate that the feeling in the English markets is unsettled; however, there were some bids received 6d per quarter higher than yesterday and sales of 200,000 bushels were made.

There was also some demand from exporters for wheat at bay ports and sales of 7000 bushels No. 1 northern were made at $1.22½ and 40,000 No. 2 northern at $1.19½ per bushel c.i.f. Local demand for coarse grain was quiet at unchanged prices. Flour quiet, but firm. Demand for mill-feed is good and the market is active.

Butter is quiet and cheese is firm, with a moderate amount of business doing. Eggs continue active and firm.

MINNEAPOLIS GRAIN MARKET.

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 17.—Wheat—No. 1 hard, $1.18½; No. 1 northern, $1.15½ to $1.17½; No. 2 do., $1.11½ to $1.15½; Dec., $1.13½.

Corn—No. 3 yellow, 58c to 62c.

Oats—No. 3 white, 45½c to 46c.

Flour and bran—Unchanged.

DULUTH GRAIN MARKET.

DULUTH, Nov. 17.—Wheat—No. 1 hard, $1.18½; No. 1 northern, $1.17½; No. 2 do., $1.14½; Dec., $1.15.

Tower of London Historic Spot

The execution of Karl Hans Lody, for espionage, in the Tower of London, calls attention once more to that historic spot. It is more than a century and a half since such an occurrence stirred the feelings of the Londoners. The last to meet death in the Tower before Lody paid the penalty were Lords Kilmarnock, Balmerino and Lovat, in connection with the Rebellion of 1745. Before the war now raging ends more may share Lody's fate, for the European game of espionage, or spying, is punishable with death, and the spies work all the time.

The Tower of London is interesting to the world chiefly because of its manifold associations. It is on the Thames at the southeast angle of the old walled city of London. It is composed of several buildings erected at various times and covers much ground. On its site a stronghold existed before William of Normandy invaded and conquered England. With him, however, its history really begins. The chief buildings are the work of the Norman kings. It has been used as a royal residence, a mint, a state prison, a place of execution for state prisoners, a national arsenal and museum. Blood has often flowed over its stone floors and dark deeds have been committed within its precincts. There have been thefts from its interior, and as late as last year the work of a suffragette attracted world-wide attention to it. Thousands of visitors enter its portals every year to see the relics on view. There the Crown jewels are kept for safety and there is a special staff with a constable as governor responsible for their safe keeping. The Yeomen of the Guard, or Beef-eaters, are of the Tower of London. On the walls of the dungeons are scribblings made by the hapless prisoners who have gone to the gallows. In the chapel of St. Peter and St. Paul there lie the bones of many of the noted persons who offended the state or the head of it, and who, in consequence, were put out of the way of doing more mischief or causing more annoyance. By the execution of Lody, the spy of the German Government, the use of the Tower of as a place of state punishment has been revived. It is possible that more such scenes will be enacted within its walls before the European Continent again settles down for a period of peace.

VENTILATION OF FARM BUILDINGS

Ventilation of Farm Buildings is the title of a recent bulletin prepared by Mr. J. H. Grisdale, B. Agr. Director of Dominion Experimental Farms, and Mr. E. S. Archibald, B.A., B.S.A., Dominion Animal Husbandman, and issued as Bulletin Number 78 of the regular series of the Experimental Farm Bulletins. This is an illustrated publication of thirty-two pages and treats exhaustively of the subject of ventilation.

During the past ten years or more much experimental work has been carried on at the Experimental Farm in Farm Building Ventilation, and the results of these experiments are clearly outlined, and from them, recommendations are set forth, and these only after most thorough investigation and repeated trial under every likely condition or handicap. The bulletin is divided into three parts: Part 1 is entitled Ventilating the Cow Barn; Part 2, Ventilating the Horse Barn, and Part 3, Ventilating the Piggery.

The Rutherford system of ventilation, which is fully described and illustrated in this bulletin, is now in operation in the barns and stables on all Experimental Farms and Stations from Prince Edward Island to British Columbia. Copies of this bulletin may be obtained on application to the Publications Branch, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

His Father's Friend

By PERLEY POORE SHEEHAN

When a man has been pining for the romantic all his life—a man who is going on forty and has an economical wife and a steady job, a man who stays home evenings and rolls his own cigarettes—when a man like this has been yearning for just one weird, scarlet adventure before he is forever too old and he is suddenly confronted with it, what happens?

Does he fall for it?

Sometimes, and again— There was the case of William Q. Johnson!

Of course you may argue that his case was exceptional in that William was none other than the son of Bill Johnson.

Bill had brought his picturesque career to a close by getting hanged in Melbourne—an interesting man and famous in his day throughout the south seas.

But William had never been permitted to know anything about his father's activities. And, as for ships and things, his sainted mother had brought him up to shun them as evil inventions.

On the evening of his adventure Johnson came home from the office, as usual, at 6:30, dutifully kissed his wife and washed himself hurriedly in preparation for the waiting soup. He was visibly preoccupied.

Presently his wife said to him:

"You look worried, dearie. Isn't your work all right?"

"Everything's O. K.," he responded, but he relapsed into silence.

She didn't question him further. He had these silent spells.

Sometimes it was a dispute with his chief at the office, sometimes a stirring of old ambitions, sometimes a goading thought of his small salary.

It was never anything worse than that. His habits were exemplary, and his wife knew it.

Yet the very thing that now held Johnson tongue tied was something he dared not confess—something he could hardly admit to himself without blushing.

It was the memory of a girl!

We should state at once that there were extenuating circumstances. Not only was the girl extraordinarily beautiful, but the way in which she came across William's notice was extraordinary as well.

He had seen her just as he was coming up the steps with his latchkey in his hand. She couldn't have been more than nineteen or twenty. She was slim and dark, and her face was wonderfully lovable and alert.

For a fraction of a second she had inclined in his direction—eyes, face, figure—with parted lips, as though about to speak to him.

Then something in his attitude—he was the most delicate minded of men—or some second thought of her own had made her hesitate.

The girl passed hurriedly on. William passed into the house.

The oddity of the experience had not immediately appealed to him. But a minute later as he climbed the stairs and later still when he washed his face and on through supper he recalled the alertness of the way she had looked at him.

It gave him a shadowy feeling of uneasiness and regret. He tried over and over again to imagine the words that she might have said had he given her the opportunity.

Recollection of the incident returned to him incessantly long after Mrs. Johnson had gone to bed.

He was nervous and wide awake.

Suddenly amid the little sounds of the deepening night—the ticking of the clock, the rumble of a distant trolley car, the stirring of an uneasy window sash—there came a soft, distant tapping at the door.

Johnston started and looked up.

It was past 11. For an interval he did not stir. The summons was repeated, a little louder, but still guarded and cautious.

Johnson tiptoed to the inner hall, turned up the gas and cautiously opened the door.

He had pretty good nerves for an office man, still he couldn't suppress a movement of surprise.

Standing there before him, grotesquely black and misshapen, was a negro dwarf.

The visitor didn't attempt to come in. Instead, he immediately plunged into a series of urgent signs that Johnson was to follow.

He was obviously in a hurry.

Johnson came to a swift resolution. The night had begun adventurously. He would see it through.

As best he could he made the dwarf understand that he would come as soon as he could change his slippers for his shoes. A few minutes later, without having disturbed his wife, he was following the negro silently down the stairs.

It was but a few minutes' walk from the placed Johnson lived to a park, facing upon which were the houses of the wealthy. That's the way it is in New York—poverty and opulence separated by a line as narrow and intangible as a meridian.

To this park Johnson followed the dwarf, the only clear thought emerging from his bewilderment being that his wife might wake up and find him missing.

His guide went fast, with a shuffling, loose jointed glide that kept him on the verge of a run.

Half a block farther on the negro scurried up the steps of a brown stone mansion and, assuring himself that Johnson was still at his heels, opened the door end entered.

The hall light was dimly burning, and Johnson caught an impression of sumptuous furniture.

The negro never tarried, but mounted to the second floor, traversed a corridor to the door of a rear room, paused until Johnson had caught up with him, then knocked and threw the door wide open.

The room was a-shimmer with light.

If Johnson's eyes were dazzled by the sudden brilliancy, his brain was no less confused by what he saw. The most prominent feature of the chamber was a large, white bed, and on this there lay one of the strangest figures he had ever looked upon, not even excepting that of the dwarf who had led him there.

He saw a mass of tangled white hair, knotted about by a red silk handkerchief, and a drift of white beard.

The rest of the face showed brown, like leather, and was set with a pair of piercing blue eyes.

"Come here, where I can look at you," said the man on the bed. Then: "Well, you're Johnson, all right. And I bid him farewell at Pawalanne.

"Willie, your father would 'a' been here if he was livin'," the old man continued. "There are debts that no man forgets. I've come for to seek you on his account. I've got here none too soon."

"I'm sorry you're sick," said Johnson.

"Your father died when you was little," the patriarch went on; "otherwise you'd know all about me. I'm Robert H. King, and king I've been, too, these fifty years. But, oh, they're an ungrateful lot! They're an ungrateful lot!

"I ruled 'em fair, and I ruled 'em square. I lost my right hand, though, when your father went. He'd 'a' put down this revolution. Do you hear? They started a revolution!"

Johnson said that he heard.

"There's a Malay out there named Possa Sing. He's at the head of this here revolution. He started it because I wouldn't let him have my gal. But I had other plans. I was thinkin' of Red Bill Johnson—a full measure of a man he was—and how he used to boast about that little boy of his'n back in New York.

"It was the last thing that he said when I bid him farewell at Pawalanne—'Be a father to little Willie.' And, by Christopher, I'll do it yet, in spite of that black Malay Possa Sing!

"He got too strong for me—I'm not the man I used to be—but he ain't too strong for Red Bill Johnson's boy. I found your address in a New York directory. I got one from Batavia, and $40 in gold it cost me too. And I rented this house for to die in.

"I could trust the agents for that, but for the rest I couldn't trust them. I had to see you. I've piled up pearls and power for you, Willie. And that ain't all." He paused.

"Minnie," he panted hoarsely.

Johnson turned and half rose impulsively from his chair. The door had opened. Standing there, graceful, slim, shrinking, was the girl of the unspoken message.

"Did my father call?" she asked sweetly, with a lisping accent.

"Aye, stand there, Minnie. Do you blame me for refusing to give her to a Malay?

"Half breed, but I've raised her like a white man's gal. Them people'd die for her. I crowned her queen before we left. That'll settle Possa Sing. He was crazy for her, more than the rest, but him that gets her gets all. And she's a white man's gal." The old man paused. When he spoke again his great whisper was strangely smaller.

"So I brought her with me," he said, "for Red Bill Johnson's boy. There's a schooner at Macassar. Sail sou' by west for Pantar strait"—

Those were the last words that Robert King, or King Robert, ever spoke.

When Johnson emerged sufficiently out of his confusion to focus his eyes on the patriarch he noticed that the latter was staring strangely in the direction of the door.

Involuntarily Johnson wheeled and saw standing there a dark youth, whose face was stamped with an expression of fierce and joyful ecstasy.

The girl had also turned, and there sprang to her lips a sob that was transformed into a name. It was "Possa Sing!"

In his extremity Johnson turned to the girl.

"What did he mean?" he whispered.

"I am to be your bride," she faltered. "He made me promise. I started to see you this evening—to ask you not to come." She was shaken in a sudden burst of weeping, and her accent got the better of her. "But, ah, saire, even now, not yet, you have promised him—nothing!"

There are moments of exquisite consciousness in the lives of all of us when we recognize clearly the parting of the ways. Such a moment Johnson experienced now. On one side he saw the flat routine of his civilized mediocrity—dull work, advancing years, unlovely poverty, and then—king of a tropic isle, romance, "pearls and power."

He wavered, he heaved a mighty sigh, and then, recovering his hat from the floor where he had placed it beside his chair, and, looking neither to the right nor left nor unlocking his set jaws for speech, he strode out of the room.

The flat was dark and silent when Johnson got home.

It smelled somewhat of cold cooking, and his wife, waking from her sleep, called out for him not to forget that in the morning he had to go to work.

Woman's World

A Royal Lady Heads Austrian Red Cross Work.

ARCHDUCHESS MARIA THERESA.

The report that the Archduchess Maria Theresa heads Red Cross work in Austria brings to public attention a princess whose devotion to good work is notable in Vienna. She is a lady of honor of the Order of St. Elizabeth of Bavaria.

The Archduchess Maria Theresa is stepmother of the murdered Archduke Francis Ferdinand, whose death was the cause of the present European war. The father of Francis Ferdinand was a brother of the present emperor and died in 1896 after having been three times married. His first wife was a princess of Saxony. His second wife, the mother of the Archduke Francis, was a princess of Bourbon-Sicily. She died in 1871, and in 1873, when he was forty and she was eighteen, he wedded Maria Theresa, infanta of Portugal and sister of Miguel, duke of Braganza, known in Europe as the pretender to the throne of Portugal.

The archduchess is therefore aunt to Prince Miguel of Braganza, who married Miss Anita Stewart of New York. She is also aunt to the young Grand Duchess Marie Adelaide of Luxembourg, through whose neutral territory the Austro-German troops pushed their way in spite of the youthful ruler's spirited protest. The fact that she is aunt also of Princess Zita of Parma, who is the wife of the Archduke Charles Francis Joseph, the heir to the Austrian throne, makes her little court in Vienna one of importance.

The archduchess is as kind as she is brave. It is related that having heard a fire had broken out in the neighborhood of one of her country houses she instantly drove to the place. Learning that a little child was a prisoner in one of the burning houses, the royal lady rushed into the building, dashed up the blazing staircase and a few minutes later emerged with the child bundled in her arms and quite unharmed. Her own hair, face and hands were, however, badly scorched. For this deed she was made honorary captain of the Central Association of Fire Brigades of Austria.

NICHES AND ALCOVES.

Into These Attractive Bookcases May Be Built Inexpensively.

A closed doorway makes a very nice frame for a bookcase or bric-a-brac shelf. The door should be covered with burlap and then the shelves built into the jamb. With good bracing these may be rounded out to make them deeper than the ordinary door frame would allow for. When finished the shelves may be stained or enameled to correspond with the other woodwork in the room.

Sometimes there is an arched niche between two closets in the bedroom of an old fashioned house. There may or may not be a stationary washstand in this niche. If there is not built in shelves will make a desirable bookcase or dressing table. In the latter case one shelf should be made at the usual height of a bureau or table. One lower than this can be hidden by a cretonne curtain gathered to the shelf above. A looking glass in the niche above, which should, by the way, be papered in white or a plain pale tint, will complete a very attractive little corner.

Sometimes such a niche is large enough to accommodate a desk. In this case several roomy shelves can be built in above, or a hanging bookshelf can be bought to place there. Again, the niche can be made into a cozy seat by the aid of a homemade bench and some cushions. In this case a shelf above, high enough to escape the head, will make a fitting place for photographs or ornaments and books. The walls between the shelf and the seat should be covered with burlap or plain cretonne.

Saved the Admission Money.

Ruth came home from her first visit to Sunday school, carrying a small sack of candy.

"Why, Ruth, where did you get the candy?" asked the family, who had gathered to hear her experiences.

Ruth looked up in surprise.

"I bought it with the nickel you gave me," she said. "The minister met me at the door and got me in for nothing."—Ladies' Home Journal.

An Up to Date Matrimonial Method

By OSCAR COX

"Well, I declare!" exclaimed Kate Goodwin.

"What is it?" asked her friend, Clara Beall.

"If that isn't the most monumental piece of impudence I ever heard of!"

"Tell me what it is."

"You know that red headed, freckled, loose jointed Alf Woodbridge?"

"Yes."

"Well, he's sent me a printed circular stating that he's in the market for a wife. He says he's up for competition, a prize. Just think of it! He'll marry the girl who passes the best examination in those things that are requisite in a wife."

"Do you mean to say that he has had the assurance to do such a thing?"

"I do."

"He hasn't sent me one of his circulars. If he did I'd send it right back to him."

"H'm! Better wait till you get one of 'em. He says that only a few of the most desirable young ladies of the town will be invited to compete."

"Worse and worse. I wonder that he hasn't died of conceit before this."

"Conceited persons never die of that disease; they seem to thrive on it."

"Of course you won't take any notice of his circular."

"Certainly not, but there's one thing I'd like to know—that is, if any of the girls so demeans herself as to fall in with his idea, which one of them will get the"— "Prize. Just think of that fellow offering himself as a prize!"

"I'll tell you what I have a mind to do."

"What?"

"I've a mind to fill in his questions just to see what comes of it."

"Can't you find that out without pandering to his silly conceit?"

"No; he says that no information will be given any girl who has not been invited to compete and does not enter the race."

"Race—oh heavens! Don't you know that the girl who wins will let it be known even if she submits to the indignity for fun or to punish him?"

"Well, I'm going to pretend to be a candidate, and if I win I shall just tell him what I think of him."

"That's a good idea. I believe I'll do so too."

There were a dozen eligible girls in the town, and six received the circular. The six who were left out were furious. Every one of them pronounced Woodbridge's impudence unbearable. The six who were invited seemed to have various opinions of Woodbridge's act. Some considered it unpardonable, some pronounced it very funny, and one or two girls with advanced views considered it a very practical way of getting a wife. They said they had a mind to select husbands in the same way.

One morning Mr. Woodbridge was surprised at receiving through the mail a note inclosing a list of printed questions filled in in writing. The note said that the sender considered his competitive examination for a wife "perfectly brutal," but that underneath it all was a basis of common sense.

"I'll cowhide those fellows," remarked Mr. Woodbridge, red as a beet. "I didn't suppose when they threatened to perpetrate that joke on me that they would have the hardihood to do it."

The next morning Woodbridge received another set of examination papers and a set in the afternoon. Each girl who responded had an especial excuse for doing so.

"This is getting interesting," remarked Woodbridge to himself. "What excellent reason these girls have for competing! After all, what's wrong in the idea? Marriages are made in all sorts of ways. Why not by competitive examination? In this age of marriages, experimental marriages, in which both husband and wife are to be boss, marriages without ceremony and marriage till the contracting parties are tired of each other, why not go a step further and have marriages on examination?"

In the last set of examination papers Mr. Woodbridge received all the questions were scratched and new ones inserted. The new ones were so worded as to constitute a virtual examination of the man. The lady inclosed the paper in a note stating that she considered the plan admirable, but the questions were all wrong. If Mr. Woodbridge considered his examination satisfactory she would be happy to marry him at once. She had a brand new idea of the marriage ceremony. The couple were to be photographed standing beside each other holding hands. She objected to anything being said on the occasion since matrimonial promises, all the world knew, did not mean anything.

Woodbridge burst into a laugh at this form of marriage. He wrote a reply to each one of the young ladies who had sent in papers stating that there had been a reaction toward modesty in him. He would do a bit of courting with the winner, and if she accepted him the result of the examination would be known by the announcement of his engagement with her.

This set the girls agog till one day it was announced that Alfred Woodbridge was engaged to be married to Miss Kate Goodwin.

Woodbridge gave his friends who had perpetrated the joke upon him a supper as an acknowledgment of his gratitude for being instrumental in his securing so much happiness.

Good Form

Deference to the Elderly.

The pretty deference of youth to age is less in evidence these days than in former years, yet it is always an evidence of gentle birth and breeding to be mindful of the homage that should be paid to those older in years and wisdom.

A man presents his young friends to his mother, then to his father; a husband presents his men friends to his father and mother first if they are present, as a matter of courtesy to the aged, and next to his wife.

When to Rise.

The hostess always rises for an introduction unless she is much older than those whom she is receiving. A man must always rise for an introduction. Under ordinary circumstances a woman need not rise for an introduction to either a man or a woman unless the person introduced is much older than herself or is particularly distinguished. In such a case it would be correct for her to show deference by rising.

Birth Announcements.

When you have received an announcement of the birth of a child to a friend politeness requires that you should call to inquire after the health of the mother and child and leave your card. If you live in a distant city and are unable to call you should post your card to the mother and inscribe "Hearty congratulations" on it.

Arms Off the Table.

The person who after meals clears a space in front of him is in bad form. Yet so many people get into this habit. No sooner have they finished a course than they push the plates toward the center of the table. Why? Well, sometimes to put their elbows on the cloth—another bit of bad table manners.

The Last Word.

It is said that the meanest nature usually is successful in obtaining the discordant "last word." In regard to this no better advice than the following can be quoted:

"Any discussion which does not tend to bring two people into the one way of thinking is worse than useless."

When to Call.

Ceremonious calls are not made between women in the morning, evening or on Sunday afternoons. A man, owing to the exactions of business, may call in the evening and on Sunday afternoon.

Mean Brute.

"My, my!" exclaimed Mrs. Gabb as she looked up from the newspaper. "It says here that a girl wrote her name and address on an egg and secured a husband. What do you think of that?"

"Rats!" growled Mr. Gabb. "Marriage always was a shell game."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

QUEBEC BUTTER WINS

Dairying is not adversely affected by the war, but has rather been stimulated by the advancing prices, particularly of cheese. Butter and cheese makers under this stimulus sent more entries than ever before to the Toronto exhibition. There were surprises for the Ontario butter makers who were shut out this year in creamery classes. Two awards went to Alberta, one to Manitoba, and all the rest to Quebec..

Alberta Coal Best.

After official tests of the steam-producing quality of different coals the city of Saskatoon has determined to use coal from Lethbridge, Alberta, in preference to the United States coal used last year. The tests show a saving of 25 per cent. A contract was placed for 20,000 tons of Lethbridge coal at a price slightly over $100,000.

What Farmer Wants.

It's all very well to advise the farmers to grow more grain and raise more hogs and cattle. The farmer is used to receiving advice, but that does not solve his problems for him. What the farmer wants more than anything else is real assistance, not advice. — Orangeville Sun.

TWO COMPANIES FOR HOME GUARD FROM C.G.E. COMPANY

While of course there is nothing about this declaration making it obligatory for a man to take up arms and fight on the overseas contingent, yet no conscientious citizen would do other than consider his undertaking to be faithful and bear true allegiance to the King, as involving the duty of service.

A special syllabus drill has been prepared. It embodies the infantry training regulations and the rules governing rifle practice for 1914 and is the latest word on the subject. Stress is laid strongly on drill and, while the value of expert shooting is not being minimized, the importance of men knowing how to conduct themselves in the event of attack is to be emphasized.

No Uniforms.

As the work is being conducted on the simplest and most economical lines there will be no uniforms. Should the worst come to the worst and the men be called out for defence purposes a band on the arm will be quite sufficient, according to the Hague convention, to distinguish them from civilians proper.

The Association is getting all sorts of men. Professional and business men, merchants, clerks, even clergymen are falling in line and taking up the work with enthusiasm. As for instructors, a great many of whom are needed, these are being drawn from the ranks of ex-militia officers, and veterans from the Old Country line regiments, all of whom are giving their services voluntarily. The syllabus supplies a uniform system, ensuring that all the men being trained will be able, if necessity arose, to act in unison.

It is a splendid movement and one that deserves the hearty support of every patriotic citizen. It utilizes ready-to-hand equipment, and gives everyone an opportunity to learn without cost and without the expenditure of much time or effort.

Men, Not Dollars.

The expenses of the organization are met as follows: 1st. The government will furnish as soon as possible 10 rifles for 40 men and one (1) additional rifle for each (4) men, they also furnish 250 rounds of ammunition to each per annum. 2nd. By voluntary contributions by municipalities, corporations or individuals. 3rd. An annuel fee of $1.00 per member. This fee is payable whenever the member can afford it and the present officers of your association will never ask an individual member for this fee as we well understand that a man working on short time or not at all, cannot spare any amount. Our motto is "Men not dollars," and we hope we will be assisted by everybody. Do not let false pride stand in the way of your tendering your help to this movement.

It is not our intention to encourage men under 30 to join us in this movement as we feel that all young men who are physically capable should join the active militia, but of course if there are reasons that a man cannot see his way clear to join the militia we will be pleased to have him with us.

The Service Roll is is follows:—

"Service Roll of the Home Guard of Peterborough, County of Peterborough, Province of Ontario." "We whose names are hereunto subscribed declare we have taken the oath of allegiance to the Sovereign and we voluntarily agree to serve in the Peterborough Home Guard (Peterborough Civilian Rifle Association) under the conditions set forth in the regulations prescribed or hereinafter to be prescribed for Rifle Associations."

You will be pleased to know that we will have a first-class instructor from our own staff, Mr. Charles Peters has kindly promised to take us in hand and make first-class Tommy Atkins of us and, gentlemen, I can assure you that there is no better instructor in Canada than Mr. Peters, probably no man has passed as many officers through his hands as he has and he is known from one end of Ontario to the other by officers in the Regulars and Militia and is universally respected.

You will be asked to sign temporary service rolls and will be posted to either one of the three companies, the oath will be taken later and it will be necessary for company officers to see that each member of his company signs the Department Service Roll, take the oath of allegiance and in addition obtain the street address of each member.

We are not alone in this movement it is a time when each man and citizen of our great Empire is facing his own soul and is asking himself where he stands. A large number of our comrades especially among the men under thirty (30) have enlisted and are now at the front or preparing themselves for the front.

We all hope and pray that no more of our men may be required but it does seem at the present time that such a hope is far away indeed. Let us go into this movement with a quiet determination to do our share whatever so small and we may find that our share is a determinating factor for peace by declaring to the whole world that the British Empire has, at its back, every civilian citizen of Canada and a man who will not declare himself at this awful period is not worthy of such an honor as to be considered a citizen of the great Empire, that Canada is a part of."

E. G. Patterson, superintendent of the company, followed Mr. Layfield's address with a few remarks, pointing out the necessity of such an organization and offering his services in any way in which they might be required. That there is a reason for having a Home Guard was recently made known by the fact that the city council of Toronto has made a grant of $100,000 for military purposes. It must be that they received inside information from military authorities.

W. H. Moore, whose ability with the rifle is well known throughout Canada, also spoke a few words, referring to the grand effect the organizing of home guards in Canada will have on the military authorities who are in command of the British forces. He himself was willing in any possible manner to assist.

It was then decided to have two companies, and the above officers were elected to command them. Col. Miller, who was present, urged all the men to be on hand Thursday evening at drill, so that from then on Peterboro will be prepared.

The enthusiastic meeting ended by the singing of "God Save the King."

His Departure Was Delayed

A Canadian woman, living near London, England, tells, in a letter home, an interesting story of a German who was visiting in her town just before war was declared. He seemed a charming gentleman, and many functions were given in his honor. He had a sudden message recalling him to Germany, and his host and hostess, regretful at his departure, paid him a last honor in the form of a dinner party. Afterwards the host and another guest saw him to the station and, just as the train pulled slowly out, a door opened and the head of the treasured guest was thrust out:

"You dirty English pig!" hissed the grateful recipient of many hospitalities, and spit in the face of his host.

But the door had not closed. The train had not got up speed—and the German guest is still in an English hospital!

LINDSAY PROUD OF POST OFFICE

Bouquets for James Bogue, the Contractor

(Lindsay Warder.)

The new addition to Lindsay post office was completed on Saturday last, and to say the least is a beautiful structure. Taken perspectively, or from an inspection of the inner building, it will bear the keenest criticism for workmanship and material. The structure was erected by the well-known and experienced contractor, Mr. Jas. Bogue, who has the proud reputation of doing nothing in a careless or superficial manner. It is an obvious and incontrovertible truth that has been borne out in the many structures erected by Contractor Bogue that all work done by him is well and satisfactorily done.

The new addition to the post office has a dimension of 60 x 60 feet, standing on a 9-foot stone base and is one storey high. The place is constructed of brick supported by steel columns where necessary. The girders and beams are also of steel. A large hallway gives an entrance through the building from east to west, which gives easy access to the offices on either sides.

The large room immediately south of where general business has been transacted in the old office is a magnificent and spacious apartment, 30 x 50 feet, finished with 3-inch birch flooring and suitably painted. This place will be used as an assorting room. To accomplish this a large arch was put in 25 feet wide in the old post office building.

Two ventilated skylights are in this apartment, which with the other windows sheds an abundance of light throughout the room. In fact it is remarkable how well the building has been looked after in this regard.

The vault, which was used in the old office, has been renovated, the door opening to the south instead of to the east as formerly. It is in the south-west corner of the apartment.

The wainscotting is similar to that in other parts of the building. A mail lobby is at the entrance to this room and has a terrazzo floor. The bonded ware-room, a cheerful, bright spot, is off the hallway on the north side this is finished similar to the above apartment with birch flooring and well heated.

The wash room at end of hallway is finished with marble floors and tile partitions, having a border of Keene cement five feet high.

Two rooms are assigned to the weights and measures department. These are well heated and lighted with an entrance from the rear, which does away with carrying weights and measures through the office building. A well finished porch protects this doorway.

The men who did the work were all skilled in their lines as can be seen by the following: The excavating of drains, mason work, concrete, brick, cut stone work, carpenter work done by Mr. Jas. Bogue; the sub-contractors were: Mr. T. W. Stewart, of Toronto, tile and gravel roof; the galvanized iron work by Mr. W. R. Keys, Lindsay; the plumbing and heating by Mr. W. Hungerford, Lindsay; painting and glazing, Mr. Fred Chamberlain, of Lindsay; plastering; Mr. Saxby, of Peterboro; the electric light wiring and fixtures put in by Miller and Alexander, of Peterboro, which is finished in the most perfect and skilled manner, being all tube work. The firm also put in new fixtures in the old office.

In addition to this work Mr. Bogue added several feet to the tower on the main building, which leaves it about 100 feet from base to pinnacle. A new clock will be placed in the tower in the course of a few days.

All through it is gratifying to notice the skill and perfect workmanship that has been done and the highest encomiums must be awarded the contractor.

The American Federation of Labor will meet in San Francisco next year

Awarded Iron Cross

London Is Amused at Waldeck's Reward for Losing Tsingtau.

LONDON, Nov. 18.—The news that the Kaiser has decorated Meyer Waldeck, late Governor of Tsingtau, with the Iron Cross and praised the conduct of the defenders of the fort, is received here with amusement.

It is being pointed out that more than 5,000 able-bodied men surrendered while they still had plenty of ammunition and supplies.

Some critics declare that the surrender of Tsingtau was a worse case of "lying down" than Gen. Stoessel's surrender of Port Arthur in the Russo-Japanese war.

The Chinese express surprise that the Germans did not put up a better fight while defending the fort. It looks as though much damage had been done by this surrender, to the prestige of Germany in the far east.

Free Lance Squadron.

OTTAWA, Nov. 18. — Officials of the Militia Department, when asked about the 80 men connected with Elliot's Horse, a Winnipeg squadron reported to be stranded in London, said that nothing is known of the regiment officially. The first the Department heard of them was when they landed in Montreal. The men required a place to sleep there for the night prior to embarking for Great Britain, so the use of an armory was granted and beyond that Elliot's Horse is unknown to the militia officials here. Application was not even made for official recognition.

German Losses Are 549,247.

COPENHAGEN, Nov. 18.—The official list of German casualties, as announced here, give a total of 549,247 killed, wounded and missing.

This list does not include the Bavarian, Saxon and Wurtemburg armies, the losses of which are estimated at more than 400,000 men.

LEFT BANK OF THE MEUSE IS CLEARED

Germans Hold Only One Position on Allies Side of River

LONDON, Nov. 18.—The feature of the bulletin issued yesterday afternoon by the French War Office, is the report that the Germans have been driven from strongholds long held by them along the River Meuse, which stream they crossed shortly after the war on their dash to Paris. The French troops near St. Mihiel, have taken possession of the outskirts of the Village Chauvancour, the only point remaining in German hands on the left bank of the Meuse. The successes of the French forces, as given in the bulletin, indicate renewed activity by this section of the French line.

The correspondent of The Times in Flanders telegraphs that the Germans have completely evacuated the left bank of the Yser Canal and that the floods are seriously jeopardizing the Germans' position at Dixmude. The French are nominally holding the south end of the town of Dixmude and the Germans the north side. There is much hand-to-hand fighting.

"Recent days have been entirely favorable," the allies' correspondent says, "and it may be taken as certain that the retreat of the enemy is simply a question of time. Between our forces and the enemy, the whole way from Nieuport to Dixmude, there is a protective sheet of water and all hopes of a German advance have been frustrated."

The country between Bixschoote and Armentieres and the heights of the Meuse appear to be the centres of activity, but elsewhere the combat is confined to artillery duels. Severe losses were inflicted on the invaders in western Belgium and north of the River Aisne and in the Argonne forest district in France. Along the centre of the battle line on the Aisne, near Soissons, there have been some sharp infantry engagements resulting in slight gains for the allies. In the Argonne the French have succeeded in mining and blowing up some of the Greman trenches.

A detachment of Germans was killed when French mines blew up their trenches. Entire detachments, which tried to capture French fortifications near Vailly, were destroyed by artillery fire. The Germans have been washed out of their trenches at many points in the flooded section about Dixmude. Many have been drowned. commands, separated by the waters have been wiped out by the allied artillery fire. The Kaiser's soldiers made desperate efforts to gain control of the canal dykes, but each assault was repulsed.

An extended movement of troops or guns is now virtually impossible in Eastern Belgium. The trenches occupied by the Germans are half filled with water and in many places the Franco-British are in water up to their knees, but bravely hold their positions in the face of heavy German artillery fire. On account of the danger of electrocution to their own men, both the Germans and the allies have shut off the electric current with which the wire entanglements before the trenches were charged. Numerous fatalities have resulted from the water rising above the entanglements, greatly increasing the deadly power in the charged wires.

It is reported that many thousands of soldiers from the western battle field are passing through Cologne en route to East Prussia. Eight thousand infantry have arrived at Aix-la-Chapelle and are proceeding in the direction of Brussels. From Thielt, two of the big German 40 centimeter guns have passed through Aix-la-Chapelle on their way to Dixmude.

A correspondent in Dunkirk telegraphs that the German losses during the last four days of fighting in western Belgium are estimated at 100,000. The casualties in the allied ranks were heavy, but favorable progress was made. There is no question that the German forces who have made their repeated attacks in the Dixmude-Ypres are utterly exhausted. Beyond doubt their losses have been staggering.

Parental Severity

The children of two centuries ago fell on stern times, if one may believe that the spirit of family life was accurately expressed by an excellent mother of that day who said, without humorous intent, that her children "loved her as sinners dread death." There is little doubt that parental control at that date was as rigorous as this anecdote indicates. It is said that when little Andrew Elliot, afterward lieutenant governor of New York, objected to boiled mutton his father, Sir Gilbert Elliot, frowned.

"Let Mr. Andrew have boiled mutton for breakfast," commanded the stern parent, "cold mutton for dinner and cold mutton for supper till he has learned to like it."

CANADIANS FOR EGYPT?

Col. Shillington Writes That Contingent May be Used Against Turks.

OTTAWA, Nov. 18. — Col. A. T. Shillington, Ottawa, who recently left Salisbury Plain to take charge of a field hospital in France, has written from the War Office to a friend here as follows:

"The War Office is considering the question of sending the Canadian contingent to Egypt since the Turks have thrown in their lot with the Germans. A Canadian contingent went with the Nile expedition in 1885 and they acquitted themselves most creditably. The climate also agreed well with them. Col. John Currie, M.P., of Toronto, has been called to the War Office for consultation and Col. Victor Williams and Col. Harry McLeod, M.P., of New Brunswick, are also being asked for their views and are in London to-day."

Condemned for Treason.

CHALONS-SUR-MARNE, Nov. 18. —A Frenchman, Alfred Durot by name, has been sentenced to death by court-martial for treason.

During the battle which raged around Rheims on Sept. 9, the French artillery operating near the village of Puiseulx was subjected to a terrific bombardment by the Germans, no matter how often they changed their position. A careful watch was kept and it was discovered that a mile in front of the French batteries a shepherd was feeding his flock, among which were five snow white goats.

ASSERTION IS DENIED

No Footwear Orders by War Office Outside United Kingdom

LONDON, Nov. 18.—The War Office yesterday assured the High Commissioner's secretary that no orders for boots or shoes had been given outside the United Kingdom, which disposes of the assertion in Canada that such order had been extensively placed in the United States.

The War Office further said they were anxious to place such orders in Canada, whenever the opportunity offered. Ten thousand saddles were yesterday ordered by the Government through the High Commissioner. Orders also for clothing will probably follow.

The War Office has arranged for frequent interviews with Secretary Griffiths in relation to placing commissions for goods in Canada.

Sifton Battery To the Front.

TORONTO, Nov. 18. — A Toronto chauffeur has received a letter from a member of the automobile corps forming part of the Sifton Machine Gun Battery, which was mailed twelve days ago from Salisbury Plain. The writer says that the Machine Gun Battery has received orders to prepare to go to the front with the Princess Patricia Regiment. It is probable that the battery and the Princess Patricia Regiment are in France and close to the battlefield by this time.

Prince Appointed Aide-de-Camp.

LONDON, Nov. 18. — It was officially announced in London yesterday afternoon that the Prince of Wales had been appointed aide-de-camp to Field Marshal Sir John French, the commander of the British expeditionary force on the continent.

Native Wood Used

Maritime Provinces Produce Nearly all Lumber Used in Their Factories

Two hundred million feet board measure, of wood per year are required by the various industries of the Maritime Provinces that use wood as their raw material—not to speak of the many millions of feet of timber used in rough building construction for poles and railway cross-ties fuel and the many other uses of timber.

Such is the conclusion of an investigation made by the Forestry Branch of the Dominion Department of the Interior into the wood-using industries of the Maritime Provinces. The value of the wood used is nearly $3,700,000; of this entire amount only 12.3 per cent.—about 25,000,000 feet—is imported. Twenty-eight kinds of wood are used in the industries, spruce occupying first place.

ADVICE TO IRELAND.

Irishmen Must Help or Say Good-bye to Home Rule Says Nationalist.

LONDON, Nov. 18.—"We have got either to bid good-bye to Home Rule or help England honestly in this war," said Wm. O'Brien, member of the House of Commons from Cork, and leader of the Independent Nationalists, in writing yesterday a reply to constituents who had protested against the suggestion of conscription.

Irishmen, he said, were being cruelly led astray and their attitude towards the Government was "inexplicable."

This, he continued, "was furnishing to certain English politicians their only excuse for deserting the cause of Home Rule.

United States Cruiser as Guardian.

PARIS, Nov. 18.—A despatch to a news agency says: "The U. S. cruiser Tennessee, in command of Capt. B. C. Decker, has arrived at the Port of Vourla, Asia Minor, and has put a stop to the ill-treatment of British, French and Russian residents. The authorities of Smyrna, fearing a bombardment, have left for the interior. The garrison at Smyrna at present consists of 35,000 Turkish troops.

BIG FLANDERS BATTLE AT END

Second German Effort to Break Lines Has Failed

BORDEAUX, Nov. 18. — (Via Paris.)—The bulletin of the armies of the republic thus sums up the military situation:

"The second battle in Flanders seems to be drawing to a close. At the present date, Nov. 17, after a fierce struggle lasting seven days, the German effort appears to be broken.

"It has been, as with the preceding attempts, a massacre of dense columns of infantry led to the assault by newly-appointed officers whose bravery does not compensate for inexperience. In the presence of such results it may be affirmed that the superior instruction and preparation of which the German infantry gave proof at the beginning of hostilities—qualities which greatly contributed to their successes in the month of August—have disappeared and that today, as far as direction and fighting, fire control and maintenance of contact between infantry and artillery are concerned, superiority has passed to our side."

He Specialized In River Plans.

QUEBEC, Nov. 18.—Hoffman, the alleged German spy, arrested some days ago by the Winnipeg police and in whose possession were found plans of the Hudson Bay Railway, worked in Quebec for a few months up to recently. He was on the draftsman's staff of the Harbor Commission.

It was soon learned that he had been a regular customer of a local photographic studio, where he had blue prints copied. It is said he paid particular attention to charts of the River St. Lawrence, of the harbor and of the various points along the route.

Believes Canopus Is Safe.

LONDON, Nov. 18.—Reports that the British battleship Canopus had met with disaster were scouted by Winston Churchill, First Lord of the Admiralty, in replying to questions put to him in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Churchill declared he believed the Canopus to be safe.

At the time of the recent British defeat off the Chilian coast many enquiries were made as to why the Canopus had not been with the Good Hope and Monmouth.

Cutting Plate Glass

Best Result Obtained by Use of Cutter and Heated Rod

If plate glass cutting is attempted with the aid of a diamond glass-cutter and rule, the glass will break with a ragged edge. The best method of overcoming this difficulty is described in the following: First obtain a good diamond glass-cutter, and with this tool scratch the glass along the line on which it is to be cut, using any good straight edge to guide the diamond. In this connection it may be mentioned that the deeper the cut the more uniform the surfaces of the cut edge will be. After laying the glass on a cold surface with the cut side up, an iron or steel rod about 4 inches in diameter is heated to a dull red. This rod is then laid along the line scratched by the diamond-point, and pressed lightly against the glass. When held in position for from one to four minutes—depending on the thickness of the glass—it will be found that the glass will crack along the line, leaving a perfectly uniform surface. This method has been tested on plate glass half an inch thick, with excellent results.

ENEMY USES THE DUM-DUMS

British Deny Allegations and Make Counter Charge

LONDON, Nov. 18.—The War Office last night issued a statement denying German allegations that the British troops have used dum-dum or soft-nosed bullets, but maintaining that these kinds of missiles have been used by the Germans.

The statement describes the British and German ammunition as very similar, the bullets being pointed with steel and the envelope coated with cupro-nickel, covering the core, except at the base, and conforming with the provisions of The Hague conference.

In the opinion of Sir Victor Horsley, a well-known surgeon, this bullet is "probable the most humane projectile yet devised," for the reason that "the long, solid point, consisting almost entirely of a hard nickel sheath, precludes as far as possible, any tendency toward deformation of shape, while the strength of the sheath prevents the bullet breaking up into fragments, except in very exceptional circumstances."

The statement concludes: "There is, however, clear evidence that Germany has not confined herself solely to the use of this unobjectionable ammunition. Her troops in both Togoland and France, prove to have used bullets with soft core and envelope not entirely covering the core, which type of bullet is expanding and is expressly prohibited by The Hague."

FUNERAL THURSDAY.

Remains of Illustrious Soldier Will Be Laid In St. Paul's.

LONDON, Nov. 18.—The funeral of Lord Roberts will be public and will be held at St. Paul's Thursday, it was announced yesterday.

It has also been decided that interment will also be at St. Paul's. Lady Robert declined the offer to have the remains interred in Westminster Abbey.

Lord Kitchener, Secretary for War; Winston Churchill, First Lord of the Admiralty, and other Cabinet Ministers, as well as members of both Houses of Parliament, will attend the funeral services.

Lord Roberts will be given a public funeral of an elaborate military character.

Premier Asquith formally moved before the House of Commons yesterday the adoption of the resolution for the erection of a national monument to Lord Roberts. His tribute was offered to the late field marshal as the most illustrious British soldier."

The body of Lord Roberts arrived at Folkestone last night from Boulogne and was received by a large contingent of officers from the Shorncliffe camp, the Mayor of Folkestone and other officials.

The official press bureau gives a touching account of the funeral service for Field Marshal Lord Roberts at the headquarters of the British army in France.

"To the wail of 'Flowers o' the Forest,' from the pipers, the cortege moved slowly through double ranks of soldiers with arms reversed. General officers acted as pall-bearers. Those following the casket included representatives of the family of Lord Roberts and of King Albert and President Poincare, the Prince of Wales, Prince Arthur of Connaught and Gen. French.

"The simple funeral service was conducted by Chaplain Anderson of the British forces."

"Personally, I haven't the slightest objection to the present officer," he said. "I understand, however, that the main objection is that some people don't like to have the disbursement of the fund in his hands. They feel it looks too much like charity; in other words, it doesn't look good."

Mr. Harry Rush said: "I do not know what will happen at the meeting, but I presume it is called to appoint a successor to Mr. Miller. I have never had any objection to Mr. Miller. He has ben indefatigable always, and has done good work, always to the best of his ability. He has given liberally to the fund himself, and it would be a pity to make any change."

If a change were made, Mr. Rush considered that Mr. H. P. Lindsay would make an excellent man. Mr. Lindsay has already been suggested for the office. In regard to Mr. Geo. Cochrane, another name mentioned, Mr. Rush said that as he was agent for the Children's Aid Society, people would raise a "holler" on the same grounds as they objected to Mr. Miller.

Must Be Settled Soon.

The situation bids fair to result in a deadlock, unless some one steps in with a suggestion that will settle the matter all round. Mr Miller receives no salary for his work of distributing relief, and another man would, according to the word of the committee, demand adequate remuneration.

Mr. Miller's attitude in the matter, to all appearances, is one of genuine unconcern. To a reporter he expressed no desire to retain the office, but preferred the work to devolve upon someone who would have more time and leisure to give to it.

Whether things go on as at present or a change is made depends upon the outcome of the committee session Friday night.

SAVING THE CRIMINAL

Ontario's New System Results in Decrease of the Gang Spirit.

The Province of Ontario has now a complete and up-to-date system for dealing with criminals. Toronto, the capital of the province, has an efficient Juvenile Court and a private Women's Police Court, as advancements and improvements on the regular police court. The city has two splendid industrial farms, one for men and one for women. The province has three prison farms, one at Guelph, one near Sudbury, and another near Fort William. The Central Prison, renamed the Ontario Reformatory, has had the new "indeterminate term" introduced. Hon. W. J. Hanna, the Provincial Secretary, is the man who has introduced and carried out these modern ideas. But a breadth of public opinion in Ontario has been the active source of the reforms.

That these new ideas in regard to crime and criminals have spread pretty well throughout all the intricate machinery of justice-dealing and penalizing is shown by the way in which even the police officials, who above all others, might be expected to hold to the old and well-tried methods, are co-operating splendidly, with the new system. Considering the whole thing—its unity, from the care of child delinquents to the study and treatment of professional criminals, Ontario may pridefully look forward to the day when crime will be literally bred out of the community.

The principal feature of the new system is that the criminal and not the crime is the first consideration. To punish the crime leaves crimes still to be committed. To cure the criminal is to lessen the number of crimes. To consider a crime in its self, to isolate it from the man, and to judge it coldly in the light of the law, is either to be inhuman to a victim of environment, or to be lenient to a wilful professional. And so it is that we find the police making expert reports on the environment of their prisoners; judges listening to past records or unfortunate histories. So it is that we find criminals being sentenced to the Ontario Reformatory for "three months and indeterminately" — that is, three months for their crime, and indeterminately—which may be nothing at all or up to two years—the length of which is to be decided by a Parole Board, who do so after an intimate study of the individual.

It is now realized that ordinary crime — that resulting from ignorance, weakness, pressing poverty—is decreasing, but that professional crime is persistently increasing. Professional crime is chosen by men just as they choose medicine, law, or the ministry—according to their talents. In the case of crime, the principal qualification is an inbred dislike for regular work. Of course, chance operates largely in the choice — for instance, some disappointment or shame urging the man on to disregard the possibility of the degradation of conviction.

The new system has its Industrial Farm near Toronto and its Guelph farm to send gangsters to. A gang is rapidly broken up, for it is vagrancy to be a gangster. The leaders are sent away to a farm, where they have to do manual labor for an indefinite period up to two years. The women of these gangs are sent up to the Women's Farm, where some of them see nature and homely things for the first time in their lives. This is the new system that is getting under the root of crime and prying it out. It has none of rigidity of the law that was so unwieldy an instrument in the past.

Patrick Ronan, for fifty years a flour and feed merchant in Hamilton, is dead, aged 73.

TWICE CAPTURED BY THE GERMANS

Held up at Point of Bayonets and Blindfolded

PRISONER TWO DAYS

Montreal, Nov. 17.—After travelling over the Allies' lines from Paris to Antwerp, in which place he was wounded in the arm, William Marrie of Maisonneuve, has arrived home. He was captured by the Gemans fifteen miles from Antwerp, together with a Belgian, and was kept a prisoner for two days.

Leaving New York on August 15, Mr. Marrie arrived in Paris two weeks alter in response to a call to the colors. Presenting himself, he was told the army did not need him then and that he must wait, probably for some months. Wishing to be useful, Mr. Marrie applied for an interpreter's position, knowing English well. He was taken before Governor Gallieni of Paris, who wrote out a pass for him with which he was free to go anywhere. Mr. Marrie left Paris soon after in the midst of the Zeppelin raids which, he said, did not worry Paris very much. Arriving at Enghien-le-Bains, fifteen miles from Paris on the road to Compeigne, the thunder of the German guns was heard.

A Pitiful Sight.

"But Paris," he said, "had already been assured that the river Marne would be the turning point and few people left. When I got to Compeigne I saw a huge German gun with twenty-four horses attached to it. It was part of the spoils. I also met a woman fifty-five years old, who told me the Germans had killed her husband and two children. She had walked far and was a pitiful sight."

Mr. Marrie then went to London and from there to Antwerp with a young Belgian who was trying to rescue his mother who lived some miles out of Antwerp. The two young men set out together, but were sighted by a German patrol, two miles out, and captured.

"They pointed their bayonets at us," Mr. Marrie said, "and we put up our hands without being asked twice. We were blindfolded and marched to a house some way off. Had we been Belgians we would have been shot, said the officer who questioned us. My friend had luckily said he was French. I thought my last hour had come."

After a bread and water diet for two days they were released and walked back to Antwerp, the young Belgian weeping at the loss of his mother.

"In Antwerp I saw the first house wrecked by a Zeppelin. I saw many more after that. I saw women and children dying in the streets two weeks later when the big guns got busy. The big guns are far worse that Zeppelins. I saw three big houses collapse from one shell. Everybody started to get out. The shrapnel shell bursting overhead told us that the ring of forts had been pierced badly.

"I was not long in Antwerp before the guns got at us. Shells were bursting all over the city. The whizz and bang of the shrapnel shells was awful. The day before I left Antwerp, on the top of a train, a shell burst so close to me that I was thrown off my feet. My right arm was badly injured in the fall. Everybody tried to get out at once and the scenes were terrible. Some men and two women were drowned when we rushed for the boats at Ostend. It took us three days to get to Tilbury and then we were sent round to Folkestone. We had no food and nothing to drink during that time. When we landed some of the passengers were dead for there was just standing room on board ship."

In London Mr. Marrie explained his case to the French consul who told him he would not be called till December. Not having any money left, Mr. Marrie was given his passage home to Montreal as his first call had been premature and was due to an error. He will go back in December. Mr. Marrie is nineteen years old and lives at 103 Fifth Avenue, Maisonneuve.

DID NOT EXECUTE ORDER FOR GOODS IN NEW YORK

Hon. Robert Rogers, Minister of Public Works, sends the following letter to the local federal member:

November 15th, 1914.

My dear Burnham,

On my return from New York today I find a copy of the "Evening Examiner," of Peterborough, dated Friday, the 13th, in which the public are told that I have been in New York executing orders for goods in connection with the war. Let me say that a more deliberate and false statement has never been made by any paper published. I did not purchase a dollar's worth of war supplies in New York, and never thought of doing so, and how under Heaven a presumably reputable paper could be guilty of such deliberate and untrue statements is fully beyond my comprehension.

Yours sincerely,

R. ROGERS.

Mr. Burnham says that The Examiner was probably misled by a fake press despatch.

INGENIOUS SMOKE CONSUMING SCHEMES

The most ingenious scheme ever invented for doing away with the smoke difficulty with steam locomotives was tried some years ago on the Metropolitan railway of England. "Between the rails a trough was laid, and the engine carried a sliding shoe device adapted to slide over this and to open doors as it passed whereby smoke let from the stack to the shoe was enabled to pass into the trough, thence being exhausted to a collecting plant." Another scheme for solving the smoke difficulty was to construct a series of smokestacks leading to the back of the train. This would have kept the cinders out of the passengers' eyes possibly, but would hardly have been sufficient to make the smoke settle on the company's right of way.—Indianapolis News.

The Mocking Bird.

Because of its incomparable medleys and imitative powers the mocking bird is the most renowned singer of the western hemisphere. Its place in the affections of the south is similar to that occupied by the robin in the north. It is well that this is true, for the bird appears not to deserve protection strictly from an economic standpoint. About half of its diet consists of fruit and many cultivated varieties, such as oranges, grapes, figs, strawberries, blackberries and raspberries, are attacked. One-fourth of its food is animal matter, and grasshoppers are the largest single element.

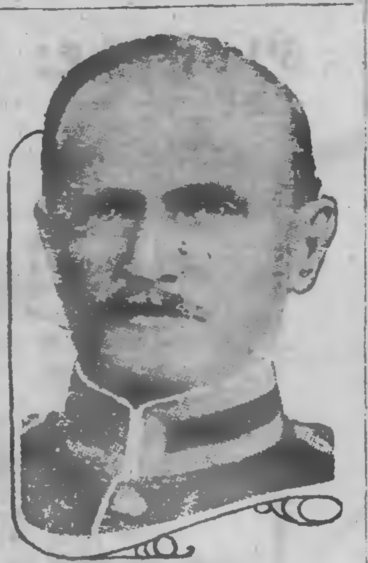
GENERAL ALLENBY AS MAN AND SOLDIER

Devoted to His Profession, Shuns Society and Has Some Rare Sympathetic Qualities.



GENERAL ALLENBY

To Sir John French the repeated writing of General Allenby's name and exploits in his great despatches must have been the pleasantest of duties. It would remind him of old and arduous campaigning with one of the fittest and most thorough officers in the armies of the allies.

General Allenby, who was appointed Inspector-General of Cavalry in England in 1910, is, and always has been, a soldier through and through. He has not waited for wars in order to show his quality and sharpen his martial wits. Circumstances, as well as preference, curtailed his activities in the world of fashion. He is not a society man. So little does he amalgamate his social or domestic concerns with those of his profession that many of his military acquaintances could not tell whether he is married or a bachelor.

The tradition of his regiment has been all against the mixing of the social and martial careers. The Inniskillings were on the veldt for ten years in the 'eighties, and, though they grumbled, it made them very serviceable. Nor was that the end of their exile. When Allenby's division came home at the close of the last South African war, it had been on foreign service for fourteen years. General Allenby first saw active service in the Zulu War of 1878.

A Regiment of Fighters

The Inniskillings were, from the point of view of the smarter folk, a little heavy. They were hardly admitted to the inner clique of the crack regiments: "Too heavy for their horses; and their mess port, like the wit that goes with it, not quite as light as might be," was the old view of them. But the Boer War changed the tone of their critics. Every regiment that came in touch with them recognized their quality. The men were splendid in action, the officers "thorough good sorts." But if from that moment their social status was raised, General Allenby remained the same. He never learned the arts of the ornamental soldier.

His dislike of even the most legitimate form of military ostentation was illustrated at the entry into Barberton, after desperately hard fighting under French. The general of brigade wished Allenby's division to lead the triumphal procession into the town; it had taken the honors in the field and was to be sent to the top of the class. But, though first in every attack, Allenby demurred when it came to a parade of victory. He excused himself with "my men and horses are fatigued," and came quietly in the day after.

Tender Words to a Mother

Of General Allenby's cordial relations with his junior officers no better indication can be given than the letter he wrote to Lady Champion de Crespigny: "Dear Lady de Crespigny—I and the whole of the cavalry division sympathize with you, and we feel deeply for Norman's (Lieut. Norman Champion de Crespigny) loss. But I must tell you he died a hero's death . . . Norman, with a few men, was holding an important tactical point, and he held it till every man was killed or wounded. No man could have done more, few would have done as much. With deepest sympathy, yours sincerely.—E. H. H. Allenby."

It is just because General Allenby is a soldier through and through that he is several other things besides, and can sit down while a battle is raging to write a perfect letter of condolence. He writes on the field rather better than most men write in their studies, and Lady de Crespigny is consoled as far as it is in the power of anybody to console her.

Vicissitudes of a Week

The war service record is set up by a Lancashire man, who left England for the front on a Thursday, was wounded in the firing line on the following Monday, and was back in England in hospital on the succeeding Thursday—the eighth day after he left England.

A Hard Meal to Digest

Is Quickly Digested by the Taking of A Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet After It Is Over.

Corn on the cob is hard to digest, for some folk, but with a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet it readily is disposed of by the stomach and digestive apparatus.

Don't drug your stomach. Give it just what it needs at the very moment it needs it. Here is the way a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet acts:

He—I can eat corn now and feel O.K. A Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet will quickly digest it."

One takes a tablet just after the meal is completed. It is taken into the mouth like food; is mixed with the saliva; swallowed moist and partially dissolved. It goes into the stomach and is there mixed with the stomach juices which are composed of acids and alkalies.

A Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet re-inforces these juices. It quickly digests the elements which such weakened juices cannot digest.

After a while the stomach passes the meal partially digested to the intestines, where it goes through another stage of digestion. Here, as in the stomach, Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets strengthen the juices of digestion and complete the work of giving the body the benefit of the meal.

There is nothing harmful in these tablets. Only natural ingredients which the body lacks are supplied. In a short time the blood and digestive juices are given the power they lack. Man can digest any food without injury and the entire health of the body is increased. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold wherever drugs are sold, price 50 cents a box. Anyone wishing a free trial of these tablets please address F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich., and a small sample package will be mailed free.

OFFICIAL BULLETINS

PARIS, Nov. 18. — The following bulletin was issued by the War Office last night:

"According to the latest advices the enemy has renewed his attacks to the east and the south of Ypres, but they have not altered the situation. The impression is satisfactory.

"During the last two days we have registered progress more or less pronounced everywhere we have attacked; at Hetas, on the Yser, between Armentieres and Arras; in the region of Vailly, in the Argonne, and on the heights of the Meuse."

The afternoon communique says:

"From Nieuport to Dixmude, and in the region of Ypres, cannonading has been resumed with greater violence than on the preceding days. On the canal to the south of Dixmude the action of our artillery checked the work that the Germans were endeavoring to carry out to keep down the inundations. The enemy was compelled to evacuate a portion of his trenches which had been filled by the waters.

"Two attacks of German infantry, one to the south of Bixschoote and the other to the south of Ypres, resulted in failure. On our side we have made progress between Bixschoote and the canal.

"Between Armentieres and La Bassee there has been an artillery duel conducted with great spirit.

"On the Aisne certain German detachments which endeavored to cross the river in the vicinity of Vailly were either driven back or destroyed.

"On our positions on the right bank of the Aisne, upstream from Vailly, there has been violent cannonading. This applies also to the Rheims region, and several shells have fallen on the City of Rheims.

"In the Argonne there have not been any infantry engagements. We blew up with mines a certain number of German trenches. On the heights of the Meuse, to the south of Verdun, we have made advances at several points.

"In the region of St. Mihiel we have taken possession of the first houses of the Village of Chauvoncourt. These houses served as barracks for the St. Mihiel garrison. This village of Chauvencourt is the only point of support still held by the Germans on the left bank of the River Meuse in this locality.

"On the rest of the front there has been nothing of importance to report."

Offers Howitzer Brigade.

LONDON, Ont., Nov. 18.—Lt.-Col. A. B. Petrie of Guelph, offers to organize a howitzer brigade of three batteries, 536 officers and men all told, for overseas service. Ottawa has notified local headquarters that no action will be taken at present as the Imperial authorities have not yet asked for a howitzer brigade. In the event of acceptance the offer stipulates that the full equipment could be drawn from the Guelph howitzer corps.

May March on Belgrade.

VIENNA, Nov. 18.—It is reported that the German and Austrian armies are ready to resume the offensive. Valjevo and Obrenovac, captured by the Austrians, removing two big obstacles for the march on Belgrade, capital or Servia.

GERMANS ADVANCING ALONG THE VISTULA AND WARTHE RIVERS

They Evidently Hope to Dislodge the Russians From East Prussia—Emperor William Has Sent Out Appeal to His Eastern Armies Not to Let Prussia be Again Invaded.

LONDON, Nov. 18. — An official communication issued by the Russian General Headquarters at Petrograd yesterday says:

"On the East Prussian frontier the enemy is falling back along the whole front between Gumbinnen and Angerburg, while continuing to hold the passages in the Mazurian Lakes.

"On the front between the Vistula and Warthe rivers (in Russian Poland) the fighting continues, it taking the character of a great battle.

"There are important German forces in Galicia. We have reached the Austrian rearguards in the region of Dukla and the passage of Ujok."

Another despatch from Petrograd says:—

"The German front along the Vistula extends for 70 miles to the southwest of Plock. The advance along the right bank of the Vistula has progressed less than 20 miles from the frontier.

"It is the opinion of observers here that the Germans are determined to force the invaders from East Prussia and that they are striking two blows, one from the north, the other from the northwest, in the general direction of Plock and Kutno, with the object of paralyzing the Russian advance along the southern frontier of East Prussia."

The Daily Mail correspondent at Petrograd says:

"Emperor William sent urgent commands to his generals and also addressed a personal appeal to his soldiers not to let Prussia be again invaded. He knows the effect which the flight of fugitives from this region as far as Berlin made in September, and is afraid that another panic coming on top of the Russian victory at the battle of Warsaw might have serious consequences.

"The only way of carrying out the Imperial order was to shift troops from Lyck, where the nature of the country, all lakes and marshes, makes Russian progress very slow. This manoeuvre has certainly caused the Russians to give way on the Vistula valley, but the effect in East Prussia has been the opposite of that desired. The Russians there are pushing forward at every point, and the inhabitants are fleeing before them.

"The Germans apparently have not yet realized the inexhaustible military resources of the Czar's immense empire."

The German troops now advancing along the left bank of the Vistula, below Warsaw, consist partly of regular forces, which previously had been engaged in the advance on Warsaw; of troops from the East Prussian frontier, of men previously engaged in Belgium, and finally of some Austrians.

The actual situation in Cracow is becoming one of the many enigmas of the war. One report has the Russians actually investing the town, which is declared to be in flames, while several reports have reached London that the Germans have left the defence of Cracow to the Austrians, who in their turn are expected to surrender rather than have the city bombarded. The latest reports from Petrograd, however, declare that the German forces have rejoined the Austrian garrison in the defence of the Cracow fortress, which some experts pronounce to be the key to the easiest road into the Province of Silesia.

The fighting in the Caucasus between the Russians and the Turks is virtually a duplication of the battle on the coast of Belgium, as the Russian warships in the Black Sea are aiding the land forces and have inflicted heavy losses in the Turkish ranks.

SHREWD SAMMIS

The Elevator Boy Worits a Disciple of Blackstone

By M. QUAD.

[Copyright, 1914, by Associated Literary Press.]

WHEN Mr. Skidmore moved into room 140 he called me up to his office and began:

"Sammis, I wanted to make your acquaintance and find out what sort of a boy you were."

"I am a good boy," I replied, "and my mother is a widow."

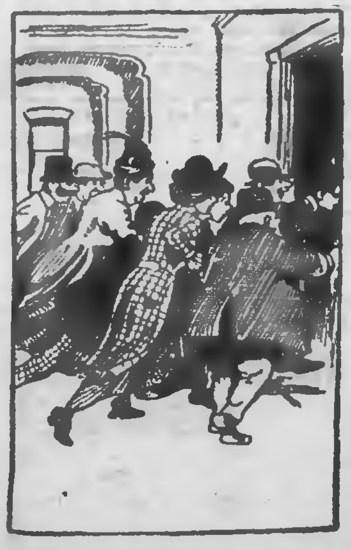
"Ah, she is! Well, there must be widows as well as wives."

"And I am trying to pay off the mortgage on our little home."

"That's right, Sammis. I like to see a boy have some aim in life."

Mr. Skidmore chewed at the end of a penholder for awhile and then said:

"Sammis, an elevator boy and a tenant should work in harmony. As you go up and down you will hear people asking for a lawyer."



REACHED HIS DOOR IN A BODY.

"Yes, sir."

"I make collections, secure divorces, smooth over family quarrels and hunt up the next of kin. In return for what you do for me I shall be delighted to give you fatherly advice and counsel."

I got up to go, wondering if he thought I was a soft mark, when he patted me on the back.

"Remember the name, Sammis—Skidmore. And it would be well to intimate that I have been here for years instead of two or three weeks."

One afternoon I sent a man to him who wanted a bill of sale made out, and an hour later I called at his office to see if he wouldn't offer me 10 cents. He simply laid his hands on my head and said:

"Sammis, you sent me a client, and in return I'll give you some fatherly advice. How much is that mortgage?"

"Seven hundred dollars, sir."

"Well, my fatherly advice to you is to stop buying peanuts and popcorn and pay it up."

It was only a day or two later when a woman came in and asked if there was a tenant in the building named Higgins. She was followed by a man who asked the same question, and during the day about six people came looking after Higgins. Next day the crowd increased, and finally along came a tall woman with two front teeth gone, who said:

"It's Higgins I'm after, but he might have changed his name. I'll tell you what sort of a looking man he is."

She described Skidmore to the dot. I told everybody to come at a certain hour two days later, and when the hour arrived there were fourteen of 'em. There were landladies, tailors, shoemakers, hatters, grocers and land knows who else, and all of 'em had their fists doubled up. I got 'em all in the car at once and scooted 'em up to No. 140. It was a race between 'em down the hall to see who should get into Skidmore's room first. They reached his door in a body and banged it open.

For ten seconds there was a silence that smelled like a kerosene lamp dying out, and then fifteen yells arose on the air. Mr. Higgins might have jumped out of the window if they hadn't laid hold of him. But they piled on to him like so many tons of brick. Then they went to scrapping among themselves, and when I got a policeman the whole building was in an uproar. When quiet had been restored a doctor felt of Mr. Skidmore's head and arms and legs and body and said he was not fatally injured, though he wouldn't be able to play golf for six months. Mr. Rusher, the agent, gave him notice to quit at once, and by and by he rang for me to come up. He looked at me in a reproachful way and, heaving a long sigh, he said:

"Sammis, this is your work, but I cannot blame you. I gave you a cold bluff."

"You should have whacked up," I said.

"I know. I see when it is too late."

I was a bit sorry for Mr. Skidmore, but yet he was a man of years, and he ought to have known better than to try and paint me with molasses.

De Wet Wounded In Head.

LONDON, Nov. 18.—A Pretoria despatch to Reuter's Telegram Co. states that Gen. Christian Rudolf De Wet, who headed the recent rebellion in the Orange Free State, and the Western Transvaal, has been wounded in the head. De Wet's followers are reported as much dejected.

It is said that they are poorly armed and lack ammunition.

LATEST NEWS PARAGRAPHED

Among the Russian prisoners captured by the Germans at the battle of Kutno were the Governor of Warsaw and his staff, according to a Berlin telegram.

A news agency despatch from Amsterdam says thousands of German soldiers from the western battle front are passing through Cologne en route to Koenigsburg and the East Prussian front.

It was officially announced at Christiania, Norway, yesterday that the disarmament of the German cruiser Berlin, which has put in at Trondhjem, a seaport of Norway, has been commenced.

The Italian Minister of Foreign Affairs, Baron Sonnino, has requested the Italian Ambassadors in the European capitals to come to Rome to confer with him regarding Italy's international policy.

The British cruiser Glasgow, which reached Rio Janeiro Monday after a trip from the Chilean coast, where on Nov. 1, she was damaged in an encounter with the German squadron, is to undergo repairs.

As a result of the fall of Kiao-Chau into the hands of the Anglo-Japanese forces, martial law now no longer prevails at Vladivostok. A telegram from there yesterday states that the decree of martial law has been cancelled.

The aeroplane has made its appearance in fighting in Southwest Africa for the first time. The British reported yesterday that the Germans are using an aeroplane for scouting purposes, and that it is flying over the British camp at intervals.

DR. GRENFELL IN LABRADOR

"Life in Far Away Labrador," was the subject of an illustrated lecture given by Rev. Mr. Neil Herman, pastor of the McPhail Memorial Baptist Church in Ottawa. Mr. Herman spent an entire season with Dr. Grenfel in Labrador, doing missionary work and during that time he studied and learned many interesting things about the country. During the course of his lecture, Mr. Herman paid a great tribute to Dr. Grenfell, whom he classed as one of the greatest men of modern times. In one of his pictures he showed a place where the famous missionary nearly lost his life. The story he told in connection with the incident was a most interesting one. The doctor was summoned to a place some forty miles away from his camp to attend a boy with a broken leg. He sent some of his men ahead and when he finally caught up to them he found they had broken a road through the ice and snow which took them far out of their way. He decided to go in another direction and was far out on the ice when he noticed it starting to move. Suddenly the big lake broke and he with eight dogs were slowly drifting out to sea. When night fell he found it necessary to kill four of the dogs and use their skins to keep him warm. In the morning when he had almost given up hope he thought of binding all the dead dogs' feet together to make a pole to which he attached his undershirt. After waving it for several hours he was finally seen by some of his own party and rescued.

THE GERMAN CREED

Here are two quotations from the writings of Nietzsche, the philosopher who inspired the political creed now current in Germany:

1. "The dream is dispelled which made the State begin with a contract. What has he to with contracts who can command, who is master by nature, who comes on the scene with violence in deed and demeanor?"

2. "The essential thing in a good healthy aristocracy is that it should feel itself to be not a function but the end and justification, be it of royalty or of commonwealth—that it should therefore, with a good conscience, suffer the sacrifice of a countless number of men, who, for its sake, must be humbled and reduced to imperfect beings, to slaves, to instruments."

Money no Object

"Yes, sir," said a pompous ignoramus, "I believe in education, sir—the best education that money can buy. My father spared no expense on my schooling, and I shall spare none on my children's."

"Then I suppose you will give them all an academic education?" remarked his friend.

"Yes, sir," was the reply; "of course I will. That's the kind of education I got, and if it takes every shilling of my fortune my boys and girls shall all be macadamized as their father was."

Slight Disappearance

A man purchased some red flannel shirts guaranteed not to shrink. He reminded the salesman forcibly of the guarantee some weeks later.

"Have you had any difficulty with them?" the latter asked.

"No," replied the customer; "only the other morning, when I was dressing, my wife said to me, 'John, where did you get that pink coral necklace?'"

Not Much!

"My good man," said the clergyman to a bareheaded man breaking stone on a very hot day, "don't you know that the sun will injure your brain if you expose it in that manner?"

"Don't worry!" came the unruffled answer. "D'yer think I'd stick at this rotten job if I'd any brain?"

OTTAWA WILL FIGHT PROTEST

Bush Has not Taken Part in Professional Wrestling Bout

Ottawa, Nov. 18. — "Jack" Williams will go to Toronto tonight to represent St. Patrick's at a meeting of the Ontario Football Union, when the Toronto protest will be taken up. The Saints announced last night that they would fight the protest to a finish, as they are convinced that they were in the right.

Bush has never taken part in a professional bout. The name "wrestler" is more or less of a joke, as he refereed a couple of matches at the Ottawa Arena last year. As to "Ken" Williams' eligibility, the Saints say that it was at the suggestion of Torontos that they took him to Toronto, as Livingstone and others said that he would be a drawing card. Besides, the Saints declare that they did all that was possible to clear the field of snow last Saturday.

It was fortunate for McGill and Varsity that they did not decide to come here for their Intercollegiate saw-off next Saturday. Another storm set in last night and several inches of snow fell. Tonight the mercury is down below freezing and it is just like midwinter. The Ottawa-St. Patrick game may have to be cancelled. It was too cold for practices today, and unless the weather moderates the clubs will make no effort to play the game.

McGRAW HAS FAST INFIELDER

Expects Kores to Fill Herzog's Corner

New York, Nov. 18. — John McGraw, manager of the Giants, returned to town on Saturday after a vacation in Baltimore. In about two weeks he will be busy with the plans for the mobilization at Marlin next spring. The suggestion of a flying training trip to California, which was seriously considered for a little while, has been dropped for good.

"I've got eight or nine third basemen and enough infielders to stock a minor league," said McGraw, "and out of that number I ought to be able to pick enough men to start me off in April.

"One of my young infielders is a bird, but I'm not going to tell his name until he gets into action at Marlin."

It is probable that McGraw referred to Kores, the third baseman from the coast, who has been so highly recommended by Dick Kinsella.

Dave Beland Sues for $40

Quebec, Nov. 18.—In the Circuit Court Dave Beland, a local sprinter and trainer of the Quebec hockey team, claimed $40 from Alex. Plante, former manager of the Queen City Realty Co. of Quebec.

Last winter a popularity contest was held between the Quebec hockey players, and the proceeds of the vote, a ticket sale, were to be distributed among the Quebec players. The contest netted $40, and the players decided to give Dave Beland their sum, and Beland claimed Plante never gave him the money, hence the action. Today Plante confessed judgment.

Games for Frontenacs

Kingston, Nov. 18.—Stanley Trotter, secretary of the Frontenac Hockey Club, received a letter from C. Shannon, of Cleveland, arranging two games there. The dates arranged for Christmas and Saturday, Dec. 25th and 26th. If the dates of the games in New York do not clash the trip will likely be first to New York and then to Cleveland. Other games will be arranged.

VARSITY WILL BE IN SHAPE

Father Carr Had His Team Out Against Blue and White Yesterday

Toronto, Nov. 18.—Although not announced, Varsity and St. Michael's yesterday played a practice game at the Stadium and those present were treated to several surprises. The first was St. Michael's hanging on to the ball for the first ten minutes or more and going over for two tries. It was not so much the fact that St. Michael's went over for the tries that was surprising, but the manner in which they did it, they going through the middle wing position for twenty and thirty-five yard runs. No yardsticks or umpires were used, but Father Carr stood behind the St. Michael's line and directed plays, while Harry Griffith and Hugh Gall were behind the Varsity line, and at the expiration of the practice St. Michael's had three tries and a rouge to their credit, the latter coming after they bucked over, when Varsity stole the ball, while Varsity had two tries, a touch in goal, and a dropped goal to their credit, making the score 16 to 14 in favor of St. Michael's. No attempts were made to convert the tries, while Varsity in order to give their line the best workout available, never kicked the ball during the afternoon, with the exception that just at the close of the practice, McKenzie dropped a goal from the field. With Varsity not kicking the ball and just resorting to line work, the Saints were able to play their backs up on the line, thus giving them additional men.

The practice was a good thing for both teams, and then again it wasn't, owing to the fact that the ground was not only frozen, but lumpy, thus making it dangerous footing for the players, but only one accident happened during the afternoon, that being when Hume Crawford, of Varsity, hit the dirt on a tackle and was knocked unconscious. Only two kicks were made during the afternoon, both being by St. Michael's, the first coming after about twenty minutes' play, and Carr, whose hands were numbed, fumbled, St. Michael's picking it up and going over for a try. The teams will likely practice again this week, when the Varsity line will be given another drilling.

COMMENT

As You Like it

ALTHOUGH BASEBALL is shoved to the background in sporting circles these days, the Toronto Globe gave space to this yesterday:

President Fitzgerald of the Canadian League, upon his return from the Omaha convention, denied that the league had made an application to close its parks next season. The president looks forward to at least a fair year. The only probable change in the circuit will have to do with the Erie club.

Next year the Canadian League will be a Class C league, with a reduced salary and player limit. The new rule of 20 per cent. reduction in salaries paid to players in the Canadian League will be even greater because last season the salaries ran riot in the league.

"PEP" PAISLEY, captain of the McGill team, writes as follows in the Montreal Star: A local contemporary states that Joe Donnelly has been reinstated and would be used by McGill if his services were required. They are away off in their guess. The club was notified that Donnelly could play if he would sign an affidavit. The coach would not even consider using Donnelly at all, and sent word to C. H. McLeod, secretary of the Interprovincial Union, to that effect.

Donnelly would be a tower of strength to the team, but he will not be used, as the McGill boys are keen on keeping down any more of the mud-throwing that has ben going on this season.

A FELLOW-SUFFERER working overtime has produced these two pretty little verses:

We ne'er shall see him more;

Then ripped him down before.

He couldn't go the route;
For forty football teams, to date,
Have knocked him down and out.

THE SAME OLD PEP that was always in evidence in Hamilton during a football season is stronger than ever. The Tiger rooters have formed a choral society with the following as their battle cry:

It's a long way to go.
It's a long way to Tiger goal line,
It's the surest thing you know.
Good-bye, Captain Murphy, farewell Argo square,
It's a long, long way to Tiger goal line,
For our team is right there.

MORGAN—CURRY.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized this morning in St. Andrew's Church, when Mr. H. W. Morgan and Miss Elizabeth Curry were united in the holy bonds of matrimony by Rev. Jas. Rollins.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her brother, by whom she was given away. The wedding march was played by Mr. H. C. Treneer.

The wedding took place in the presence of the immediate friends and relatives of the bride and groom.

The bride was becomingly attired in a travelling suit and carried a corsage bouquet of white roses.

After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Morgan left on a honeymoon trip in Toronto and western points.

On their return they will reside in East City.

Mr. Joe O'Brien, Toronto, is here for a few days.

Mr. T. Ferguson, Toronto, is visiting in the city.

Mr. H. A. Dunn, Montreal, is a guest at the Empress.

Mr. A. Campbell, Bowmanville, is in the city for a few days.

Mr. H. A. Carson, Toronto, is the guest of friends here.

E. J. Kneist, Stratford, is holidaying in the city.

W. R. Deeton, Belleville, is here on business.

Mr. C. H. Starr, Toronto, is with friends here.

Mr. and Mrs. Goodwill spent Tuesday in Toronto.

Mrs. McElderry entertained at bridge on Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Benedict is staying with Mr. and Mrs. Tomlins, Brock Street.

The North End Bridge Club meets this evening at Mr. W. H. Hill's on Stewart Street.

Mr. George Braden, Toronto, who handles accessories for the Russell Motor Car Co., is in the city.

Mrs. Hope of Perth, Ont., is staying with her daughter, Mrs. Warren Dean, Hunter Street.

Miss Marion Rush went to Toronto on Monday to meet her sister, who has returned from a visit at Port Rowan.

Rev. Canon Davidson who has been in Port Hope for a few days attending the meetings of the Archdeaconry has returned to the city.

On Thursday afternoon Mrs. Duncan Walker and Miss A. P. McLean will have charge of the Tea Rooms at the Oriental, where refreshments are being served every afternoon and evening of this week under the auspices of the Daughters of the Empire.

Mr. J. M. Grieve of the Union Bank staff, left on Monday morning with the detachment of the second contingent for Kingston. On the eve of his departure, he was presented with a pipe and tobacco pouch from the members of the staff. Mr. H. A. Irwin of Barrie, has been transferred from Barrie to take Mr. Grieve's post.

The first of the Twilight Musicales held last Saturday afternoon was a most enjoyable one and well worthy of a better audience. It scarcely seems that the music loving people of Peterborough appreciate the privilege which they might have of attending these charming little afternoon concerts, but we are sure, that all who attend, are most grateful to Mr. Gliddon for his kindness in furnishing these opportunities for enjoyment. Amongst those present were Mrs. Tomlins, Mrs. Benedict, Mrs. Dean, Mrs. Hope, Mrs. Denison, Mrs. Palmer, the Misses Erskine.

A most inviting spot in which to spend a spare hour in the afternoon is the tea room at the Oriental, which is in charge of the Daughters of the Empire for this week. The room is most fittingly decorated with flags and forms a delightful contrast from the cold outside world. Judging from the number who are patronizing it, this enterprise should be a most gratifying success to those who have undertaken it. Those in charge on Tuesday afternoon were Mrs. Arthur Stevenson and Mrs. Neal. They were assisted by Mrs. Young, Mrs. Hill, Mrs. MacLean, Mrs. Schneider, Mrs. Hounsell, Miss Mamie Roger, Mrs. Metherall, and a number of others who proved themselves most efficient waitresses and who in their white dresses and pretty patriotic head gear, formed a considerable feature in the scheme of decoration. Mrs. Mills had the onerous post of cashier. Amongst those present in the afternoon were Mrs. Clegg, Mrs. Ryerson Ritchie, Mrs. Clarkson, Miss Helen Davidson, Mrs. Aylmer, Mrs. Coulthard, Mrs. R. R. Hall, Mrs. Mulholland, Mrs. Armstrong, Miss Halliday, Mrs. Turner, Miss English, Mrs. Campbell, the Misses Rush, Miss Denison, Miss Nan Hall, Miss Amy Hill, Miss Marjorie Hatton, not to mention a number of

THE UNSEEN CHOIR

The executive committee of the Peterborough Choral Society met last night after a fine practice of "St. George and the Dragon," by Sir Edward Elgar. Mr. Walter Stocker presided over a good attendance. In addition to Elgar's work, after considerable discussion, it was decided to put into practice some standard choral compositions for the annual concert, of which the choral ode, in honor of music, "The Unseen Choir," by E. A. Dicks, F. R. C. A. (dedicated to Sir John Stainer) will be one. Special numbers for ladies' chorus and male chorus are also on the list. The committee adjourned at 10.30 p.m.

YOUNG PEOPLE JUGGLED SPOONS

C.L.A. of Charlotte Street Provided Fine Program

Games, music, refreshments, and an enjoyable program whiled away all too quickly a pleasant hour last night in Charlotte street church school room, where the social department of the C. L. A. provided the evening's entertainment. One of the attractions was a spoon contest, in which every one had to test their skill and agility in juggling spoons without having them slide through their fingers. A guessing contest followed, and then a contest in guessing the multiples of seven. By the time these were concluded, every one was ready to enjoy a good program, and the following was supplied:

Mandolin selection—Mr. Robinson.
Duet—Misses Voaden and Walsh.
Solo—Mr. Hudson.
Reading—Miss Thomas.
Violin Solo—Miss Elva Jackson.
Solo—Miss Laing.

A bevy of young ladies then passed around remarkably savory coffee, and toothsome refreshments of sandwiches and cake. The evening was regarded as one of the most enjoyable and successful held since the C. L. A. has been organized.

"ANNIE LAURIE"

Though the song "Annie Laurie" was written over two hundred years ago, Howard McKent Barnes' new play entitled "Annie Laurie" is strictly Scotch in every respect. It deals with a branch of the Highlander, and especially the daughter, Annie, who is loved and honored by all.

"Annie Laurie" is by no means a fictitious character. The Lauries date back as far as the fourteenth century, and while the estate, Maxwellton, has been rebuilt, a considerable portion of the original remains, and a Laurie is still in possession, though he is not of the first baronet's male line.

The father of the present Annie Laurie was a Laird; and the author tells a true and thrilling story of his daughter's strong character and a staunch purpose. Purity is her slogan; her word once given it must be kept at any cost; she tolerates no deviation — no vacillation, and on this trait hangs a plot filled with human interest and heartaches, tears and laughter.

The character of the central figure "Annie Laurie" is charming; breathing the spirit of the Highlands, in which she has been raised; but her innocence causes her to become entangled in the meshes of a web startlingly intricate.

The old song, "Annie Laurie," plays an important part in the production of this new play, which is presented by the Royal Scotch Players, whose attractions are well known for their excellent scenery and competent casts.

"Annie Laurie" will be seen at the Grand Opera House one night only, Monday, Nov. 23rd.

THE GREAT CHANGE

How circumstances do alter cases! Not long ago it used to be a matter of argument to prove that people should buy goods made in this country. It even permitted some condescension on the part of the man who placed the order. He admitted, "Oh, well, I dare say it's a good thing to help along native industries. But I've always got my goods here, there and all over, and I had no particular reason for doing anything else. All right, put me down for a hundred dollars or so. Charity begins at home, I suppose." That species of condescending poppycock is rapidly disappearing. The dealer of today knows right well that he can get as good goods made in Canada as anywhere else under the sun. He knows all the economic reasons why he should accustom himself to do so. He knows it's a piece of exalted selfishness so to do. And unless it's something very much out of the way, he would as soon think of selling food and clothing to Germany as to place his orders in any other country but the one where he makes his profits.

CONVICTION IS QUASHED

Ray Sullivan Was Fined $100 for Keeping Goming House

Two Others Were Assessed $50 for Being Frequrenters

In Police Court some time ago Raymond Sullivan who had charge of "Joe's Pool Room" was convicted by Magistrate Dumble of keeping a common gaming house. Nelson Parsonson and David Paterson were convicted of being frequenters. The evidence showed that a game had been fixed up between Parsonson and Paterson for $125.00 a side but that on account of the sidebets, both tried to lose. Parsonson won. Sullivan was fined $100 and Parsonson and Paterson $50 each.

When the appeal was made the counsels agreed to submit written arguments instead of having the case retired as is usual in such cases. Joseph Wearing acted for the Crown, G. N. Gordon for Sullivan and Mr. MacDonald of the law firm Curry, O'Connor, Wallace and MacDonald, of Toronto, acted for Parsonson and Paterson.

The following was the judgment given this morning:—

Rex vs. Sullivan.
Rex vs. Paterson.
Rex vs. Parsonson.

The above are three convictions made by the Police Magistrate of the City of Peterborough and before me in appeal.

The parties by counsel have arrived at a very novel and very ingenious method of bringing the appeals before me. If they are satisfied, I do not complain, but it is somewhat unsatisfactory to me, as the record is necessarily incomplete under the circumstances.

Sullivan is convicted of keeping a common gaming-house and Paterson and Parsonson of frequenting or being found in the said gaming-house.

A common gaming house is defined as follows by the Code Section No. 226.

"A common gaming house is a house, room or place kept by any person for gain to which persons resort for the purpose of playing at any game of chance or at any mixed game of chance and skill or a house, room or place kept or used for playing therein at any game of chance or any mixed game of chance and skill in which a bank is kept by one or more of the players exclusively of the others or any game is played the chances of which are not alike favourable to all the players, including among the players the banker, or other person by whom the game is managed or against whom the game is managed or against whom the other players stake, play or bet.

I quite agree with the learned Magistrate in reprehending the conduct of at least two of the defendants, the two frequents or players. In fact the circumstances surrounding the whole affair are discreditable to a degree and a reflection upon all parties engaged in it.

But that is not the question to be tried.

If the case as proved is brought within the four corners of the above section, the convictions must stand, if not they must be set aside.

Some of the evidence and arguments of counsel and indeed part of the judgments appealed from seem to apply more to the case of a betting house, which is wholly different method provided for by a wholly different section of the Code. And even so, there were but two bets one of which was unquestionably made in the Snowden House. The other, the first one, may have been made, as found, in the pool-room in question and it was so stated in Court: On the other hand another witness for the Crown swore with equal positiveness and perhaps with greater truthfulness that it was made in the Grand Hotel. But be that as it may it related to the game which was discontinued, "called off," "withdrawn" and neither the game or the bet on it was completed. But even adopting the strongest view against the defendants, "one instance is proved or perhaps two—but that falls far short of what would be required to attach to it the character of a gambling house. The legislation is pointed at houses where gambling is practised and the house kept for such purpose." See Boyd Chancellor, in Rex vs. Spegelwon, 9 Canadian Criminal Code, at p. 171.

The judgment is based on the finding that in this place was played a game of pool, also found to be "a mixed game of chance and skill." The Magistrate so found and the learned Crown Counsel strongly upholds it and says this is the crux of the case. On the evidence adduced no one could say the judgment erred in so finding. I do not quarrel with it on the evidence, nor in these cases, though I do not overlook the fact that many eminent authorities, including the Encyclopaedia Brittannica, last edition, declare that billiards of which pool, the game complained of is a species, is not a game of chance or of mixed chance and skill but a game of skill and skill alone. But on the above finding is it enough, on which to found a conviction? I think not. Assume that pool is thus a mixed game and the table kept there for hire at 40c. an hour as is admitted. That is simply and only keeping a pool or billiard room with tables for hire.

It is also admitted that Sullivan was in charge of "Joe's" pool-room, a place licensed by the City of Peterborough as provided and permitted by the Legislation of Ontario to keep pool and billiard tables for hire or rent to customers for the express purpose of playing. Sullivan was in charge of such a place doing no more and no less than provided by his license. To convict him is to say that what he did pursuant to a city license issued under a Provincial Statute is an indictable offence under the Criminal code of the Dominion. This would seem to me a patent absurdity and I decline to so hold. The conviction of Sullivan is set aside.

Paterson and Parsonson are convicted of being found in Sullivan's gaming house, as I must find it is not a gaming house within the meaning of the law, their fines and convictions must also be set aside, though as I before stated, I think their conduct throughout far from creditable. Costs not asked for and not given.

All 3 convictions quashed. No costs.

Signed
E. C. S. Huycke,
Judge.

Dated 18th Nov., 1914.

ASSAULT CASE IN POLICE COURT

Trouble Arose Over a Deal With a Watch

The case of E. R. Lundgren, charged with assaulting A. Chernikoff, is proceeding in police court.

Chernikoff, in his evidence, said he was assaulted by Lundgren and a companion named Swanson, and a couple of stitches were necessary to close the wound in his head.

The trouble followed when Lundgren came to his store to recover a watch for which complainant had paid $1.25. He wanted $1.75.

E. Lundgren told of going to the Jew's place on Monday and asking the Jew if he would loan him a dollar on the watch for one week and charge 25 cents for interest, to which the Jew consented. He returned the following Saturday, and the Jew wanted $2 for the watch, and when he objected to this, Chernikoff told him he could leave the place. In the meantime Swansen came in and asked Lundgren if he had got his watch, and he replied "No," and said the Jew wanted $2 for it now. He told of Chenikoff picking up a hammer and ordering him out, which order they obeyed. He then related about being in the Jew's shop last Saturday night and the Jew telling them the watch was sold. He said Chenikoff picked up something off the stove, which he thought was the shaker, and struck him on the forehead, which left an ugly mark. He then gave the Jew a push, the Jew falling over a stove.

Under cross-examination he told of having five or six drinks at different hotels.

Heavy Losses are Inflicted When Enemy Attempts to Take Town

Russian Centre Driven Back Fifty Miles by German Wedge From Posen

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

PARIS, Nov. 19. — The official statement this afternoon says the enemy's artillery was very active yesterday, particularly between Lys and the sea coast, in the district between the Oise and the Aisne.

An attempt by Germans to recapture the village of Tracy-le-Val resulted in their being repulsed with heavy losses.

Elsewhere there is nothing to report.

LONDON, Nov. 19. — An unexpected blow delivered on the Russian centre by General Von Hindenburg has made him the hero of the hour in Berlin, where there had been much criticism of his retreat from Warsaw. The German wedge from Posen would appear to have driven the Russian centre back more than fifty miles from the frontier, so that the line is now midway between German territory and Warsaw.

In Flanders there are no changes of importance.

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

New York, Nov. 19.—Announcement was made today that there would be unrestricted trading on the floor of the New York Stock Exchange next Saturday, in all bonds of all classes at certain minimum prices. This was considered the most important step yet taken, towards the resumption of unrestricted trading on the exchange.

WOMAN USED AXE.

North Bay, Nov. 19.—Taking exception at the remarks passed by Mrs. Phippen in reference to her character, Mrs. Frank Condray took an axe to the woman yesterday afternoon and gave her three severe blows over the head, causing serious injuries. Mrs. Phippen is now lying dangerously near death at the local hospital while Mrs. Condray, with her six-months-old babe was lodged in the police cell last evening.

"BOBS" AT REST BESIDE OTHER GREAT WARRIORS

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

LONDON, Nov. 19. — The body of Lord Roberts, borne on a gun carriage, moved slowly through the streets of London today to its last resting place in St. Paul's Cathedral. The streets were lined with troops while hundreds of thousands of civilians stood with bared heads as the funeral cortege went by. This in spite of the cold rain, which fell incessantly.

The cortege reached St. Paul's at noon, where, before a great and reverent throng of people, including King George, the funeral services were held.

The body will be interred alongside the remains of Wellington, Nelson, Wolseley and other famous warriors.

Lord Kitchener and Lord Charles Beresford were among the distinguished men who followed the gun carriage which carried the draped coffin containing the remains of Lord Roberts to St. Paul's. King George, in a field marshal's uniform, awaited the cortege at the cathedral. It was the first time a monarch of England has attended the funeral of a national hero since the burial of the Duke of Wellington sixty-two years ago.

CONTRACTS FOR REMOVAL OF SNOW ARE AWARDED

Lowest Tender in Each Division Was Given the Work

District 1—Board of Works Department.
District 2—W. J. Stenson, $159.
District 3—R. Whatman, $180.
District 4—R. Nicholls, $135.
District 5—R. Nicholls, $175.
District 6—R. Nicholls, $136.
District 7—A. O'Brien, $125.
District 8—A. Carpenter, $110.

Thus were the contracts for removing the snow and slush from the sidewalks awarded last night at the meeting of the Board of Works. Very little discussion was given the matter, except pointing out that it was not necessary to use a shovel so long as all the snow and slush was removed. Just how close the city will make the contractors abide by the clause, "remove all the snow and slush," will be left to the discretion of the city engineer.

The following was the complete list of applicants:

District No. 2—P. Francis, $600; E. J. Ferguson, $305; R. Whatman, $225; W. J. Stenson, $159.

District No. 3. — E. J. Ferguson, $290; W. Miller, $200; R. Whatman, $180.

District No. 4 — N. Harper, $160, W. Pink, 150; R. Nicholls, $135.

District No. 5. — G. Sexsmith, $130; R. Nicholls, $117.

District No. 6. — R. Nicholls $136.

District No. 7 — J.. P. Francis, $475; A. O'Brien, $125.

District No. 8. — R. Revoy, $450; J. P. Francis, $425; A. Carpenter, $110.

Tenders from T. Turkett E. Flaherty and J. Revoy were not considered, as they had not tendered a week ago.

Want Full Amount.

Foley & Gleason Co. reported that all the street paving had been completed with the exception of Charlotte street. They asked for the total amount of the contract and they in return would furnish a suitable bond till the contract was fully completed. The matter was referred to the city solicitor for consideration.

Echo of the Past.

The city solicitor reported that the case of Conroy and Bogue was very complicated and that it would take several weeks to get it down to trial. It is alleged that Conroy and Bogus owe the city $5000. Bogue, it is stated, was a sub-contractor to Bogue, who undertook to construct the Romaine street sewer.

City Engineer Parsons stated that some of the information required was not available in the engineering department, and that it would be necessary to appeal to Chipman & Powers, consulting engineers, of Toronto, for information. This Toronto firm is at present demanding payment of an account which the city is withholding on the grounds that the work was defective, so the matter was laid over to be dealt with at a subsequent meeting.

WIRING AT HAVELOCK TO BE IMPROVED

Inside Wiring is Reported to in Dangerous Condition

Alexander and Miller have received a hurry-up rall from Havelock to re-wire the town hall. In a report made to the Council, the Hydro Commission says that the lives of citizens and the buildings in the town are both exposed to serious danger, and that it would be no surprise whatever to hear of a fatality, owing to the liability of receiving a very high voltage while handling the ordinary fittings and switches in the houses or stores throughout the town.

The probability of fire, they state, is very great owing to the dangerous condition of inside wiring, which in general is a very poor class of work, having been altogether done by amateurs. Some buildings,, the report states, require to be completely re-wired.

The Council upon motion of Curtis and Howe notified the Electric Light Company to at once place their distributing system in such condition as required by the Power Commission, which will consist in properly grounding all transformers and tightening up slack wires.

MR. HARTLEY WILL NOT RUN

Declines Nomination for the Mayoralty, From Trades and Labor Council

J. J. Hartley who was offered the nomination of the Trades and Labor Council, in the mayoralty contest, declined the nomination at a largely attended meeting of the Council, held last night.

David Moore was appointed chairman of a committee to take charge of a campaign to secure representatives of the Trades and Labor Council, to run as candidates in the municipal elections next January.

Delegates who spoke, were all of the opinion that labor men should run in the various wards and that labor should be represented in all civic bodies, elected by the people.

Organizer Haley of the Electrical Workers, gave a stirring speech.

EXAMINATIONS AT THE ARMOURIES

Captain Bywater, Kingston, Captain Spencer, Millbrook, who with Major Walker and Captain Hounsell, constitute a board of examiners, presided over provisional school examinations, part A, at the armouries, last evening.

The officers, non-commissioned officers and men, take these examinations to secure certificates.

Capt. Bywater, who is at present on the instructional cadre, Kingston, has been recommended for the position of D.A.A and Q.M.G. of this division formerly occupied by Maj. Bennett, who has been appointed senior major of the 21st Battalion.

READING FOR THE SOLDIERS

Tons of Literature Forwarded to Salisbury Plain

LONDON, Nov 19.—Thirty tons of books, consisting of sixty thousand volumes, have been received at Salisbury for the use of Canadians, and four libraries have been formed in each camp, in charge of the board of chaplains. Periodicals are received by the carload. Major Stacey, divisional chaplain, suggests that the people in Canada should form circles in each township for writing letters to the men from their own districts to keep them posted on home matters. Long letters from lads in camp must not be expected. The work is too strenuous now to permit of them.

PRESENTS FOR BELGIAN KING

His Fete is Marked by Flood of Remembrances

HAVRE, France, Nov. 19. — (Via Paris.)—A large motor truck was required to forward to King Albert at his headquarters in Flanders the mail received here for the King on the occasion of his fete. No class of society forgot the Belgian ruler on his saint's day, which corresponds to a birthday in Protestant countries.

Picture postcards, containing congratulations and best wishes, were in the majority, but the King's mail contained poems, drawings, paintings and even original musical compositions. Children were heavy contributors, as also were wounded soldiers in the hospitals. All ranks, from the nobility to the peasantry, were represented.

C.P.R. Brakeman Seriously Hurt

Norwood, Nov. 19.—Wm. Johnson of Preneveau, a C.P.R. brakeman, was seriously injured at Tweed, when he fell from a box car and four cars passed over him. His right arm was cut off above the elbow, the toes of one foot crushed, his head badly cut, and his back injured to an an extent yet unknown. He was taken to the Huycke House at Tweed, where physicians and nurses are doing all in their power to save his life, but little hope is held out for his recovery.

GEO. GAGNON SEVERELY SHOCKED BY LIVE WIRE

Peterboro Man is in Hospital at St. Catharines, Suffering From Burns

St. Catharines, Nov. 19.—George Gagnon, a Hydro-electric lineman at work on the high potential circuit near St. Catharines sub-station, yesterday came in contact with a 2,200-volts current grounded and fell to the three-phase wire system below. He was seen from the sub-station and immediately the entire system was shut off. He was seriously burned on one hand and one foot, but was restored to partial consciousness and at the hospital it was expected he would recover. He comes from Peterboro.

Gagnon's parents reside on Smith Street.

City's Share of License Fees

City Treasurer Adams received a cheque from License Inspector Jose[illegible] Stewart today for the city's share of the liquor license fees for the last half of the year. The amount is $1,315. The payment of the first half amounted to $1,475 making a total of $2,790. The amount realised from the same source last year was $2,995.

Judgment Reserved In Assault Charge

Magistrate Dumble reserved judgment in the assault case heard in police court yesterday.

Charlie Swansen told of accompanying E. Lundgren to the Jew's place last Saturday to procure his watch. The Jew told him he had sold it. He told of Chenikoff starting for the stove and picking up the shaker, with which he struck Lundgren. He then shoved the Jew, and in falling the former struck a chair. He told of holding the Jew by the coat collar outside of his shop and holding the shaker in his other hand as a means of self-defence. He received a couple of raps from the Jew's wife.

Dr. Amys told of attending to Lundgren's wounds, and said that the shaker produced could cause the wound which he had dressed.

A. Chenikoff, recalled, stated that he did not receive his injuries by falling on the stove.

FRANK AUSTIN HAS ENLISTED

Leaves School of Practical Science to Join Engineers Corps

Another well-known Peterboro boy who has answered the call of his country is Frank D. Austin, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Austin, 548 Weller street. He has been attending the school of practical science in Toronto, and his parents today received word that he had joined the engineers' corps there for active service. He will proceed immediately for Ottawa with the corps, where they will be stationed until orders come to embark for the Old Country mobilization camp. Mr. Austin has the rank of corporal.

He has had five years' military experience and training, most of which was gathered in the 57th Regiment here. His numerous friends in the city and in Toronto will wish him good luck.

TURKS ARE WAKING UP

Are Realizing They Have Been Deceived by Germany

LONDON, Nov. 19. — A Petrograd despatch to The Post says:—

The situation in Constantinople and other large centres of the Ottoman Empire is reported to be serious.

The Turks were assured that Warsaw had been taken and that the Russian Caucasus would be captured in the first days of the war by a surprise attack, all the troops having been withdrawn to meet the German hosts and the natives of the Caucasus being waiting to welcome the invaders and join in wholesale slaughter of the Armenians.

From the outset of the war Germanic news factories have insisted that the Russian Caucasus was in revolt.

News of Russian victories on the Vistula having reached Constantinople, the inhabitants are reported to be preparing to throw off the yoke of the Young Turks and their German masters.

The incipient plot in Turkey against the Young Turks and the German domination of the army and navy has reached such a state that Dr. Hans Von Miquel, the German Ambassador at Constantinople, is in constant fear of his life, according to a Rome despatch to The London Standard. The Ambassador, who formerly was stationed at Petrograd, daily receives threatening letters.

"A conspiracy," continues the correspondent, "has been discovered for the assassination of Gen. Liman von Sanders—the German officer who reorganized the Turkish army and is now practically its commander, and a number of high Turkish officials. Resentment against Turkey's entrance into the war, which is laid to German designs, grows.

"The prime moved in this revolt against Germany is Chukri Pasha, who defended Adrianople against the allied Balkan states. He is seconded by Field Marshal Fuad Pasha.

SHORTAGE IN EGG SUPPLY

Are Scarce Article and Prices Soar as a Result

"I never saw the supply of eggs drop off so quickly as this year," remarked a prominent grocer to a Review reporter today. "Usually the supply lasts for a much longer period, but just now they are very scarce and consequently prices are high. Some times we are a whole week without eggs."

While on the subject the reporter enquired what lines were most affected since the war set in. He ascertained that tea in bulk had not been increased, although package tea had soared a few cents. Larkin, the Canadian importer of Salada tea lost a heavy shipment during ocean transportation and the company found it necessary to increase their price to wholesalers; retailers therefore being compelled to levy a higher price.

"The war has hit the retailers generally speaking much harder than the wholesalers," remarked the Review's informant. "We have endeavored to keep prices to the consumer as low as possible, and in some lines the householder will discover prices unchanged.

One of these lines is breakfast food such as corn flakes, krinkles and shredded wheat biscuits."

Butter and eggs are both high. There is no concealment needed for this fact. Strictly fresh eggs sell at 36 to 40 cents a dozen, owing to their scarcity, which is always felt at this season. Oranges are not dear, good specimens selling at 20 cents to 40 cents, same as before the war. Potatoes are becoming very cheap, and can be bought for 60 to 65 cents. There is a heavy demand for this class of produce and prudent householders are laying in their winter supplies early.

ST. PAUL'S TO BUY PROPERTY FOR SUNDAY SCHOOL SITE

Negotiations are taking place with the owners, for the purchase of a piece of property east of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church. The congregation of St. Paul's have long had their eye on this property, and last evening at a congregational rally, authorized their board of managers to take action towards completing a deal for its purchase. A tentative offer of $3200 has been made by the prospective purchasers and it is pretty certain to change hands at that figure.

The property in question is on Murray Street and if secured by St. Paul's Church will be used as a site for a new Sunday School, need for which has long been felt by the church.

A building will be erected when the congregation feel warranted in undertaking the move. The recommendation from the board of managers last evening favored the purchase of the property. After receiving considerable discussion mostly favorable, the matter was referred back to the board of managers with authority to take action.

PETERBOROUGH, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 19, 1914

CRYING WOLF TO THE HOME GUARDS.

TORONTO is growing nutty on its Home Guard. Just for the sake of a little excitement, the invasion of Canada at Windsor by Germans was announced, and there was a general stampede to die for the country. The local armouries were taken at a sprint, and peaceful civilians scrambled into uniforms, fixed bayonets, and started off helter skelter for Windsor on the run. Talk about General Sam Hughes' quick mobilization, Toronto would have had half its population in a battle line before Ottawa had finished sending out telegrams. So enthusiastic were the home guards that they didn't wait even to buy railway fares. They were going to beat the cars. They refused absolutely to delay the advance columns even for lunch. The Toronto evening papers had all arrangements made to furnish extras every five minutes to the women and children who remained behind and to the men on the firing line and which would give accurate descriptions of the irresistible sweep to Windsor. As fast as a German was shot or bayonetted, his picture would appear in the papers with a life history of the hero who slew him. A special brigade of newsboys and reporters was to handle the details, while a gatling gun camera would take pictures of the battles. The object was to squelch the invasion before the telegraph could announce it at Ottawa. While it wasn't mentioned in the papers, it is rumored that the home guards got winded by the time they reached the Exhibition grounds and that several companies of the heavy brigade made a furious and successful attack on several delicatessen establishments that might have refreshed the invaders. The invasion was short lived and ended in disaster and failure. The Home Guard had won! (Five minutes' intermission allowed here for vociferous cheering.)

Joking aside, it appears to the Review that General the Hon. Sam Hughes had good reason to criticize the tactics used in Toronto on this occasion. The formation of Home Guards is praiseworthy, highly commendable, and shows that the members realize the seriousness of the danger that threatens Canada in this war. To cry "Wolf" to the Home Guard Formations of any city, while creating needless alarm, exposes to ridicule a body of men not to be despised, and, at the same time, makes light of a situation that is far too serious for such treatment. It is to be hoped that there will be no more cries of "Wolf" to the Home Guard.

THREE CANADIAN CASUALTIES.

THE TOLL OF WAR is beginning to reach Canada. Capt. Carr-Harris of Kingston and Lt. C. Gordon Mackenzie of Toronto, both graduates of the Royal Military College, Kingston, have been killed in action. Capt. Adams of Kingston has been badly wounded. Lt. Mackenzie was only 25 years of age, and has bravely given a life, having every prospect, for the service of the Empire. Capt. Harris was older and had done good work in India. These were fine examples of Canadians and represent what Canada will do for the integrity of the Empire.

SOMETHING ABOUT BIG GUNS.

CANADA, while sending contingents to Europe, should take note of what the United States is doing at this time for war purposes. Projectiles capable of piercing 11.2 inches of steel armour at a distance of more than ten miles can be fired from new coast defence guns to be installed by the United States army in the defences at the Panama Canal and Manila Bay. These are new 14-inch guns, of greater calibre than those heretofore installed in American defences and of greater power. They will discharge shells weighing 1,660 pounds with a maximum effective range of 18,000 yards, or a little more than ten miles. The guns of this type already made have been thoroughly tested and found wholly satisfactory. In the manufacture of these and other guns for the army, the arsenal at Watervliet has been working on a day and night basis for more than a year.

Twenty-three of the latest type of 12-inch mortars were made during the last year and all were sent to the Panama Canal. These have a maximum range of about 11 miles. A new two-inch field gun, and a new type of 3.8-inch field howitzer have been developed by the Ordnance Bureau. Another howitzer of still larger size has also been constructed for use at the Panama fortifications. It is a wire-wound gun firing a 60-pound projectile.

It is stated that the supply of ammunition in the United States is far short of that deemed advisable, but at any rate it is evident the United States is not sleeping while other nations are smashing each other's navies and armies. It is quietly and steadily proceeding with a big, expensive plan for defence, that must make it in time a formidable country to attack.

HISTORIC CITY OF CRACOW.

WAR is no respecter of cities any more than it is of men. The advance of the Russians has brought them close to the historic city of Cracow, that for a long period was the capital of the ancient kingdom of Poland. If Cracow should be destroyed, the loss to civilization would rank with the burning of Louvain. Though long under Austrian rule, Cracow today remains the most typically Polish of all the cities of ancient Poland. Here centres Polish culture in the great university, founded in 1643, and at last reports having a staff of nearly 200 teachers and a student body of over 3,000.

Poland's finest architectural relics are also in Cracow. The great palace and the cathedral have been ruined by wars in the past—the former building was used for years as a barracks by the Austrians, but during the past decade they have been restored to their former beauty by the Poles at infinite pains and at their own expense. In order to preserve the palace, the citizens of Cracow even went to the length of building and equipping a new barracks elsewhere, which they presented to their conquerors in return for the historic edifice.

The name of Kosciusko, the great Polish patriot, is linked inseparably with the traditions of Cracow. On the heights of the Vistula in the suburbs of the city is situated a unique monument to Kosciusko's memory—a simple mound of earth, grass covered, and resembling to all appearance a natural hill of fair dimensions. On top of the mound is a stone slab bearing an inscription descriptive of Kosciusko's deeds. The mound is an artificial structure — composed of handfuls of earth heaped up by the loving hands of thousands upon thousands of Poles, who came from all parts of the now dissevered kingdom to lay their tribute, in this strange form, to the undying memory of the national hero.

One of Cracow's quaint customs that strikes the stranger and impresses him instantly with the peculiar genius of the Polish temperament is the hourly blowing of a bugle from a tower in the town, just as the clock strikes. The custom dates from almost immemorial days, when the knights of the city were accustomed to mobilize at a moment's notice to defend their homes. The bugle was their signal, and the story goes that on one occasion a noble knight received his death wound from an enemy's arrow just as he was in the act of sounding the alarm from the tower. The custom is perpetuated today by a staff of buglers, who are on duty constantly, in three shifts of eight hours each. The call they gave is always broken off in the middle of a bar, reproducing the unfinished alarm that was given by the knight of old.

Cracow, now a city of over 150,000 population, most of the inhabitants being pure Polish, has been under Austrian rule since 1846, when it was "annexed" by that Germanic state. Previous to that time, since the partition of the Kingdom of Poland, Cracow had been a free republican city. It was the capital of the old kingdom for nearly three centuries—from the year 1320 to the year 1609.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

DESERVING of commendation are the employees of the Street Railway and C. G. E. Companies, who have formed a home guard association. With such bodies as these existing all over Canada, there should be very few men who could not shoot straight and handle a rifle properly if the need arose.

PORT ARTHUR has raised $40,000 in three days for the Patriotic Fund. Peterborough took about three weeks to get $5,000 together. Now, doesn't that make you want a $50,000 fund for Peterborough?

Rights of a Reporter.

(Montreal Gazette.)

Mr. Justice Riddell at Ottawa has condemned as contrary to law an order of the mayor excluding from the offices in the city hall the reporter of one of the local newspapers. The mayoral order had for its purpose the prevention of the offending journal from using a ready means of obtaining information about the city's affairs. It was a foolish order and it was rightly nullified. The rights of a newspaper to obtain and disseminate information about the actions of governing bodies, parliamentary, judicial and municipal, have been maintained by the strongest men in the highest courts of the British Empire. Lord Haldane, when Lord Chancellor, in the case of Maria Scott, heard by the House of Lords, laid it down that even the courts must be public and that any one had a right to listen, record and publish a fair account of their proceedings; and the judgment stands. In a case before the judicial committee of the Privy Council Lord Shaw put it that the freedom of the journalist is an ordinary part of the freedom of the subject, adding that to whatever lengths the subject may go, so also may go the journalist, the range of whose criticism, comments or assertions is as wide as that of any other subject. In both cases noted the right to record or comment upon the proceedings of a court was concerned. A city council, however, is not more sacred than a court, and the publicity and freedom of comment that is right and wholesome in the case of a court is surely right and wholesome in the case of a municipal body. Neither a mayor nor any one else may well have the power to separate one individual from the commonalty and, because he is a newspaper representative, say that he will be deprived of certain rights that pertain to him in his quality of a subject. It is a good thing when an attempt of the kind is fought and stopped.

God the All Terrible! Thou Who ordainest
Thunder Thy clarion and lightning Thy sword;
Show forth Thy pity on high where Thou reignest,
Give to us peace in our time, O Lord!

God the All Merciful, earth hath forsaken
Thy holy ways and hath slighted Thy Word;
Let not Thy wrath in its terror awaken!
Give to us peace in our time, O Lord!

Watching invisible, judging unheard;
Save us in mercy, and save us in danger—
Give to us peace in our time, O Lord!

SELF-DENIAL.

Editor, Review:

Dear Sir,—It may be thoughtlessness, but there is a proneness on the part of people to expend their money and energies in this dreadful war crisis just the same as if no self-denial was demanded of us. Any thoughtful person must recognize that it is our bounden duty to concentrate our attention upon the task that is thrust upon us, for our own self-preservation, even though our loyalty was at a low ebb.

Everything which calls for money beyond the necessaries of life should cease, or certainly be curtailed during the continuance of the war, and the money be diverted to the cases of the various war funds and for those who suffer in consequence of the war.

In this connection I might mention concerts, theatres, and shows of all kinds, strong drink, tobacco in all its forms; candies, jewelry, and not the least, Christmas and New Year's presents, which have become an intolerable expense to the poor, even when the shadow of war did not darken our prosperity. The ladies could do much in ignoring the frequent changes in the realm of fashions, which, too, entail an expense far beyond the majority of persons, and sometimes leads to evil tendencies. Above all, let the ministerial association set the pace and put a stop to the various devices for raising church funds, which can be better applied to the sufferings of those who have gone to the battlefront for their sakes as well as others.

Any scheme, such as we experienced lately by an outsider, which makes a "scoop" upon the pockets of our citizens, instead of being applied to the patriotic funds, aids and abets the Germans, whether it is done for selfish reasons or is the act of a German spy or agent.

Yours,
DUTY.

DAIRY CATTLE RECORDS.

Report No. 6 of the Canadian Record of Performance of pure bred dairy cattle has recently been issued by the Live Stock Branch of the Dominion Department of Agriculture. This report covers the period from March 31st, 1913, to March 31st, 1914, and includes the records of production of milk and butter fat of 120 Ayrshire, 165 Holstein, 30 Shorthorn, 2 French Canadian and 2 Guernsey cows, as well as the names and progeny of several Ayrshire, Holstein and Jersey bulls that have qualified, by reason of production of their offspring, for registration. In an appendix to the report will be found the records of a number of cows, which produced sufficient milk and fat to qualify for registration, but failed to freshen within fifteen months after the commencement of the test. The rules and regulations governing the Record of Performance tests and the standards for registration for the various breeds of dairy cattle are also given. Copies of this report may be had on application to the Publications Branch, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

THE EFFECT OF COLD ON METAL

Numerous tests of iron and steel at temperatures varying from below zero to 166 degrees above zero, Fahrenheit, show that for ordinary atmospheric changes of temperature in any climate, the ultimate strength is not affected. Tests on various grades of iron and steel show that for an increase in temperature of from zero to 500 degrees, the average tensile strength is practically constant. As the temperature rises above 500 degrees the strength decreases rapidly, excepting in cast iron which does not weaken much below 900 degrees.

Although cold does not seem to affect the ultimate strength of iron or steel, it does seem to affect the shock resisting qualities of these materials. The frequent breakage of railroad steel rails and car axles in severe cold weather has led to investigation and tests along this line.

These tests seem to show that cold reduces, to a considerable extent, the flexibility and shock resisting qualities of the steel used. In some of these tests on car axles, the flexibility and strength to resist shocks decreases 58 per cent. with a drop in temperature from 100 degrees to zero. When steel is given severe use and is subjected to vibrations and shocks, the effect of cold is more apt to cause trouble.

"Bliss is no name for it," said the young husband, enthusiastically.

"You are right," said the henpecked one, gloomily. "Bliss is no name for it."

You never can tell. Even the fellow who is stuck on himself has no guarantee against being disappointed in love.

The Counterfeiter

By JOHN TURNLEE

John Roelf, detective, was called upon by the manager of the Third National bank to ferret out the perpetrators of spurious ten dollar bills on their bank. He began by making a thorough examination of the bills. It would seem that a good engraver could make a duplicate of any bank bill that would be practically perfect. But no matter how much care he puts on it there will be differences. On these bills there was a miniature likeness of the then secretary of the treasury. There was a difference between the valid and spurious pictures in the right nostril, the left eyebrow and a line running between the nose and the left cheek.

But this was of no moment to the detective except to enable him to spot one of the counterfeits when he saw it. It did not help him in running down the counterfeiter. He knew that certain persons were going about buying articles worth various sums from 50 cents to $2 or $3, offering one of the counterfeit ten dollar bills and receiving the change in good money.

Roelf interviewed several of the persons on whom these spurious bills had been passed—a young woman cashier in an ice cream saloon. She said that a young man had brought in a girl, ordering ice cream, cake and other articles for both of them; had paid for what he bought with a ten dollar bill and received $9.15 change. After the departure of the couple the bill was found to be counterfeit.

The only person who saw this young man and woman was the cashier herself, who waited on them, no other person connected with the saloon being present, but her description tallied with that of others—that is, the description of the young man, for this was the only time he was reported in company with a girl.

Roelf gave a telephone number to the proprietors of a certain store on the main shopping street of the town and asked them, if any one passed the spurious bills, to call him up and hold on to the person who had offered it. Then he took a novel, sat down by the instrument, read and waited.

On the third day of his waiting he was rung up from a cigar store. A young man had called, bought a handful of cigars, offered a counterfeit ten dollar bill, received $8 and some silver in change, lighted a cigar and gone out smoking. The proprietor had telephoned Roelf and sent a boy to shadow the young man. Roelf went to the cigar store, and when the boy returned he showed the detective a house which the young man had entered.

Roelf remembered that there were different possibilities connected with this young man. The bill might have been passed on him, he being entirely innocent of the matter. He might be passing the bills for the maker. The house he entered might be in no way connected with the counterfeiting. It might be the place where the bills were made. It behooved Roelf, therefore, to be careful in his investigations lest he either come down on innocent persons or frighten the counterfeiters away with all their paraphernalia.

What he did was to observe the house. He loitered near it for half a day to see who came from and went to it. No one entered it, but a woman came out.

The usual way for detectives to watch a suspected house is to hire a room opposite. Roelf did this and kept close observation on the house the young man had entered. Within a few days another case of passing the bills was reported to him. A young man—very likely the same person as before—had bought a hat with one of them. The bill had been detected, the purchaser had been followed and had entered the house Roelf was watching.

This removed all doubt that the guilty person occupied the house in question. Roelf made arrangements to raid it, but concluded to get what additional information he was able before doing so. He kept up his watch, but the only person he saw come out or go in was a young girl. It seemed to Roelf that there was something familiar to him about her, but he could not tell what it was. He never caught a fair glimpse of her face, for whenever she emerged from the house, if the weather was fair, she put up a parasol and if it rained an umbrella.

Roelf now gave orders among the shops that if any one passed one of the spurious bills and it was detected before the person passing it got away he was to be detained. If this was not possible Roelf was to be telephoned of the fact and he would arrest the counterfeiter if he returned to the house.

One afternoon he received a telephone that a young man of effeminate appearance had entered a drug store, bought a pair of hairbrushes and passed a counterfeit bill. Roelf went out on the street and walked back and forth for some time, when he saw a young man who answered the description of the counterfeiter making for the suspected house. As he was about to enter Roelf clapped a hand on his shoulder with a gruff "I want you."

He was startled by a shriek such as might come from a woman.

And it did. When the person arrested was brought to face accusers she turned out to be the cashier of the ice cream saloon who claimed to have had one of the counterfeit bills passed upon her.

Cowboys.

A cowboy, to our modern minds, means a man who herds cattle. Yet the original "cowboys," instead of herding cattle, stole them. The name seems first to have been applied to a band of horsemen, part soldiers and part bandits, who fought on the British side during the Revolution. Westchester county, N. Y., was the scene of their operations, and the most of them were Tories. Because they drove away many cattle on their raids they were called cowboys. Opposed to the cowboys in their raids through the section of New York which lay between the British and American lines were the skinners, a somewhat similar band of marauders, who espoused the continental cause.—American Boy.

There is plenty of counterfeit money in circulation, in spite of the fact that it is a thing of the passed.

Some Recipes Worth Trying

Quick Flannel Cakes

Beat two eggs very light. Stir then into one pint of sour milk. Add slowly one teaspoon of soda, a little salt and flour enough to make a thin batter. Bake on hot griddle and serve with honey.

Pork Soup Stock

Roast pork bones will make an excellent brown soup stock. Remove all fat from bones. Add gravy if any was left. Add one quart of cold water, one bay leaf, a bit of sage and one clove of garlic. Boil slowly one hour and strain. Cut cold boiled macaroni into small pins. Add to soup stock. Heat hot and serve.

Potato Pancakes

Peel six potatoes and allow to soak in cold water four hours. Grate them and allow to drain ten minutes. To every pint of grated potato allow one-half teaspoon of salt, one tablespoon of flour, a little pepper. Beat this all together. Fold in two well beaten eggs. Drop by spoonfuls on a hot buttered griddle or spider. Turn, browning on both sides. Send to table at once with apple jelly.

Whole Wheat Griddle Cakes

Sift one quart of whole wheat flour with one teaspoon of baking powder and one teaspoon of salt into bowl. Add one tablespoon of melted butter, one tablespoon of sugar, two eggs well beaten, and two cups of milk.

Beat all together for three minutes. Bake in even round cakes on griddle. Serve with quince honey.

Spanish Steak

Pound one-half cup of flour with a half teaspoon of salt into an inch thick, medium sized round steak.

Slice one onion, seed and chop two green peppers, one clove of garlic, cut in three pieces, peel and slice six large tomatoes. Put into skillet with two tablespoons of butter. Allow to cook slowly until it forms thick sauce. Turn sauce into bowl. Put two tablespoons of butter into skillet. Heat hot. Put in steak. Turn several times to sear. When steak is brown add sauce. Cover and simmer forty minutes. Do not allow the sauce to cook brown; add a little stock or water as needed. Serve steak and sauce in centre of platter with border of cooked rice with dash of curry powder.

Escalloped Onions

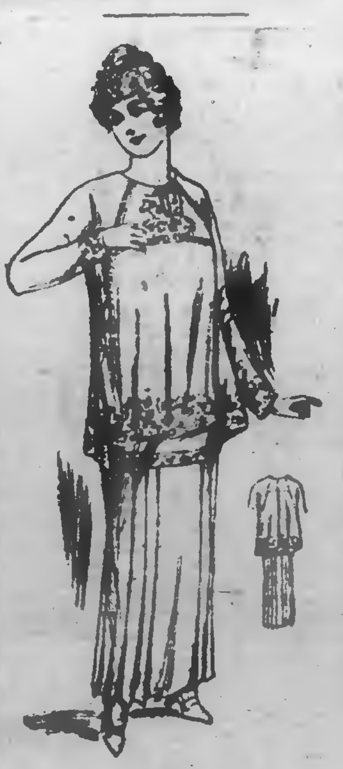
Select small, even-sized onions. Cook until tender, but not boiled to pieces. Drain and arrange in baking dish and add a little minced parsley. Cover with sauce made with two cups of milk put into double boiler to boil. Rub to cream two tablespoons of butter with one of flour. When milk is boiling add the butter and flour mixture. Boil until smooth. When this sauce has been added to the onions and parsley put thin layer of bread crumbs on top and bake in oven until crumbs are brown.

Pork Cutlets

Beat two eggs light and add one tablespoon of cream and two cups of chopped cold pork, one-half cup of cracker crumbs, one tablespoon of minced parsley, a few drops of onion juice, pepper and salt to taste. Mix all together. Roll into loaf or put into well greased baking powder cans and allow to stand three or four hours. When ready to use cut into slices half an inch thick. Dip in egg and roll in fine bread crumbs and fry in deep fat.

Beef Balls With Relish

To six tablespoons of cold cooked beef, chopped fine, add one tablespoon of suet, chopped fine. Mix together and add one tablespoon of parmesan cheese and the well beaten yolks of two eggs, the juice of half a lemon, salt and pepper to taste and a teaspoon of minced parsley. Mix all together and add four tablespoons of fine bread crumbs or cold cooked rice. Fold in the stiffly-beaten whites of two eggs and mold into ball shape. Set aside for three or four hours. When ready to serve dip in eggs. Roll in crumbs and fry in hot, deep fat until golden brown. Serve on platter with lettuce leaf cups with relish.



New Cassaque Tunic

There are the fluffy ruffle tunics—Greek tunics and cassaque tunics.

The one illustrated is of white embroidered chiffon over a white satin under-frock.

The model is not so popular as the ruffled tunic, but it will probably be worn more in the near future.

AFRAID SHE WAS DYING

Suffered Terribly Until She Took "Fruit-a-tives"

ST. JEAN DE MATHA, JAN. 27th. 1914.
"After suffering for a long time with Dyspepsia, I have been cured by "Fruit-a-tives". I suffered so much that I would not dare eat for I was afraid of dying. Five years ago, I received samples of "Fruit-a-tives". I did not wish to try them for I had little confidence in them but, seeing my husband's anxiety, I decided to do so and at once I felt relief. Then I sent for three boxes and I kept improving until I was cured. While sick, I lost several pounds, but after taking "Fruit-a-tives", I quickly regained what I had lost. Now I eat, sleep and digest well—in a word, I am completely cured, thanks to "Fruit-a-tives".
MADAM M. CHARBONNEAU

"Fruit-a-tives" is the greatest stomach tonic in the world and will always cure Indigestion, Sour Stomach, "Heartburn", Dyspepsia and other Stomach Troubles.

50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size, 25c. At all dealers or sent on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

THE CHILDREN AT THE SCHOOL

Surroundings Should be Conducive to Good Health

Light, ventilation and desks are three of the first and chief matters to consider in a schoolroom.

A child's eyesight may be ruined for life through having to study in an improper light, or from having to strain its eyes to look at a blackboard upon which the light glares.

Many colds, which are often the beginning of more serious disease, are caught in a stuffy, ill-ventilated room. It is as bad to have the school room too hot as it is to have it too cold!

And where there are a number of children sitting and working for several hours, it is imperative to change the air, frequently!

In nice weather, keep the windows open at toy and bottom to insure a current of air. The stale air rises to the top of the room and will find proper outlet.

In cold weather, the windows should always be open at the top a little way. Throw them open at the bottom, too, every hour or so. Allow the children to stand and exercise, fast, at this time so that they will not catch cold during the sudden inrush of cold air.

The desk, third, but not last from the standpoint of importance, should be an individual matter of consideration with the teacher in each individual child's case.

Crooked spines, interrupted circulation, flat-chestedness and many other ills result from children sitting in desks not fitted, properly, to them.

If children's legs are not long enough to touch the ground, they should be provided with footrests. If the desks are too high the seats should be elevated.

If the desks are too low, blocks or strips should be placed under them.

To Thread a Needle

When threading a needle take a white envelope, stick the needle through, and draw it down until the eye is visible, and you will thread the needle like magic. The white surface of the paper sets the eye into relief, as if it were magnified. A stout paper or envelope is the best, as it holds the needle more securely.

Exercise For Headache

One of the quickest known ways of dispelling a headache is to give some of the muscles—those of the legs, for instance—a little hard, sharp work to do. The reason is obvious. Muscular exertion flushes the parts engaged in it, and so depletes the brain. When your head aches take a stiff walk or a short bicycle ride.

Ink spots on polished wood—Paint lightly with sweet spirits of nitre. Polish with cloth dipped in sweet oil.

Stains on tiled hearths—Rub with sand and paraffin, not soap.

Guarding Morals

"Gent uptown telephones for an officer at once. Burglar in the house."

"Let me see," said the captain, reflectively. "I've got four men censoring plays, two inspecting the gowns at a society function, and two more supervising a tango tea. Tell him I can send him an officer in about two hours."

A Long Hunt

First Stranger (in Boston)—Can you tell me how to reach Wellington street?

Second Stranger—That's just where I want to go. Let's work together. You go south and I'll go north, and we'll report progress every time we meet.

A Brief Courtship

Mistress: "O course, I don't wish to put any obstacles in the way of your getting married, but I wish it were possible to postpone it until I get another maid."

Mary Ann: "Well, mum, I 'ardly think I know 'im well enough to arsk 'im to put it off."

SUNDAY SCHOOL.

Lesson VIII.—Fourth Quarter, For Nov. 22, 1914.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, Matt. xxvii, 11-26. Memory Verses, 22, 23—Golden Text, Matt. xxvii, 22—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

This chapter begins with the words, "When the morning was come." What an eventful night it had been—the last passover, with all its incidents; the great discourse and prayer; the agony of Gethsemane; the betrayal and the arrest; the mockery of a trial before the chief priests and the council, with the buffeting and spitting; the denial of Peter with his oaths and curses.

Now they bind Him again and lead Him away to Pontius Pilate, the Roman governor, that He may be put to death. If the Jews had the power to kill Him He would have been stoned as Stephen afterward was, but the prediction in Ps. xxii, 16—"they pierced my hands and my feet"—indicated crucifixion, and every Scripture must be fulfilled.

The record in John xviii, 28, to xix, 14, seems to come in before our lesson verses, telling of Pilate's private interview with Jesus and how he came out again and again and said, "I find no fault in Him." How when he asked what prisoner he should release unto them, as was his custom at this feast, they asked for Barabbas, who was a robber and murderer. How Pilate had Jesus scourged, and the soldiers made a crown of thorns and put it on Him and mocked Him and smote Him. How Pilate brought Him forth wearing the crown of thorns and the purple robe and said, "Behold the Man!" And they all cried out, "Crucify Him, crucify Him!" and said, "By our law He ought to die because He made Himself the Son of God."

When Jesus made no reply to Pilate's question, "Whence art Thou?" and asked if He did not know that he had power to crucify or release Him, Jesus said that Pilate could have no power against Him except it were given him from above. As Pilate persisted in his efforts to release Him the Jews said, "If thou let this man go thou art not Caesar's friend." Then Pilate brought Jesus forth and sat down in the judgment seat, and Jesus stood before him, the Creator before one of His creatures.

It is even so as you read this—your Creator in the person of the Lord Jesus is before you to be worshiped, reverenced, adored if you have already received Him as your own personal Saviour; if not, then the one great and only question for you to answer is the one in verse 22 of our lesson, "What shall I do with Jesus who is called Christ?" It is never in any case a question of our standing before men, character or good works or even church membership, which may mean something or nothing, but only this, Am I in Christ, redeemed by His precious blood who bare my sins in His own body on the cross?

Pilate sitting on the judgment seat and Jesus standing before him, the chief priests and elders accuse Him of many things, such as perverting the nation, forbidding to give tribute to Caesar, proclaiming Himself a King. To all these accusations Jesus answered never a word, and Pilate marveled greatly (verses 12-14; Luke xxiii, 2, 3).

It is trying to be lied about and falsely accused either behind one's back or before your face, but to do as Jesus did and answer nothing when there is nothing to be answered is the better way.

Nothing can be said or done to any member of His body without His permission or without His feeling it, and all suffering with Him and for His sake is a very great privilege. Consider continually that He who bore all this so meekly was not only in reality King of the Jews, but also King of nations, ruler of the kings of the earth, King of kings and Lord of lords, and all kings shall fall down before Him, all nations serve Him (Deut. x, 17; Ps. lxxii, 11; Rev. i, 5; xv, 3; xvii, 14; xix, 16). Oh, the stupendous wonder of it all that He should condescend to submit to all this for our sakes; then to think how little we are willing to bear for Him!

How Pilate sent Him to Herod to be further mocked and set at nought and how there also He answered nothing is recorded in Luke xxiii, 6-12. When He had been returned to Pilate he brought Him forth and said to the Jews, "Behold your King." But they cried out: "Away with Him, crucify Him. We have no king but Caesar" (John xix, 14, 15). Pilate's wife sent to him, saying, "Have thou nothing to do with that just man, for I have suffered many things this day in a dream because of Him." But the chief priests and elders prevailed, and when Pilate washed his hands, saying, "I am innocent of the blood of this just person," they all answered, "His blood be on us and on our children" (verses 19, 20, 24, 25).

So Barabbas the murderer was released and Jesus Christ the Holy One of God, God manifest in the flesh, delivered to their will to be crucified (verse 26; Luke xxiii, 24, 25).

This is the hatred of God which is in the heart of man, for the carnal mind is enmity against God, and only the Spirit of God can convince of sin, the great sin of rejecting Christ, and open the heart to receive Him.

Because they chose Barabbas and Caesar instead of Christ their sufferings continue to this day.

EREEDOM IN FRANCE

I believe that there is no country in the world where there is greater individual freedom than in France. Every one apparently does just about as he pleases. The gendarmes are not watching for infractions and never seem to interfere with anybody. People tumble their dogs into the public fountains and enjoy the parks with a freedom that would not for a moment be permitted in New York. Yet no one does anything really harmful. I mentioned these things to the American consul, who said:

"Yes, the French have great individual license and are too proud of it to abuse it. Whatever they lack in political freedom they make up in personal liberty. That is the chief article of their faith. The gendarme seldom lays hands on a citizen. Where something really serious happens there are usually serious consequences, but it does not often happen."

Then he told me of a runaway youth whom he wished apprehended and held for American advices. The authorities said: "We will watch him for you, we will keep you posted as to his comings, his goings and his doings, but we cannot lay hands on him. There is no warrant for so serious a step."—Albert Bigelow Paine in Century.

To loaf around the county fair
  And all the wonders see
That are inclosed within the grounds
  Is good enough for me.
To marvel at the pumpkin crop
  That proudly does its stunt,
To pat prize porkers on the head
  And listen to them grunt.

See coming slowly down the way
  And walking hand in hand
The country swain and his best girl
  While listening to the band.
They reck not of the multitude
  That views them with a grin
As up and down the grounds they stroll
  And calmly take things in.

The trotting race at last is called;
  The judges are on hand;
Important as a load of hay,
  They look down from the stand.
Hot sports are scattered all about
  And having such a time,
And some are betting on the race
  As much as half a dime.

And in the pens the fancy stock
  Their ribbons proudly wave
And show how cows of gentle breed
  On fair days should behave.
The barkers with their merry noise
  Fill up the hazy air,
And there is color, life and joy
  Around the county fair.

TWO WOMEN AVOID OPERATIONS

By Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Chicago, Ill.—"I must thank you with all my heart for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I used to go to my doctor for pills and remedies and they did not help me. I had headaches and could not eat, and the doctor claimed I had female trouble and must have an operation. I read in the paper about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I have taken it and feel fine. A lady said one day, 'Oh, I feel so tired all the time and have headache.' I said, 'Take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound,' and she did and feels fine now."—Mrs. M. R. KARSCHNICK, 1438 N. Paulina Street, Chicago, Illinois.

The Other Case.
Dayton, Ohio.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound relieved me of pains in my side that I had for years and which doctors' medicines failed to relieve. It has certainly saved me from an operation. I will be glad to assist you by a personal letter to any woman in the same condition."—Mrs. J. W. SHERER, 126 Cass St., Dayton, Ohio.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

URGES COUNCIL TO SHOW APPRECIATION OF THE VOLUNTEERS

(Havelock Standard.)

Marmora has presented fifteen volunteers from that village with $5.00 and a wrist watch to each man. Two of Havelock's soldiers have received presents from the town, but up to date the others have received nothing. If the town council refuse much longer to do their duty and make some suitable recognition to the boys who have gone to the front. The Standard will open a public subscription list, in order to afford those who wish to do so, an opportunity of showing their appreciation of our boys' patriotism and bravery. It's a disgrace to Havelock that those who have gone to fight our battles, have gone without a word of appreciation from the town council, or the semblance of a civic gift. We trust that the Council will not need any further reference to this matter in order to have their glaring neglect remedied.

STORIES OF ROBERTS

There could be no doubt about the popularity of Lord Roberts—hero of Kandahar, affectionately known throughout the Army as "Bobs." His military deeds were known throughout the Empire, and since his baptism of fire as a lieutenant in the Bengal Artillery during the Indian Mutiny in the 'fifties some sixty war trophies, commencing with the Victoria Cross, have been awarded him for deeds of gallantry.

He had been through seven campaigns, for which he wears twenty-one medals and clasps, also a bronze star. Perhaps he was prouder, however, of the fact that his second son fell in action during the Boer War in a desperate attempt to save the guns from Boer capture at Colenso for which gallant deed he was awarded the Victoria Cross after death.

Lord Roberts himself was gazetted to the Victoria Cross on Dec. 24th 1858, for saving the regiments standard, which had been captured by a couple of Sepoys.

The Kaiser's Tribute.

Perhaps the most remarkable tribute paid to Lord Roberts was that of the Kaiser, who, at the grand manoeuvre of the German army a year or two ago, entered into friendly conversation with a group of foreign war correspondents during a lull in the operations. At length a representative of a leading London daily ventured to ask the Kaiser who his favorite soldier was. The Emperor sat upright in his saddle. "My favorite soldier, sir," he said, "is a countryman of your own—Lord Roberts of Kandahar. He has much of the subtlety and ability to see his opportunities that distinguished the greatest military geniuses of the past." And there are not many who will disagree with this royal expression of admiration of "Bobs."

Five years ago Lord and Lady Roberts celebrated their golden wedding—for it was in 1859 that he married a soldier's daughter, Miss Nora Henrietta Bews, whose father was in the 73rd foot. Lady Roberts from the first proved herself an ideal soldier's wife.

Secret of Popularity.

Undoubtedly the great secret of Lord Robet's popularity in the army lay in the fact that he always possessed the quality of being able to secure the love and confidence of the men under his command. When at the outset of his work in the Boer war the loss of an all-important convoy at Waterval meant that four days' supplies for his army had disappeared, Lord Roberts was able, by relying on the confidence and affection of his troops, to carry through his original scheme.

After Waterval Lord Roberts sent for Col. Richardson, the head of the Army Service Corps, and bluntly asked him if he could provide rations for his men if he kept to his original plan and moved them on at once. Richardson replied in the negative. "Can you give them three-quarter rations?" The answer was still "No." "Can you give them half rations?" The answer came after a moment's thought: "No; but I can give them nearly half rations." Lord Roberts walked for ten seconds in his tent and said: "I will go on. I think the men will do it if I ask them." And they did.

Infantry Attacks Following Artillery Fire Easily Repulsed by the Allies.

LONDON, Nov. 19.—The latest official communications recording the operations on the western battlefields, are much the same as those of preceding days. There has been fighting virtually all along the front, but without appreciable change in the situation.

From the coast of Flanders to the River Lys on the Franco-Belgian border, much of which has been flooded by the allies to hinder the German attacks, there has been a repetition, on a somewhat smaller scale of the bombardment which the invaders invariably resort to in the hope of breaking down the allies' resistance before infantry attacks, and in isolated spots, attacks in force, but according to the French and British reports, all these have been repulsed.

The Anglo-French forces, which have been holding the territory around Ypres, have again been subjected to German attacks, fresh German troops attempting what the Prussian Guards a few days previously had failed to do—force the allies out of their trenches.

As was the case with Prussian Guards the Germans who made the latest effort appear again to have taken the first line of trenches, but like the Guards, found themselves on the flanks and were compelled to give back the ground gained after holding it for a short time.

Both sides, as shown by the casualty lists of the officers, are losing heavily in the fighting, but the Germans, being on the offensive and being so often enfiladed after success was so nearly in their hands, are said to have suffered enormously.

The French Zouaves, who have frequently distinguished themselves by dashing charges, have again been utilized to dislodge the Germans from a position near Bixschoote, over which there has been much fighting, and, according to the French communication, have again been successful.

These incidents are just a sample of what has been occurring in Northern France, along the Aisne Valley, around Rheims, in the Argonne forest and on the banks of the River Meuse. First the one, and then the other, gains an advantage, but when all is told, the general situation remains about as it was.

Reports come from France that the Germans are preparing to make another attempt to get through to the coast by way of La Bassee, but, like the rumors that they are preparing for a retreat, there is no confirmation of it.

The Amsterdam Telegraaf reports that the Germans lost 2,700 men in the recent fighting at Dixmude. Nieuport is said to be badly damaged by artillery fire.

The legislative and administrative staffs of the Chamber of Deputies will go to Paris to-day, as a prelude to the return of the French Government, which removed to Bordeaux when the approach of the German armies threatened the security of the capital.

Part of the war levy on the Belgians has been distributed among the German soldiers, each receiving about a dollar, according to The Vossiche Zeitung.

Transfer of German troops on a large scale from the Russian frontier for a renewal of the fight to capture Calais is reported in a Rotterdam despatch. It is stated that all railway service in Belgium has been shut off, and communication between Holland and Germany closed. The Germans are said to have sent a large number of heavy siege guns from Liege to the region of Arras.

Large numbers of German soldiers are deserting from the posts in the Belgian provinces of Antwerp and Limbourg, and are crossing the border into Holland, says an article in The Amsterdam Telegraaf.

CHARGED WITH SERIOUS OFFENCE AGAINST GIRL

In Police Court this morning Joseph Scott was charged with having had carnal knowledge of a young girl under the age of 14 years.

The mother of the girl was the first witness for the Crown. She produced the birth certificate which proved the girl to be under the age of 14. The witness identified the prisoner.

Under cross-examination it was shown that the girl had worked for the chief constable in Lakefield as a domestic for about three weeks. This was about six weeks ago. It was also shown that she was a very obedient child.

Dr. Mann, sworn, stated as to the condition of the girl at the time of examination.

The girl, when called, related the circumstances under which the assault was committed, and told how defendant had met her.

The case is proceeding.

Would you say a woman was merely an echo of her husband just because she always wants the last word?

PRAISE FOR MAJOR GENERAL SAM HUGHES

Pte. Carpenter Writing From Salisbury Says He Deserves Credit

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Courtney, of East City, have received a letter form their grandson, Pte. Bert Carpenter, who is with the Canadians in England. Pte. Carpenter writes as follows:

The boys are all enjoying themselves; not worrying about anything ahead of them. "A" Company had a picture taken yesterday and I will send one home.

Each battalion has its own canteen, and beer can be bought by those who desire it, for four-pence a quart. There is nothing stronger than beer. Major-General Hughes would not allow any liquors at Valcartier, Que., and of course some men gave him a bad name. He certainly deserves great credit for the way he arranged everything there. We had better food there, and the sanitary conditions were far ahead of those here. There is very poor accommodation for washing mess tins and clothes. Our rations are served out once a day, so much to a tent, there being generally nine men to each tent. For breakfast we have bread, jam, cheese, tea, and a small piece of bacon; for dinner, stew, potatoes, bread, jam, cheese, no tea; and, for supper, what is left of the bread, jam and cheese. The nine men for the three meals get or are allowed one pint tin of jam, about one pound of cheese, and five loaves of bread and the above-mentioned.

We have straw ticks and pillows and a board floor in our tents. Some say we are going into barracks in three weeks' time. The sooner the better, as the weather is very changeable, some men complaining of rheumatism.

I am toughing it out all right, as I was used to this before enlisting. The battalion goes out in the afternoon for a ten-mile march over the plains, which are eaten up with rabbit burrows, and now and then you see a big rabbit beat it through the grass. It is wonderful to see the big flock of sheep tended by one shepherd and a dog.

Throughout today we have been instructed in the use of the bayonet.

So the Canadian papers say that the Germans are going to commence an invasion of England. They never will, and if you could see the British battleships you would say it was impossible. They will never get into Paris, let alone England. Their army is broken and will never recover. The Allies are winning at every point, and the Canadians will be lucky if they ever see Germany.

I get plenty of news, but have not much time to write. I also have plenty of warm clothing and no worry. Trusting you are all well. With love and best wishes from Bert.

It's one thing to teach the young idea how to shoot, but quite another thing to supply him with ammunition.

A Household Motto

No longer do we gasp with admiration at the woman who tells us that the things she had in her house came from more than half the civilized countries in the world. It's all very well for the hunter to point to the heads on the walls of his den and tell you that he shot them in nine provinces, or on three continents, in lands of almost eternal snow and lands of tropical heat, on mountain, moor and plain over a whole atlas of maps. It's very interesting to listen to the aged athlete tell you from how many sporting associations and under how many flags he gathered his great mugs and shields and illuminated addresses. But the man or woman who strikes a thrill into us nowadays is the man or woman who can take us over the house and demonstrate that from garret to cellar, from front verandah to the steps at the back kitchen door, and even out into the woodshed, the things which make that house a home were made in Canada, the land of homes, and under one flag, the Union Jack. There should be in every home a "Made-in-Canada" society whose business it is to increase the number of things in that home made in Canada. Some may call it patriotism. It isn't. It's only common sense and the best kind of selfishness.

ORGANIZER IS SECURED

To Take Charge of Campaign for the Patriotic Fund

START NEXT WEEK

A little more life and enthusiasm over Peterborough's Patriotic Fund seems to be badly needed just now, and any means to cultivate these qualities would be most acceptable. Citizens, therefore, who are heart and soul in the work will be pleased to learn that a capable man has consented to come to Peterborough and diagnose the reason for this city's somewhat lukewarm giving. Plans that he has used in cities like Toronto, Hamilton, London, Woodstock, will be adopted here, and judging from their success they should inject more of the spirit of liberal giving into Peterboro. Other cities smaller than this have evidenced their patriotism through their purses in a decidedly liberal and generous manner, and those boosting for Peterboro's fund want to see more tangible evidence of local patriotism than thus far has been displayed.

About the middle of next week the gentleman who has been secured is expected to arrive in the city and place his campaign in operation.

Opposed to Municipal Officer Distributing the Patriotic Funds

The Canadian Patriotic Fund is most strongly opposed to a municipal charity officer, distributing relief from the Patriotic Fund, according to a reply received by a local citizen who wrote to the Canadian Patriotic Fund.

This will be of interest to the officers of the local fund. Mr. Miller's qualifications as a relief officer are undisputed, and there are those who feel that he is the proper person to act. It would appear, however, that others who take a different view of the matter have the support of headquarters.

Y.M.C.A. NOTES

A big treat is in store for the boys Friday night when Mr. Keyes of the Normal School staff will give an illustrated lecture on British battleships. Every member of the boys' department is asked to attend this lecture and learn about the kind of warships operated by the British in the present war.

At 8.45 Intermediate Bible Club. Leader Walter Flowers: Saturday morning, 9 o'clock, Jr. School Boys' Bible Club, leader Mr. Galley: Saturday morning, 10 o'clock, Jr. Collegiate Bible Club, leader Mr. Galley.

On Thursday evening, November 26th, the boys will hold a concert in the gymnasium, when a good programme of physical work will be presented to the friends of the boys. A good musical programme also has been prepared and a pleasant time is promised by the boys.

About twenty boys will attend the boys' work conference which will be held at Belleville on November 27th to 29th.

BELGRADE IS BOMBARDED

Austrians Laying Siege to Servian Capital

LONDON, Nov. 19.—The fortifications of the Servians at Belgrade are being bombarded by the Austrians with heavy guns from the hills of Semlin and from monitors on the Danube, says a despatch from Budapest.

The Servian artillery is replying from the Baujicha Hills.

Austrian engineers and sappers are repairing the railways at Semlin to afford protection for their artillery. The railway lines there have been twice destroyed in the present war, once when the Austrians retired from the Servian column that invaded Bosnia, and again by the Servians when they retired before the Austrians and were forced to fall back across the river into their own country again.

A despatch to The Nieuws Frie Presse declares that the Servians retired ten kilometres after the fall of Vallevo, in the direction of Kragujevatz, where a new battle was fought.

GERMAN VITUPERATION

The "Hamburger Nachrichten," contains the following example of the language used in the German press:

"The German women," it says, "are beings too gentle, of a texture altogether too delicate, to support the idea of war. But in so far as the present war is concerned our women in their millions welcome it with joy, because they recognize that it is a struggle against envious, hating, and hateful foes.

"German mothers have never brought forth such wild beasts as these poison-spreading enemies. The sons of German mothers are formed in the image of God, of the God who brought the sword into the world and entered into friendship with the Centurion of Capernaum. Not so the sons of French, English, Russian and Belgian mothers. They are made of other material.

"By the use of horrible, lacerating bullets, by murdering and mutilating wounded German warriors, and by playing the hypocrites' part by means of the white flag, their sons have shown themselves to be beasts and the sons of beasts.

"Between such bitterly opposing forces as those of the good, the noble, the uplifting and the evil, the vile and the degrading, the battle must go on until the end, until their tears and their prayers shall have moved High Heaven to grant the Germans victory."

War Distances

War, besides being a great leveller, is also a great educator. The distances so often mentioned in despatches are apt to be somewhat confusing unless understood. It ought, however, to be quite easy to remember that a metre measures about 1 1-12 yards, or more exactly 39.37 inches. A decametre is 10 metres, a hectometre is 100 metres, and a kilometre is 1,000 metres, or a little more than three-fifths of a mile. A Russian verst is rather more than a [illegible] exact distance being [illegible] mile, or between three [illegible] of that distance

RUSSIANS ARE CRUSHING FOE'S LATEST OFFENSIVE

Invasion of Poland by Way of Thorn Fails of Its Desired Effect, Which Was to Divert East Prussian Attack---Fierce Battle Has Been Raging for Four Days in the Vicinity of Soidau.

LONDON, Nov. 19.—A despatch received at Paris from Petrograd by the Havas Agency is as follows:—

"A terrific battle of unexampled violence has been proceeding for four days around Soldau. The cannonading has been maintained night and day. The Russians are endeavoring at any cost to avenge their former check at Soldau, and are throwing themselves at the Germans with indescribable fury. They have carried position after position by assault, in spite of the infernal fire of the Germans.

"The Germans are offering a most energetic resistance, and their fighting is alternately offensive nad defensive.

"In spite of the torrential rains, which have turned the ground into a quagmire, the Russians are advancing toward the interior of Germany," the Havas correspondent continues "They have captured ten big cannon, none of them damaged."

The Daily News has the following from Frederick Rennet, its Petrograd correspondent:—

The Russians are rolling back the German reinforced invasion of Poland from Thorn. The advance is being crushed without the Russians having to abate their energetic penetration northward into eastern Prussia. These operations demonstrate that Gen. Hindenburg means to stake his winter campaign on repeated attempts with great force to prevent the invasion of central Germany by means of flank attacks on the Russian right. This was the plan laid down by the elder Moltke fifty years ago, at the time of the Schleswig-Holstein campaign, when he held that if Germany had to conduct war on two fronts it would be impossible to maintain a frontal defence of Silesia against invasion from the east.

Hindenburg is now following this strategy, and all reinforcements brought from western Europe are concentraitng around Thorn. His immediate danger is from a continuous strengthening of the Russian northward columns closing into the railway system of East Prussia. Other German measures for gaining time for Silesia consist in the destruction of all frontier communications. They soaked with petroleum all wooden bridges in the region of Kaliss, southward to Veleun, and undermined the iron bridges across the River Prosna. They are taking fresh hostages in all the frontier towns. Fighting among the swampy forests to the northward is very stubborn and slow.

The Germanic-Austrian staffs are in dispute as to the course to be pursued at Cracow. The Austrians, for political and strategical reasons, desire, practically, a passive defence, reserving their main strength to protect the roads leading to Vienna. The German headquarters have vetoed this on the ground that the early submission of Cracow will necessitate a radical change of all the German plans. The Austrian Emperor is believed to be supporting the views of his own General Staff.

A despatch from Petrograd says that word has been received from Marmoritza, on the Austria-Roumanian frontier, that hard fighting is taking place in the northern part of Bukowina. The Czar's troops are declared to be victorious.

It is said that as the Russians move forward the Austrians are fleeing in disorder.

PREPARING TO BREAK BAD NEWS TO PEOPLE

Censor is Permitting Many Complaints About Lack of News and Also Explanations Theretor—Germans Are Beginning to Realize That Their Army is no Longer on the Offensive.

AMSTERDAM, Nov. 19.—What is considered evidence of a desire of the German authorities to prepare public opinion for ugly truths is, in fact, that the censor permits so many complaints to be printed as to the lack of news from the front, and the explanations he permits the papers to publish in reply. In a general sense the papers have brought home to the readers that the German forces have almost entirely abandoned the offensive on all sides, but they try and make believe that this is not so much by reason of any progress on the part of the allies as owing to the new strategical conceptions destined shortly to bring the enemy's career to an inglorious close.

From the severe lesson read to pessimists by The Frankfurter Zeitung it would appear as if these efforts of the newspapers are not meeting with the success they hoped for. This paper describes the situation as eminently satisfactory, seeing that the Germans are everywhere putting up a most victorious defensive. Under these circumstances German public opinion is wrong to allow itself to be alarmed by the assumed optimism or mere bluff of the allies, or to fall into the trap so cleverly spread for it to engender a panic throughout the land. The paper is constrained to admit that the official bulletins are somewhat laconic and inclined to admit that the official bulletins are somewhat laconic and inclined to dwell too much on minor facts, but it says that all this will soon be changed, and in any case the public should have the good sense to trust the Kaiser and his gallant army.

NO LIGHT THROWN ON FATALITY

WHITBY, Nov. 19. — No further light has been thrown on the circumstances attending the death of Geo. Hollinger, the Cherrywood farmer, whose body was found tied with a heavy stone in a well on his farm on Friday afternoon.

Although deceased was of an eccentric disposition, the neighbors scout the idea of suicide, and assert their conviction that Hollinger was foully done to death for mercenary motives.

The inquest held by Coroner McGillivray has revealed nothing so far.

EXPLANATION DEMANDED.

U. S. Seeks Apology For Attack on Cruiser Tennessee.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19. — The United States Government has directed Ambassador Henry Morgenthau at Constantinople to ask the Ottoman Government for an explanation of the firing by Turkish land forces at a launch from the American cruiser Tennessee, proceeding from Vourlah to the American Consulate at Smyrna, Asia Minor.

Secretary Daniels, with the approval of President Wilson, simultaneously cabled the commanders of the Tennessee and the North Carolina, also in the Mediterranean, to take no action which might embarrass the American Government.

President Wilson is determined that, under no circumstances, shall the United States be involved in war with Turkey. If the Turkish officers acted without authority of the Ottoman Government, and the firing was not justified by naval procedure in a closed port, it is confidently believed here that the Ottoman Government will render apology.

NAME IS OMINOUS.

Waterloo Said To Be Scene of Kaiser's Next Great Stand.

NORTHERN FRANCE, Nov. 19.—A stinging hail storm swept the trenches in France and Belgium yesterday and covered them and their human prisoners with a white layer of icy, cold dampness. At the time, which was towards midday, heavy guns thundered from their concealed emplacements from Nieuport to La Bassee, and since the German offensive was again due, our men had to lie prone and wait. They waited patiently, good-temperedly, willingly and bravely, although they were cold to the marrowbone and their clothes wet and sticking to their skins, their boots clogged with heavy mud and their feet soaked by insistent drips from their great coats.

Our men are waiting for the next German offensive movement with confidence. Some are wondering whether another attack will be made on our position before the end of the year, while others, also well informed, state that the Germans are on the point of retreating. A Belgian, who states he walked through the German lines from Brussels, informs me that the German transport wagons have been choking the roads to Brussels for several days. He believes these are being removed into safety before the fighting line has to be drawn back.

The Germans have a line of defence from Waterloo to Namur before defending the line of the Meuse. This line has been strongly entrenched. The field of Waterloo is stated to be full of concrete trenches laid in such a way that they can be defended indefinitely and occupied in spite of the rigors of winter without causing discomfort to the troops. Here one of the great battles of the near future will be fought. In some important quarters there is undisguished hope that the Germans will make a few more attacks before retreating.

FEDERAL CONTROL OF LAKE FREIGHT

CHICAGO, Nov. 19.—At the waterways convention yesterday the following resolutions were adopted:

"That a committee of five be appointed to investigate the desirability of Government ownership and operation of package boats and steamers on the great lakes and to investigate the possible economies in water carriage by elimination of duplicated expenses and duplicated services.

"The committee to investigate also the question of united terminals and reduction of expenses of transferring from water to rail and rail to water."

Mutual Visiting of Prisoners.

THE HAGUE, Nov. 19.—The Associated Press is informed by German officials that a plan is being discussed to do away with further mutual retaliatory measures on citizens of France and Germany. It is proposed to appoint a German commission to visit detention camps and a French commission to visit German camps These commissions are to investigate actual conditions among the detained foreign subjects, and, if possible, to agree upon a plan whereby both nations will refrain from further drastic measures.

PELLETIER IS NOW A JUDGE

Appointed to a Vacancy on Quebec Superior Court Bench.

OTTAWA, Nov. 19. — Hon. L. P. Pelletier, former Postmaster-General, was yesterday appointed a Judge of the Superior Court of Quebec in place of Justice Delorimer of Montreal, who has resigned. The order-in-council was passed yesterday morning.

Mr. Pelletier, who was seriously ill recently and compelled to give up his arduous duties as Postmaster-General, is now greatly improved, following a sojourn in Mount Clemens, Michigan. He is at present in Atlantic City.

Judge Pelletier is a lawyer of eminent standing at the bar of Quebec. He replaces a Montreal judge and presumably will reside in that city in place of the Quebec division of the Superior Court.

Defied the Life Screens.

CHICAGO, Nov. 19. — Life nets, placed in the rotunda of the Chamber of Commerce building in an attempt to discourage suicides, proved unavailing yesterday.

A well-dressed man about 50 years of age jumped from the fourteenth floor, plunged through the screen on the eighth floor and his lifeless body was entangled in the broken strands of the third floor screen. There the crushed form hung swaying until firemen with ladders took it down.

British Transport Sunk?

VALPARAISO, Chile, Nov. 19.—There are persistent rumors here that the British transport Crown of Galicia has been attacked by German cruisers and been sunk. It is not stated whether the vessel was sunk by her own crew or by the Germans.

The crew of the transport, it is said, was saved and will be landed at Valparaiso by the German steamer Rhakotis of the Kosmos Line.

The Crown of Galicia was a steamer of 4,821 tons. She was built in 1906 and belonged to the Crown Steamship Co.

Kaiser Promises New Emden.

AMSTERDAM, Nov. 19.—Replying to a telegram from the Town of Emden, after which was named the cruiser which wrought so much damage in the Indian Ocean until it was overtaken and destroyed by the Australian cruiser Sydney, the Kaiser sent the following message:

"A new and stronger Emden shall arise in the German navy, which will duplicate the feats of the ship that was lost. On its bow will be affixed an iron cross, to commemorate the glory of the old Emden."

German Base Wrecked.

LONDON, Nov. 19.—A Rotterdam despatch to The Daily Mail says:—

"The British fleet received information Monday which led them to carry out a vigorous bombardment at Knocke and Zeebrugge on the Belgian coast. The Solvay Company's works, on the Bruges Ship Canal, which are being used as a base for German military trains, was wrecked. A train of five cars, filled with soldiers, was struck by a shell, took fire and was destroyed. Much damage was done to the German stores and supplies."

HEALTHY HOUSES

A healthy house is a first aid to healthy occupants. A study of the history of houses might well be added to the curriculum of preparation which a married couple who move about might undergo.

One thought about the matter will show the importance of it. A consumptive lives in a room or a house perhaps years, until he dies. He may have been very careful. More likely he was not at all careful.

A scarlet fever patient or diphtheria patient may have died in a house. Perhaps the family fumigated after the disease. More likely they moved out in a hurry and did not take the trouble.

In any of these cases the germ may easily have hidden itself away only to come to light when the next occupant or occupants of the house proved ready recipients.

A healthy person living in an insanitary house will very likely grow less and less able to resist disease, although the house itself may not breed the germs.

However you look at the matter, it is worth while to study the history of a house you are about to inhabit. Is it insanitary? Is it well ventilated? Is it open to the sunlight and the fresh air? Is it built on high ground? Who were its occupants previously? Was the house well cleaned and fumigated after they left?

If every house owner and apartment owner would thoroughly cleanse his property before he offered it for rent again, the history of houses would not be such an important study, and the life of renters would be twice as safe.

No woman who knows how to flirt is homely.

Township Wants Fence Removed

Solicitor E. A. Peck has issued a writ on behalf of the township of Harvey against G. P. Galvin, who, it is alleged, fenced in a section of the public highway. The township is desirous of making him remove his fence and pay the damages.

No date has as yet been set for the trial.

CITY WILL PURCHASE EAST CITY PROPERTY

At last night's meeting of the board of works a letter was read from the city engineer which stated that Mrs. Scott said that she would accept $150 for part of her property at the corner of Maria St. and Mark St., having a frontage of ten feet on Maria Street, and running back to the C.P.R. tracks, provided that the city would agree not to erect anything that would obstruct the view and move the fence back to the new line. On motion of Ald. Green and McIntyre the offer will be accepted.

Improve Drainage.

It was decided that the City Engineer should report as to whether anything can be done to improve the drainage on the east side of Mark Street and south of Maria Street.

Some rascal put a telephone wire out of commission. Possibly the culprit overheard "Central" saying the line was busy, and he wanted to get even.

Economical

Postum comes in two forms:

Regular Postum—must be boiled. 15c and 25c pkgs.

Instant Postum—needs no boiling. A teaspoonful of the soluble powder stirred in a cup with hot water makes a delightful beverage instantly. 30c and 50c tins.

Cost per cup of both kinds is about the same.

LAKEFIELD NEWS ITEMS

(Special Correspondence.)

Lakefield, Nov. 19.—Mr. and Mrs. Redpath returned to Toronto after spending a couple weeks in the village the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. Redpath

Mr. and Mrs. Mitten of Toronto are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. [illegible] Tate at Bendennis.

Mr. Joynt of Sunderland is relieving Mr. Chant for a couple of weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Chant are spending a couple of weeks at Unionville, visiting relatives.

Mr. Harry Fitzgerald spent Tuesday in Peterboro on business.

Miss Reid has returned after spending a few days in Peterboro last week.

Miss Ila Sawyer returned on Tuesday, after spending the past three weeks in Havelock.

Mr. Reginald Barlowe of Toronto, is the guest of Mrs. O. A. Sawyer, for a couple days.

Mr. E. R. Tate has returned from Toronto.

Mrs. O. Stenat has returned to the village after spending the past few weeks in Toronto visiting friends.

Miss Marjorie Perks is visiting her grandmother, Mrs. Lancaster, in Peterboro.

Miss Eugene Grylls spent a couple days in Peterboro attending the Teachers' Convention.

The moving picture show which was held in the town hall on Monday evening was fairly well attended. The pictures were very good and were very much enjoyed by the audience. The program for next week promises to be a little out of the ordinary as Bruce Ridpath (one of our local boys), the great canoeist will be shown; also local talent will take part.

Mrs. Frank Burgess has returned after spending the past few weeks in Rochester visiting her sister who has been very ill.

A public meeting was held in the town hall, Lakefield, on Tuesday evening, Nov. 17th, at eight o'clock, for the purpose of organizing a "home guard" to defend our home in case of need. The speakers were Major Duncan Walker, commanding the 57th Battalion of Peterboro; F. D. Kerr, Esq., a leading member of the Peterboro Home Guard, and others.

The members of the Ladies' Comfort Club held an afternoon tea in the town hall on Friday afternoon, Nov. 13th, at three o'clock, for the purpose of raising funds for the club. Despite the disagreeable weather the tea was well patronized. The work of the Comfort Club, consisting of socks, wristlets, scarfs, helmets, housewives, and bandages were all on exhibition at the hall.

Miss K. Atwood spent Wednesday in Peterboro on business.

The Payne and Spence hunting party returned on Saturday. They report hunting to be good as the party secured their legal number of deer.

Mr. Elmo Bogue of Lindsay spent the week end in the village the guest of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Alford.

Alex. Fraser of Norwood spent the week end in the village visiting at his home.

NORWOOD NEWS NOTES

(Special Correspondence.)

Norwood, Nov 19.—On Monday evening of this week the Epworth League of the Norwood Methodist Church held a patriotic meeting. A large number of people were present. Mr. J. S. Squire gave a patriotic address which was well received. Appropriate music was furnished by members of the League, among the numbers were the National Anthems of the various nations forming what are termed the Allies.

The Citizens' Home Guard attended in a body dressed in their regimentals.

The several hunting parties from Norwood and vicinity have all returned from the northern woods, each bearing its full allowance of deer. They all report having spent a very enjoyable outing.

Messrs. Pearce and Rathwell returned from Millbridge on Friday while the members of the other parties got home on Saturday.

Partridge shooting has been very good in this vicinity this fall. We know of one party having secured about 20 birds within a radius of four miles of Norwood. Several others also got a good supply of birds in the woods near the village.

One of the old residents of Norwood passed away last week in the person of Mrs. John Chandler having attained the ripe age of 82 years. The funeral was held on Friday afternoon to the Norwood Cemetery.

The village political pot is beginning to simmer. Councillor T. Morrison has announced himself as a candidate for the Reeveship. Reeve B. W. Squire will offer himself for re-election. The other present councillors will likely allow their names to go on the ballots.

The board of management of the public library are adding quite a number of the newest and best books to the present stock of reading. The Illustrated London Graphic which has been coming this year is becoming quite popular on account of the large number of war pictures appearing in it from week to week. The reading room is open and free to the public every Tuesday and Thursday evening and Saturday afternoon and evening. The library board would appreciate the addition of a few new members. The membership fee of one dollar a year is a dollar spent in a good cause and helps to keep up an institution that is of a very considerable benefit to our village.

Mr. Earle B. Laing, of the Bank of Toronto, Freelton, is home on a two weeks' vacation.

The members of our public school staff attended the Teachers' Convention held in Peterboro last week.

Rev. J. G. Lewis of Peterboro preached in the Methodist Church here last Sunday both morning and evening.

Mr. T. E. Finlay has purchased a new McLaughlin automobile.

Mr. F. C. McRae has purchased a Ford car.

Miss Clara Puffer is visiting her parents Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Puffer.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Wellman have moved into their house on Alma Street for the winter. Mr. Wellman has been living in the house adjoining Killarney cheese factory during the summer months.

To Save Money.

The Wife—Your honor, he locked me in the house and took the key.

The Judge—That looks like a case of extreme cruelty.

The Husband—But there was a bargain sale that day.

The Judge—Well, that is certainly an extenuating circumstance.

BEAUTIES OF ONTARIO

Belleville

Among the beauties of Canada's grand old Province of Ontario, is Belleville, a hustling, busy city of 12,000 population situated on the Bay of Quinte, Lake Ontario and the mouth of the Moira River, 220 miles from Montreal and 113 miles from Toronto. Belleville is broadly known as one of the most beautiful little cities of Canada, both in point of location and in civic attractiveness. The city's history began in 1800 when John Taylor settled near the mouth of the Moira River, then known as "Shingleton's Creek," named after a settler who had preceded Taylor. Following closely in the steps of his predecessors Capt. John W. Meyers renamed the locality "Meyer's Creek," and for a dozen years the settlement thrived under the name.

In 1816 Governor Gore, according to the statements of Dr. Scadding, jocosely suggested the abbreviation of his wife's name Arabella, as a good name for the village. Capt. Meyers is crediated with having constructed a dam and erected a mill as well as, in 1794, "building the first brick house Canada had ever seen" — (Historical Atlas). Belleville's first church was built by Methodists in 1810 and followed in 1820 by a second erected by Anglicans.

Belleville's first newspaper was published in 1832. It, like others before it, had only a brief existence. One of these publications the "Plain Speaker," tried to support the Mackenzie party. The editor Hart was jailed for participatinn in an attempted raid on the bank at Cobourg. One morning a little later, the paper appeared with the British Arms printed up side down. The editor was seized by a mob and dragged through the mud and slush of the streets for deliberately insulting the government. The Sheriff of Hastings County, Moodie, by name, became with his wife, joint editor in another unsuccessful literary venture known as the "Victoria Magazine."

Since the throes of its earlier existence Belleville has steadily grown to be a prosperous, substantial city noted for good business. Added to this is a bright reputation easily won and justly too, for being a gem civic of beauty.

THE MARKETS

Latest Quotations in Grain, Dairy Products, Live Stock, Etc.

CHICAGO, Nov. 18.—Assertions that exporters had already reduced the available wheat supply in the United States to within about 1,000,000 bushels of the total a year ago, had much to do today with giving prices a decided lift. The market closed firm at 7-8c to 1c above last night. Corn gained ¼c to 3-8c net, and oats 3-8c to ½c. In provisions the outcome was 5c to 35c decline.

WINNIPEG GRAIN MARKET.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 18.—The wheat market was erratic during the early hours of today. Wheat prices opened unchanged to ⅝c higher, easing off shortly after to a fraction lower than Tuesday's close, and before noon rallying to high points again. The volume of trading was moderate. During the early part of the day no new sales for export could be located. Prices held steady until the close, which was ⅝c to ⅞c higher for wheat, oats ¼c to ⅝c higher, and flax 1¼c to 1¾c higher.

The cash demand was generally good for all grades of wheat, altho it was somewhat erratic. Certain times of the day there was a keen demand, at others it was slow. Exporters were buying fair quantities, while offerings were limited. Other grains were in fair demand.

MONTREAL GRAIN MARKET.

MONTREAL, Nov. 18.—The improved demand from foreign buyers for Manitoba spring wheat noted yesterday was renewed again today, and as the prices bid in some cases showed a further advance of 3d to 6d per quarter sales of a few loads were made but business on the whole is quiet on account of the limited amount of ocean grain room available from all ports.

The highest rate paid for a full cargo of grain for shipment from this port has been 7s per quarter, which is equivalent to 21c per bushel. There was no change in the condition of the local market for coarse grains, prices being unchanged with a steady trade passing in some lines.

Demand for butter showe no improvement, but there is a fair enquiry for cheese. Eggs are firm under a good demand.

CATTLE MARKETS

UNION STOCK YARDS.

TORONTO, Nov. 18.—Receipts of live stock at the Union Yards were 827 cattle, 1092 hogs, 1604 sheep and lambs and 99 calves.

Butchers' Cattle.

Twenty-two choice steers sold at $7.50; good at $7 to $7.25; medium at $6.50 to $6.75; common at $6 to $6.25; light butchers' heifers at $5.50 to $6.75; choice cows at $6.50 to $6.75; good cows at $6 to $6.25; medium cows at $5.25 to $5.75; canners and cutters at $3.50 to $4.50; bulls at $4.50 to $6.50; and an odd bull of extra quality will sometimes bring $6.75 and $7.

Stockers and Feeders.

Choice feeders at $6.25 to $6.50; good feeders at $6 to $6.25; medium steers at $5.25 to $5.50; stockers at $4 to $5.

Milkers and Springers.

The receipts of milkers and springers were moderate, and prices were steady at $55 to $95, the bulk going between $70 and $85 each. Backward springers are not wanted.

Veal Calves.

Choice calves, $9 to $10; good calves, $8 to $9; medium, $6.50 to $7.50; common, $5 to $6, and inferior eastern grass calves at $3 to $4.50.

Sheep and Lambs.

Sheep, ewes, sold at $5 to $5.75 for light, and heavy ewes at $3.50 to $4; culls at $2 to $3; choice lambs at $7.50 to $7.90; heavy lambs at $6.50 to $7; cull lambs at $5.50 to $6.

Hogs.

Selects fed and watered sold at $7.90; weighed off cars at $8.15, and $7.50 f.o.b. cars.

MONTREAL LIVE STOCK.

MONTREAL, Nov. 18.—At the C. P. R. live stock market there was no actual change in the condition of the market for butchers' cattle today, the feeling being steady owing to the fact that the offerings of such were not in excess of the requirements. There were no choice steers on the market, but as the weather was cold and favorable for keeping stock, the demand for the lower grades of cattle was fair and a few good steers sold at $7, fair at $6.50 to $6.75, medium at $6 to $6.25 and common at $5 to $5.50, while butchers' cows brought from $4 to $6 and bulls from $4.75 to $5 per cwt.

The tone of the market for small meats remains firm owing to the somewhat limited supply coming forward, for which there is good demand, and a fairly active trade was done, with sales of Ontario lambs at Quebec at $7 to $7.50 per cwt., while ewe sheep changed hands at $4.75 to $5, and bucks and culls at $4 to $5.50 per cwt. The demand for calves was good and sales were made at $3 to $10 each, as to size and quality. The tone of the market for hogs was firm, with a good demand for all offerings and sales of selected lots were made at $8.40 to $8.60 per cwt., weighed off cars.

Something He Overlooked.

Judge—You are charged with breaking a chair over your wife's head.

Prisoner—It was an accident, your honor.

Judge—What! Didn't you intend to hit her?

Prisoner—Yes, but I didn't intend to break the chair.—Boston Transcript.

A Refuge in Noise.

A DIPLOMATIC LOVER

SHE vowed she'd never eat again
Till woman got her rights from men,
And I, who loved her deeply, feared
My joy in life had disappeared,
Till haply all my soul was fired
With inspiration most inspired.
I got a tray one summer's day
And on it placed soft clams poulet,
A lobster broiled and muffins sweet,
A filet mignon—tres petite—
New peas and grapefruit mayonnaise,
A pair of cool cafe parfaits,
A camembert so rich and rare
It perfumed all the summer air,
A choice of French patisserie
As dainty as such cakes can be,
A tiny glass of greenest mint,
A nesselrode with marrons in't,
With nuts and maccaroons galore,
The which I carried to her door.
She cried, she sighed, renewed her vow,
Declaimed, proclaimed—but, anyhow,
Gave up the fight, began to eat
The clams, the mignon tres petite,
The camembert so rich and rare
That scented all the summer air,
And so on till my starving queen
Had swept that platter wholly clean!
Prince, really there's no slightest need
Our militants by force to feed
While there are subtler ways discreet
In gentleness to make them eat!
—John Kendrick Bangs in Puck.

His Stock in Trade.

The nervous little man next to the car window sized up the fat man who shared the seat with him and ventured the inquiry:

"How's business?"

"Can't complain," said the other laconically.

"What do you deal in?"

"Mothers-in-law, billygoats, slit skirts, the weather, tramps, stranded actors, candidates, politics and the like."

"Whattye tryin' to do?" snarled the nervous little man. "Tryin' to kid me?"

"Nope," the fat man grinned. "The things I have named in a large measure comprise my stock in trade. You see, my dear sir, I am a professional writer of jokes and anecdotes."—Youngstown Telegram.

Arranging a Demonstration.

"I suppose," said the candidate, "that I can depend on your support?"

"I dunno," replied Farmer Corntossel, in a low tone. "Mirandy an' the two girls are hangin' out o' the window, over the porch, tryin' to hear what we're talkin' about. I want to support you, but you'll make it easier for me if you'll sort o' get agitated as we walk toward the gate an' holler 'Votes for women!' a few times."—Washington Star.

OFFICIAL BULLETINS

PARIS, Nov. 19.—The French War Office issued the following bulletins last night:—

The day has been marked by a very violent and almost uninterrupted cannonade on our front in the north.

In the region of St. Mihiel, the Germans have blown up the west part of Chauvincourt, which they had mined.

There is nothing to report from the other parts of the front.

Yesterday, Nov. 17, passed much as did the day before. There were numerous artillery exchanges and some isolated attacks on the part of the enemy's infantry, all of which were repulsed.

From the North Sea to the Lys, the front was subjected to a fairly active bombardment, particularly at Nieuport and to the east and to the south of Ypres.

Near Bixschoote, the Zouaves, charging with the bayonet, brilliantly took possession of a forest which had been disputed between the enemy and ourselves for three days.

To the south of Ypres an offensive movement on the part of the enemy's infantry was repulsed by our troops. The British army also maintained its front.

From Arras to the Oise there is nothing new to report.

In the region of Craonne, our artillery on several occasions secured the advantage over the batteries of the enemy.

The bombardment of Rheims has continued. From Rheims to the Argonne there is nothing new to report. In the region of St. Mihiel, in spite of counter-attacks by the Germans, we have retained in our possession the western part of the village of Chauvincourt.

In Alsace, the Landwehr battalions, sent into the region of Sainte Marie-aux-Mines, have had to be taken out for the reason that they lost one-half of their effective strength.

T.R. AND A.A. PROTEST AGAINST ST. PATS STILL UNDECIDED

C.A.A.U. Asked to Investigate the Status of Bush — If he is Found Guilty the Game Will be Replayed in Ottawa

Toronto, Nov. 19.—The St. Patrick-T.R. and A.A. protest is still undecided and will not be cleared up until the C.A.A.U. notify the O.R.F.U. whether Bush, of the St. Patrick Club, is a professional or not. Should he be declared a professional, the game between these two teams last Saturday will be thrown out, and the teams ordered to play off in Ottawa, the St. Patrick Club to have the snow removed ten yards back from the touch-line, and the ground properly marked out. President E. McGillivray and Secretary Gall will look after the details of the match.

T.R. and A.A. protested the game on three grounds, but the one regarding grounds was passed along with a censure to the Ottawa Club for not having them properly marked out, etc. The other case, that of Ken Williams not being eligible, was decided on a technicality, through the T.R. and A.A. Club not depositing their required moneys when they made the protest, the morning of the game here on October 31, although their protest was sent in to the president of the union in writing, and therefore it was up to the union to decide whether he was eligible or not.

In the Bush case, affidavits were furnished by T.R. and A.A. stipulating a certain case where Bush had wrestled against a professional, while Bush also furnished an affidavit that he was an amateur in every sense of the word, and with these facts before them, the O.R.F.U. Executive decided to lay the matter before the C.A.A.U. and ask them to have their Quebec branch look into the case of Bush as quickly as possible.

While on the question of professionalism, Mr. J. W. Ryan, of Ottawa, who has been hinting sensational things all night if the Bush charge was gone into, laid the charge that Vivian, of T.R. and A.A., was a professional in as much as he played under an assumed name, something which the O.R.F.U. and C.A.A.U. are well aware of. T.R. and A.A. delegates asked if he had any other charges to make against members of their team, but he declared he had not, just at present.

Following up their work of the Monday meeting, the executive suspended indefinitely, Ingram of the St. Patrick Club, for his unbecoming conduct on the field last Saturday toward the referee, he having thrown the ball at Referee Gordon. The Hamilton Rowing Club-T.R. and A.A. match in Hamilton was brought up, but the Hamilton Rowing Club officers announced they had punished their rowdies and the matter was dropped for the time being.

The junior O.R.F.U. semi-finals and finals were arranged, the winners of the Toronto Senior League to play in London next Wednesday, the visitors to meet the winners of the Galt-Dundas match on the following Saturday. The C.R.U. will be notified that the junior winners will be ready after Nov. 23, while the senior winners will be ready a week from Saturday, although the question of whether Bush is a professional or not can hardly be known this week.

J. Taylor of Kew Beach, who was suspended on Monday night, asked for a hearing in his case, and at the next meeting will be given one, when the referee of the match that he was suspended for will also be asked to be present. In the Kew-Balmy Beach the time for the play-off was changed from 4½ minutes to five minutes, this being the actual difference between the times of the two timekeepers.

CAPTAIN GAGE PROTESTED

McGill Lodges Complaint and Declares he is Ineligible

Toronto, Nov. 19.—It is expected that a ruling will be handed down today by the Rules Committee of the Intercollegiate Football Union in the matter of a complaint lodged by McGill University against Captain Charles Gage of the University of Toronto in which it is alleged that Gage is ineligible to play because of unbecoming conduct on the football field.

The charge arises out of the game here last Saturday between Toronto and McGill. Toward the end of the contest Wollatt of the Red and White and Gage of Toronto became involved in an incipient tilt at fisticuffs. After the game Gage endeavored to get into the McGill dressing-room to offer an apology to Wollatt. Coach Shaughnessy refused to allow Gage to enter the room, but the Toronto captain afterward met Wollatt and they shook hands over their trouble, which was but a trifling incident in the "heat of battle."

GOLF MEETING

The annual meeting of the shareholders of the Peterborough Golf and Country Club will be held on Saturday, Nov. 21st, at 8 p.m., at the Bank of Montreal chambers.

THE FENIAN writer on the Hamilton Herald is more than boosting the stock of the Tigers. The Irish have been disappointed on previous occasions.

"SHAG" is spending a great deal of time teaching the McGill team how to buck. They were always weak on the offensive.

"TY COBB" OF HOCKEY READY FOR THE SEASON

Fred "Cyclone" Taylor Figures Vancouver is About Due to Win Championship

Vancouver, Nov. 19.—Vancouver has been represented in professional hockey for three seasons and has yet to win a championship. There is no one who figures the dope on this angle of the game more closely than Fred W. Taylor, who is perhaps more familiarly known to hockey as "Cyclone," "Listowel Whirlwind," etc.

His specialty is annexing championships, but for the past two seasons his efforts to boost Vancouver to a hockey title have been in vain, although he will make one big effort this season to bring the Pacific Coast hockey title to Vancouver. During leisure moments the other day the "Cyclone" found time to sign a contract for the approaching season and he will be on the lineup when Vancouver opens the season against Victoria here on December 11. Taylor is to ice hockey what Ty Cobb and Christy Mathewson are to baseball.

Open Air Lots.

Born in June, 1885, Taylor started playing hockey on the open-air lots in the east, and when he landed a job with Portage la Prairie in 1905 proved the sensation of the league. Taylor captained the team during that season and his sensational performances attracted the attention of the scouts of the International league, then in business in and around the Soo, and he was signed by the Houghton, Mich., team, playing there for two seasons.

Later he went to Ottawa and it was in the Capital that he played in the most sensational form of his career. In 1910-11 he was with Renfrew, along with Lester and Frank Patrick, the Pacific Coast moguls, and other great stars of the game.

A Big Salary.

After being juggled between two N.H.A. teams three years ago and being kept out of the game because of the desire of two teams to claim his services, Taylor finally made up his mind to come west and after joining the Vancouver club commanded the highest salary paid a hockey player in Canada. He has been with the Terminals for two years, playing a brilliant and effective game and will be on the steel blades in this season's pennant chase.

"We've been after that title for a couple of years and after working on that basis, 'that everything comes to him who waits,' I believe that with a little strengthening on the forward line we will show the fans of Vancouver a real pennant this year," remarked the "Cyclone" during a faning bee last night.

COMMENT

As You Like it

WE CANNOT SAY how well the pencil pushers in Hamilton can warble but we have to give them credit for their composing ability. One individual who is allowed to roam at large has contributed the following selection to be sung with many others at the Tiger-Argos game on Saturday:—

(Tune: Merrily We Roll Along)
We're the Tiger's Rooter's Club,
Rooter's Club, Rooter's Club.
We're the Tiger's Rooter's Club
You'll hear from us today.

HOCKEY MAY be resuscitated in Lindsay this year. The press of that town is endeavoring to arouse interest and urging that an Intermediate and Junior O.H.A. team be put in the field. It's to be hoped that their efforts succeed for Lindsay-Peterboro games were always a big attraction.

"PETE" CAMPBELL IS NEVER IDLE

Local Boy and Geof. Taylor Are Organizing Hockey Teams

Toronto, Nov. 18.—Geoffrey Taylor and Peter Campbell, who are with the Canadian contingent at Salisbury Plains, are firmly of the opinion that "all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy," so with the expectation that they will not leave for the battle front until after Christmas they have set out to organize a hockey team with the idea of playing several games at the Princess Rink in London, Eng. Taylor and Campbell, who were always mixed up with sport at Varsity, are both lieutenants in the 48th Highlanders, and Taylor, who attended Oxford, has been selected as the manager. They hunted through the camp, and in a letter, Campbell states that they have lined up the following team, and expect to arrange fixtures with Oxford and Cambridge. For the position of goal they have two candidates, Daniels, who did good work for Queens, and Blackstock, who played with R.M.C. and Varsity. At point they will have Jack Galt, an ex-R.M.C., who also played with the Winnipeg Victorias a few years ago. Cover point position will be looked after by Al Adamson, one of the crack players of Winnipeg, while Jack Aldous, also a crack Western player, will be at rover. Campbell will play center, a position he held at Varsity, while for right and left wing they have two stars, who should make even an Englishman sit up and take notice. At right will be found big, good-natured "Scotty" Davidson, the man who did so much to bring the Stanley cup to Toronto last year, while "Harry" Baker, the Winnipeg Victoria player, who surprised Toronto hockey followers with his great speed a year ago, will be at left. "Buck" Pearce, the big Varsity hockey and rugby player, is also available, along with Alex. Patterson, of R.M.C. and Montreal Vics. "It is some team," to quote Manager Taylor, and while they have little time to practice they will probably make Oxford and Cambridge wonder what happened if the games are arranged.

THE T.R. AND A.A. protest was entered on the grounds that Bush the St. Pat's player has figured in pro. wrestling bouts. Investigation reveals the fact that he is alleged to have wrestled against John Kilonis. This Kilonis is the big Greek who performed in Peterboro with Washburn's Shows challenging anyone in the city and who bit the dust before Gene Hurtubise. It is often the case that travelling wrestling artists are recognized pros and should an amateur compete against one of them the amateur automatically professionalizes himself. While Kilonis was in this city a well known local hockey player desired to go on with him but the net custodian was given a friendly tip. If he had turned the deaf ear to the tip he might have earned two or three dollars and been barred from amateur sport for good. Men in athletics with their amateur cards cannot be too careful.

SAM LICHTENHEIN of the Montreal Baseball Club added a little to his worries yesterday. He purchased all the stock of the club from Gordon Cushing and E. R. Carrington, the other two stock holders. As soon as the sale was made his two pals started talking Federal League prospects. With bucking the Feds. in summer and the new hockey league in winter the popular (?) Sammy will have a pleasant life.

CONSIDERABLE INTEREST is being demonstrated in the Y.M.C.A. Bowling League. Mr. Bishop of the C.G.E. Engineers scored 195 in the last of three games played last evening. All were won by the C.G.E. team from the Belmont Club.

ANOTHER WIN FOR VETERANS

Excelsiors Were Three Behind at the Finish

The veterans again showed the large crowd that lined the gallery in the Y.M.C.A. last night that they still have lots of steam left. The score was 12-9. It was by far the fastest game in the league for the Cressman trophy. The teams were very evenly matched and it was very hard before the game started to pick the winner. The veterans have had more experience. However, the dope was that what the Excelsiors lacked in cunning they would make up for in speed, and their hopes were built on playing a fast passing game and keeping away from their opponents. However, the old boys were too wsie, and they guarded so closely that the youngsters were covered all the time and didn't get a chance to get away. They were only one short of making as many goals from the floor as the Vets, but they were not as fortunate in their shots from the foul line. They missed enough tallies of this kind to win the game. The Excelsiors have the makings of a fast team and they will be heard from as they are a team that the best will have to reckon with in order to trim them. The Veterans have won both their games and look good for a hard chase after first place. Captain Dobbin did most of the scoring for his team with 8 points to his credit, while Best followed with four. The rest of the team were content with keeping their opponents from scoring.

Knapman succeeded in scoring two baskets for the Excelsiors, while Darling got one. Hamilton scored two points on fouls and Long one.

The lineups:—

Veterans: r.f. Dobbin, l.f. Robertson, c. Best, r.g. McCarrell, l.g. Campbell.

Excelsiors: r.f. Knapman, l.f. Long, c. Stuart, r.g. Hamilton, l.g. Darling.

Referee: Carson.

There is a double header on Saturday night when the Bankers will meet the Dread-Nots, and Pirates vs. St. Pauls. These should both be good games. The general public are invited. No charge.

PETERBORO WILL NOT DROP OUT

Canadian League Team in This City Next Season

A meeting of the stock holders of the Peterborough Canadian League Baseball Club was held last evening and from information given out this morning prospects are very bright for a Canadian League team in this city next season. President Denham stated today that the local club would welcome the proposition of the league going back to Class C. which would mean a big reduction in salaries. He gave every assurance that Peterboro would be represented in Fitz's league next season.

BOWLING

JOHNSTON—DOWNER.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Downer, Auburn, Wednesday afternoon when their eldest daughter Alice Matilda, was united in marriage to Mr. Ernest John Johnston, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Johnston, Chandos. The ceremony was performed under a bridal arch by the Rev. R. G. Peever of George Street Methodist Church. The bride who was given away by her father, looked charming in a gown of white embroidered pointe de sprite and prettily trimmed with pale blue satin folds, and wore the usual bridal veil with a wreath of lillies of the valley. She carried a bouquet of white carnations.

The bridesmaid, Miss Florence Downer, sister of the bride, wore a gown of pink satin with a tunic of ninion embroidered in silver, and carried a bouquet of pink carnations. The groom was assisted by his brother, William Johnston.

After the ceremony the sixty-five guests adjourned to the dining room where they partook of the wedding repast. The bride received many beautiful and costly presents, showing the esteem in which she was held. After a short stay in Peterboro, Mr. and Mrs. Johnston will reside at Sunnydale Farm, Chandos.

Mr. S. Koch of Guelph is here on a business trip.

Mr. E. A. Punch of New York City is at the Empress.

J. H. Meade of Montreal is in the city.

Mr. F. Hughes of Toronto is here for a few days.

Mr. F. C. Bennett of Toronto is a guest at the White House.

Mr. L. Madge of Toronto is holidaying here.

Mr. J. Sehrt of Galt is visiting in the city with friends.

Messrs. J. F. Henry, C. F. Jinks and E. L. Avery of Boston, Mass., are visiting in the city.

On Friday afternoon Mrs. R. Gilddon, Mrs. J. C. Davidson and Mrs. A. F. Tomlins will have charge of the Tea Rooms at the Oriental, where refreshments are being served every afternoon and evening of this week under the auspices of the Daughters of the Empire.

Dr. R. H. Bonnycastle, who has received the appointment of provisional lieutenant in the Army Medical Corps, expects to go to Kingston to take a training course preparatory to taking the examination required for a lieutenancy. The doctor will not be away permanently but will be at home a part of the time. He hopes to receive an appointment with the second Canadian contingent.—Campbellford Herald.

In select United States and British circles the fancy dance such as the Hesitation, Sensation, Venus, Maxixe and Potato-face are not now danced at all. For a time it looked as if they would break into the "upper circles" but their opponents reintroduced the matchless Mazurka which quickly put the fads to flight. Anything "new" that staid people are supposed not to approve of is what many people see. "Young things" want to dance, especially if it annoys Miss Propriety. The Mazurka alike the Russian dances are grace personified and even hold away abroad. It is gratifying to know that they are coming to the rescue of the two-step and the waltz. For a romp without vulgarity the Polka still reigns supreme. In Peterborough this winter the Mazurka will be danced a great deal no doubt.

KID-GLOVE WARFARE NOT FOR LORD FISHER

First Sea Lord a Man of Iron Will and Inflexible Purpose —Gave Britain a Real Navy.

More than to any other man, the present efficiency of the Brittish navy is due to Baron Fisher, the First Sea Lord who succeeded Prince Louis of Battenberg in that high post. He planned the ships, he trained the officers, he inspired the strategy which is now holding command of the North Sea.

For a man who has done so much he is curiously unknown to his fellow countrymen. Entering the navy at 13, he did good service like many another officer, but attracted attention almost exclusively from his superiors. His great opportunity did not come until he was over 60. Then came a day when there was offered to him the highest prize of a sailor's ambition in time of peace—the position of First Sea Lord.

But even that honor he would only take on terms. He carried in his brain a full scheme of reorganization. He believed the training and the distribution of the navy to be perilously out of date. He had watched the change from wooden walls to iron citadels packed with tremendous and exquisite machinery. Yet there had been no fundamental change since Nelson's time in the method of training officers for their profession.

Made a Clean Sweep

Sir John Fisher—as he was then; his creation as first Baron Fisher of Kilverstone dates from 1909—clearly stated his intentions. They were approved. He went into the Admiralty to carry them out. His activities were revolutionary though constructive. He was denounced for the sheer daring and resolution of the changes he introduced.

At Osborne he trained the officers of to-day to handle the grim machines which have superseded forever the old vision of masts and sails. He vastly increased efficiency while reducing expense. He struck out of the estimates every penny which did not yield real fighting value. He mercilessly scrapped scores of weak vessels that could neither attack nor run. He transferred the men to real fighting ships. He created with the inspiration of nothing less than genius the system of nucleus crews, by which every ship in the reserve could be mobilized for war in a few hours. Above all, he swung the whole fleet, as it were, clean round to face the tasks of the future.

He recognized that in the twentieth century as in the seventeenth, the British Empire would be saved or lost not in the Mediterranean but in the North Sea. Quietly he massed British strength in the narrow seas, until, in Admiral Mahan's words, "86 per cent. of the Brittish battleship strength was concentrated in or near home waters."

Keeps His Own Counsel

All his life he has been a hard worker, and he was untiring at the Admiralty. He was constantly planning and preparing for the war which has now come, and when the storm broke the men and ships of England were, thanks to his work of organization, as ready for war as the German soldiers were. His knowledge of naval affairs was all-embracing. He knew where each ship was and all about it, whether the commander was a good officer, whether he drank, whether he was a fop, whether he was liked by his crew—in fact, everything about him.

To this encyclopædic knowledge is joined the faculty of prompt action and utter fearlessness. He proved his courage over and over again in the Crimean war, the China war of 1859-60, and the bombardment of Alexandria.

There is a foolish story to the effect that his mother was a Cingalese woman of high rank, but Lord Fisher squelched the story years ago by quietly producing the authentic facts of his birth. He is the son of Capt. William Fisher, Seventy-eighth Highlanders, and Sophia Lambe, daughter of a London merchant. The only truth in the Ceylon story is that he was born on that island, where his father was serving.

He holds the opinion that humane warfare is both foolish and cruel and he advanced that opinion at the Hague conference with, consummate skill.

"When you have to wring a chicken's neck," he said, "all you think about is wringing it quickly. You don't give the chicken intervals for refreshment and recuperation. It should be the same with warfare."

Lord Fisher has a bitter hatred of submarine vessels, and years ago was quoted as saying that if he caught the crew of a hostile submarine in time of war he would string them up to the yardarm, even if he had to face a court-martial afterward.

Change of Doctors.

"Oh, yes," she remarked in reply to her incredulous friend's question. "I changed doctors quite a long time ago, before last Christmas, in fact."

"But I thought you had such confidence in Dr. Healem?"

"Oh, so I did. But he's getting so frightfully old fashioned, you know; doesn't move with the times and that sort of thing at all. Perhaps you remember me telling you how terribly I felt the cold last winter?"

"Yes."

"Well, I went to Dr. Healem about it, and he told me to wear flannel. Flannel, if you please!"

"Yes."

"So I went to Dr. Nicely. He suggested sealskin!"—Tacoma Tribune.

English Feminist's Views of Marriage

Thinks Young People Should Live in Same House for a Time to Study Each Other

Mrs. Havelock Ellis, one of the foremost feminists of the world, and author of "Kits Woman," "Three Modern Seers" and "The Imperishable Wing," is very incidentally the wife of the famous investigator of "The Psychology of Sex." She has been married to Havelock Ellis for twenty-three years and the union of these celebrated persons is regarded by those who know them as the strongest possible argument for the permanence of romantic love.

An interesting detail of their domestic life is that Mrs. Ellis has a cottage of her own in Cornwall while Mr. Ellis maintains a flat for himself in London, so that the most devoted married couple on earth do not really live together in the sense that most married persons do.

"There are weeks when we do not even see each other," Mrs. Ellis confided to an interviewer. "I cannot imagine that two persons can live together 365 days of the year for a lifetime without becoming horribly bored. If I had never been separated from my husband I feel sure that I could not write him the romantic love letters that I do."

MRS. HAVELOCK ELLIS

"What do you consider the most important demand of the woman movement?" was asked.

"The economic independence of women," she replied. "Until love is freed from the obligation of support no man can know that he is loved for himself, no woman can be sure of the disinterestedness of her affections. I believe, of course, that every man should support his child up to the age of 21.

"But love must be freed from commercialism. And in order to do this we shall have to try many experiments. One of the experiments I propose I call a novitiate of marriage. I don't use the expression novitiate as equivalent to trial marriage. If two people were to inhabit the same house, the man living with the girl's family for only a year, it would be impossible to conceal small habits, peculiarities and moods which sometimes play as great havoc with marriage as vice itself. Such an experiment, a novitiate for marriage, would tend to diminish the magnetic attraction between a man and a woman which hypnotizes their reason."

Byways of Knowledge.

The following definitions taken from school examination papers are examples of those school mistakes where one can see traces of the right idea without definite form in the writer's brain:

"The base of a triangle is the side which we don't talk about."

"The subjunctive mood is used in a doubtful manner."

"Rapids are pieces of water which run with great force down the middle of rivers."

"Excommunication means that no one is to speak to some one."—Christian Register.

NEW TELEGRAPH SYSTEM TO SERVE CITIES OF WESTERN CANADA

The announcement is made this morning that the work of wiring the new territory opened up by the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway has now been completed, and a number of young cities in British Columbia are enjoying for the first time a commercial telegraph service with the East.

Winnipeg and Prince Rupert are by this means placed in direct telegraphic touch. The first message carried over the wires was sent by the mayor of the Pacific coast city to the mayor of Winnipeg, and expressed the satisfaction felt in the West at the inauguration of complete telegraphic facilities, which are expected to give a new impetus to business.

Mayor Newton's message was as follows:

"His Worship the Mayor,
Winnipeg, Man.:

The city of Prince Rupert, B. C., through me, as mayor, sends greetings on the inauguration of the Grand Trunk Pacific telegraph service from this city to Winnipeg. Prince Rupert views this connection as the most important step towards more closely binding this province with this northern part of the Dominion, more particularly coming, as it does, at such an important crisis in the history of our Empire, when it is so important that all Canada should act as a unit.

S. M. Newton, Mayor."

This message was filed at Prince Rupert at 10.10 a.m., central time, was received at Winnipeg at 10.15 a.m., central time, and was delivered to the mayor at 10.25 a.m.

Mayor Deacon's reply was as follows:

"S. M. Newton, Mayor,
Prince Rupert, B. C.:

The city of Winnipeg heartily reciprocates your kind greetings on the inauguration of the Grand Trunk Pacific telegraph service and trusts that this may lead to the opening of a great volume of new traffic between the Pacific Coast and the Orient and our own city, and that the completion of this new great highway of commerce may lead to the early development, not only of the interior of northern British Columbia, but to the prosperity of all Canada and to the advantage of the Empire at large.

T. R. Deacon, Mayor."

This acknowledgment was filed at Winnipeg at 11.03 a.m. and was delivered in Prince Rupert, 1,279 miles distant, twelve minutes later, — an indication of the quality of the service given on Canada's new telegraphic system.

BAD WEATHER AT THE FRONT

Three Vigorous Attacks by German Infantry in the Argonne Have Been Repulsed — Intense Artillery Fire South of Ypres

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

PARIS, Nov. 20. — The official communication this afternoon says that yesterday there were hardly any infantry attacks on the part of the enemy, and their artillery activity also was largely reduced.

To the north the weather has been very bad, snow having fallen, and all the region of the Yser Canal to the east of Dixmude is invaded by water. In front of Ramscapelle we have withdrawn from the water two 16.5 centimetre mortars abandoned by the Germans. There has been intense artillery fire to the south of Ypres.

On the centre there have been no important actions to report.

In the Argonne, three vigorous attacks on the part of the enemy's infantry have been repulsed.

On our right wing the Germans have reoccupied the destroyed section of Chauvoncourt. Further to the east we have made some progress.

EXPORTATION OF TEA PROHIBITED.

LONDON, Nov. 20. — Great Britain today prohibited the exportation of tea to all continental ports except those of countries of the Allies and of Spain and Portugal. This prohibition is due to indications that Germany is receiving large supplies of tea through the Netherlands.

GERMAN LOSSES PLACED AT 1,250,000.

LONDON, Nov. 20. — A News despatch says Berlin military circles now estimate German army losses at a million and a quarter in killed, wounded and missing, not to mention half a million sick. Nine hundred and eighty thousand names have been published in casualty lists.

LONDON, Nov. 20. — The House of Commons today formally passed the supplementary estimates providing for an additional army of one million men.

LINER SUNK IN PERSIAN GULF

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

LONDON, Nov. 20. — The Daily News states that the Hamburg-American liner Ekbatana has been sunk in the Persian Gulf. There are no details of how this was accomplished. The Ekbatana was last reported as having arrived at Bussorah, Asiatic Turkey, early in August.

WINTER STOPS FIGHTING

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

BRUGES, Nov. 20. — Quiet reigns in West Flanders. The sudden and violent coming of winter has caused a suspension of hostilities. In this weather, armies are compelled to live in devastated territory where there are no houses to give shelter or warmth. Physical numbness, not military exhaustion, has caused a temporary lull in battle.

GOVERNMENT HAS WHEAT OPTION

MELBOURNE, Nov. 20. — A novel step is about to be taken by the Government of South Wales, with a view to preventing any cornering of the wheat supplies. The Prime Minister announced that he proposed to introduce a bill immediately giving the Government full power to purchase the whole ensuing wheat crop of the country at five shillings a bushel. STIFF FINES FOR ASSAULT

Men Who Assaulted Jew Are Assessed $57.90

Swanson and Lundgren, the two men charged with assaulting the proprietor of a second hand store, were fined $40 and costs in police court this morning. The fine and costs in each case amounted to $57.90. They paid.

Magistrate Dumble in his judgment found that the two wounds which the two men had were inflicted by the same instrument as they were identical in comparison. From evidence it was proved beyond doubt, that this stove lifter was in the hands of Swansen, and that Lundgren had received his wound in the melee. The Magistrate maintained that the two men went in to see this Jew with the intentions of doing him harm.

WATER IN MILK FINES OF $40

In police court this morning, Marcus Post, Edward Flemming and Jas. Ferguson, were each fined $40 for supplying cheese factories with deteriorated milk.

R. W. Ward, government inspector, gave evidence for the prosecution.

Marcus Post was charged with supplying deteriorated milk to Killarney cheese factory in Dummer.

R. W. Ward, government inspector, sworn, stated that his tests showed that cream was removed and water added. He told of going to Mr. Post's house, and his wife admitting that she had dipped down, not too deep, and had taken milk out of the can. Mr. Post said he was innocent of any wrong doing and also that he knew nothing whatever about the matter.

Edward Flemming was charged with supplying Ormonde cheese factory in Asphodel with poor milk. He told of his daughter dumping milk into a pail which contained eighteen pounds of water. He claimed it was a mistake and was done without his knowledge.

Jas. Ferguson supplied milk to the Killarney factory.

He said that his milk had been ruined by some hard friends he had.

QUARANTINE IS LIFTED

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 20.— The quarantine against cattle shipments from Canada to the United States, imposed to prevent return of infected cattle cars, was lifted today by the department of agriculture.

GEN. HUGHES' STATEMENT

Pointed out to Gen. Lessard That Test Mobilization Was Dangerous

Unless People Were Notified — Left Toronto With That Understanding

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

OTTAWA, Nov. 20. — Major-General Hughes today issued a statement in connection with the Toronto incident, pointing out that his understanding with General Lessard in regard to mobilization was not fulfilled.

The Minister says that when in Toronto on Monday he heard that plans were in progress for a test mobilization on the following day, and that he went out to the Fair Grounds where General Lessard was in conference with the city controllers. He privately informed General Lessard that he believed such a course was dangerous, unless the public was notified through the press, and says he left with that understanding.

On reaching Ottawa he learned of the unauthorized mobilization without notice, and that the city had been thrown into great confusion and many persons badly frightened.

General Hughes says it would appear that his orders were defied or that General Lessard was carried away by excitement. He regretted that the incident had arisen.

GLASGOW MUST HASTEN REPAIRS

RIO JANEIRO, Brazil, Nov. 20.— British cruiser Glasgow, which arrived here Nov. 17 to repair the damages sustained in the naval battle of the Chilean coast Nov. 1 has obtained permission from the Brazilian Government to enter drydock and to receive the most urgent repairs. The repairs must be completed within seven days and at the expiration of that time the vessel will immediately sail for the high seas.

The Glasgow has five holes in her hull made by shells in the battle and four sailors were wounded.

No Conscription For Ireland.

LONDON, Nov. 20.—The Government has no intention of attempting conscription in Ireland.

In the House of Commons yesterday Premier Asquith denied there was a plan to apply for such conscription. His statement was made in reply to a question from John Redmond.

DEPUTATION RETURNS.

The deputation from the County Council composed of Councillors Dr. Kindred, B. W. Squire, H. G. Fitzgerald, W. G. Howden and A. Wild which was in Ottawa conferring with Hon. Frank Cochrane, Minister of Railways and Canals in connection with the Buckhorn Bridge, returned yesterday.

CANADIAN LESSONS NOW

Presbyterians Abolish the "Spreadeagle" Variety From Sunday Schools

TORONTO, Nov. 20. — Canadian Presbyterians yesterday issued their declaration of independence of too much George Washingtonism and Yankeeism in the international Sunday School lessons by publishing, under direction of the general assembly's Sunday School committee, a Canadian Sunday School lesson series. The editor, Dr. Fraser, said yesterday: "You will find nothing un-British in them," as he handed over a complete set of the new lessons.

In addition to the advantages of a distinctive British series, the lessons have the imprinted feature of a complete lesson for each grade according to age.

Six years ago the international lesson committee published a tentative outline for a graded series, but did not follow it up.

Tired of waiting, also animated by a desire for a distinctly British series, the general assembly authorised the series now being made public.

DAIRY MEETINGS WELL ATTENDED

Representatives of Factories Heard Fine Addresses

The annual district dairy meeting of the County of Peterborough was held yesterday afternoon in Westwood under the auspices of the Provincial Department of Agriculture and the Dairymen's Association of Eastern Ontario. The meeting was the greatest success, due to excellent speeches and a good representation of the factories. A few years ago the meeting was held in Peterborough, but the farmers did not attend very readily, and the idea arose of having the meeting held in the centre of a farming community. Last year the meeting at Norwood was quite successful, but this year at Westwood all records were broken.

G. A. Gillespie, M. L. A., director for the district, occupied the chair, and in his opening remarks made reference to the decrease in the amount of butter and cheese made in this district for the past five years, and suggested that the time would come when the farmers would have to meet it face to face, and come back to the old-time products. With farm help plentiful and exceedingly high prices on account of the war, it is time to cease talking and get right down to work.

H. W. Coleman, superintendent of cow testing in Ontario,, and L. A. Zufelt, superintendent of the Dairy School at Kingston, also addressed the meeting. At the close, Mr. Gil-

HOME GUARD ON PARADE

More Than Four Hundred Men Attend Drill and First March-out is Held --- Enrolment Shows Steady Growth

Over four hundred men from all walks in life, forgot other engagements last night, and, as members of the Home Guard, attended drill instruction at the armouries. There were preachers, doctors, bankers, heads of manufacturing concerns, mechanics and the man in the blue overalls. They were all there. The Mayor of the city also made it a point to be present, although civic business prevented him participating in the drill instruction and parade.

It was a novel sight. Quite a large number of spectators applauded the men as they formed fours, and marched up and down the armouries. Undoubtedly, the rally last night will give an impetus to enrolment.

Thirty employes of the Radial Railway were on hand and made a good showing. This is about half the number the company is able to muster. Many of the employes were on duty. The company's manager and members of the office staff were out.

The C.G.E. men had a large turnout of 160 men and were given some preliminary work by Instructor Charles Peters. The men are particularly fortunate in being able to command the services of Mr. Peters. Superintendent Patterson followed up his appeal to the men by personally attending the rally and taking part in the parade.

Organization for Instruction.

When all the details for drill and shooting are completed, the instruction will be carried out in a thorough manner.

The men will be placed in companies, in charge of officers and in this way, organization will be perfected. The officers will round up their men for instruction, the organization being similar to that of the regiment. This will take some time and in the meantime, citizens who contemplate joining the Civilian Rifle Association, should do so at once.

Rifle Association and Home Guard are synonomous. The fact that the C.G.E. is forming three companies, does not mean that a new department of defence is being formed. When organization is completed, all the men will constitute the Home Guard and will act under their respective officers.

Targets in Church Building.

Negotiations are in progress for the use of the building, formerly used as a church by the Murray Street Baptists. This building would be fitted with targets and used for instruction in shooting.

Members of hunting clubs in the city, are rounding up their members and hope to have a good representation in the movement. The De Laval Company have thirty or more members, the Retail Merchants will do their share to boost the strength and the majority of the school teachers will also be on the firing line. In fact every department of city life is taking active part, and in the near future, Peterboro will have a Home Guard that will be worthy of the city.

Maple Leaf Band Led the Way.

The Maple Leaf Band played at the armouries and headed the parade. It's a Long, Long Way to Tipperary was played during the marchout, and sung by the men behind.

MERCHANTS TO JOIN THE HOME GUARD

Retailers Will Have Large Representation From Their Ranks

Peterborough's home guard will have another detachment added without delay. The retail merchants last evening at a general meeting unanimously agreed to learn to shoot and decided to amalgamate with the home guard immediately. A sheet of paper was circulated and not a man held back. A further canvass will be made by a specially appointed committee and every retailer is expected to affix his signature to it.

Great enthusiasm in the project was manifested. No action was taken on the report of the committee of assessment, which was presented and discussed at considerable length.

Mr. Thomas Barrie, president of the association, was disinclined to advance any information as to the probable course of the committee who have this matter in hand.

"I don't think it would be wise to give out anything just now," he said. "We may have something for you later."

Another matter discussed was the appointment of a successor to N. C. Cameron, former secretary of the association, who has left the city for the Maritime provinces. It was left in the hands of a committee to find a successor.

HOME GUARD

Canadian General Electric Co. Companies 1, 2, 3 and 4 will parade at the Armouries for drill and rifle practice Saturday afternoon at two o'clock, Nov. 21st.

By Order,
R. E. LAYFIELD,
Captain.

PETERBOROUGH, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 20, 1914

GEN. HUGHES AND GEN. LESSARD.

THE TORONTO TELEGRAM, which usually manages to direct vigorous criticism at a vulnerable point, was singularly intemperate in its remarks concerning Gen. Hughes and Gen. Lessard, and hence its criticism, or rather apology for Gen. Lessard. like a good many German shells, fell short. To say the mobilization order given in Toronto on a fake announcement that 3,000 Germans had invaded Canada at Windsor was due to an excess of zeal, is merely saying in a mild form that the officer giving that command committed a serious error of judgement, or made exactly the very mistake that an officer should not make. Men are given positions of command for their capacity to judge correctly. We maintain the seriousness of the position in which Canada is placed is so great that nothing humorous should be attempted, especially by a commanding officer of home forces. So far, the cause of Britain and the Allies has procedeed, we may say, fairly well. Germany has been prevented from doing what she planned to do. But, if Germany won one important battle, that would indicate, even in a small way, that German arms would eventually succeed in this war, Canada. aside from feeling the weight of the Kaiser's hand, would offer an exceptionally favourable field for just such an exploit as was the trumped-up cause of the mobilization in Toronto. Supposing that an invasion should happen, what would the members of the Home Guard think when the cause of their mobilization had previously been made a joke. They would say, "There is no truth in this rumor — just another yarn to call us out," and would likely not assemble.

However, there is something in favour of the Telegram's position. While it is generally recognized that General Hughes is a good soldier and an able man, yet it appears that he has been injudicious in many of his speeches. In criticizing high military or civil officers, regard for the position they occupy should be had by reprimanding them diplomatically. Gen. Hughes is not a smooth, distinguished diplomat, but. soldier-like, hits straight from the shoulder, and the blow, while possibly deserved, is too heavy for the cause. If General Hughes exercised a little more reserve and criticized less directly and not quite so keenly, his good qualities would appear to better advantage and his purposes would also be attained with much less friction and resentment.

WILL THE EXAMINER SQUARE ITSELF!

CONSERVATIVES of this locality, while never believing the yarn that the Examiner used concerning the Hon. Robert Rogers' recent trip to New York, have no doubt read the letter to Mr. Burnham, appearing in a recent issue of the Review, in which the fabrication is emphatically denied by the minister. Mr. Burnham lets the Examiner down too easily. That paper was only too hungry for some fabrication concerning the Conservative Government at Ottawa, and utilized this false statement with an avidiousness that betrays the innocence to which their use of the story is attributed.

However, the important point just now is that the Examiner has had ample opportunity to take back the insinuations, it made concerning the Hon. Robert Rogers. This it has omitted to do, which can leave only the impression that it wishes to persist in falsehood or misrepresentation. The Hon. Robert Rogers has denied the allegations, and yet the Examiner has made no effort to correct a false impression to which it gave emphasis and authority among its boasted number of readers.

SILK BANK NOTES.

SCIENCE is making it harder every day for smart artists to make money. While many people are allowed to acquire money, and while some people in Peterborough have rounded up a nice substantial pile, few have succeeded in making money and getting away with it. Now it is proposed to have bank notes made of silk, not because we demand more costly notes, but because they are harder to counterfeit than paper notes.

Bank notes made of silk of a particular shade that will baffle the bank note forger are now possible. As is known, most of the expert bank note forgers use photography to obtain their best results; but a recent invention makes it possible to manufacture silk of a particular shade that cannot possibly be photographed.

Discovered by a woman, this invention is a new process for water-proofing fabrics without rubber and dyeing them in the same operation. Linen, cotton or other materials to be treated by this process are placed white into one end of the machine and brought out at the other end a few minutes later coloured, water-proofed and dry. Fabrics so produced, the inventor maintains, can be used in hundreds of trades, from aeroplane building to bank-note making.

THE DEADLY FOOT-AND-MOUTH DISEASE.

THE IMPORTANCE of keeping live stock in clean, sanitary surroundings is well illustrated by the outbreak of the deadly foot-and-mouth disease in the United States. Usually such cattle plagues are the result of carelessness or a false economy that goes on the principle that an animal can live on anything and in any kind of a place. When thousands and thousands of dollars are lost by disease, the farmers realize that the sanitary and scientific way is the best, safest, and cheapest, but then it is too late to prevent the waste of disease. The Christian Guardian has an interesting paragraph relating to this subject:

> "It is not enough that this continent is face to face with a most serious cattle shortage. but that shortage threatens to become much more pronounced unless the United States Department of Agriculture is able to stamp out speedily the worst outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease which the republic has ever known. The situation is so serious that the Chicago Union Stock Yards, the largest cattle market in the world, which has been in continuous business for nearly fifty years, was ordered closed on November 6th, for a period of ten days. The epidemic is spread over a wide range of country, and no less than six great States have been quarantined, viz., New York, Maryland, Indiana, Michigan, Illinois and Pennsylvania, and it is possible that others may be added to the list. The last outbreak was in 1908, and it cost nearly $300,000 to suppress it, while in addition to this the loss to dairy and stock raisers was heavy. The present outbreak seems traceable to the vicinity of Niles, Michigan. The disease, while not so fatal as some others, is very infectious, and man himself is readily subject to it. The only effective way of dealing with it is by rigid quarantine. No doubt the present outbreak will soon be brought under control.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

THIRTY TONS of books, consisting of 60,000 volumes, have been received at Salisbury Camp for the use of the Canadians. Magazines are coming in by the carload, and the chaplains have charge of the library. It is not stated in the news items just how successful the attack on these books has been, whether the troops have been turned loose among them or whether they will be used in fortifications against the Germans.

IT SHOULD not be forgotten that the super-dreadnought Audacious was sunk by a mine off the Irish coast where they thought there were no mines, and right in the path of commerce. Neutral ships run just as much danger as the British battleship in that locality.

TORONTO certainly got huffy over Major-General Sam Hughes' speech. When the general advised them to get shot-guns instead of Winchesters. doubtless because of the noise they make, he hit the mark so well that we are not surprised at the uproar.

THE CITY COUNCIL of Toronto has appropriated $100,000 for military purposes. The Toronto papers have not yet announced whether Toronto will pay Britain's war expenses, amounting to a few paltry billions.

PETERBOROUGH is undoubtedly a fine-looking city, but its vanity is not at all puffed up because it ranks with Moneratl and Quebec in the C. P. R. time-table.

WE ARE at a loss to know what Montreal would do if it did not have its precious Tramways case to talk about.

KEEP FIFTY THOUSAND DOLLARS in mind for Peterborough's Patriotic Fund.

WHEN IT COMES to saving the Empire, leave it to Toronto.

Charities and Newspapers.

(Windsor Record.)

E. A. Moore, representing the State Charities Aid Association of New York, told a charities conference at Philadelphia recently that the newspapers never get a square deal from the uplift organizations, which regularly prey on them for help and material support far greater than is obtainable elsewhere.

Mr. Moore suggested that instead of attempting to filch away, for free use, the valuable space which is the breath of life to a newspaper, charity propagandists should follow the saner, fairer and more efficient methods of business houses and pay for their advertising.

The address was delivered before the first North Atlantic tuberculosis conference. Delegates representing seven of the Eastern States were there to consider ways and means for the obtaining of funds for the general work of the National Association for the Prevention of Tuberculosis.

"We," said Mr. Moore, speaking of those engaged in the various branches of organised charity, "do not ask the stationer to contribute the paper we use. We do not ask the owners of the buildings we occupy to contribute our quarters. But we do ask the newspapers to do the equivalent by giving us space which is money to them.

"Buy space. Advertise your work as business houses do, and you will get the best publicity in the world, and you will ease a little of the resentment that the newspapers are beginning to feel for you. If you do anything worth a picayune the newspapers will print it as news and without your solicitation.

"I have seen city editors receive each morning high stacks of 'publicity matter' which countless organizations want them to print for nothing. It is not fair. All sorts of propagandists are flooding the editors with their matter, and they wonder why it is not printed. The newspapers cannot afford to print it. And again it is not news. We have adopted another method in New York. This year we will print 118 half-page newspaper advertisements. We will get into the news columns only when we do something that is news."

Mr. Moore concluded by saying that even under the arrangements which he suggested newspapers would still be doing an incalculable service for the work of charity by opening their news columns to the legitimate accounts of various activities.

As Useful as a Bunion.

A good deal of talk about this war is about as useful as a bunion in the army.

SENSE OF HUMOR GOES WELL AT THE FRONT

With Shrapnel Falling and Screeching Round all Day

Corporal "Wally," of Southend, now attached to the —— Supply Column of the British Army, is the life and soul of our little camp on the fringe of a wood, writes a man at at front.

It is a good thing to have a man with a never-failing sense of humor in such a place as this, with German "coal boxes" and shrapnel falling and screeching round all day.

The German aeroplanes which buzz round every few minutes at an immense height, continually send out puffs of smoke when they pass over our camp—the signal for their artillerymen to direct their fire in this quarter.

Some of the "coal boxes" come down in the adjoining field and they played havoc with the mangold wurzels.

To a peaceable, home-loving Englishman taking afternoon tea with the Supply Column, that pause after the Taube has given the signal, is full of dramatic and momentous possibilities.

One waits expectantly—the soldiers are used to it, and go with their duties as if they were in barracks in Aldershot.

"If you're going to be hit you will be hit—it's just fate," said one Tommy, philosophically.

And then — a column of black smoke in a wood half a mile away, a cloud of dust and stones, and a second or two later—boom !!! a crash like a clap of thunder which echoes and rumbles round the hills for a radius of at least fifteen miles.

Another column of smoke, near the road this time, and the road which creeps like a white ribbon over the green hill in the direction of the enemy. The shell ploughs up a huge hole big enough to bury a motor omnibus.

As twilight fell there was a sudden hush of all the guns—British, French and German. They were quiet for about half an hour, and then, fitfully, they began again.

In the mist which had spread over the field our men of the Supply Column, ghostly, indistinct figures, could be seen getting ready their horses and wagons for the perilous journey up to the trenches.

The cheery "Wally" was in front.

He went out with the Supply Column a few days ago and a "coal box" came down right in the middle of the wagons, killing two men, wounding five and killing five horses. He escaped without a scratch.

When the column returned some hours later there was a hot supper for the men and a toasting fire for them to sit round. Now is the witching hour of the soldier's life at the front.

"Tell us the story of how you became a costermonger, Wally," clamored the men.

Corporal "Wally," told his story at length. "I lost my job," he said, "and I couldn't think what profession to take up. Suddenly I had an idea—I was near Billingsgate Market, and I went in and bought a couple of boxes of kippers.

"Then I walked for miles through the East End, calling out 'Fine fresh kippers!' and in the evening I had sold every one.

"I managed to get a living for some weeks like that, and then I met a man who wanted to sell me a donkey and a barrow.

"I had no money then, and he parted with his donkey for sixpence down.

"I drove Jenny home," and called out 'The carriage is outside, missus,' and when the missus saw my turnout she smiled, I can tell you.

"She dressed up and got in the barrow, and away we went down the Mile End Road. But that old donkey went mad.

"There was no stopping her. She went along like a racehorse and we didn't stop until we got to Ilford.

"By missus was in a wax, I can tell you. She said, you can keep your blessed carriage — I'm going home by train!' I've got rid of the donkey now, and am doing very well selling rock at Southend."

Even if he does not qualify as a steeple-chaser, Wilhelm the Kaiser can always make good as a steeple-smasher.

We cannot imagine John D. Rockefeller "ducking for apples." His favorite plunge has invariably been on plums.

The First Cup of Tea

The Chinese claim to be the first users of tea as a drink, and how it originated is told in a pretty little legend that dates from 2,000 years before the coming of Christ.

A daughter of a then reigning sovereign fell in love with a young nobleman whose humble birth excluded him from marrying her. They managed to exchange glances, and he occasionally gathered a few blossoms and had them conveyed to her.

One day in the palace garden the lovers met, and the young man endeavored to give her a few flowers; but so keen was the watchfulness of her attendants that all she could grasp was a little twig with green leaves.

On reaching her room she put the twig in water, and toward evening she drank the water in which the twig had been kept. So agreeable was the taste that she even ate the leaves and stalks. Every day afterward she had bunches of the tea tree brought to her, which she treated in the same way.

Imitation being the sincerest form of flattery, the ladies of the court tried the experiment, and with such pleasing results that the custom spread throughout the kingdom—and the great Chinese tea industry became one of the greatest businesses in the world.

STYLES

Not many styles will come from Paris this year. France is in the grip of war. The shops of the great modistes and milliners are closed.

Every year we send millions of dollars, to France and elsewhere, for feathers, flowers, hats, gowns, jewelry, silks, etc., for feminine adornment.

Yet these things are produced in Canada. Canadian artisans and Canadian workpeople are creating and producing dainty frills and furbelows that are hard to beat.

It remains for Canadian women to buy them.

The mere fact of an article being imported gives it no added value. On the contrary it should be a reproach at a time like this when Canadian industries need your support.

These things are made in Canada, of good material and good workmanship, and they're being sold at prices that discount imported articles every time.

It's a splendid thing to knit socks and Balaklava caps for soldiers, but you will be showing yourself strangely inconsistent if you pass up the work of your fellow Canadian women for something that foreign women have turned out. 15A

A GREENHORN

By F. A. MITCHEL

Johnny Ormsby was walking on the street one day when he was accosted by a man, who said to him:

"Young man, would you like to make some money?"

"I certainly would."

"Give me your name and address."

Johnny gave both, and the stranger made a note of them.

"Can you keep a secret?"

"I think I can."

"Well, here's a twenty dollar bill for you and a box. Take care of the box for me till I call for it and I'll give you another $20. Don't you give the box to any one else."

Johnny made the required promise; the man gave him the box and went his way.

The transaction had taken place within less than a minute, and Johnny was left looking after the man, who was walking away from him. Johnny was about eighteen, but not yet well versed in the ways of the world, especially of the commercial world. He thought at first he would open the box at once, but concluded to take it to his room. He was a country boy who had come to the city to find a job and lived in a lodging house.

As soon as he was alone Johnny unrolled the bill, and, true enough, it was a twenty dollar note. Being pretty near out of money, it was very acceptable to him. Of course he wondered why the man had hired him to take care of a box and was curious to know what was in it. It was about an inch and a half square and covered with blue plush. Opening it, there nestled a ring set with two diamonds, each as big as a large pea.

Naturally Johnny was very much astonished. Not being used to city ways, he did not reach a conclusion that the thing had been stolen and the thief had found it best to get rid of it. What object could any one have in asking him to take care of property so valuable? Johnny racked his brain for some time, then gave it up. There was a cornice in his room, and, standing upon his bureau, he put the property on the cornice. Descending to the floor, he was satisfied that it could not be seen. Probably it was in about as safe a place as it could be put.

Not finding a position, Johnny lived on the $20 that had been given him. When it was all gone he began to get hungry. The longer he went without eating the weaker he became. At last he took to his bed.

One day there were sounds of footsteps coming up the stairs and a rap at Johnny's door. He said "Come in" so faintly that he was not heard, but this made no difference to his callers, for they entered anyway, a well dressed gentleman and a policeman.

"Are you John Ormsby?" asked the gentleman.

"Yes, sir."

"Did a man some time ago give you a box containing a diamond ring to keep?"

"Yes."

"Well, I want it."

"He told me to give it to no one but him."

"Oh, he did, did he? Well, young man, that ring was stolen. The man has been arrested for other thefts and to secure immunity has agreed to return every article he has taken. He told me to come to you and get the ring."

"I don't know what he told you," said Johnny. "He gave me a twenty dollar bill to take care of the property and said I was to give it to no one but him."

"Come off, young man," said the policeman. "You can't make the gentleman believe you're so green as all that."

"Why are you lying in bed?" asked the gentleman. "Are you sick?"

"No. I haven't had anything to eat for several days."

"What's become of the money the man gave you?"

"All gone for food."

"Have you got the ring?"

"Yes."

The gentleman looked at the boy in wonder. "Why didn't you get some money for it?"

"I don't own it."

The gentleman looked at the policeman; the policeman returned the glance. "He is a greenhorn and no mistake," said the latter.

"Do you mean to tell me," asked the gentleman, "that you're lying here starving with a diamond ring worth $300 in your possession?"

"That's about it, sir."

"Well, here's a dollar; go get something to eat, but first give me the ring."

"I couldn't give it to any one except the man that left it with me."

"Don't bother with him, sir; I'll run him in," said the cop.

"No, you won't. I know an honest face when I see one. Take the cab to the jail and bring the crook here. I'll wait for you."

Within half an hour the man who had intrusted Johnny with the ring appeared in care of the cop and told Johnny to give it to the gentleman.

"Not till I get the other $20 you promised me," said Johnny.

There was a burst of laughter, and the owner of the ring produced the money, and Johnny told them where to look for the ring.

John Ormsby was taken into the employ of the owner of the ring and now has charge of all his securities.

WELL MIGHT CHARITY BE VIRTUE OF KRUPPS

The beautiful woman whose picture we show here is Bertha Krupp, or rather Baroness Von Bohlen, daughter of the late gunmaker Krupp and chief beneficiary of the enormous profits of the factory which supplies a great many countries with cannon. A news story from a German source said of her:

"The young matron is noted for the charities that she supports with her immense fortune. From the income from the manufacture of the big guns a fraction is set aside by Bertha Krupp to help some of her 50,000 pensioners. A large orphan asylum is supported by the Krupp money."

Nice Distinctions

"So you want to make a fresh start, my man?" said the philanthropist, as he looked at the notorious young cracksman.

"Yes, sir," answered the expert safe-breaker.

"I take it you're prepared to do any honest work?"

"Anything that'll give me another chance, sir."

"Well, now," continued his patron, "I've a friend who is just producing a new melodrama. In it there is a scene where a burglar enters the room and rifles the safe. Now, you could do the thing to the life. Fifteen dollars a week, and you can start tomorrow."

The convict shook his head in a resigned manner.

"Sorry, boss," he said, "but it's no go."

WINNIPEG GRAIN MARKET.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 19.—Wheat prices opened ⅛c lower to ⅛c higher, oats, ⅛c to ½c higher, and flax, ½c to 1⅛c higher.

Liverpool wheat cables were not as firm as anticipated, which caused the erratic opening on the local market. A light volume of business was transacted in options, and prices for the most part fluctuated on a range of about ½c. One prominent member said the market had got into a rut, and a waiting attitude was apparent on all sides. Winnipeg wheat futures closed ⅛c lower to ⅛c higher, oats ⅛c to ⅜c higher, and flax 1¼c to 2¼c higher.

There was a fair demand for all grades of cash wheat, and offerings more liberal today. Exporters were the principal buyers. Cash oats were in good demand and prices firmer. Barley was in poor demand, while flax was fair and prices stiffer.

MONTREAL GRAIN MARKET.

MONTREAL, Nov. 19.—Business over the cable in grain today was very quiet owing to the falling off in the demand from foreign buyers and the fact that prices bid for Manitoba wheat were 3d to 6d per quarter lower. On the other hand, there was an increased demand from local buyers for oats and sales of several round lots of No. 2 C. W. were made for shipment from Fort William at 57½c c.i.f. here. The tone for Argentine corn was stronger and sales of carlots were made at 84½c per bushel ex-store, while round lots of American corn were bought for shipment from Chicago at 77c per bushel c.i.f. here with 17½ per cent moisture.

Ontario malting barley is stronger, with choice grades held at 76c to 78c. There was an improved demand from foreign buyers for spring wheat flour, and as the prices bid in some cases were higher than they have been, yet sales of 15,000 sacks were made for December-January shipment. The local trade in all grades is still quiet. Demand for mill feed continues active and millers are now well sold up of all their surplus supplies, consequently a stronger feeling prevails in the market.

Butter is quiet and steady. There is a good enquiry for cheese, but the volume of business is checked owing to the scarcity of ocean space. Eggs are stronger and prices for strictly fresh have advanced 3c per dozen. The trade in potatoes is fairly active and prices for carlots are 2½c to 5c per bag higher.

CHEESE MARKETS.

CANADA'S AID APPRECIATED

LONDON, Nov. 20.—Herbert Samuel, president of the Local Government Board, made a statement in the Commons yesterday appreciative of gifts of food, produce and clothing from the dominions, mentioning in detail the consignment from Canada and her provinces, who had vied with each other in their desire to give practical testimony to the feelings entertained for the Mother Country.

He was sure the House would join in an expression of the country's thanks to generous donors of these numerous, valuable gifts, and to those in this country who had so kindly undertaken gratuitously their storage and distribution.

British War Loan Covered.

LONDON, Nov. 20. — Great Britain's new war loan, the largest in her history, already has been covered, according to reports which were current yesterday in banking circles. The bank of England, however, reports that applications have not yet been actually computed, so that their total is not officially known. It was not intended to close subscriptions before to-day unless there should be an enormous over-subscription.

Humor and Philosophy

By DUNCAN M. SMITH

THE NEW HERO.

THE conquering hero of today
Is not the man of battle
Who wins his fame where chargers foam
And muskets loudly rattle.
No; 'tis the man who finds a germ
And has a weapon handy
To neutralize the pesky thing
Who now is all the candy.

The hero does not seize a gun
And thus fare forth to pillage.
He monkeys with the microscope
Around the little village,
And when he finds a bunch of germs
In one small water bubble
He feeds them raw formaldehyde
And puts them out of trouble.

The hero is the gentleman
Who searches distant spaces
Ten thousand million miles away
And on the stars keeps cases.
He looks the comet in the eye
In all its glowing splendor
And tells it it should wear through space
A modern street car fender.

'Tis science makes the heroes who
Are fit today for framing.
The fellows who the elements
Of earth and air are taming.
Those who in gaudy uniform
Stand bravely at attention
Will be forgotten when the men
Of germs get all the mention.

Something Lacking.

"Pretty bum joint," said the visitor from the mining camp, looking over the big marble front of the hotel at which he was stopping.

"Costs enough to stay there, doesn't it?" asked his friend.

"No kick on that score."

"Ain't the beds clean and the grub all right?"

"Yes, maybe."

"Then what are you kicking on?"

"Kicking on! Look at all of this pretense, and they ain't a single toothbrush in the rooms!"

She Didn't Like It.

"Papa says I'm not old enough to marry."

"Did he? Well, I'll bet he wouldn't have liked it if somebody had asked him to wait about marrying until he was long past thirty."

"Sir!"

Fooled.

"I started out this morning to look for an honest dollar."

"Are you still looking?"

"No. I found a substitute that an expert couldn't tell from the real thing if they were side by side."

Stretch of the Imagination.

"I suppose he is still building castles in Spain."

"No; he is getting a little closer to home."

"What now?"

"Rubber plantations in Mexico."

THE VICTROLA AND THE FAMILY—No. 6

George

says, "Gee, we've had a jolly time in our house since we got the Victrola.

"Johnnie Jones had one at his house for a long time and he used to learn all the latest songs from it so he could whistle them before any of the other fellows, and when the war first started he had all the patriotic music like 'Rule Britannia,' 'God Save the King' and 'It's a Long, Long Way to Tipperary.'

"So I just got after dad good and strong to get a Victrola. I guess he really wanted one pretty bad himself because it didn't take much coaxing to get him to buy it.

"Now we have all kinds of music—we each have what we like best, and do we like the Victrola? Well I guess yes."

Victrola IV $20

With 15 ten-inch, double-sided Victor Records $33.50

Other Victrolas from $32.50 to $300 (on easy payments, if desired), and ten-inch, double-sided Victor Records at 90c for the two selections at any "His Master's Voice" dealer in any town or city in Canada.

Must Warn Citizens.

OTTAWA, Nov. 20.—As a sequel to the Toronto militia mobilization incident, Maj.-Gen. Sam Hughes yesterday issued instructions to the general, divisional and district officers commanding that no further instructions shall be given in mobilization without the people being fully apprised in advance. It was understood, he says, that this was to be done in Toronto, but it must have been overlooked.

After noticing the "can" in Canopus, the Britsh Admiralty became at once suspicious about the canned variety of the German report of the naval engagement off Chile.

One Man Responsible For Abolishing Vodka Evil

($500,000,000) yearly, without any method of replacing this revenue.

"The Emperor visited the country around Moscow and saw the havoc of vodka. He dismissed Kokovsoff, and appointed the present Minister of Finance, M. Bark.

"Mobilization precipitated the anti-vodka measure. The Grand Duke, remembering the disorganization due to drunkenness during the mobilization of 1904, ordered the prohibition of all alcoholic drinks except in clubs and first-class restaurants.

This order enforced for one month showed the Russian authorities the value of abstinence.

"In spite of the general depression caused by the war; the paralysis of business, the closing of factories and the interruption of railroad traffic, the people felt no privation. Savings banks showed an increase in deposits over the preceding month and over the corresponding month of the preceding year. At the same time there was a boom in the sale of meats, groceries, clothing, dry goods and house furishings. The 30,000,000 roubles a day that had been paid for vodka were now being spent for the necessities of life.

"The average working week increased from three and four days to six, the numerous holidays of the drinker having been eliminated. The working day also became longer, and the efficiency of the worker was perhaps doubled.

"I decided to seize this occasion for a press campaign, and organized delegations to present petitions to the proper authorities for the prolonging of this new sobriety for the duration of the war.

"This step found favor with His Imperial Majesty, and an order was issued to that effect. Another similar campaign to remove the licenses from privileged clubs and restaurants was successful, and strong liquor is no longer available anywhere in Russia.

"The second month of abstinence made the manifold advantages so clear to everybody, that when we called upon His Majesty to thank him for his recent orders, he promised that the vodka business of the Government would be given up for gated in a telegram to the Grand Duke Constantine.

"There remains now to find elsewhere the revenue which, up to the present time, has been contributed by vodka.

"There has been introduced in the Duma a bill offering a solution of this question. The aim of this bill is not the creation of new taxes or an ncrease in the present taxes, but an effort to render the Government domains and possessions more productive."

That was a rather hard crack the British navy got off the Chilean coast but the navy is easy able to digest Chile' Sauce.

STRENGTH IN NAVY

Allies' Position is Better Than When War Started

London, Nov. 20. — The naval situation, despite the losses that have been sustained through submarines, and owing to the fight in the South Pacific, is improving for Great Britain and her allies. A computation giving the strength on the sea of Britain, France, Russia and Japan on the one hand, and the Germans and Austrians on the other, presents the following surprising figures:

	The Allies	Germany-Austria
Dreadnoughts	41	19
Pre-dreadnoughts ..	79	26
Coast defences hips .	3	8
Armored cruisers ..	77	11
Cruisers	96	46
Destroyers	383	148
Torpedo boats .. .	209	39
Submarines	184	27
	1,072	324

To the total strength of the Allies Britain contributes 470 vessels, including 71 dreadnoughts, 108 cruisers, 167 destroyers, 49 torpedo boats and 75 submarines. Since the war commenced Britain has added several new vessels to her fleets. Mr. Winston Churchill stated in Parliament in September that the Admiralty would build a destroyer every week, a light cruiser every thirty days, and a dreadnought every forty-five days. This rate of production has not been sustained, but it is declared the program has not been departed from very materially. In the prosecution of the war the British navy is assisted greatly by the manner in which the work has been divided amongst the various fleets. Japan has been looking after the Far East, in co-operation with a small British fleet. France has taken over the principal work on the Mediterranean and on the Adriatic, while Britain has been left free to control the North Sea and the Atlantic.

OBITUARY

MRS. ROBERT M'KENZIE.

Peterborough friends will regret to learn of the death at Almonte of Mrs. Robert McKenzie, mother of Mr. Andrew McKenzie, Bolivar street, who visited in this city on many occasions and made many friends. Her death took place on Tuesday, due to an attack of pneumonia.

Mr. and Mrs. McKenzie attended the funeral, held at Almonte yesterday.

FIGHTING IN BOATS.

Both Sides In Belgium Adapt Themselves To Flood Conditions.

BRUGES, Belgium, Nov. 20.—Fighting between the German and allied forces in the inundated territory between Dixmude and Nieuport on the North Sea coast, is now frequently being carried on in boats.

Artillery, for the first time in the war, has proved ineffective, but personal bravery and enterprise are counting for much, and the battle is beginning to resemble the classical siege of Leyden in the sixteenth century with raids and counter raids by means of flat-bottomed boats.

Two corporals of the Seventh Belgian Infantry have been made Knights of the Leopold Order for transporting forty men, including fifteen severely wounded, across the inundations under heavy fire.

The battle in its present stage, army officials say, may last several months.

DAIRY MEETINGS WELL ATTENDED

lespie was unanimously elected director for the district.

The report of R. W. Ward, local dairy instructor, was in part as follows:

The report of Instructor Ward was as follows:—

Gentlemen, it is with your pleasure I now make my report of work done and some observations of season just closed and some suggestions for season's work for 1915.

My section this season was same as last, which consisted of the cheese factories lying east of the City of Peterboro to Norwood and Killarney cheese factories and all factories north-east of Peterboro in Peterboro County; also all factories in Hastings County north of Millbridge except one, with Lakefield and Bancroft creameries and Ormond cheese factory added.

In this section there were operated this year (23) cheese factories and (2) creameries.

Two cheese factories in Hastings County did not open this season on account of lack of milk supply; namely, Walkerville and Kelly Creek.

To these cheese factories and creameries, I made (73 day visits and (209) call visits.

I visited, met and conversed with some (184) patrons re the dairying industry.

There were (184) samples of milk tested for adulteration.

Four of these were found to be adulterated.

One was let off with a warning owing to some facts in connection with the case; the other three are under advisement by the chief instructor, Mr. Publow.

The average Butter Fat of all tests made of milk was 3.62; the average Butter Fat of all tests made of whey was .22.

On my first visit to the factories this season, I found them mostly in good repair, clean and sanitary and in good shape for beginning the season's operations.

These conditions have been fairly well maintained throughout the season.

There have been a few exceptions, due largely to lack of sufficient skilled help and short water supply.

The delivery of milk and quality of cheese has on the whole been good.

When not up to what we would like, it has been largely due to conditions of weather and feed.

The weather was very favorable in May and June for the milk to reach the factory in nice cool condition and the result was these two months cheese were extra fine.

In July we had a lot of very warm weather, ranging in temperature from 86 to 90 degrees and above, and the result was a lot of very warm over-ripe milk.

In some cases, when in the vat, its temperature was as high as 84.

BONE OF CONTENTION STILL WITH THE LEGAL COMMITTEE

At the meeting of the legal committee last evening, A. E. Dixon, H. Rush and A. J. Johnston representing the Edward Green Estate, R. R. Hall and W. G. Ferguson representing the Otonabee Power Co., and Mr. Myers of the Peterboro Cereal Co., were present in connection with the proposed closing of the old reservation road at the rear of Water Street and selling a portion of it to the Green Estate so that the executors might be permitted to wind up the affairs in regards to it.

Mr. Hall stated that the closing of the road would lessen the value of the Otonabee Power Co.'s property and Mr. Myers claimed the same thing in regard to the Cereal Co. It was decided to let the matter stand over to be dealt with at a later meeting.

The City Solicitor had a communication before the meeting which stated that the city was not liable for the claim of Dr. Cameron for damages to his auto. This claim, is the result of Dr. Cameron striking an open manhole.

Previous to the meeting of the legal committee a finance committee meeting was held and matters relating to the sale of debentures, were discussed.

ONE MAN RESPONSIBLE FOR ABOLISHING VODKA EVIL

Strong Drink Driven From Russian Domains —Means Much to the Nation

Petrograd, Nov. 20.—There is prohibition in Russia today, prohibition which means that not a drop of vodka, whisky, brandy, gin or any other strong liquor is obtainable from one end to the other of a territory populated by 150,000,000 people and covering one-sixth of the inhabitable globe.

The story of how strong drink has been utterly banished from the Russian Empire is related by Michael Demitrovitch Tchelisheff, the man directly responsible for putting an end to Russia's great vice, the vodka habit.

The word "prohibition," in Russia must be taken literally. It means that a vast population who consumed $1,000,000,000 worth of vodka a year, whose ordinary condition has been described by Russians themselves as ranging from a slight degree of stimulation upward, has been lifted almost in one day from a drunken inertia to sobriety.

This miracle has been virtually accomplished by one man. He is Michael D. Tchelisheff, a peasant by birth, originally a house painter, then mayor of the City of Samara, and now a millionaire.

Speaking of what he had accomplished for the cause of sobriety in Russia, Mr. Tchelisheff said:

"I was reared in a small Russian village. There were no schools or hospitals. I picked up an education from old newspapers and stray books. One day I chanced upon a book which treated of the harmfulness of alcohol. It stated, among other things, that vodka was a poison. I was so impressed with this that I asked the first physician I met if the statement were true. He said yes. From that time I decided to take every opportunity to discover more about the use of vodka.

"At Samara, I decided to do more than passively disapprove of vodka.

"This was seven years ago. Later I was elected Mayor of Samara, capital of the Volga district, a district with over a quarter of a million inhabitants.

"Subsequently to holding this office, I was elected to the Duma on an anti-vodka platform. In the Duma I proposed a bill permitting the inhabitants of any town to close the local vodka shops, and providing also that every bottle of vodka should bear a label with the word 'poison.'

"This bill passed the Duma and went to the Imperial Council, where it was amended, and finally tabled.

"I then begged an audience of Emperor Nicholas. He received me and listened to me patiently. Having heard me, His Majesty promised at once to speak to his Minister of Finance concerning the prohibition of vodka.

"The Minister of Finance, M. Kokovsoff, regarding it as a dangerous innovation, depriving the Government of 1,000,000,000 roubles

APPEAL FROM JUDGE'S ORDER

Teachers' Back Salaries Will not be Paid by Separate School Board

Ottawa, Nov. 20.—The judgment given by Judge Gunn in division court, ordering the payment of $360 salary due to Principal Lee of St. Joseph's school is to be appealed by the French majority of the Separate School Board. The reason for doing so, the members claim, is that Judge Gunn's order was based upon an order which is still sub judice, and it looks as if Principal Lee's and the other teachers' salaries are still as far off as ever.

"Why pay Principal Lee's salary now, and in two months' time find that Judge Lennox had no authority to order back the teachers in September?" said Trustee Dr. Anthony Freeland. An immediate meeting of the Separate School Board will be called to deal with the matter and to engage counsel to lodge the appeal in the appellate court.

More Complicated.

This local appeal will now complicate Separate School matters still worse, if that is possible. There is awaiting hearing the appeal against the first injunction prohibiting the raising of debentures and forbidding the board to pay the French teachers who, it was claimed, were not teaching according to law. Then when the majority of the board dismissed the teachers, Judge Lennox added this case to the original injunction and gave a decision ordering them to be taken back. The board will now appeal against Judge Gunn's decision.

Order Appealed.

The French trustees maintain that Judge Gunn took it for granted that what Judge Lennox said was law, while at the time his order was awaiting appeal. "The judge here decided the case in accordance with Judge Lennox' interlocutory order," said Trustee Freeland. "But this order has been appealed. Chief Justice Sir William Mulock, a few days ago in Toronto, postponed consideration of the appeal until the judgment on the main injunction will be given. Therefore Judge Gunn's judgment is based on an order, which is still sub judice."

NORTH MONAGHAN WILL ORGANIZE

That an organization to look after the Patriotic Fund in North Monaghan will be inaugurated is practically assured as a result of the visit of Mayor Buller, H. Rush, and City Relief Officer Miller to an assemblage of North Monaghan ratepayers in May's school house last evening. The councillors of that township were to meet the City Dads last Saturday evening, but the former failed to put in an appearance, hence the need of another meeting. Once again did the councillors fall short, there being but one present. The Reeve occupied the chair.

Mayor Buller, in addressing the meeting, pointed out that he did not go down there to tell them how to run their patriotic fund, but simply to impress upon them the need of giving the wives and dependents of the soldiers who left from that township, a weekly allowance. This the city has been doing for them, but that was not fair, as those benefitted were outside the city limits. He urged them to form an organization and go into the matter with true British patriotism and it would undoubtedly be a success.

The Reeve, in reply, stated that the idea had been under consideration, but it was difficult to get a meeting. Now, since such a patriotic gathering had resulted from their visit, he was sure something definite could be done. An organization meeting will be held early next week.

ENGINEER SING RESIGNS POSITION WITH GOVERNMENT

J. G. Sing, resident engineer for the Dominion Government in Toronto, under the Department of Public Works, for the last ten years has resigned from that position. The resignation, it is understood, was sent to the Minister of Public Works at Ottawa last week.

Mr. Sing, it is also understood, will continue his practice of a private consulting engineer, and will also continue as consulting engineer for the Harbour Board.

As district engineer for the Government, Mr. Sing had charge of the harbour work in Eastern and Northern Ontario, including Lindsay and the Trent Canal. Since Mr. Sing's resignation, the position is being temporarily filled by Mr. J. M. Wilson, his former assistant, who may receive the appointment.

Mr. J. W. Sing is well known in Peterboro, having visited here on business on several occasions.

The Belgians neglect no opportunity to soak it to the enemy. They even filled their trenches with water.

Faces As Fair As A Summer's Day

Are Possible If Stuart's Calcium Wafers Are Used for a Short Time After Each Meal.

Many people have been heard to say that they used creams and lotions for years without effect, yet after five or six days of Stuart's Calcium Wafers their complexions were perfectly clear.

"I Got Rid of Blackheads in a Jiffy by Using Stuart's Calcium Wafers."

It's easy to understand why. Creams and lotions only get at the surface, while Stuart's Calcium Wafers go right into the blood and instead of a sluggish deposit in the skin and impurities that cause skin diseases are destroyed in the perspiration that is exhaled through the pores in the form of invisible vapor. You'll never have a good complexion without pure blood, but you positively will have a fine, beautiful complexion if you use Stuart's Calcium Wafers.

They contain no poisonous drug of any kind, are perfectly harmless and can be taken with absolute freedom, and they work almost like magic. Calcium Sulphide, their principal ingredient, is the greatest blood-cleanser known to science.

No matter how bad your skin may be, Stuart's Calcium Wafers will quickly work wonders with it. It's goodby to blackheads, pimples, acne, boils, rash, eczema and a dirty "filled-up complexion. You can get a box of Stuart's Calcium Wafers at any drug store at 50 cents a box, and you will be positively delighted with their wonderful effect. A small sample package mailed free by addressing F. OFFICIAL BULLETINS

PARIS, Nov. 20. — The following bulletins were issued by the French War Office yesterday:—

"The day has been particularly calm. There is nothing to report."

"On our north front the whole day yesterday (Wednesday) was marked by renewed activity on the part of the enemy's artillery, particularly between the sea and the River Lys; the infantry, however, did not attack.

"Between the Oise and the Aisne the operations around Tracy-le-Val resulted favorably for our troops. It will be recalled that we captured this village some days ago.

"The day before yesterday (Tuesday) the Germans tried to retake it from us, and after carrying by assault our outer trenches, they succeeded in reaching the central crossroads of the locality, but a vigorous counter-attack by our Algerian contingent drove the enemy back, captured all the lost ground and inflicted heavy losses.

"In the Argonne region we have maintained our positions.

"Along the rest of the front there is nothing to report."

An official statement made by the German War Office in Berlin declares gains have been made by the Germans west of St. Quentin and Roye.

STOP BLEEDING

New Powder Served to the Troops Will Offset Mortality

GENEVA, Switzerland, Nov. 20.—A preparation which, it is said, will stop almost instantly the flow of blood from a wound has been invented by Prof. Theodor Kocher of Berne, who was awarded the Nobel prize for surgery in 1912, and his assistant, Dr. A. Fonce. The new preparation is called Coagulen.

It is in the form of a powder and is dissolved in water before being applied to a wound. The discoverers of Coagulen have made a gift of their invention to the armies in the field, and have sent large quantities of the powder to the surgical headquarters of both the German and French armies. The discovery is regarded by medical men here as likely to save the lives of thousands of soldiers, since it can be applied by untrained hands, so that the wounded man himself or his comrade might use the solution.

RUSSIA WINS ON THE SEA

German Cruiser and Two Destroyers are Sunk

LONDON, Nov. 20.—A news agency despatch from Petrograd says a German squadron which bombarded Libau was later attacked by the Russian fleet, and that in the fight which followed a German cruiser and two torpedo destroyers were sunk.

The following official statement was given out in Petrograd yesterday by the Russian Ministry of Marine regarding the naval battle in the Black Sea between the Russian and Turkish fleets:

"On Nov. 18 a division of the Black Sea fleet, returning from its cruise to Sebastopol, near the coast of Anatolia, sighed 25 miles from the Bhersones light a Turkish detachment consisting of the Goeben and Breslau. The Russian fleet immediately drew up in battle order, bringing the enemy to starboard, and opened fire at a distance of forty cablelengths (about five miles). The first salvo of 12-inch guns from the flagship Admiral Evstafry struck the Goeben and caused an explosion amidships, setting her on fire. Following the Evstafry, the other Russian ships opened fire, the Russian guns giving an excellent account of themselves.

"A series of explosions were seen in the hull of the Goeben, which opened fire slowly. The enemy seemed not to have expected to meet us. The Germans fired salvos of their heavy guns, directing them principally at the flagship. The encounter continued for fourteen minutes, after which the Goeben withdrew and disappeared in the fog, taking advantage of her speed.

"The Breslau took no part in the fight, holding herself on the horizon. The Evstafry suffered only insignificant damage."

SUBMARINE IS SUNK BY CRUISER

LONDON, Nov. 20.—The Standard has the following from Paris: News from the Adriatic says that the French cruiser Waldeck Rousseau has sunk another submarine. The enemy seems to make a special watch for this vessel, and during a recent cruise of only four days the cruiser had to run quite a gauntlet of aeroplane, submarine and torpedo boat attacks. She not only come through them unscathed, but with the honors on her side, for, besides sinking the submarine, she chased and battered a flotilla of 17 hostile destroyers.

STRUGGLE IN FLANDERS MAY LAST FOR MONTHS

Both Armies Using Boats and Ratts in Attacks in Flooded Areas

LONDON, Nov. 20.—A feature of the fighting in the western theatre of war, as reported by the French War Office, was the capture of Tracy-le-Val, close to the western angle of the battle front, by France's Algerian troops.

Military observers agree that the fighting in Flanders may continue several months. Both armies are using boats and rafts in attacks in the flooded area between Nieuport and Dixmude. For the first time since the war started artillery has proved ineffective. French marines yesterday crossed on rafts the inundated approaches to Schoorbacke, West Flanders, while a British force charged by road. The fighting was desperate, but the Germans were routed with heavy losses.

Floods continue to hamper operations on the northern front, but positions are being strengthened from Ypres to Arras. The bulletin says new big guns have arrived at the front and that the general situation in Flanders and northern France is virtually unchanged.

According to a correspondent of De Tyd, the German losses in the southwestern portion of Belgium have been so terribly high that the dead, instead of being buried, are burned. Wherever possible this is done at some distance from the fighting line, but in some places, this is out of the question and pyres are raised within sight of the active soldiers.

It is said that the Kaiser's visit to Thielt, where a British aviator dropped several bombs, was due to the desire to arouse the enthusiasm of the army.

A casualty list received in London yesterday from the British army headquarters in France under date of Nov. 15 contains the names of nine officers killed, eighteen wounded and two missing.

Snow, sleet and cold now prevail along the battle line in the western part of Belgium. Pneumonia and rheumatism are said to be claiming as many, if not more, victims than rifle bullets and shrapnel. This is said to be specially true of the Germans, but the sufferings and consequent disablement are equaly as heavy among the French-British troops.

PREMIER IS NOT GUILTY

Report on Dugal Charges Made by Commission

ST. JOHN, N.B., Nov. 20.—The report of the royal commission appointed to investigate certain charges made by L. A. Dugal, M.P.P. for the County of Madawaska, against Hon. J. K. Flemming, Premier of New Brunswick, and Hon. M. F. McLeod, formerly Provincial Secretary, were released for publication last night. There are two reports, one dealing with the charge that Mr. Flemming, through the agency of W. H. Berry, chief superintendent of scalers for the province, extorted certain large sums of money from the holders of timber leases in the province, and the other dealing with the construction of the Valley Railway.

In the timber case Mr. Flemming is found not guilty of directing the collection of funds, but the report declares that Mr. Flemming "was well aware that moneys were being collected for a purpose unquestionably improper," and that he manifestly "directed the disposition of such money when collected, also that he acquiesced in the collection of such moneys at a time and from a source highly and grieviously improper."

In the Valley Railway case it is reported that the charge has been sustained. The commission report states that no public money has been diverted, and that the Valley Railway has been well built at a cost not unreasonable. It also exonerates any other member of the Government from suspicion of wrong-doing, and finds the charge against Hon. Mr. McLeod also not proven.

In a letter to the electors of the province, Mr. Flemming declares his innocence of extortion, claims that what contributions were made to the campaign funds were voluntary and challenges F. B. Carvell, the leading spirit in the prosecution, to resign his seat in Carleton County and make a test of public confidence at the ballot box.

The reports are very lengthy, covering nearly 30,000 words, and made up for the most part of reviews of the evidence. The Government at a meeting last night heard them, but took no action.

CRACK CAVALRY WIPED OUT.

Austrian Corps Charged Into Ditch and 900 Were Killed.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—A special cable to The Evening Sun says that the Honved cavalry regiment, the corps elite of Vienna, was wiped out in Galicia early last month, when, in charging over unknown ground, they found themselves precipitated into a deep ditch. Nine hundred were killed.

It is recalled that, at Waterloo, a similar tragedy was enacted, when a cavalry brigade rode into a ravine—the historic "sunken road of Ohain"—and 1,500 men and 2,000 horses perished. They filled the gulf, and the rest of the brigade passed over across the bridge of flesh.

PLOT UNCOVERED

The London Turks Had Arsenal in Their Room

LONDON, Ont., Nov. 20.—A searching investigation is proceeding in connection with the arrest of three Turks—Solomon Hassan, Kamol Risi and Rini Nijib — at their room in Wellington street Wednesday night, following instructions from Ottawa. In a secret pocket of one of the men the police found an unposted letter, address to a Detroit German, stating that the writer, along with his compatriots, was "going to start something here." The letter has been forwarded to Ottawa. Concealed at the men's boarding-house was a rifle, ammunition trunk and a military rifle and several hundred rounds of ammunition.

A Dominion secret service officer is here investigating the matter, and the men will be taken to Kingston.

SPIES CREEP INTO LINES

German Snipers Get Iron Crosses for Picking off Men at Night

LONDON, Nov. 20.—More light on the tactics of German spies is thrown by a report of an eye-witness with the British army headquarters, as follows:—

"Further information has recently come to hand regarding the enemy's method of sniping and spying. Non-commissioned officers are offered Iron crosses if they will penetrate our lines at night. Those that attempt this work, having discarded boots, helmets and other impediments, crawl as close as possible to our defences and try to attract the attention of our sentries by throwing a stone in a direction contrary to that in which they are crawling. This generally causes neighboring sentries to fire, thus betraying their positions and that of our line of trenches.

"These spies or snipers often wear khaki uniforms and woolen caps similar to those worn by our men, and, thus disguised, sometimes succeed in getting right behind our lines to favorable spots, from which they shoot men passing to and fro. Many of them speak English well and display great ingenuity and effrontry in getting out of tight corners.

"Another reason for penetrating our lines is the cutting of telephone wires, and behind one section of our front, breaks have of late been very frequent. That the damage has not been entirely due to bursting shells has now been proved by the capture of one of the enemy's secret agents, carrying wire-cutters and a rifle. The man was known to have been on intimate terms with the Germans before they retired from the areas now occupied by us."

The "eye-witness" eulogies a French doctor, who, with several nuns, remained in Ypres during the bombardment nursing 52 German wounded, and was finally killed by a shell. The day after his death the nuns and wounded were removed to a place of safety."

TURKS AGAIN BEATEN.

British Force In Persian Gulf Captures Position From Enemy.

LONDON, Nov. 20. — The Official Press Bureau has issued the following report from the general commanding the force operating on the Shat-el-Arab river and in the Persian Gulf against the Turkish forces:—

"On Nov. 17 our troops drove out of an entrenched position about 4,500 of the enemy, capturing two guns and many prisoners, camp equipment and ammunition.

"Our casualties were three officers killed and fifteen wounded, and in the rank and file 35 men were killed and about 300 wounded."

Evaded Foe In Straits.

LONDON, Nov. 20. — A thrilling story of a dash of the steamer Ortega through the unchartered waters of Nelson Straits in order to escape a German cruiser, was received here yesterday from the British consul at Rio De Janeiro.

The Ortega, of the Pacific Steam Navigation Co., had 200 French reservists on board. At the entrance to the Straits of Magellan she encountered a German cruiser. The captain called for stokehold volunteers from among his passengers, and, under fire from the German warship, sent his 8,000-ton vessel dashing through the unmapped waters. The Ortega escaped and the cruiser did not dare follow through the straits.

CHAMPION FREDDIE WELSH UNABLE TO MASTER DUFFY

Seven Thousand Persons Saw Britisher and Yankee Fight Ten Round Draw

Buffalo, Nov. 20.—Freddie Welsh, lightweight champion, and Jimmy Duffy, of Lockport, fought ten spirited rounds to a close draw at the Broadway Auditorium last night. Both boys were in fine shape and came out of a roughish fight unmarked save for a slight cut over Welsh's eye. The champion seemed somewhat perturbed by Duffy's fast and accurate work with a left jab. Seven thousand people saw the bout.

The opening round was even, Welsh getting a good right to the body and left to the face, while Duffy used his left jab repeatedly but did little damage. Welsh opened the second round with a hook to the eye and a right and left to the body, but Duffy came back with a straight left to the nose, right to the body, and repeated left jabs to the face, Duffy having a shade at the finish.

The third and fourth rounds were slow, Welsh's right across to Duffy's jaw in the former being the only telling blow. The fifth round was even.

In the sixth Duffy staggered Welsh with a right across and put a solid left to face. Welsh came back with a punch that opened up Duffy's ear.

The eighth round was Welsh's best round, the champion landing solid lefts to face and rights to body repeatedly. He also had the better of some fast in-fighting. The ninth and tenth were very fast, both men apparently trying for a knockout, but neither found a spot that gave a decided advantage.

SAMMY LICHTENHEIN NOW OWNER OF MONTREAL ROYALS

Montreal, Nov. 0. — When the franchise of the Montreal baseball club of the International League was offered for sale, to dissolve a partnership between S. E. Lichtenhein, Gordon C. Cushing, and E. R. Carrington, there were only two bids. Frank McKenna, on behalf of a syndicate, offered $21,000 as his bid, while S. E. Lichtenhein, who held the controlling interest in the club, offered $30,000. As this was the highest bid within the stated time the club was knocked down to S. E. Lichtenhein, who now owns it outright. For some time past there has been two factions in the club, each placing a price on its share of the stock, and to dissolve the partnership the sale was agreed on.

DICK SHEEHY IS INJURED

Has Sprained Wrist and May not be Able to Play

Toronto, Nov. 20.—Both Varsity and Argonauts put in their final workout of the week last night in preparation for their respective games tomorrow. At Varsity the team were only given a short workout against the intermediates, the play being confined to the Intermediates trying to make headway through the seniors' line. Pretty near every play on the map was tried out, but the seniors smothered them with great frequency. Every player was in uniform with the exception of Dick Sheehy, he having a sprained wrist, which is liable to prevent him playing a full game tomorrow, thus weakening the chances of the Blue and White. Up at Rosedale the Scullers had a rattling good workout, and if they play to form against the Tigers should bring home the bacon.

JOHN M'GRAW TO WORK.

John McGraw, like Connie Mack, will stay on baseball work all winter. John sees that some bolstering up will have to be done if he intends to be in the fight next year, hence he will keep his office open until the training season begins. McGraw will work with the other moguls of organized baseball to repel the attacks of the Federals.

ROGER BRESNAHAN TO SUCCEED HANK O'DAY

Brick-top Backstop to Pilot Cubs — O'Day De-throned — Jimmie Archer May go to Feds.

Cincinnati, Nov. 20.—Roger Bresnahan was yesterday appointed manager of the Chicago National League Baseball Club. He succeeds Henry O'Day. Bresnahan signed a contract for three years. He was formerly catcher for the New York Nationals, former manager of the St. Louis Nationals, and last season was catcher for the Cubs.

Bresnahan's terms, according to newspapers quoting a "trustworthy source," include a salary of $6,000 as player and $12,000 as manager, or $18,000 a year. A clause providing that he cannot be dethroned without his consent was also included.

Speculating on the future of Hank O'Day, deposed as west-side leader to make room for Bresnahan, Chicago fans believe he will again join President Tener's staff of umpires. Upon his retirement as Cincinnati manager, he resumed his place as umpire during 1912.

Newspapers also published yesterday a report that Jimmy Archer, the Cub catcher, is considering an offer from the Buffalo Federals. He refused to discuss the rumor.

Because Bresnahan's contract, it is said, requires him to be a playing manager and catch a great number of games, Archer is believed to be eager to leave.

ORILLIA INTERMEDIATES HOPE TO LAND TITLE

Orillia, Nov. 20. — Hockey will boom in Orillia during the coming winter as in the past. Orillia will put both intermediate and junior teams on the ice. The Intermediate team, last year's runners-up for the championship, will be much stronger this winter and should be there or thereabouts when the championship is decided for 1915. Champlain Tercentenary year, 1915, is Orillia's year and the club should start it right by annexing the Intermediate honors. Teddy Corbould, Norman Harvie, Gordon Perriman, Morley Carter, Geo. Ross, Love Jupp, Gordon McDonald, of last year's team, are all ready for the ice. Ken Macnab, Henry Draper, Andy Tunhope and Chas. Teskey, of the Junior champions, have passed the age limit, and are also available for the intermediates. Pete Thornton, last season with the T.R. and A.A. seniors, is back home and ready to get into the fray. With all this first-class material, the Orillia Intermediates will be very strong this season and will not be handicapped like last season by not having sufficient players. The Junior team will also be a good one this season and will be out for its third championship.

LOOKS BAD FOR BUSH

Bernhardt Makes Affidavit That St. Pat's Player Wrestled With Pros.

Toronto, Nov. 20.—Barney Bernhardt, the professional wrestler, yesterday came through with an affidavit that he had acted as referee when Bush of Ottawa wrestled Gene Westergaard, a professional wrestler, in the Frank West Athletic Show during the Central Canada Fair at Ottawa. Bernhardt also stated that he was working for the West Show at the time, and witnessed Bush and John Kilonis, another professional wrestler, in action at least fifteen or twenty times during the week, for which Bush was paid $2 for each appearance. Bernhardt also witnessed Frank West pay the money for wrestling with Westergaard.

Bernhardt last night appeared before the Registration Committee of the Ontario Branch of the C.A.A.U. and backed up his statements in the affidavit. The latter is also in the possession of the Registration Committee.

Mr. Muir, the Ottawa C.A.A.U. representative, will be communicated with and asked to hunt up the status of Bush. In the meantime word was received yesterday from President Melville, of the Quebec Branch of the C.A.A.U., that Bush was not a registered member.

FEDS INCREASE CAPITAL.

Chicago, Nov. 20. — The capital stock of the Chicago club of the Federal Baseball League was increased to $400,000 at the annual meeting here yesterday. Most of this sum has already been spent by Charles Weeghman, president, it was announced, and the increase was to provide his surety. The directors voted to adjourn until next wek, when officers probably will be elected.

COMMENT

As You Like it

McGILL AND TIGERS still look good.

RUSSELL SANDERCOCK who has been allied with the Woodstock teams for the past few years is attending Toronto University and will be out with Varsity.

WOODSTOCK held a very enthusiastic hockey meeting last night and elected K. W. Harvey president, and Garry Walker, manager. Prospects in Woodstock are brighter than ever.

IF ALL THE wrestlers claiming Turkey for the land of their birth could be lined in battle array the Sultan would have an army large enough to annihilate the allies in two weeks.

"RUBE" MILAN, the speedy Kingston forward man over whom such a fuss was raised last year, is too old for Juniors and will play Senior. Mills the Kingston net guardian who performed here last winter, will be with the Frontenacs again. He enlisted with the first contingent but only got as far as Valcartier.

LARRY DOYLE'S SLUMP IS ACCOUNTED FOR

It has been discovered that Larry Doyle, the Giants' captain, is suffering from water on the shoulder. A water sack has formed under his throwing arm as the result of an automobile accident in 1913. All last season Doyle suffered with his arm. He seemed to be shoulder-bound and tied up, yet did not know what really was wrong with him. After the post-season series with the Yankees Doyle went to a specialist and the water sack was discovered. He is now under treatment, and it is believed that by next spring he will be as good as ever.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

C. A. Morehead, London, is in the city.

Mr. R. G. Evans, Toronto, is here on business.

Mr. F. Brugel, Montreal, is visiting friends in the city.

Thomas MacMannus of Hamilton is holidaying in the city.

Mr. Eady Turgeon of Quebec is at the White House.

Jack Taylor of St. Thomas is registered at the Snowden House.

General Superintendent Baker and Asst. Superintendent Coyle of the G. T. R. passed through the city this morning.

Evangelist Crossley, who conducted services at St. James Church, opens a fifteen-day campaign in Barrie on Sunday.

Invitations have been issued for a social in the town hall at Norwood on Wednesday evening, November 25 under the auspices of the congregation of St. Paul's Church of Norwood.

On Friday afternoon Mrs. J. Sharpe and Miss Higgins will have charge of the tea rooms at the Oriental, where refreshments are being served every afternoon and evening of this week under the auspices of the Daughters of the Empire.

A very enjoyable At Home was held last evening in St. Alphonsus Lyceum under the auspices of St. Peter's T.A.S. Cards, refreshments and dancing formed the program. The winners at the cards were Mrs. M. Sharpe and Mr. P. O'Donnell. The dance music was provided by Misses Marion Gorman and Margaret MacDonald.

A COMING SOCIAL EVENT.

A large card party will be held on Friday afternoon, November 25th at 2.30 o'clock in order to raise funds to send Christmas presents to all the Peterborough men who have enlisted for active service.

There will be both bridge and five hundred and any who do not wish to play cards may come in for tea. The tickets in either case are 50 cents. While most of the tables have been reserved there are a few yet to be filled. Anyone desiring to secure a table may do so by telephoning any of the committee: Mrs. George Burnham, Mrs. Clarkson, Miss Helen Davidson, Miss Jean Harstone, Mrs. E. L. Goodwill.

The Oddfellows have kindly donated their hall for this patriotic occasion. The patronesses are: Mrs. Campbell, Mrs. R. R. Hall, Mrs. J. D. Lundy, Mrs. A. Stevenson, Mrs. V. Eastwood, Mrs. Goodwill, Mrs. Suckling, Mrs. R. Harstone, Mrs. Coulthard, Mrs. Ackerman, Mrs. Aylmer, Mrs. Clegg, Mrs. Matthews, Mrs. Travers, Mrs. D. Walker, Mrs. McLean.

The gentlemen are cordially invited to come in for tea at five.

W. T. S. PATRIOTIC TEA.

The home of Mrs. S. C. Warne on Gilmour street was the scene of a most enjoyable reception yesterday afternoon and evening, when the W. T. S. Club, composed of local young ladies entertained at a patriotic tea. Proceeds amounting to $58 were realized. Charming house decorations of dark red, flags, and carnations and candles transformed the home into a most inviting retreat, an effect heightened by the score of prettily-costumed young ladies, who flitted to and fro providing refreshments and attending to the comfort of the guests. The girls wore white dresses with red caps and sashes. During intervals, orchestra music by Asa Huycke's musicians was liberally supplied and added greatly to the entertainment. A most delightful program was contributed, consisting of vocal selections and instrumental numbers. Those assisting were: Misses M. Laing, R. Voaden, M. Rannie, Mrs. E. V. Warne, and Messrs. Weller, Daly, Hanrahan and Carlyle. The W. T. S. Club extend their heartiest thanks to all the patrons of their tea and to those who kindly donated articles and assisted with the program.

The young ladies of the club are: Mrs. S. C. Warne, Mrs. A. R. Deyell, Mrs. F. K. Spriggs, Mrs. E. V. Warne, Misses K. Merrell, R. Adamson, O. Haskill, B. Latimer, E. Rae, H. Buller, O. Kyle, M. Latimer, C. Mowry, R. Mulholland, J. Gillespie, M. Brown and B. Mowry.

RED CROSS SOCIETY

JOHN'S TEA USED BY DAUGHTERS OF THE EMPIRE

The Daughters of the Empire, who have served tea and coffee at the Oriental Tea Rooms all this week, are using only John's Teas and Coffees. Those who have been fortunate enough to attend the tea rooms during the week have no doubt appreciated the rich flavour and distinction from ordinary blend of teas and coffees. John's Teas and Coffees have made a particular reputation for themselves in this province. The coffee handled by this firm comes to them green. It is carefully roasted, sorted, blended and ground, so that the natural aroma and strength of the seed is fully retained. Increased business each year is one evidence of the appreciation of the public of first-class goods. All blends of teas are also blended on the premises, and is sold in unusual quantities because of the care that is taken to give the grades and blends that are enjoyed by tea drinkers.

APPLE LOAF.

Reserve enough bread dough to make a small loaf. Work thoroughly into it one tablespoonful of butter, one-third cup of sugar, one-quarter of a teaspoonful of cinnamon and two well-beaten eggs. Add flour to make a soft dough, knead lightly and let rise. Divide into three equal parts and roll each part to fit the pan. Lay one piece in a buttered pan, spread over it an inch layer of sour apples chopped fine. Pour over the apples a tableshoonful of melted butter; cover with the second piece of dough and continue as before; brush the top with milk and let rise until very light. Steam for one hour, then place in a hot oven to brown lightly. Serve in slices with sugar and cream.

Unfortunate in Either Case

A man had stayed out at a banquet very, very late. He awoke in the lawn, and saw, perched on the foot of his bed, an organ-grinder's monkey that had climbed in through the window.

His hands trembling, his eyes bloodshot, the man drew his revolver from beneath his pillow and said:

"If you're a real monkey, it's a bad look-out for you, and if you're not, it's a bad look-out for me."

ONE MILLION MEN

A million men!

What does that mean? How many are a million men?

Can we grasp what an army of a million men—and there are several of them now in the field—actually is?

An army of a million men, standing shoulder to shoulder in a single line and allowing only two feet to each man, would stretch from Montreal to Hamilton via Toronto and still there would be a file of men six or seven miles long to be disposed of. In cold figures such line of men would extend for 378¾ miles!

An Impression of the Kaiser

George Stevens' impression of the Kaiser is worth recalling now, says the London Chronicle. He saw him riding through cheering crowds in Berlin on the day of the great autumn parade—" a face at once repulsive and pathetic, so harsh and stony was it, so grimly solemn. A face in which no individual feature was very dark, but which altogether was black as thunder. He raised his gloved hand in a stiff mechanical salute, and turned his head impassively from left to right; but there was no courtesy in the salute, no light in the eye, no smile on the tight mouth for his loyal subjects. He looked like a man without joy, without pity, without hope. He looked like a man who had never laughed, like a man who could not sleep. A man might wear such a face who felt himself slowly turning into ice."

POPULAR COMEDIAN RETURNING TO CITY

New Company of Players Repertoire Best Yet

When Ernie Marks, and his own show played here last year the theatre goers pronounced it one of the very best attractions of the season. The Ernie Marks Stock company with Ernie and Kittie Marks as the leads will come to the Grand Opera House for an engagement of five nights and two matinees, starting Tuesday night, Nov. 24th. Ernie Marks is a Canadian and a comedian of the better sort. Mr. Marks is wonderfully clever in the art of make-up, together with his ability as a finished actor, has enabled him to so far sink his own personality that it has caused a great many arguments as to what nationality the young actor really is.

Miss Kittie Marks, the charming leading lady of the company has made herself universally known to hundreds of theatre goers by her clever portrayal of what ever role she is cast for, she takes the keenest pleasure in her work and gives to it a devotion that has brought the reward of general liking.

The suporting company is made up of the best artists obtainable and will present a repertoire of plays away above the average. It's safe to say that the company will have capacity houses during their stay here. Popular prices, night, 10, 20 and 30 cents. Matinees 10 and 20 cents. Reserved seat sale at box office Saturday morning at 9 a.m.

THEATRICAL

Laughs upon laugs is a mild expression, when one is describing the show at the Grand last evening.

"The Girl from Broadway" was the attraction, and when combined with their "Country Store," the performance really pleased a bumper crowd. The "Country Story" was a very funny episode, and many and useful were the presents that were given away.

The singing, again, was a very bright feature of the show, and the audience gave generous applause.

The attraction tonight is "The Elopers."

CHALLENGE TO BACK UP HIS STATEMENTS

Mr. Henry Has Opportunity to Bring Forward His Alleged Accusations "That Graft Prevails on the Trent Canal as Bad as it Ever Was and Worse" --- Up to the Present He Has Been Silent

Some months ago Mr. Burnham, M.P., was informed that Mr. Henry, caretaker of the Shelter, was circulating reports that there was graft at the present time on the Canal "as bad as it ever was and worse." This was put down by the member as a matter of spite and disappointment on the part of a strong Liberal partisan who had been unable to stand the exposure of the late Government investigation with composure. However on this statement being repeated Mr. Burnham wrote to Mr. Henry and demanded that he back up his statements or retract them. Communication was also made with the Superintendent of the Canal who took what action he could. The member also wrote to the Minister of Railways and Canals who as will be seen by the letter published below himself wrote to Henry but Henry never answered anybody and as men like that are not only mean but dangerous it was decided that some measure would have to be taken to force this man to back up his statement that he was accused of circulatng. The Minister of Justice was communicated with. He advised that the Department of Canals take it up. The only way to do so is either to send a commissioner here from Ottawa and call Henry before it and this will be done if no other method proves efficacious or as suggested by the Minister in one of the letters published below possibly when Henry is challenged in this public way he will either come to time or recant.

It must be understood that Henry can't get out of this matter by shaking his head over what he knows or is supposed to know and giving a hint as to the dire things he could tell to prove that this administration is a bad one. If Henry doesn't come forward with his charges now he will be required to make them before a duly appointed commissioner who will be sent here by the Government and then if it is shown that there is no foundation for his remarks and that they were made falsely and maliciously he may rest assured that he will get into trouble. If anybody has any criticism to make of the Government's administration in this constituency or of the member's acts they are only too welcome to make it provided it is not shown that they are malicious and merely malicious in so doing. Latitude will be allowed for mistake but no latitude will be allowed for mistakes but no latitude will be allowed for party malice in an effort to undo the frightful damage done by the late investigation not only to a certain organization but to the good name of Peterborough generally.

Mr. Henry has written Mr. Burnham a letter, but there is no reference to the accusations made. The letter merely refers to Mr. Burnham himself.

Hon. Frank Cochrane has written Mr. Burnham as follows:—

Office of the Minister of Railways and Canals.

Ottawa, 20th November, 1914.

Dear Mr. Burnham:

I have yours of November 18th enclosing letter from Judge Doherty and note what you say concerning this man Henry, who is charging that there is graft on the Trent Canal as bad as it was or worse. For your information I beg to enclose copy of a letter I personally wrote Henry on June 29th last. He had an opportunity at that time, as you will see, to make his charges and was assured that they would be investigated. Possibly if this were published he would either put up or shut up.

Yours very truly,
F. COCHRANE.

J. H. Burnham, Esq., M.P.,
Peterborough, Ont.

The following letter was sent to Mr. Henry by the Minister of Railways and Canals:—

June 29, 1914.

Dear Sir,—

A statement has been made to me that you claim to be able to put your hands on the existence of graft at the present time in connection with the Trent Canal. If you know of any graft and care to give me the particulars of it so that an investigation may be held, I shall be very glad to investigate the matter thoroughly.

Yours very truly,
(Signed) F. COCHRANE.

SUICIDED WHEN HE LOST SUIT

Man Who Claimed to be Irish Takes His Life

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

Vancouver, B.C., Nov. 21.—Denis Halloran, claiming to be an Irish Baronet committed suicide upon the conclusion of an unsuccessful suit he brought against William Holden, a real estate agent, for defamation of character, for which he demanded fifty thousand dollars.

INQUEST AT MIDLAND.

At the adjourned inquest held in Midland yesterday into the death of Wilbert Succee, F. D. Kerr represented the family of the deceased. The jury's finding is as yet unknown, those attending it from here having to leave before it was returned.

HANNAH GOT TWO YEARS IN PRISON

Was Arrested Here for the Alberta Police

Police Chief Thompson is in receipt of a letter from C. A. Mahony, Chief of the Alberta Provincial Police. It speaks very highly of the work of the local police force, in effecting the arrest of Manuel Hannah, who was wanted by the Western police and who was arrested here. He has since been sentenced to two years in the Alberta penitentiary.

It also thanked the Chief for finding out his past record. It appears Hannah was sentenced in 1909 to five years at Kingston for manslaughter.

Usually Irresistible.

Ella—The paper tells of a woman being arrested for resisting an officer.

Stella—I don't see how anybody could resist a man in uniform.

FINAL DIVIDEND FROM DEFUNCT YORK LOAN

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

Toronto, Nov. 21.—The official referee today ordered a final dividend to the shareholders of the defunct York Loan Co., making the total paid since winding up by the National Trust Co. began in December, 1905, of fifty-five per cent. instead of the twenty-five or thirty anticipated.

There still remains about sixty thousand dollars unclaimed which will lie in the bank for a statutory period and if then unclaimed, will revert to the government. The total amount realised in liquidation was two million three hundred and forty-two thousand dollars and one million six hundred and twenty-five thousand of this was allotted to shareholders, nearly three-quarters of a million having gone to meet the expenses of preferred claims and liquidators' fees.

Enhancement in the value of the company's real estate holdings in the west end of Toronto caused by the city's growth made the unexpectedly large dividend to shareholders possible.

FIRE LOSS IN CITY LIGHT

This Year's Mark is Lowest Since Present Chief Took Charge

When Chief Howard presents his annual report to the Council it should constitute a gratifying contribution to the fire annals of the city. It will show the lightest fire loss since he assumed control of the department. This is all the more encouraging in view of the fact that in years of financial distress fire losses are always high in most cities, which will be borne out by a study of fire losses in other cities.

Peterborough has had no fire sales. It has had nothing that faintly hints of an attempt to cause a fire for fire sale purposes. These facts Chief Howard will emphasize in his report. But another factor contributing to this encouraging condition is, according to the Chief, the vigilant efforts exercised to root out rubbish and inflammable material from stores, back yards and lanes.

"I venture to say that 50 pounds of combustible rubbish can't be discovered in Peterborough's business section," declared Chief Howard to a reporter.

"I think the Council will be pleased to learn some of the facts contained in my report," he added. "We have had very few fires, for which I am extremely thankful."

Chief Howard has about completed his tour of inspection of premises, and has seen to it that anything dangerous or apt to court fires has been remedied.

NO HITCH IN HOME GUARD

Factory Employes Had Rifle Practice This Afternoon

FIREMEN IN TOO

Not a hitch is being encountered in the organization of the rifle association and the alacrity and intensely earnest spirit being exhibited speaks volumes for the popularity of the movement. This afternoon the C.G.E. brigade, the De Laval and street railway employes are holding a practice at the Armouries. Captain J. E. L. Goodwill states that the manner in which retail merchants are coming in line is decidedly encouraging.

There will be a meeting of the various company officers and the executive early next week, probably Tuesday, to make further arrangements about drilling and shooting. Captain Goodwill is much pleased with the marksmanship displayed by many of the guard and their eagerness to increase their efficiency.

The fire fighters are not being forgotten, Chief Howard having completed arrangements with Sergeant Dodds to have his men receive instruction Monday and Thursday each week.

PRESENTS GO FREE.

Ottawa, Nov. 21. — A despatch from the Colonial Secretary to the Government here states that all presents to individual soldiers or to bodies of men belonging to the Canadian expeditionary force will be admitted into Great Britain free of duty.

MILITARY NURSES

All nurses before appointment to the Army Nursing Service, must pass the following qualifications:—

1. British subject.
2. Between ages of 18 and 38.
3. Only nurses who are qualified as above are eligible.

Courses of instruction are given from time to time at Military hospitals. Applications for appointments and courses may be made in this case to Lieut. Col. H. R. Duff, Assistant Director, Medical Service, Third Division, Kingston.

H. M. Jacques,
Act. Director, Major-General of Medical Service.

ROW OVER ASSESSMENT

It Was Ever Thus, Even as Far Back as 1850

SALVE FOR WOUNDED

Circumstances Attending First Assessment Made of Peterboro

In view of some remonstrance being made as to the manner of and method of the assessment of the city to apply on the payments of taxes in 1915, it may be of interest to look at the circumstances attending the first assessment made of the municipality, that of 1850. The town had recently been incorporated as a town. It had never had status as a village, but was taken, (the municipal area) out of the lands of the township of North Monaghan.

At the Council meeting of April 15th, 1850, there was a row. A deputation of indignant citizens waited on the council to make protest against the assessment. In the vernacular they came to register a kick, same as their successors do unto this day. Like the poor, we have always the kicker with us. The only difference is that today the kicks exceed the record of old days by their frequency and velocity. The brand is identically the same.

After hearing the protestations of the deputation the formal resolution says: "That the final examination and Auditing of the Assessment Roll for the year 1850, by this Council, take place on Tuesday evening, May 7th, at the Police Office; that in all description and disputes respecting the assessed value of Houses this Council will be governed by the former decisions of the District Council; that the Clerk of this Town Council do request W. Sheridan, Esq., Clerk of the late District Council to attend for convenience of reference at the above stated time, and that this resolution be so published that all parties interested may have due and timely notice."

Still the petitioners were not satisfied. They wished for some immediate action. Same as you and I. Naturally enough. Here was a brand new town council, conceived to have much rope and perogative and actually was going back to the same old way of making delays. Confessedly, modern improvements were not doing for a passionate public what had been inferred they should. So matters were re-considered, and a further resolution passed, just as a sort of salve to the wounded feelings of the delegation. There was considerable worrying over the status of "small shops or groceries." And the resolution thus reads:—

War Notes

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

Captain Decker of the American cruiser Tennessee reports the firing on that vessel at Smyrna was not intentional.

Berlin reports the German advance towards Lodz continues but there is nothing to report regarding East Prussia.

Chilean authorities have ordered the pursuit and capture of the German steamers Luxor and Memphis, which sailed yesterday from Chilean ports without clearance papers.

The Petrograd Army Messenger publishes a statement of recent operations saying that the German attempt to march on Warsaw ended in the enemy retreating with enormous losses. East of Cracow, Austro-German forces were twice repulsed with heavy losses.

ATTACK RUSSIANS FROM THREE SIDES

Forces of the Czar Are Estimated at 900,000 Men and Battle Centers at Lodz

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

LONDON, Nov. 21. — A correspondent in Berlin of the Central News says: "All Germany is in extreme tension awaiting the result of the great battle on the eastern frontier. Russian forces are estimated at about 900,000 men. Germans control all roads to Novo, Georgiewsk and Warsaw.

"The battle centres at Lodz, where the Germans and Austrians are in excellent positions, while the new Austrian forces are advancing from the south, the Russians being attacked from three sides."

PARIS STATEMENT.

PARIS, Nov. 21. — The official communication this afternoon reads:

"Nov. 20, generally speaking, was similar to the two preceding days. In Belgium our artillery at Nieuport secured an advantage over that of the enemy. At Hollebeke two attacks of German infantry were immediately repulsed.

"From the Belgium frontier to the Oise there is nothing to report.

"In the region of the Aisne and in Champagne an advantage gained by our batteries over the artillery of the enemy has become more marked and has prevented the Germans from continuing their construction of trenches, begun by them.

"In the Argonne, we blew up certain of the enemy's trenches.

"In the vicinity of Verdun and in the Vosges we made progress. At certain points we have established our trenches at less than thirty yards from the German position."

AUSTRIANS NOT VICTORS.

PARIS, Nov. 21.—The Havas News Agency correspondent in Athens telegraphs that the Servian legation denies stories of great Austrian victories. Servians retreated from their positions around Valjevo before a superior force without loss, except five useless cannon."

QUIET AT THE YSER.

BRUGES, Nov. 21. — Fighting along the Yser has completely stopped. Severe cold weather continues, and old inhabitants fear a repetition of the famous cold winter of 1870-71. Fifty-seven empty trains, each of forty cars, supposed to be destined to carry German troops from the western frontier to East Prussia, have been moving towards West Flanders.

SPAIN TO HELP.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21. — A cable to the Tribune from Madrid says that Spain has entered into a secret agreement to assist the Allies by extra activity in the suppression of German spy activities and of all news of which they can make use.

In return, the Allies will permit the shipment of conditional contraband to Spanish ports and give protection to Spain's export trade.

Above are pictures of some of the British officers who have been awarded honors for distinguished service in the war. They include Captain Blunt, of H. M. S. "Fearless," for gallant attacks on German cruisers; Commander Samson, for successful air reconnaissances at Dunkirk; Captain Tyrwhitt, for great skill and gallantry in H. M. S. "Arethusa"; Flight-Lt. Marix, whose machine was five times hit while attacking the Dusseldorf airship shed; and Squad-Commander Spencer D. A. Grey, for circling Cologne and discharging bombs.

SALVATION ARMY PLANS TO HELP RELIEF FUND

Lodging House for Young Men Who Are Unable to Secure Work

If at all possible, it is the Salvation Army's plan to have a Home for Relief this winter. Sleeping accommodation for a number of men will be provided, provided, however, they will work in some way to earn this. Other than sleeping accommodation for any who cannot get this, a cheap meal will be provided also.

A good quiet reading room, with magazines and papers for the boys, to read will save them from becoming loafers on street corners, in bar-rooms and pool-rooms. Moral and religious influences will be thrown around the men, which will be of a helpful character also.

It is no crime this winter to be poor, and it is up to those who can do so, to help relieve the situation in any way. There will be no room here for the "bum" who will not work. They will be dealt with in the best way possible to get the best results. Adjutant McElhiney has been in conference with the mayor and the chairman of the charity board, together with some of the business men of the city, who think it a good solution of one of the problems which face us this winter, and think the proposition ought to have the hearty support of the City Council, the Patriotic Relief Committee, and the citizens in general.

The adjutant has a building in mind, and if the scheme meets with co-operation he will proceed with the necessary work.

DEATH OF "BOBS."

Rev. R. G. Peever's subject for the morning service in George Street Church tomorrow will be The Death of Lord Roberts, our Empire's Christian Soldier. Two hymns sung at the service in St. Paul's Cathedral, will be given by the choir.

BLAST FURNACES TO CREMATE GERMAN DEAD

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

LONDON, Nov. 21.—The Belgian newspaper Independence Belge, published here since the German occupation of Brussels, has received news from Charleroi that Germans are running big blast furnaces there day and night cremating corpses of German soldiers killed along the Yser.

Bodies are being brought to Charleroi in carloads.

TOOK BULLET HE INTENDED FOR WOMAN

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

Hamilton, Nov. 21.—Joe Benassi, an Italian, attempted this morning to shoot Anna Strosac. The woman escaped and Benassi fired a bullet into his own head on the steps of her house. Doctors say he will die.

Benassi decided to kill the woman and himself after her husband ordered her to have nothing to do with him.

AN EXPOSE IN TORONTO.

A PATENT MEDICINE company, known as "The Nature's Creation Company," has recently been receiving considerable free advertising in Financial Saturday Night. It has also received advertising of a different sort in the Toronto Star, Telegram, Globe, and News, for which it paid fat prices. This was the company, the manager and owners of which were recently fined heavily under the False Advertising Act. The company claimed to have found a cure for consumption, and advertised it as such. The evidence showed that the concoction cost approximately twenty-five cents a bottle, which was retailed at five dollars, that it was not a cure for tuberculosis, nor even a medicine for that disease in any shape or form. In the course of his evidence, Dr. Johnson, who, as chief coroner for the city of Toronto, and who in his own extensive private practice, besides acting as chief medical adviser for important corporations, has had experience in such matters which is probably not exceeded by any other medical man in Ontario, went on to state that 90 per cent. of the people of Toronto, as well as other places, have consumption in some form or other in varying degrees of activity. Dr. Johnson has found in his experience, and from the evidence of post-mortems that a very large percentage of people are afflicted in some form or other with tuberculosis. Dr. Johnson said that consumption was present, but in the great majority of instances it would require something to start the disease, that is, to make it active. In some cases it had been found, he said, that the disease was hereditary.

The fact that a medical authority states that ninety per cent. of the people of one large city are afflicted with the white plague in some form is not comforting. However, since medical men admit they know really very little about this disease, they may be honestly mistakened as to its prevalence in people commonly considered healthy.

Another point of more importance that this case brought out is the ineffectiveness of the newspaper organizations in Canada to maintain their recommendations for a decent moral standard. The Press Association has year after year affirmed that its members should not make misleading statements as to circulation, nor insert advertising matter that was not respectable. The associated advertising clubs of America, which assembled in convention in Toronto last summer, adopted Truth as their motto, and yet, in spite of all these sanctimonious protestations, several of the best and most respectable newspapers in Canada accepted and published the quack advertising of this Nature's Creation Company. We believe that a tremendous amount of harm is done by newspapers which spread abroad recommendations for medicines which, aside from being a waste of money to the purchasers, injures their health, or creates an appetite for drugs or alcohol that, in its effects on morals, is the worst calamity that could befall a seeker after health. We know of people that swear by the Toronto Globe. Doubtless all the Toronto papers have their admirers, but these papers were among those which, while subscribers to truth in advertising and to agreements for the uplift of journalism, were partners in this instance, in a naked, cold-blooded attempt to take dollars from helpless unfortunates in the grip of a fell disease.

So far as the newspaper fraternity goes, this case clearly demonstrates that the men controlling them are no different from the rest of humanity. Regulations, mottos and agreements may be made, but they are of no avail unless coupled with some penalty. Morals are talked about every day. The country is over-run with churches, preachers and sermons, and yet, nobody in their senses would advocate doing away with courts, jails, and legal penalties, and leaving each man to act according to his conscience or common sense. With all our moral uplift and religious instruction, we still maintain laws and penalties, and back them up with brute force. If Truth is to be the effective standard of advertising and journalism, there must be some penalty attached to the publication of a false advertisement.

THE FLEMMING CASE.

WHEN certain charges were made against the Hon. J. K. Flemming, late premier of New Brunswick, the Grits made as much ammunition out of the charges as possible. What they will say now since Mr. Flemming has been found not guilty by a Royal Commission remains to be seen. That they will say they were sorry for baseless allegations made against him, we do not expect. It should be remembered, however, that the Borden Government ordered this investigation by a non-partizan commission into the affairs of several of its own supporters, and that the report has been presented BEFORE an appeal to the country is made. Borden has given the people good government, he trusts them, and is not afraid of his record.

NO PRIVILEGES HERE.

A VERY INTERESTING judgment was recently given by the Supreme Court of Canada. An appellant sought to claim for a private company exemption from school tax on the assumption that an agreement had been made to that effect by certain municipalities. There was no doubt that the municipalities made the agreement, but The Public Schools Act of 1909 of the Legislature of Ontario says that "No bylaw of a municipal council passed after the 14th day of April, 1892, or hereafter passed for exempting any portion of the rateable property of a municipality from taxation, in whole or in part, shall be held or construed to exempt such property from school rates of any kind.

In giving his emphatic approval of this provision of the Legislature made to prevent municipalities giving way to privilege-hunters, the Chief Justice of Canada (Vol. 50, No. 2, Supreme Court Reports) made the following remark: "It would seem as if there was one small corner of the legislative domain in which the privilege-hunter has, in Ontario, no ground for hope. The Legislature seems to have been persistent and emphatic." This Legislative Act passed in 1909 by the Whitney Government is one of the greatest safeguards which a municipality, and therefore the people of Ontario, could have. It prevents those capitalists who have tempting propositions from making the average ratepayer pay his school tax, which in the case of a large concern would be very considerable, since school taxes amount, as a rule, to one-fourth of the total amount of the taxes collected. For example, in the city of Peterborough this would amount to probably $30,000 a year, if not more.

It is such Acts as these that endeared to the hearts of the people the late Conservative Premier. In vivid contrast to this provision, we see that of the Ross Government, which provided that farm lands in cities, towns and villages, if used as farm lands, must be assessed as farm lands. In the city of Peterborough a large block of land which was assessed for a great many years as farm land, although surrounded on three sides by streets and dwellings, escaped all but farm land assessment, till suddenly it was cut up and sold for city lots, realizing not less than fifty times the amount for which it was assessed. Between the Ross Government and the vicious system of allowing municipalities to be despoiled of their just rights, the owners of this block of land got off with an immense sum, to which must be added the taxes which they escaped for many years and the interest on them.

Privileges were no part of the policy of Sir James Whitney, and this stout provision so incisively referred to by the Chief Justice of Canada is well worthy of thought and remark by all those who wish to return thanks for good work done solely in the interests of the people. The day may come when the money a man puts into land will be all that he will be considered entitled to get out of that land. The value which a municipality gives to it by its enterprise and growth may have to be returned to that municipality. The provision will be after the pattern of that promulgated by Sir James, although strange to say that very gentleman had not yet reached the point of recognizing the propriety of bringing this about. The public and their representatives, municipal councils, are very apt to give way to the demands of people who acquire a usurious return to themselves for any benefit which is in a business way conferred upon a community. There is no sense in municipalities spending vast sums to make themselves strong, prosperous and vigorous, and letting the industrial and substantial returns be divided up greatly to the advantage of speculators in land who lie around in idleness waiting for just such an opportunity. The judgement of the learned Chief Justice gives rise to many thoughts and suggests a revision of this whole question to which we have referred.

OUR PATRIOTIC SCANDAL.

HIS LORDSHIP Bishop O'Brien spoke with warmth at the meeting last night of the failure of the rich men of Peterborough to measure up to those of other places at this crisis in respect of our local patriotic needs.

People who disregard the protests of those who, for the first time, need the help of their fellow-citizens, against being directed to the municipal charity officer, are cruel beyond the cruelty of perhaps any other form of wounding people's feelings conceivable.

The grief at finding themselves poverty-stricken and at the mercy of Charity is too dreadful for many in need to face. By our contemplated action in this respect, what room have we left for that Christian sympathy and patriotic fellowship that ought to be the last things which any self-respecting person would attempt to throw over? We must not permit this wound to be inflicted on our friends.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

YOU KNOW, while Major-General the Hon. Sam Hughes might have been a little more reserved in his remarks at Toronto, one can forgive him when he said such a clever bon mot as "Don't get Winchesters, get shot-guns." To tell the truth, we didn't think it was in Sam Hughes, but Canadians should not forget that our Minister of Militia has no doubt profited by his visit to France.

THE TOWN OF DUNDAS, with a population of less than 5,000, has raised almost $9,000 for their Patriotic Fund. What do the well-to-do citizens of Peterborough think of that?

JUST HERE we may say that the Review was one paper in Peterborough that did not publish the advertising of the Nature's Creation Company.

PRO-GERMAN PERIODICALS.

Editor Review,

Sir,—The Government's intention to prevent the circulation in this country of the three American pro-German periodicals is quite proper, but it should act diligently and stop them at once.

I happened to take up a periodical yesterday, when sufficient evidence caught my eye in a moment's reading of its spacious arguments based upon a tissue of false statements which showed at once its bias, if not its violence, causing many persons to believe that these papers are in the receipt of German bribe money for the purpose of influencing the minds of our American friends against us, if not indeed the minds of our own citizens and thereby creating dissensions when the exigencies of the crisis demands a solid front. In war times such a matter should be dealt with summarily.

These papers have a large circulation in this country and the loss they would sustain by such exclusion might be greater than what they gain by the German bribe funds.

Yours truly,

IRCREASE AGREED TO.

British Commons Votes To Add 1,000,000 To Army.

LONDON, Nov. 21.—The House of Commons yesterday formally passed the vote for the supplementary army estimate, which provides for an additional army of 1,000,000 men.

This is the additional million men mentioned by Premier Asquith in the House of Commons last Monday. It is quite apart from the territorials and is additional to the 1,100,000 men now said to be under arms.

Referring to the supplementary estimate, Harold J. Tennant, Under Secretary of State for War, said the official view was that this further million men ought to be sufficient so far as the Government was able to see at present to crown British arms with success. He declined to give the actual numbers of men enlisted, but he remarked that the figures recently given by the Prime Minister, which were roughly in the neighborhood of 1,100,000, were below rather than above the actual total.

The present idea of the War Office, Mr. Tennant continued, was to duplicate the territorial force, making one battalion for home defence and the other for foreign service.

With regard to the suggestions that Lord Kitchener's army of recruits should be treated differently to the professional soldiers, Mr. Tennant remarked:

"The chief characteristic of Lord Kitchener is not sentiment, and not even persuasive eloquence. These advocates of different treatment would make him change his decision in a matter on which he feels strongly."

PRISONERS KILLED.

Unsuccessful Outbreak In Concentration Camp In Britain Reported.

PARIS, Nov. 21. — Authentic news was received here from official sources last night that many German prisoners of war were killed and many others were injured Thursday in an outbreak in a concentration camp in England. While your correspondent is unable to obtain details of the outbreak or to get a telegram on the subject to or from England, he is assured that the facts stated above are authentic.

There are eight concentration camps in the British Isles for the German prisoners of war.

These camps are located at Aldershot, Newbury, Dorchester, Queensberry, Lancaster, Dyfrim Hall (near Chester), Edinburgh and Templemore, Ireland.

The Aldershot camp is at Frith Hill. That at Newbury is established on the famous race course. At Dorchester the men are quartered in barracks. Two abandoned factory buildings have been transformed into quarters for the prisoners at Queensberry. Similar accommodations have been secured at Lancaster. At Templemore the military barracks have been converted into prison rooms, and at Edinburgh the camp is established in the open, while Dyfrim Hall, a large country mansion, is used to house the officers.

With the added tax on beer some fellows will try to pay all of the $100,000,000 themselves.

Treasuring Trophies

When a British Tommy obtains a war trophy in fair fight, he will stick to that trophy as though it were precious gold. The reason is not far to seek. A war trophy is a proof of victory, and in years to come, it forms not only an interesting link with the glorious past, but a proof to a younger generation that one's reminiscences are not fairy tales!

One poor fellow, with one arm off and the other in a sling, caused a melancholy kind of amusement by the pertinacity with which he clung to a rifle he had captured from a German soldier. He would not let it go out of his grasp, despite his condition, for a single moment. He was riding in a car, when a fellow passenger, anxious to make him comfortable, suggested that he should lay the rifle down for a minute.

"No, no!" he protested, "Whatever happens, I ain't going to let go that!"

Another soldier, with one arm in a sling, proudly carried the cap of a German soldier under the other. There was a stalwart Scotsman, too, whose ankle was bound up. He regarded his injury with great glee.

"Look, boys!" he cried. "It took fifty of the bounders to do that. They are a brave lot!"

It isn't exactly correct to say that the railways ought to be relieved, but it is for the relief of the public whose interests require efficient railway service.

Keeping a Resolution

By MARGARET C. DEVEREAUX

The day I was graduated from the medical school—the only woman in my class—dear old Dr. Phillips, who handed me my diploma, said to me, with a smile:

"There it is, my dear. But it will do you no good."

"Why do you say that, doctor?" I asked, much disconcerted.

"Some young fellow will induce you to marry him, and you will have no time to practice a profession which, if practiced properly, will require all your time."

I was young and headstrong. Moreover, I had spent years preparing myself for my vocation. I grasped the doctor's hand and, raising my other, dramatically said:

"I promise you, Dr. Phillips, that I will devote my life to the sick. I make this pledge that it shall be impossible for me to go back on my profession."

I shall never forget the kindly smile or the twinkle of the eye with which the good doctor received this vow. I strutted out of the room and as I closed the door behind me shut off part of what he said:

"I'll bet you don't practice three"—

I tried to get a position that would give me hospital work, but, failing in this, hung up my shingle as a general practitioner. I had been practicing but a few months when an elderly lady came to my office and said that she would like me to treat her son. From her description of his disease I thought that it was probably melancholia. The young man was up and about and attending to business. I therefore suggested that he call at my office during my consultation hours. But his mother said that it was she who desired the services of a physician for her son and she could only succeed in submitting him to treatment and insisted on my going to the house. Besides, she wished him to see a woman physician, whereas if he went to an office he would probably go to a man.

This argument prevailed, and it was agreed that I was to call the next day after 5 in the afternoon, when the young man—Dick his mother called him—had returned from business. I made the call, was received by the lady and introduced to the patient. There was that about him which reminded me of some one else, but I could not tell who the other person was. He did not appear to be ill, but appearances are often deceptive.

I plied him with questions, which he seemed disinclined to answer, and I succeeded in getting very little out of him. All I could do was to recommend that he take out of door exercise and have what society he relished. His mother was present during the interview, and when I arose to depart she put her arms about me and said:

"Help us out by giving us your company occasionally as well as your professional services, won't you? Dick won't go out, and I know no young persons to invite to the house."

I could give no definite reply to this of course, and simply bowed assent.

"Oblige me by staying to dinner with us," continued the old lady, and she began quietly to remove my hat and coat. I made but a faint resistance, and we were soon enjoying ourselves at table. For my life I could see no sign of illness in Dick, who was very entertaining and charmed me with his conversation.

I am not going to give the history of my professional treatment of my patient, Richard Ashley, for mingled with it is a love story of which he is the hero and I the heroine. He was never ill, though he led me to suppose that there was a nervous weakness about him that did not appear on the surface. I studied his case for months, trying different remedies, which I had my doubts he ever took. Finally I found myself so deeply in love that I was ready to sacrifice my profession for him. Indeed, the great problem of my life became, not how to cure him, or any one else, for that matter, but to appropriate him to myself. It was I rather than he who suffered from a peculiar disease. If any attractive young woman came near him I was seized with a terrible anxiety lest some other woman should take him away from me.

However, time proved that these fears were groundless, for one evening after one of my visits to him and I had been invited to dinner his mother left us alone together in the library, and what I so desired was clinched by a proposal.

As soon as our engagement was made known to the members of our respective families congratulations began to come in. "His sisters and his cousins and his aunts" called on me, and they were all not only very gracious to me, but regarded me with an amused curiosity. One day who should come to see me but my old preceptor, Dr. Phillips, to whom I had made the pledge not to marry. I could not escape him, so I faced him. He was brimming over with amusement.

"You little humbug!" he said. "I knew you would not be saved for the medical profession, so I resolved to get you into my family. I told my nephew about you and your pledge, suggesting that he make you break it. He has done his work beautifully, though his mother has been of great assistance to him."

"You miserable, mean, good for nothing"—

I threw myself into the dear old man's arms.

Some Recipes Worth Trying

Beet Relish

Six large beets put into boiling water, cooked until tender, taking great care not to break the skin. when cooked put into clear cold water and the skin will slip off. Set aside and when cold chop not too fine. Add three cups of cabbage cut in strings or on slaw cutter. Over these put one even tablespoon of salt and allow to stand one hour. Drain. Heat one quart of mild vinegar with one cup of sugar and add one teaspoon of whole spice and one-half cup of chopped sweet green pepper. Turn over beet and cabbage mixture. Ready for use in two days.

Chili, Chicken and Rice

Joint two chickens, boil in three quarts of water with salt to taste until very tender. There should be two quarts of stock left. Take out one pint. Boil three pints and drop in two-thirds cup of rice. Boil ten minutes and add three chopped chilis that have been put in oven until skin can be removed. Boil ten minutes longer. Stir into rice and chili two tablespoons of butter. Put layer of one-third rice in bottom of shallow pan, then layer of half-boned chicken. Alternate rice and chicken, having rice on top. Beat the yolks of three eggs into the pint of cool broth, pour over rice, sprinkle with few bread crumbs and bits of butter. Set in oven to brown. Serve very hot.

Peaches With Orange Jelly

Drain the juice from halves of preserved peaches and set peaches in cool place. Take one-half box of any powdered gelatine and put over it one cup of orange juice. When soft turn one cup of hot peach syrup over orange juice and gelatine. Stir until all is dissolved. Allow to cool and when beginning to set beat to foam with dover beater. Fill the peaches with the beaten orange gelatine and set aside to get firm. When ready to serve whip one cup of cream until stiff, add one cup of peach syrup and turn over peaches and serve with angel cakes.

Use up Stale Bread

One pound of stale bread, one pound of currants, a quarter of a pound of suet, half a pound of treacle or syrup, one tablespoonful of marmalade, little portion of nutmeg, two tablespoonfuls of milk. Mix treacle and milk together, lay bread to soak for ten minutes, then squeeze dry. Mix all together and steam for eight hours. Quite equal to rich plum pudding, and will make two good size puddings.

GUARD THE CHILDREN FROM AUTUMN COLD

The fall is the most severe season of the year for colds — one day is warm while the next is wet and cold, and unless the mother is on her guard the little ones are seized with colds that may hang on all winter. Baby's Own Tablets are mother's best friend in preventing or banishing colds. They act as a gentle laxative, keeping the bowels and stomach free and sweet. An occasional dose will prevent cold, or if cold does come on suddenly the prompt use of the Tablets will quickly cure it. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Humor and Philosophy

By DUNCAN M. SMITH

NO BENEFACTOR.

WHO invented Halloween
In the storied long ago?
Did he know what he was at?
That is what I'd like to know.
Did the fellow realise
All the trouble and the pain
He was storing up for those
Who in later years would reign?

Wish he'd got it patented,
So that only those could be
Good and crazy on the day
Who could ante up a fee.
Then we'd have a little peace.
Who would venture for a lark
If it cost him thirty cents
To be frisky after dark?

As it is that any one
May butt in without a cent
In the morning we show up
With the landscape slightly bent.
Everything that's unattached
Upside down is on display,
And the town is as a man
With a headache all next day.

If the man who thought it out,
All the details of the thing,
Had forgot it right away
How his praises we would sing!
But he acted in a way
That his future fame would dim,
Made it free to any one,
And we've got it in for him.

Getting It Straight.

In one of the western towns during the recent visit of the president society had a desperate wrestle with the authorities before it decided what would be proper for the men to wear.

It finally came to the conclusion that evening clothes had no place at a breakfast and was happy.

If there is anything that scares the man not society broken it is evening clothes. When first called to don them his first inclination is to fly the coop. That is also his second and third inclination, but his wife holds him to it, and, much to his surprise, he actually lives through the ordeal.

Generous.

"What are the charges against this man?" demanded the judge.

"Nothing, your honor," replied the policeman.

"And you had him locked up all night?"

"Yes."

"Couldn't you at least charge him for his board?"

Some Day Might Know.

"Are you in favor of woman suffrage?"

"I guess so."

"Are you married?"

"No."

"That explains why you are guessing."

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

A lazy man is one who has no foes to conquer.

The man who has plenty of perseverance is almost certain to carry his point, but the question is, Where can one get perseverance?

The modern steamship doesn't wait for time or tide.

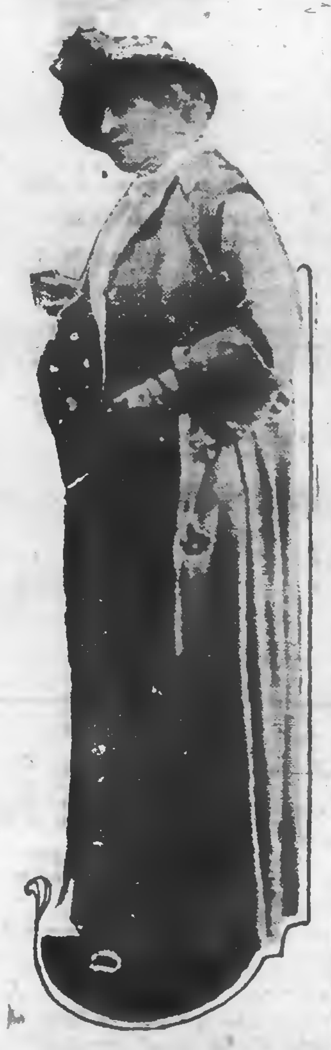
THE USE OF FAT FOR COOKING

No cooking fat is really cheap except by comparison with the very expensive butter product. But if care is used in saving all bits of fat from meat they can be utilized in various ways. A good fat chicken stewed will serve for several meals and is not an expensive meat. The large pieces of fat around the organs of the fowl should be tried out carefully in a slow oven so the odor will pass up the chimney instead of out into the kitchen. This fat strained and mixed with an equal amount of fat or lard makes a delicious firm fat for frying. The pure chicken fat may be used for cookies. It is used in the same manner as butter and makes a rich crisp cookie. Beef suet may be tried out in the same way and mixed with lard or vegetable fat to take away the tallow-like consistency. These mixed fats are not only much better than pure lard for frying, but cheaper, and pieces can be utilized which would otherwise be thrown away.

When the fat used for deep fat frying becomes rancid or too dark to use, it should be set away for soap making. All pieces of salt pork or trimmings from ham should be added to this soap fat. In the spring it should be thoroughly washed to remove the salt and sediment, and then made into soap. The cost of this soap is only ten cents, or the price of a can of lye. One can of lye to 5½ pounds fat is the right proportion and it can be easily made by carefully following the directions on any lye can. If care is taken to save every tablespoon of fat, enough can be collected to keep the kitchen supplied with a good hard home-made dishwashing soap.



Practical Motor Coat

The woman who motors much has found that the motor coat, without any furbelows and little trimming, is the kind that she takes most comfort in.

A long coat of heavy raw silk musses less than of any other material, and gray or tan, the colors that show dust least, are the best colors to choose in a coat of this kind.

The one pictured is of tan cotton ratine, with buttons of bone, capacious pockets and a decided air of comfort and elegance.

Making Screwnails Stick

Where screws are driven into soft wood and subjected to considerable strain, they are very likely to work loose, and it is often very difficult to make them hold. In such cases the use of glue is profitable. Make the glue thick; immerse a stick about half the size of the screw, and put it into the hole; then put in the screw and drive it home as quickly as possible.

Making Steak Tender

To make tough steak tender, put three tablespoonfuls of salad oil and one tablespoonful of vinegar on a large flat dish. Lay the steak on the mixture and let it rest in this way for half an hour. Then turn it over, and let it rest another half hour in the same quantity of vinegar and oil. The toughest steak will yield to the treatment and be nice and tender when served.

Care of Kitchen Dishes

Much of the flavor, delicacy and wholesomeness of food depends upon the proper care of the utensils used in preparing it. Besides, cooking utensils properly cared for last much longer than those which are not. Tin, wood or iron utensils should be as carefully washed and wiped as the diningroom china and glass.

A tiny pinch of carbonate of soda or salt added to milk as soon as it arrives will help to preserve it from turning sour.

MISS CATHARINE WELLAND MERRITT

of St. Catharines, who was appointed by Queen Mary as Canadian organizer of the Queen Mary Needlework Guild, which aims to collect and distribute clothing to soldiers and sailors and to their families. The work is now well under way. A meeting of the guild will be held at Ottawa in February to note the progress made. Miss Merritt was in Germany when the war broke out, but made her way to London and was received in private audience by Her Majesty.

BIFOCAL LENSES.

They Had Their Origin In Ben Franklin's Double Glasses.

Everybody who uses bifocal glasses probably wonders where the idea originally came from. Bifocal glasses are the kind that possess two separate lenses cemented together so that by looking in the upper part one can see at a great distance and by looking through the lower half one can read.

Most authorities are inclined to give Benjamin Franklin credit for the invention. He was, so the story goes, an inveterate reader and could not use his reading glasses when looking any distance away.

Finally the notion came to him that he could combine his glasses, and he thereupon had the lenses cut in half and one-half of each lens placed in the rim of each spectacle rim. The result was that a single pair of glasses was sufficient, though present day oculists state that the sharply drawn line must have effected his eyes.

From this idea the oculists gradually developed a glass in which the lower part was arranged for reading and the upper part for long distance vision, while the annoying "marking line" was eliminated.—Washington Star.

Mount Rainier's Shadows.

There are some wonderful shadow effects produced by and upon the gigantic snowy cone of Mount Rainier. It sometimes happens that the sky as seen from the city of Tacoma just before sunrise is covered with a dome of cloud 15,000 feet or more in height, while behind the peak, toward the east, the sky is clear. In such circumstances the rising sun casts the shadow of the great mountain upon the cloud curtain overhead in the form of a vast blue triangle, the point of which rests upon the apex of the peak. At other times the shadow of the earth can be seen creeping up the cone in a distinct curve, while the flush of sunset stains the snow above the line of shadow to a deep pink.

The British Crown.

The present crown of the English king was originally made for Queen Victoria at her coronation in 1838. The principal jewels were taken from older crowns. The most noted stone is the great ruby which was given to the Black Prince by Peter the Cruel after the battle of Navarette in 1367. It was also worn by Henry V. in the crown encircling his helmet at the battle of Agincourt in 1415.—Philadelphia Press.

The Kaiser would make a hit by sending home for the winter underwear clothes of his army. And the Germans will wear the old-fashioned woollen socks.

WOMAN SICK FOR YEARS

Wants Other Women to Know How She was Finally Restored to Health.

Hammond, Ont. — "I am passing through the Change of Life and for two years had hot flushes very bad, headaches; soreness in the back of head, was constipated, and had weak, nervous feelings. The doctor who attended me for a number of years did not help me, but I have been entirely relieved of the above symptoms by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, Blood Purifier and Liver Pills, and give you permission to publish my testimonial." — Mrs. LOUIS BEAUCAGE, Sr., Hammond, Ont., Canada.

New Brunswick, Canada. — "I can highly recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to any suffering woman. I have taken it for female weakness and painful menstruation and it cured me." — Mrs. DEVERE BARBOUR, Harvey Bank, New Brunswick, Canada.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotic or harmful drugs, and to-day holds the record of being the most successful remedy for female ills we know of, and thousands of voluntary testimonials on file in the Pinkham laboratory at Lynn, Mass., seem to prove this fact. Every suffering woman owes it to herself to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

"Here's Dad to play for us!"

Why shouldn't this mean you, Sir or Madam—why not keep young with the young folk? Why not refresh your tired spirit all the rest of your days with the ever-youthful gaiety of music? And withal—play as though Liszt himself were at the keyboard—aided by the

New Scale Williams Player Piano

with it's marvellous Meister-Touch Action controlling the tempo and rhythm and its Centre Tracking Control Device assuring perfect control of the music roll. These enable you to develop your own latent musical abilities. Your individuality is never flattened to a dead level of mechanical production. You soar on the wings of music to heights undreamt of by the Masters themselves.

On request, we gladly send Art Catalogue with illustrations of the making of a complete Piano and Player, and portraits and biographies of the Great Musicians.

RURAL SCHOOL GRANTS IN EAST PETERBORO

Part of the grant to rural school is paid on the basis of accommodation and equipment. For this purpose a certain sum is voted by the Legislature, which is distributed among the counties in proportion to the number of schols. An equal amount must be raised by the county, and this joint sum is apportioned among the schools. The portion based on equipment is ten per cent. of the total value, and the part on accommodation is based on the grading made by the inspector in accordance with a scheme furnished by the Department of Education.

The amounts for the schools in the Inspectorate of Peterborough East for the current year are shown below. They will be paid by the county treasurer to the various schol section treasurers, from funds provided half by provincial treasurer and half by a tax levied on all public school section treasurers, from funds will be paid, except in a few cases, on or shortly after the first of December.

NERVOUS WOMEN

Can Only Find Relief by Toning the Nerves With New Rich Blood

The woman who "flies to pieces" over the least noise or excitement soon fades and loses her good looks. Dark rings appear under her eyes, the lines about her mouth and forehead deepen and lengthen, the eyes become sunken, the face drawn, and the complexion sallow.

The trouble is nervousness, and if the strain is not relieved and the nerves properly nourished, nervous collapse and years of sickness may easily follow. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People will save you from this dreadful affliction. These Pills make the new, rich blood that nourishes and tones the nerves and banish every trace of nervousness. Mrs. Margaret Donley, Amherst, N. S., says: "I believe Dr. Williams' Pink Pills saved me from the grave. I was taken down with nervous prostration and for months was unable to walk. I slowly recovered until I was able to go aout, but there the improvement ended. I was getting weaker and weaker until I could just get from the bed to a couch. The least noise would set me trembling all over, and often when I went to the table I would leave it hungry and yet unable to eat. Sometimes I was taken with smothering spells and felt as if I was going to die. At other times I would be so nervous that I could not hold anything in my hands. I was doctoring all the time but without benefit, and finally I made up my mind I would try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They were the first medicine that gave me any relief, and I was soon able to take a short walk. I continued using the Pills, gradually gaining new health and strength, until I finally felt as well as ever I did in my life. At the time Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cured me I was living in Sackville, and my illness and cure was known to everyone in that place, and my friends, like myself, believe the Pills saved my life."

These Pills are sold by all medicine dealers or will be sent by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

One Hundred Mile March

Kingston, Nov. 21. — Arrangements are being made for the 21st Battalion for overseas service to take a hundred-mile march through the county of Frontenac in real hard winter weather, probably neat month.

This march will be similar to the one taken a few years ago by the Royal Canadian Horse Artillery of Kingston, when the thermometer was below zero.

Bivouacs will be made at suitable places along the route, and it will give the men a taste of marching in a typical Canadian winter.

BOYS HEARD ABOUT BRITISH BATTLESHIPS

Some 150 boys were privileged last night to hear an address on life and training aboard a British battleship, delivered in the Y.M.C.A. by Mr. Keyes of the Normal School staff. He doubled interest in the address by lantern pictures depicting scenes and views on a British man-of-war. One striking picture showed a torpedo before being discharged; its course through the water and ultimate effect. Mr. Keyes explained that torpedoes had now been devised that might be turned at right angles on their course.

Scenes aboard a battleship in times of peace were also displayed; the middies shown at their meals, at work and at play. Mr. Keyes said he hoped some of the boys present would some day become midshipmen in the Canadian navy. A good picture of a torpedo boat was shown. Britain had 270 vessels of this description. He explained that when a submarine is 20 feet below the surface, a mirror at the top of the perescope reflects a vision of the ocean's surface to those below. A picture of King George was shown and loudly applauded.

SIEGE NEARS END

Russians Hold Trenches Around Przemysl

PARIS, Nov. 21.—A despatch to the Havas Agency from Petrograd says:—

"It is announced here that the siege of Przemysl appears to be rapidly approaching its end. The trenches surrounding the fortifications are in the possession of the Russian troops. Many of the trenches are filled with lime, confirming statements of prisoners that cholera is raging in the garrison of Przemysl."

Britons Rounded Up In Vienna.

VENICE, Nov. 21.—(Via Paris.)—The police of Vienna are adopting much more severe measures against British people remaining in that city. During the past few days many Britishers have been arrested and interned, and the rest, irrespective of age or sex, are now forbiddn to leave thir home between 8 o'clock in the evening and 6 o'clock in the morning, or to visit cafes or other public places.

The Times' special correspondent at Venice says:—

Count Apponyi, writing in The Vienna Zeit, says: "The situation certainly is very grave. We find ourselves, we and our faithful allies, before a strong enemy and coalition created by hate, envy and cupidity, but let us not allow ourselves to fall into black pessimism. It is our duty to prepare our people and to encourage them towards every possible effort and sacrifice."

CANADIAN CAVALRY FOR FRONT

MONTREAL, Nov. 21. — Advices from England yesterday announced that the Canadian Dragoons, the Strathcona Horse, and the Montreal Corps of Guides had left Salisbury Plain for the front.

The information was received in a cable from a member of the Royal Canadian Dragoons. The cable read: "Leaving for the continent to-morrow."

As the cable was private it apparently escaped the censor. It was received here two days ago.

The Royal Canadian Dragoons are a permanent mounted regiment and are commanded by Lieut.-Col. C. M. Nelles. The Strathcona Horse is composed mostly of westerners.

Von Buelow To Go To Italy.

PARIS, Nov. 21.—A despatch from Rome to the Fournier Agency states that Prince von Buelow has been appointed German Ambassador to Italy.

Recent despatches from Rome have indicated that Herr von Flotow, the German Ambassador there, was about to retire.

Prince Bernhard von Buelow, formerly Chancellor of the German Empire, who usually resides in Rome, and who, through his Italian marriage, has great influence in Italian society, was mentioned as likely to take the post in view of its importance at this crisis.

HELP ! HELP !

Not Enough Space on Post Card for Correspondent

Unsigned and almost undecipherable, a postcard, looking more like a Chinese puzzle, came in the mail of the Board of Trade secretary this week. It was covered with writing which ran both ways, so that what was written lengthwise was obscured by the writing across it.

Sufficient of the writing was decipherable, however, to show that it was apparently the work of a fanatic living in a place called Ottsfield, United States. It predicted the downfall of England, and said that Japan would soon make war on Canada. England would soon be in the weak condition of nations like Spain.

That was about all that could be deciphered.

Secretary Allison attaches no importance to the card in view of its peculiar and amusing character.

Hasn't Any.

"That picture lacks atmosphere."

"Sure. It is a painting of the moon, and the scientists tell us it has no atmosphere."

Y.M.C.A. DOINGS

Owing to the serious illness of his mother, Mr. G. A. Carson, physical director of the local Y. M. C. A., was called to his home in Moncton, N. B last evening. Until he returns the leaders' corps will have charge of the gymnasium classes.

Things are booming around the "Y." these days, and a variety of activities are in progress.

Last evening the senior gymnasium class of the Y. M. C. A. entertained forty young ladies from the Y. W. C. A.

Mr. C. E. Sisson had charge of the program, which consisted of games, music, suffragettes in action, winding up with refreshments. The affair was greatly enjoyed and a pleasant evening spent. Reasonable hours were kept, and all present felt that they would like to repeat the program in the near future.

Mr. W. E. Hassard of Toronto will address the life problem class Sunday afternoon at 4.15. Every man is invited. The Bible study committee is desirous of inviting every young man to attend the Bible class supper Monday evening at 6.30.

Tonight a basketball double-header is to be played, the Bankers and the Dreadnots putting on the opening game, followed by the Pirates and St. Paul's. Ross Dobbin will handle both games. The public are cordially invited to drop in and see the boys play.

The work in all departments of the Y. M. C. A. is well under way. The Y. M. C. A. fortunately has secured very wide-awake committees to have charge of the program for the present season.

At the meeting of the social and educational committee, of which Mr. W. B. Warne is chairman, which was held on Thursday evening, the following plans were considered:

Mr. E. E. Logan was appointed to investigate evening educational classes now being conducted in Peterboro and to recommend such classes as might be successfully conducted by the Y. M. C. A. The Association is willing to conduct educational classes in any subject in which ten men will enroll.

Norman Lang, C. S. Thompson and Frank Pidgeon were appointed to seek the co-operation of the Bible societies of the various churches in a debating club or society.

The committee strongly recommended that all the committees of the Association unite in some form of relief work for those in need in our city.

Billiard and checker tournaments are being arranged and will be supervised by competent committees.

Messrs. W. B. Warne and C. N. Meserve were requested to suggest subjects and speakers for a series of practical talks.

COMPARATIVE QUIET BATTLE AT STANDSTILL

Three Days' Sharp Conflict Has Taken Place in the Argonne and French Have Lost Positions on Left of Meuse.

LONDON, Nov. 21.—In the western war area the Germans have moved their main point of attack from West Flanders to the Argonne forest. Sharp fighting has been in progress in this region for the last three days.

The French troops have lost the positions from which they drove the Germans in the town of Chauvincourt, in the Meuse region, several days ago, it was officially announced yesterday. Following the blowing up of the French stations by German mines, the Kaiser's forces reoccupied the destroyed sections, the French retreating to their trenches.

The British army was victorious in a sharp artillery duel south of Ypres, the vigor of the British cross-bombardment compelling the Germans to cease firing.

In West Flanders the weather conditions are bleak and wintry, operations apparently being almost at a standstill. The frequent artillery duels and boat forays recall the historic siege of Leyden.

The German official statement issued yesterday says that a French attack southwest of Verdun was repulsed.

The French official statement says that the Germans have reoccupied the western part of the Village of Chauvincourt, thereby confirming the report from other quarters.

Announcement comes from Bruges, Belgium, of a German defeat in a determined attack at Nieuport to gain control of the canal locks to stop the flooding of German battle positions. The Kaiser's troops were sent forward in armored automobiles, but were driven back by the Franco-Belgian army which now holds a strongly-fortified line east of Nieuport.

Large forces of German engineers have been sent to the front to construct bridges at the points of strategic importance in the inundated territory. Their first efforts will be devoted to preparing a roadway west of Dixmude for the renewal of the German attack to force the passage of the Yser Canal.

The Germans have completed a secondary line of fortifications in Belgium in case of a retreat and the troops employed in their construction have been sent to the firing line.

Further charges of atrocities committed by the Germans in Belgium, including the allegation that a total of at least 2,350 civilians were executed at Tamines, Dinant, and in Belgian, Luxemburg, were made by the Belgian commission in an additional report made public by the war bureau yesterday.

It is claimed there are no germs 2000 feet in the air. And we are not going up in an aeroplane to prove it, either.

A lot of people go through the world like a man who hires a taxicab and puts in all his time watching the meter.

The big airship America has made the trip successfully across the Atlantic—in the big liner Mauretania.

ADVANCEMENT MADE BY THE CITY PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Enrolment Has Increased in Five Years From 1,938 to 2,439.

11 MORE TEACHERS

In this age, when so great an emphasis is placed on education, it is pleasing to note that Peterborough is not in the van, or lagging behind in the education of her rising generation. Indeed, it can be stated truthfully and with justifiable pride that Peterborough possesses educational institutions and facilities that place her in the front rank of Ontario cities, and one of the reasons for her remarkable advancement is the attention that has been bestowed upon her public schools. Early recognizing no city can be called progressive where her children are neglected, the Board of Education of this city has striven with might and main to keep its school expansion abreast of its wonderful development, industrially, and commercially. Consequently we have today an investment in public schools and grounds and equipment a sum in round numbers of $350,000.

New Subjects Taught.

To accurately picture the expansion and growth in the public school life of Peterborough, a certain amount of statistics and comparative figures must be introduced. Before going into that, a glance at some of the innovations into the school curriculum will be found of interest. Chief among these are household science and manual training. It was not so many years ago that the average parent would have laughed at the idea that his boy or girl could learn to cook a meal, bake a cake, make a pie, or manufacture serviceable pieces of woodwork, such as chairs, tables, and ornamental furniture in a school. But the laugh is on them. By the introduction of facilities for this kind of education, the boys and girls of the public schools of this city are learning to do identically those things which fortune's wheel may lead them to when school days are a thing of their past. Then there is musical instruction. Pupils are taught how to use their voices, how to breathe properly, how to sing without embarrassment or self-consciousness when before an audience. But probably one innovation which has met with more success and popularity among the public school children of the city is the study of art and drawing. Truly the progress in these lines is astonishing to the uninitiated who, passing through any of the class rooms, will find upon the walls the work of budding artists and enthusiastic crayon users in profusion.

Fine New Schools.

Let the finger of time go back eight years for the sake of showing some strides made in providing educational institutions for Peterborough's rising army of hopefuls. In that short period the School Board have undertaken to spend approximately $167,000 of the people's money. But who will say they have not handled it well to the last dollar? That $167,000 has built four splendid schools and euipped them fully. It has remodelled the Central School and converted it into a school as good as new; the King Edward, Queen Alexandra, Queen Mary, and King George Schools stand out prominently among the city's best buildings, as monuments to the farsightedness of the Board of Education of this city. Altogether there are seven public schools in Peterborough. Where once little heed was paid to providing ample playing grounds for the pupils, all of these schools now have several acres upon which the children indulge in sports and games and romp unrestrainedly. The Central School has three acres, Queen Alexandra three acres, King George seven acres and Queen Mary four acres. Ten years ago, no playing grounds were available. Today all are equipped with basketball facilities for the girls and football and baseball for the boys, while at some this winter it is hoped to have rinks for skating and hockey.

At the Central School considerable improvement has been effected by providing good playing grounds. A ridge of cobblestones for many years ran diagonally across the grounds, apparently a submerged road of bygone days. About $60 was spent this year in removing these stones and levelling and grading the grounds, which now are among the best in the city schools.

What Five Years Have Done.

The total enrolment of the public schools at the end of September was 2,439, with an average attendance of 2,250 in the same month. Compared with the same month five years ago, this enrolment represents an increase of 501, showing a sure and steady growth. In September, five years back, the enrolment was 1,938, and the average attendance 1,748.

The total strength of the teaching staff five years ago was 50, while today it is 61, not including instructors of household science, manual training, art, drawing and music.

Household science and manual training as yet have not been extended through all the public schools, but are taught only in the Entrance class. Inspector Mowat is hopeful that in time these two branches will expand so that all the schools as far as the third book will reap the benefit therefrom. Art and music, however, are taught in all the public schools in the city, and an annual exhibition of the work that is going on and being accomplished is held for the benefit of the parents and general public. All the equipment in household science and manual training is as yet confined to one centre, namely, the Central School, formerly the old Collegiate Institute. Here any schoolday there will be found ambitious students hard at work. In the household science room are gas stoves and all the equipment that goes with a modern kitchen. The students work in pairs, that is, every two have a separate cupboard of their own, which contains cooking utensils and which only they are permitted to use.

Health Not Neglected.

But, after all, unless the health of the children attending school is good and unless defects in the child's body are remedied, a school does not perform its duty. Of late years this has been recognized by educational authorities, and every effort is made to maintain a high physical standard in the schools, and catch defects in time to remedy them. To this end, Miss Euna Kennedy was recently appointed school nurse, and part of her duties is to look after the health of the school children by means of periodical visits. She works in co-operation with Dr. MacPherson, Medical Health Officer, and where defects are noticed, in the eyes, or teeth, or physical deformity of any curable kind, reports on the same are immediately sent to the parents so that they may take steps to check any serious trouble.

Last year the pupils of the public schools with commendable enterprise decided to beautify the school grounds and rooms, and without outside assistance raised the magnificent sum of $300. This money was wisely spent, and many beautiful pictures now adorn the school rooms, reproductions from artistic masterpieces by celebrated painters.

At the present time there is ample accommodation provided by the public schools for the children now attending, there being an average of 42 pupils to a teacher. Indications are that it will not be long ere further provision must be made to care for Peterborough's rapidly increasing school attendance.

In another article extended reference will be made to the growth and development of the separate schools of Peterborough.

SAYS BELGIAN CHILDREN WILL NOT COME HERE

None Coming to Ontario According to Superintendent of Children's Aid Societies

Although the local branch of the Children's Aid Society has received a communication asking for co-operation in the care of Belgian orphans who would come to this city, it would appear from the following that the British Government will look after the little ones.

Mr. J. J. Kelso, superintendent of Children's Aid Societies and Neglected Children, has returned from the British Isles, where for the past five months he has been studying the social conditions from a children's aid standpoint.

Mr. Kelso states that he saw none of the Belgian children with their hands cut off, although he states that there are probably some. "There has been something said about bringing out Belgian children to Canada. I had an interview with the British authorities a few days ago and can say that there is no intention of sending Belgian children to Ontario. The British people want it understood that they are looking after not only their own children, but also the Belgian children, a large number of whom will return to their own country at the close of the war.

THE PRINCESS PATS.

The Princess Patricia Light Infantry, which shortly is to go to the front, is gathered from all parts of the Empire. It comprises 715 English, 148 Scotch, 118 Canadians, 73 Irish, 9 Welsh, 7 from India, 7 from the United States, 6 from Austria, 4 from South Africa, 2 from Cape Colony, 2 from France, and 1 each from Jersey, Guernsey, Italy and Egypt.

TRADES AND LABOUR COUCIL

Notes by Official Scribe

There was a remarkably good attendance of delegates at this week's meeting. The smaller hall was filled with interested representatives, as well as with fumes from various brands of cigars and tobacco (all union stuff), and President J. J. Hartley, a staunch exponent of the benefits to be obtained from fragrant weed abstemiousness, is to be congratulated, as well as the other non-smokers, on having survived, not the smoke of battle, but the smoke of militant unionism.

The Fair Wage Clause.

The ball started with an energetic delegate from the Pattern Makers asking what the committee had done regarding the low money paid to girl and women employes in a local factory. He seemed to think that the committee had been slack in their duties, as nothing, apparently, had been done. This brought both the members quickly to their feet, who declared they had done a lot, but their greatest difficulty lay in not being able to obtain authentic information. Many would talk about injustice, but when it came to a showdown, a signed statement, for instance, there was nothing doing. After the subject had been well threshed out, the secretary was ordered to write the minister of militia, also the minister of labor, asking that the scale of prices, if any, be furnished on contracts for military equipment now being filled by local factories. It was pointed out during the discussion that a Toronto paper had openly exposed the firm with sweatshop tendencies.

Union Is Strength.

Mr. Haley, organizer for the Electrical Workers, was then given the floor by the president. Mr. Haley started in by announcing that the two factions of the Electrical Workers, who have been at war for the last six years, had settled their differences (as far as Canada was concerned), and were once more a truly united body. Mr. Haley is a labor man of wide experience and still wider sympathies. For example, he believes in all meetings of Trades and Labor Councils being open, so that the public could be educated along industrial lines. There was nothing that happened in T. and L. sessions that need cause shame, and when it came to the settlement of a dispute, the winners were always those with whom the public were in sympathy. The organizer had another pet subject, that of extending help to unorganized workers. It paid to hand out encouragement to those outside the fold. Mr. Haley had been president of a live local in the West, and knew what he was speaking about. As a wind-up to a vigorous speech, Mr. Haley called on all workers to try and forget they were Grits or Tories, and with the ballot they possessed vote Labor representatives so as to come fully into their own.

Home Guards.

This proposition, introduced by the president, was promptly flattened out. Labor is against war, and a Trades and Labor company of home guards was considered inconsistent. Moreover, several members had already joined different companies.

The Price of Bread.

"Why is it," asks one representative, who has been travelling in the vicinity recently, "that Peterborough bakers sell bread locally for 12 cents, while their product obtains 10 cents in Lakefield, 10 cents in Campbellford, 11 cents in Hastings, Norwood 12 cents, and at Keene, where there is no competition, 13 cents?" This created quite a discussion, enlightening, as it proceeded, the Council on the methods employed by our local staff of life handlers. The thrifty housewife was baking the bread now more than heretofore, and handing out a slam from which recovery would be slow. Light weight by two ounces per loaf was also mentioned, and government intervention would be more than welcomed.

The Approaching Elections.

As has already been announced, President Hartley declined nomination for the Mayoralty. The Council was loth to accept this decision, and asked Mr. Hartley to reconsider. To support a Labor mayor it was felt that Labor aldermen were necessary, and a strong committee was given a week to find out the Labor men available for the different wards, and if successful, Mr. Hartley could perhaps, be induced to run again.

The Drawing Prize.

Representative Morley of the Hod Carriers' Local now wears the broad smile. It started last Wednesday, when his name was coupled with the unclaimed set of dishes, valued about $30, which was ordered to be drawn for amongst the delegates present last Wednesday.

Some Deer Stories

Reports by the hunters seem to indicate that there is no diminuition in the deer herd of this district at least. The limit of one to a man appears to be working fairly well. Two deer were seen around the Agricultural Grounds on Saturday, and through the station yard. They crossed to Cottage Point and Mr. W. Jackson coming along later looking for partridges saw the tracks in the flutter of snow, and followed them to Andy Lambert's field. There he saw the deer, but it was of course useless to fire with small shot. Mr. Sam Fletcher on the Galway road was back of Ventress' when three fine deer had the impudence to come right up close to him and stare him in the face. Sam had nothing but his own rich brogue to hit them with and they seemed to be tickled with that. Albert Brown, on the Kingsborough farm in Harvey had two deer visit his barn yard, and stayed around so long that he was beginning to think he would have to advertise them as strayed. — Independent.

Lost Big Buck.

The Nichols—Gordon party, of Bobcaygeon, was one of the most successful of the hunting parties. They brought out their limit, and none of them small ones. On the first day out Mr. Gib Gordon had an experience all his own. He had sighted a fine big buck that had evidently scented suspicion, for it was standing with his head erect and ears alert. Gib was cautiously moving forward to get a more favorable position, and carefully raising his leg over a log, at the same time stooping down he slid his leg over fair on to the back of a doe that was lying down. Heavens, she sprang up, and so did Gib, and by the time Gib got himself gathered together, the buck and the doe were well on the way to Tipperary.

Lakefield News.

Mr. T. Z. Webster, who hunted at the head of Stoney Lake, brought home a fine deer.

Dr. Gibson and C. Young brought out their number. They hunted in the Parry Sound district.

Alvin Graham hunted with a party in the vicinity of Apsley, and was fortunate in securing a fine deer.

Mr. N. A. Moore hunted with the Kosh Lake Hunt Club this year. The party consisted of six members and secured five nice deer.

The Payne-Spence party, who were hunting in the Parry Sound district, brought out eleven fine deer. There were eleven members in the party.

Messrs. John Blewett, W. Blewett and B. Blewett were camped in the vicinity of Cox's Lae this season. The party brought home a fine doe.

The Pencil Creek hunting party had good luck this year, securing six fine deer. The party consisted of A. J. Kidd, Harold Kill, Wm. Preston, Wm. Adams, H. Wannamaker, C. S. Tanner and Gordon Ridpath.

The Surpentine Lake party hunting north of Apsley, had good luck, shooting fifteen deer. Messrs. D. Miller, William Miller, David Miller and H. Knox hunted with the party which consisted of seventeen members.

Another Lindsay party has returned from the hunt, having had a delightful holiday in the woods and in the open hunting deer and partridge. Deer, they report to be somewhat scarce, although they were successful in bringing down a fine specimen of a buck and doe. Several brace of partridge were also bagged.

The party comprised Messrs. Jos. McConnell, H. D. E. Lee, Jos. Fitzsimmons, H. McConnell and C. S. Pierce. The boys hunted about 23 miles north of Bobcaygeon.

"This Council, although satisfied of the injustice of compelling the occupants of such places to be assessed to the same rates as stores, were of the opinion, that according to the present law, it could not make any distinction. The Council gave it as its opinion that Cabinet Makers, Carpenters and Shoemaker's Shops were exempt.'

As this was, as stated just after the incorporation of the town it may be of interest to look at the figures as taken from the assessment roll. Mr. James Edwards was the assessor.

Fire Inspector on the Job.

As a side light on the municipal life of the day it is interesting to learn that there was a Fire Inspector and that he was on the job. It was brought to the attention of the council that sundry persons were reported to be extremely careless in the matter of dumping hot wood ashes outside the doors and against the walls of wooden buildings, all against the statutes in such case made and provided. The council at once took note and proceed to condemn and stop the practice, and the "Fire Inspector is directed to use extreme, and indeed special vigilence, and in addition he is directed to make his inspection of Stoves and Pipes and Chimneys, etc., once in 12 weeks, from the 15th of April to the 15th of October and once in 5 weeks from 16th of October to 15th of April."

And it was further specified that the inspector should "Be remunerated for his Time by the salary of Fire Inspector at £8 per year, and the Clerk to give him his proper instructions concerning the time for him to inspect the Chimneys, Stoves, Stove Pipes, etc."

He (the Inspector) had presented a report. In this report certain citizens considered that they had been villified. They asked for the scalp of the inspector, and proposed to take it away with them. The council stood in the breach, manfully, and saying that it considered that the inspector had done no more than his duty, for the safety of the public, directed —just a manner of rubbing it in, you will observe—that "The Clerk of this Council be directed to write to each of the persons named in the Fire Inspector's Report requesting them to secure their Stove Pipes and Chimneys in a Safe Manner, with as little delay as possible."

Wanted—A Sidewalk.

As another side light on the clamour for Municipal Improvements just as insistent and as frequent in that day as in this, the following resolution was passed, just as a settler and sedative to the claims and imploring of a number of eminent citizens who proposed to have a certain sidewalk built, and about which there were doubts as to it being or "subtending,'—whatever that is, — on private property. It will be observed that the council registers its august decision with no uncertain sound. There is a cheerful positiveness about the sound of the drop that reaches the dignity of a thump.

"That Edmund Chamberlen, and other subscribers to a certain memorial presented to this Council, or any one or more of them, be and they are hereby authorized to construct, at their own proper cost and charges, a plank walk on the east side of Water Street, which said sidewalk when completed shall become and be the property of the Town of Peterborough and of the Town Council of the said Town."

That settled it. The plank walk was not built.

EIGHT BODIES COME ASHORE

Barge is Wrecked and Broken up on Lake Superior

DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 21. — Despatches from Senay, Mich., last night report the discovery there of the wooden barge Annie M. Petersen broken up on the Lake Superior shore, eight miles from the life-saving station at Grand Marais, Mich.

Eight bodies have come ashore, those of six men and two women. They will be sent to Grand Marais for identification. The Petersen was supposed to have a crew of only seven, and the finding of an additional body gives basis for the fear that the steamer C. F. Curtis and barge Selden E. Marvin of the same tow, may also have been lost. No trace of the two vessels has been found as far east as Whitefish Point.

The Petersen is believed to have been wrecked Thursday night. The three vessels, owned by the L. Edward Hines Lumber Co., Chicago, cleared from Baraga, Mich., at five o'clock Wednesday morning, with lumber, bound for Tonawanda, N. Y. They set out in the face of storm signals and in a heavy northwest gale.

The Annie M. Petersen, Capt. John M. Walker, was a barge of 631 gross tons, 190 feet long, and 33 feet beam. She was built in Green Bay, Wis., in 1874. The barge Selden E. Marvin, Capt. Fred. E. Anderson is a vessel of 618 gross tons, 174 feet long, 33 feet beam, and was built in Toledo in 1881. The steamer C. F. Curtis, Capt. J. P. Jennings, Detroit, Mich, is a vessel of 691 gross tons, 196 feet long and 32 feet beam. She was built in Marine City, Mich., in 1882.

A telegram, delayed in transmission, received at Harbor Beach yesterday from the keeper of the Hammond Life-saving Station, 16 miles above Rogers City, Mich., on the Lake Huron shore, stated that the wooden steamer Mary Sicken of Marine City was wrecked on Nine Mile Point, below Cheboygan, Wednesday.

IRISH REGIMENT USED THEIR FISTS

Men Were Surprised but They Beat the Germans

LONDON, Nov. 21. — Among the stories of isolated engagements sent by the correspondents at the front is one from the correspondent of The Daily Chronicle, in Northern France, who tells of a British charge wherein many men in an impetuous Irish regiment forgot their bayonets and resorted to fists alone.

This is said to have occurred at a point between Ypres and La Bassee. The British infantry jumped out of their trenches and attacked the advancing Germans with the bayonet. An Irish regiment on the British left flank was taken by surprise and became engaged with the Germans in a rough and tumble fight with butt and bayonet. One of the Irish captains, who was wounded, in telling of the melee, said:

"The Germans surprised us, so we went for them with our fists. They climbed up with their rifles and my men went wild. Then it was a regular pandemonium and we punched them left and right. In the end, they surrendered, for they had no chance against us, when it came to a brawl of this sort."

TWO SNYDERS ARE SET FREE

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Nov. 21. —The three Snyders, father and two sons, who are accused of high treason to the British Empire because they helped to smuggle Austrians out of Canada across the Niagara river, received preliminary trial before Magistrate A. Fraser yesterday.

The crown attorney announced that he had no evidence against the two sons of Joseph Snyder.

The magistrate dismissed them, amid the hearty cheers from the spectators.

Joe Snyder was committed for trial.

Aeroplane Seen Over Dungeness.

LONDON, Nov. 21. — A despatch to the Central Press from Dover says that an aircraft was seen over Dungeness last evening. The official press bureau, while permitting this despatch to be published, said it would not vouch for the accuracy of the statement of the correspondent.

There was no indication as to the nationality of the airship, but it is thought here that it probably was an English one.

RUSSIA WAGING THREE GREAT BATTLES IN EAST

The Conflicts in the Middle and South Will Have Decisive Results on the Outcome of the War—Germans on Warthe and Vistula Are Now on the Defensive and Advance is a Hazardous One.

LONDON, Nov. 21.— Two big battles, either or both of which may have decisive results, are being fought in Poland, and a third conflict of almost as great importance is progressing in East Prussia.

Of the three battles, that which is now at its height between the Vistula and Warta rivers, and in which the Russians last night claimed success, is exciting the greatest interest. The Germans, it is believed, have brought up by their line of strategic railway in Posen and Silesia at least half a million men in an effort to break the Russian line at this point. Weather conditions, the frozen ground and the situation of the battlefield, favor a really decisive battle to a degree which has not existed on any other fields of the present war.

The other battle in Poland is taking place on the Cracow-Czenstochowa front, and both the Russians and the Germans claim that it is proceeding satisfactorily for them. In East Prussia the Russians' advance is moving slowly through the country surrounding the Mazurian Lakes, which is difficult of passage. In Galicia the Russians are going steadily westward and at the same time are seizing the passes of the Carpathians.

The London Daily News has the following from its correspondent at Petrograd:—

The Germans have been forced to act on the defensive in the battle between the Vistula and Warta rivers. Their last effort to piece the Russian line north of Kutno resulted in one of their cavalry divisons getting into a crossfire from the Russian infantry entrenched with a strong support of machine-guns. The result was that over 3,000 dead and wounded were left on the field by the Germans, and the vanguard of their advance fell back on the main body, which is now spreading itself among the defensive positions around the woods.

The Russian pressure continues without any necessity of transferring troops from the army that is working through Soldau, or from operations against the line from Kalisch to Czenstochowa.

Granville Fortescue, Petrograd correspondent for the The London Telegraph, says:—

The German offensive stretches from the Vistula river to the Warta. This plan has been adopted by the enemy, and his corps occupy a front from Plock to Lengezyca, with his right flank pivoting southwest from this latter position.

In this new attack the first army of the Germans made a rapid march down both sides of the Vistula, abandoning the line of railway and relying on the country roads as its line of communication. Under the weather conditions that prevail this is an extremely dangerous proceeding, and indicates what desperate risks the enemy will run in an effort to redeem the early failure in Poland.

If it had not been for the fact that Russia had such an unlimited supply of troops this last movement of the Germans might have caused an alteration of the Russian plans. So rapid had been the advance of Gen. Rutsky's army toward the German frontier that the country to the north was, for the moment, unconsidered, while Gen. Ivanoff, confident that his right and rear were well guarded, continued his dash on Cracow.

But a new force has been thrown into the breach. It has been engaged for two days now, and what started as an advance guard action has developed into a sanguinary struggle.

To the Germans it is vital to bring the issue to a close. Every twenty-four hours means an added burden on the slender artery of supplies. The line of communication is being tested to the utmost by the continued transportation of reinforcements from the German frontier to the new zone of operations.

A despatch from Warsaw to The Russky Slavo says the German generals Von Vredow and Von Bromel committed suicide at Czenstochowa, Russian Poland, after a German defeat.

MOROCCANS AVENGED.

French Troops Destroy Germans Who Desecrated Graves.

PARIS, Nov. 21.—According to Le Temps, it was the German desecration of French graves that was really responsible for the recent considerable success at Tracey-le-Val. A correspondent in the firing line writes to the paper: Our troops had taken the village, but the enemy returned and began digging trenches in the cemetery, which so infuriated the Moroccan contingent—many of whose dead were this exposed — that the commander decided to assault the cemetery. The Moroccans charged with their knives and exterminated 1,200 Germans occupying the trenches. Immediately thereafter 125 others entrenched nearby surrendered, their non-commissioned officers declaring they were the remnant of a whole battalion. All were hungry, sick and wearing rags."

Increase the Force

OTTAWA, Nov. 21. — Orders will be issued at once to bring up the number of recruits for war service to 50,000. At a meeting of the Cabinet yesterday this was decided upon.

The decision was reached because it was realised that something had to be done to alleviate the conditions created by the lack of employment. These recruits will all be required in any case, and it was felt that they might as well get into training at once. As unemployment is worse in the west than in the east the proportion of recruits asked for from the west will be greater than from the Maritime Provinces.

The 80,000 recruits will be in addition to the 10,000 men who are now under arms doing guard duty, etc., but they will include the 16,000 men who have already been recruited throughout Canada, and from whom the second contingent will be taken. Included in the 50,000 will also be the four regiments of mounted men, 600 in each.

Thus in a very short time Canada will have under arms a total army of 94,000 men, composed as follows: 34,000 in England, 10,000 doing duty in Canada, 16,000 recruits under training and 34,000 new recruits.

WINNIPEG GRAIN MARKET.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 20.—The conditions on the grain market today were similar to those of yesterday. Trading in options was light, and prices holding fairly steady, a waiting attitude being taken up by the majority of members. Argentine advices recently were unfavorable, but despatches are now to the effect that the crop there is getting near maturity, under favorable conditions, which has a tendency to lower values.

Futures opened ⅛c lower to ⅛c up, oats unchanged, and flax ⅛c lower to ⅛c higher. At the close wheat was unchanged on all months except December, which was ⅛c higher. Oats closed ⅛c up for all months and flax 1⅛c lower to ⅛c higher.

Cash demand for all grades of wheat was good and offerings light. Exporters took all that was offered.

Cash oats and flax were in fair demand, while the demand for barley is poor.

MONTREAL GRAIN MARKET.

MONTREAL, Nov. 20.—There was no improvement in the demand from English importers for Manitoba spring wheat today, in fact very few cables were received, and the prices bid were so far out of line that exporters would not consider them, and in consequence business was dull. The local demand for coarse grains was also quieter, but the tone of the market for all lines remains firm.

The local trade in spring wheat flour was better, there being an improved demand from outside sources for supplies at firm prices. There continues to be an active demand for mill feed and a large volume of business is doing

There is no change in butter, for which the demand is still rather quiet, but there is a good enquiry for cheese. The export trade in eggs is quieter, but the tone of the market is very firm.

MINNEAPOLIS GRAIN MARKET.

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 20.—Wheat—No. 1 hard, $1.19⅝; No. 1 northern, $1.16⅛ to $1.18⅝; No. 2 do., $1.12⅝ to $1.16⅝; Dec., $1.14⅝.

Corn—No. 3 yellow, 58c to 61½c.

Oats—No. 3 white, 46c to 46½c.

DULUTH GRAIN MARKET.

DULUTH, Nov. 20.—Wheat—No. 1 hard, $1.18⅝; No. 2 northern, $1.17⅝; No. 3 do., $1.14⅝; Dec., $1.15⅝.

CHEESE MARKETS.

NAPANEE, Ont., Nov. 20.—The cheese board met today for the last time this year, when 250 were boarded; 150 sold at 14⅝c, and the balance refused at 14½c to 14⅝c.

CORNWALL, Ont., Nov. 20.—The Cornwall Cheese Board held its last meeting of the season this afternoon, when the offerings were 1265 boxes, selling at 14 13-16c, and the balance at 14⅝c. The board this year sold approximately the same number of cheese as last year, but the receipts were nearly $35,000 greater.

CATTLE MARKETS

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK.

CHICAGO, Nov. 20.—Cattle—Receipts, 3000; market, steady; beeves, $5.75 to $10.50; Texas steers, $5.40 to $9; cows and heifers, $2.60 to $9.20; calves, $8.50 to $11.50.

Hogs—Receipts, 20,000; market, weak; light, $6.90 to $7.45; mixed, $7.10 to $7.55; heavy, $6.95 to $7.55; rough, $6.95 to $7.10; pigs, $4.50 to $6.75; bulk of sales, $7.25 to $7.50.

Sheep—Receipts, 8000; market, weak; native, $5.50 to $6.20; yearlings, $6.40 to $7.70; lambs, native, $6.75 to $9.25.

OFFICIAL BULLETINS

PARIS, Nov. 21.—The bulletins of the French War Office issued yesterday afternoon and evening were:—

"There is no important incident to report.

"The day of Nov. 19 was marked by the almost total absence of infantry attacks on the part of the enemy. At the same time their artillery fire was much less violent than on the afternoon of Nov. 18.

"To the north the weather has been very bad, and snow has fallen. All the region of the Yser Canal, to the east of Dixmude, is invaded by the waters.

"In front of Ramscapelle we have withdrawn from the water two 16.5 centimetre mortars abandoned by the Germans.

"There has been a very fairly intense artillery fire to the south of Ypres.

"On the centre there have been no important actions to report. In the Argonne three vigorous attacks on the part of the enemy's infantry have been repulsed.

"On our right wing the Germans have reoccupied the destroyed section of Chauvoncourt.

"Further to the east we have made some progress."

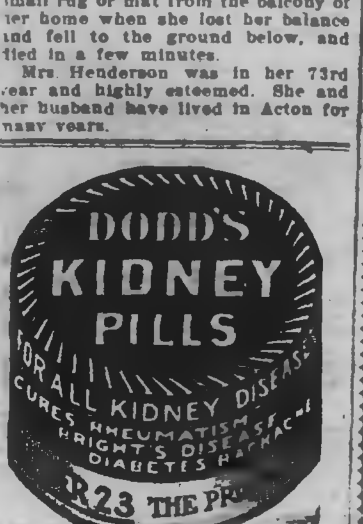
Flying Into Canada Forbidden.

ALBANY, N.Y., Nov. 21.—Following a complaint made by the Canadian Government to the State Department in Washington against American aviators flying across the border from New York State, Governor Glynn yesterday sent out a warning calling attention that the Dominion Government has fixed a penalty of $5,000 or five years' imprisonment for such flights. Clearance papers must be obtained by airman before flying into Canada.

Mrs. David Henderson Killed.

GUELPH, Nov. 21. — Death came tragically to Mrs. David Henderson, wife of David Henderson, M.P., of Acton, yesterday. She was shaking a small rug or mat from the balcony of her home when she lost her balance and fell to the ground below, and died in a few minutes.

Mrs. Henderson was in her 73rd year and highly esteemed. She and her husband have lived in Acton for many years.



LATEST NEWS PARAGRAPHED

Great Britain has prohibited the exportation of tea to all continental ports except those of the countries of the allies and of Spain and Portugal.

A chair of Russian language and institutions will be established this winter at the University of Chicago by the gift of Charles R. Crane of that city, it was announced yesterday.

The fishing schooners Natalie Nelson, Matthew Grier, Rosa Dorothea and Rebecca were torn from their anchorage during a gale at Princetown, Mass., and driven ashore on the west side of the harbor.

The department of foods and markets, designed to lower the cost of living by establishing auction markets in many parts of the state, was created yesterday by Governor Glynn of New York State.

Major R. D. E. H. Burton, Middlesex Regiment, has been appointed to command the 14th Battalion, the Nova Scotia contingent, and Lt.-Col. Grant Morden has been appointed second in command of the advance remount depot.

Chatham, Mass., was swept by a gale yesterday, and although the life-savers of the Chatham station were prepared to abandon the station when shingles as high as the windows were torn loose by the wind, the structure withstood the storm.

The death occurred at his home in Brockville yesterday of James Bissell, retired farmer, aged 80. He was one of the pioneer dairymen of eastern Ontario and established in the Township of Augusta one of the first cheese factories of the Brockville district.

Leather Goods Needed.

OTTAWA, Nov. 21. — The British War Office is likely to place huge orders in Canada for leather goods equipment. A delegation of sixty of the leading tanners of Canada was called in consultation by Sir George Foster, Minister of Trade and Commerce, yesterday, and asked, in the event of such orders being received, if they would be able to supply the leather. Sir George was assured that the capacity of the Canadian factories is fully equal to any demand that may be made on them. Although Sir George did not specify any particular order, it is understood that the existing requirements of the British War Office already placed in Canada are to be materially increased.

British Casualties.

LONDON, Nov. 21. — Casualty lists issued last night show eight officers killed, 44 wounded and six missing. In the Indian force two British officers and one native officer were killed and seven British and ten native officers wounded. Three British and two native officers are recorded as missing.

THE SPORTING WORLD

SMALL LIKLIHOOD OF HORSE RACES HERE THIS SEASON UNLESS OUTSIDER STEPS IN

Prospects for a race meet this winter are by no means rosy. Times are too hard is the objection raised by horsemen, coupled with the fact that the turf club is not in a particularly prosperous condition. It has always been difficult to make winter turf club meets a paying undertak-and this makes the members "scary" of attempting to stage a meet this winter. The Turf Club's lease on the racing grounds has also expired and would have to be renewed before a meet could be arranged.

President J. M. Brooks of the club assured a reporter that the likelihood this winter was very remote for a meet. He mentioned how difficult it was to make one a success financially and the reluctance with which prize money was proffered. If one was staged this winter, meagre gate receipts could be banked on.

Another prominent horseman of the city, not connected with the Turf Club informed the Review that there was a possibility of parties outside the turf club coming in and arranging a meet. He mentioned Eddie Baker of Toronto as a possible promoter.

Lindsay is to hold a meet and are making plans already. It is said a good bunch of prize money will be forthcoming and that chances are bright for a good well-contested racing card.

The local turf club would not object, said the president, to outsiders coming in, if they thought they could make a meet here a success. It would not be held however under turf club auspices.

CALLS TIGERS TO WIN FROM ARGOS

Teddie Holmes Opines That Hams Have the Better Team

Teddie Holmes of the Hamilton Herald, in writing to a member of The Review staff refers as follows to the Tiger-Argo game in Hamilton today:—

In my way of thinking the Tigers will win as the Argos were only able to score seven points against us a month ago when the club was noticeably weak. Now we have Isbister, Mallett, Wiggle and Glassford in great shape and Dixon at quarter. Bet on the Tigers. It will take more than seven points to beat them and Mallet can kick that many against a gale. I may be prejudiced in the eyes of some but I am not. We have the best team. Ferguson of the Montreal Herald has tried to compare the teams individually. His stuff is laughable. He has seen the Argos once, I have seen them three times. I watched them at their worst, at fair and at their best but have my own opinion now. It's us for the big cup and easy at that. Class will assert itself and we have it in bunches and all sorts of commodities. If Eddie Phillips and Percy Roberts maintain their neutrality as officials, ten points at the inside, we will win.

SHOOTING MATCH

A shooting match for geese and turkeys will be held on the farm of Mr. B. Q. Dench, Douro township, on Tuesday, December 1st. Shooting will begin at 12.30 o'clock.

FOUR GERMAN PAPERS BANNED

OTTAWA, Nov. 21.—The Canadian Government has by order-in-council decided to prohibit the entry into Canada of four German newspapers published in New York, The Staats Zeitung, Truth About Germany, Vital Issue, and Vaterland.

More anti-British publications which are persistently publishing untrue statements reflecting upon Great Britain and her allies will be added to the list of those already prohibited. It is now a criminal offence to peddle the newspaper mentioned or to have them in one's possession.

Panama To Be Neutral.

PANAMA, Nov. 21.—Stringent orders have been issued to preserve neutrality throughout the Panama Canal zone. Hereafter no information will be given to anyone relative to the ships using the waterway nor their terminal ports.

Husband: "Calm yourself, my dear. That's the one I bought."

Pears and Plums

Londoner: "How many pears do you get from this tree every year?"

Countryman: "Not one."

Londoner: "How funny! Why is that, I wonder?"

Countryman: "It's a plum tree."

One Back

The would-be funny man at the suffragette meeting interrupted one of the speakers by calling out loudly:

"Wouldn't you like to be a man?"

"Yes," she retorted instantly. "wouldn't you?"

Not Until Dawn

"While you were standing in the doorway, telling the sweet young thing good-night, did it ever dawn upon you——"

"Oh, no! I never stayed that late."

Acute Indigestion

Marcella: "Mr. Beanborough seems to be greatly bothered with indigestion."

Waverly: "I should say so! He refused to attend a moving picture show the other evening because one of the scenes had a banquet in it."

Pipe Dreamers Still With us

London, Nov. 21.—It was reported in baseball circles yesterday on good authority that "J. J." Keenan, of this city, stands more than an ordinary chance of landing the managerial berth of the Hamilton Canadian league club next season. Keenan, though a veteran, will be able to play some good baseball after having rested up for the past year. Josephus has many warm friends in the baseball world, especially in Hamilton, where he would be welcomed as a leader.

Humor and Philosophy

By DUNCAN M. SMITH

UNNATURAL.

MAN never was intended
To sit all day and scratch
Upon a sheet of paper
To make a balance match,
To be from morn till evening
Chained to a desk and chair
Away from light and sunshine
In heavy, stagnant air.

Man never was created
Or formed with the design
That he all day should labor
Down in a dismal mine
With only lamps ill smelling
For artificial light,
Where hours the same were counted
The noonday as the night.

Man never was intended
For lots of other things
That he is busy doing
While round the old world swings.
You in a moment's thinking
Could mention quite a few,
But man must earn his living,
So what is he to do?

He has to brace his courage
And do the best he can.
The world was not constructed
According to his plan.
So he must keep on writing
Or digging in the street.
He wasn't made to do it,
But really he must eat.

Couldn't Stand It.

"I wish to wed your daughter," said the timid young man, his knees trembling like a last year's beanstalk and his voice threatening to go on a strike.

"No," replied the father; "not now."

"Then may I hope?" he asked timidly.

"Perhaps," replied the cruel dad. "Next year I hope to be getting a larger salary, and we will see about it then."

The Dilemma.

"It is queer."

"What is?"

"I have to work to live."

"Don't see anything queer about that."

"Don't you?"

"No."

"Well, what do you think I live for?"

"Well, what?"

"Seems as if it is just to work."

No Cause to Worry.

"It is hard to understand women."

"Is it?"

"Yes."

"Well, it is like some other difficult things."

"In what way?"

"In that it is quite unnecessary."

Beneficial.

"He goes regularly to church."

"He is such a hypocrite that I don't think it does him any good."

"Oh, yes, it does."

"Think so?"

"Certainly. Sleep, you know, is a great restorer."

Something to Look Forward To.

"Uncle Daniel, you are seventy years old. What is the most wonderful thing you have ever seen?"

"The most wonderful?"

"Yes."

"I ain't seen it yet."

ARIZONA KICKLETS

The Editor Again Shows His Scorn of Gun Play

By M. QUAD.

[Copyright, 1914, by Associated Literary Press.]

WEDNESDAY afternoon last as we sat in our sanctum a stranger entered with a gun in his hand, and when we had welcomed him he began:

"Is y-y-your n-name"—

We saw he had an impediment of speech, and helped him out by replying that we were Mr. Jim Hellso, owner and editor of the Kicker, mayor of the town, postmaster, deputy United States marshal, state senator, champion wingshot of Arizona and so forth.

"I—I have—have c-oo-mo t-t-t-oto," continued the man, but he cut it off there and sat down to rest.

We gave him ten minutes by the clock and then motioned for him to go on, and he stood up and said:

"I—I have c-o-me 200 m-m-miles to s-s-s"—

He took another rest, and then said the same thing over again. It was our busy day. We therefore begged him to excuse us and went our way and saw him no more. Later in the day he left town, but before going he got the kinks out of his tongue and explained to several citizens that his name was Barney and that he had come 200 miles on horseback to shoot us. If we stuttered as bad as Mr. Barney does we would s-s-shoot our m-a-man first and make our explanations l-l-later on.

We learn that Major Jackson of Grass Valley has been arrested for assault with intent to kill. We can't believe it. We saw nine different men pull his nose in rotation one afternoon and he did not even protest. If he has tried to kill anything it was a rabbit.

PULL HIS NOSE IN ROTATION.

For some time past a clique of citizens, headed by Joe Taylor, have been agitating the idea of changing the name of this town from Giveadam Gulch to Rose Hill. The clique went so far as to call a public meeting for Wednesday evening, which was largely attended. Taylor and others made strong speeches in favor of a change, claiming that the name of the town kept people away and that to continue to call it Giveadam Gulch was against policy, prosperity and civilization. The editor of the Kicker (who is ourself), and the mayor (who is ourself), were called upon to speak in opposition. We gave a history of the town from the day old Bill Williams didn't give a hoop for the Indians surrounding him in this gulch, and thus gave the name to a place which has grown and prospered beyond any town in the far west. There was something honest and aboveboard—something which smacked of a rough but good hearted community in the name of Giveadam Gulch.

When a vote was taken the Taylor crowd was laid on the shelf by a large majority. We are still Giveadam Gulch, and Giveadam Gulch we shall remain, and odds is the difference who gives a bang and who doesn't.

Our esteemed contemporary says in his last issue that he will shoot us on sight. He will have to do it with a club, then, as he can't tell one end of a gun from the other.

It may have been us who killed Colonel Jackson's old mule on the street Wednesday evening. As we were coming home at midnight something or somebody kicked us from out of the darkness, and we let go with six bullets. The colonel should keep his mules penned up.

The Eagle restaurant put on table napkins the other day for an experiment, and during the shooting which followed Mr. Urner, the proprietor, received a bullet in the shoulder. He will let well enough alone after this.

There are rumors flying about that we intended to run for congress. We deny nothing. We are out for office, and if we don't land in the White House some day it won't be for the want of trying. The five offices we hold sharpen our appetite for more.

A Grateful Parent.

"How do you like your new son-in-law?"

"I'm reconciled to him," replied Mr Cumrox, "even if he is a duke. I'm thankful Gladys Ann didn't marry somebody that 'ud compel me to make a bow to my own daughter an' call her 'your majesty.'"—Washington Star.

Auspicious Time.

"Where are you going?"

"To call on Mrs. Wallaby-Wombat. Better come along. I understand there are some very interesting things to be heard."

"How so?"

"She has just quarreled with her best friend."—Pittsburgh Post.

Knew Wifey's Ways.

Wife—Why are you strapping up my trunk? I'm not going away till tomorrow. Hub—So you'll have time to gather up all the things you've forgotten. You never find those things, you know, until after your trunk is locked and strapped.—Boston Transcript.

A GENERAL UNEASINESS.

It Was the Only Drawback to an Otherwise Auspicious Occasion.

CHIMES filled the air, the brightly dressed guests filled the church, and the merry wedding spirit filled the brightly dressed guests. Great clusters of orange blossoms also filled the church, casting their petals here, there and everywhere, or, to put it all in one word, everywhere.

But stop! Is all serene?

No, not quite all. An undercurrent of disquiet, vague uneasiness, has made itself apparent.

"It's foolish of me, I know," said the bride, chewing gum rapidly to hide her perturbation and show her lovely teeth. "It's foolish of me, I repeat, but I have the dreadfulest mysteriousest feeling that all is not well, when I can see perfectly well that all is!"

"How silly, Bismarkina," reproved her mother, who looked her best in an afternoon gown of citron. "And yet, to tell the truth, I, too, have a feeling that I can't explain—a feeling that somehow, some which way, something is amiss. Of course, you are still a miss, but that's not what I mean."

Then the father, who was furiously smoking his pipe to keep his spirits up, admitted that even he was unaccountably nervous, and even the minister was forced to acknowledge that his mind was not entirely at peace.

It was then that some one discovered that though the time set for the wedding had come and gone the groom had not yet arrived.—London Tatler.

Turkey hesitated to plunge into the European war—she felt possibly that she could not preserve the pace that is set by the Christian nations.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Mrs. Harris Ardiel is in town for a short visit.

Mrs. J. R. Sutton has returned from Clifton Springs for a few days.

Mrs. Kennedy of Chicago is the guest of Mrs. Harry Thompson.

Mrs. Rollins entertained at afternoon tea on Thursday in honor of Mrs. G. M. Roger.

Mrs. G. M. Roger of Cobourg has been staying with friends here this week.

The Canadian Kitchener League have issued invitations for a dance to be held in the Conservatory on Friday, November 27.

Mr. Harry Ball of Saskatoon is in the city today, called to his home in Lakefield by the serious illness of his father.

Miss Edna Ketcheson of Toronto, is the guest over Sunday of her cousin, Miss Hazel Austin, 548 Weller Street.

Mrs. T. W. Whalley left for Huntsville this morning called there by the serious illness of her father, Jas. F. Clarke.

Mr. Peter Spratt, who has been ill at his home in Lindsay will resume his duties at the De Laval Co., on Monday. Mr. Spratt has been laid up with sore throat but there were no symptoms of diphtheria.

The chief event for next week will be the bridge in the armouries next Friday afternoon which is to be held to raise funds to provide Christmas gifts for our men on active service. It is an object which should appeal very deeply to every one and there is no doubt that a very great many will be present, either for the game or at tea later in the afternoon.

The Canadian Kitchener League requests all ladies sewing or knitting to kindly turn in all completed work by Tuesday to Mrs. Knox, Gilmour street. All members are requested to be present at the meeting Tuesday evening at the Y.M.C.A. The league also invites all ladies to attend the tea at Mrs. Grady's, Water street, on Monday, from 4 to 6 and 7 to 19 p.m.

Emma Calve, the opera singer, is serving with the Red Cross in France and soothing the wounded with songs. She made this known in a letter written to a friend in New York.

"My sister-in-law and myself are both in the Red Cross and taking care of the wounded in the hospitals of Toulon," wrote Mme. Calve. "I sing ditties to the wounded and soothe them and lull them to sleep when they are getting better—sweet songs of France which make them shed tears of joy, and war songs for those who, after the healing of their wounds, are going back to defend poor France."

Mrs. Percy Bond received for the first time since her wedding at her home, McDonnel street, on Thursday afternoon, assisted by Mrs. Dickson Hall. The tea table, which was beautifully decorated with large pink mums, was in charge of Mrs. Travers and Mrs. Eastwood, assisted by Mrs. James Hamilton, Mrs. R. Denne, Mrs. Langley and Miss Flora Collins.

Amongst the number of those who called in the course of the afternoon were Mrs. Huycke, Mrs. Ormond, Mrs. Ardiel, Mrs. Coulthard, Mrs. Matthews, the Misses Jenkins, Mrs. Harvey, Mrs. Goodwill, Mrs. Ernest Moore, Miss Delafosse, Miss Spence, the Misses Hill, and Miss Cummings.

The tea room at the Oriental still continues to be the most popular place in Peterborough. The ladies who have been conducting it deserve a hearty vote to thanks from the public in general, for their kindness in providing such a charming spot for an hour's recreation. The evening's class also have proved an unqualified success and we have no doubt that this evening will break the record.

On Friday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Travers entertained a number of young people including the staff of the Bank of Montreal. A number of other small teas have been given, and the only possible drawback which might be mentioned is, that the room has proved too small to accommodate all those who wished to enjoy themselves in the bright, pretty room.

Some of those who have been helping were Mrs. Clegg, Mrs. Davidson, Mrs. Walker, Mrs. McLean, Mrs. Tomlins, Mrs. Gliddon, Mrs. Young, Mrs. Hay, Mrs. Cameron, Mrs. Hill, Mrs. Beach, Miss Cameron, Miss Higgins, Miss Rogers, Mrs. Schneider and a number of others.

BIG STEAMERS SNOWBOUND.

MONTREAL, Nov. 21. — Snowstorms prevented the C. P. R. steamship Missanable and the Allan liner Corinthian from venturing on the St. Lawrence River yesterday morning, bound for Europe, and in consequence about 2,500 people were stormbound in Montreal.

APPRECIATION OF MISS WEIR

Her Removal From City, a Loss to Council of Women and the City

The following resolution was unanimously passed at a meeting of the local Council of Women held on Wednesday, November 18th:

"That we, the executive of the Women's Local Council of Peterboro, desire to place on record our sincere regret that circumstances have made it necessary for Miss Weir, our able and trusted corresponding secretary, to resign from the executive of our council. Miss Weir has filled this office since the organization of the council, and from its inception has been most efficient, painstaking and conscientious in promoting the interests of the council and carrying out every duty devolving upon her. We feel that her removal from our midst is a distinct loss, not only to our local council, but also to our city, in which for over ten years Miss Weir has filled with dignity and ability her position on the staff of the Collegiate Institute. We cannot allow her to sever her connection with the council without assuring her of our continued confidence and esteem, and our earnest hope for her future prosperity.

"We also desire that copies of this resolution be forwarded to Miss Weir and the newspapers."

PORTIA CLUB THE VERY NEWEST

Young Ladies Will Study First Aid Methods

A group of young ladies connected with the law offices and court house of this city held a meeting last evening for the purpose of forming a first aid to the injured club. The meeting was largely attended and the resolutions adopted were enthusiastically carried.

The members of this organization having caught something of the military spirit of the times consider it advisable that they fit themselves to give first aid to the injured in this vicinity in case of necessity. Dr. Cameron has very generously consented to set aside an hour of his valuable time to give instructions in first and methods to the members of this club. The time and place of meeting have not been definitely decided upon but it is expected that meetings will be held at least once a week at which the members of the club will be instructed in this very useful art.

The organization will be known as the Portia Club, and the following officers were elected:

President—Miss M. Heffernan.

Secretary-Treasurer — Miss L. Hamilton.

Committee — Miss R. Adamson, Miss S. Morrow, Miss E. Horsfield and Miss N. Shevlin.

MR. BURNHAM TO ADDRESS ST. PAUL'S MEN'S BIBLE CLASS

Last winter Mr. H. B. Cowan, the leader of St. Paul's Young Men's Class, discussed with them a number of subjects relating to social well being. He spent considerable time in the discussion of the subject of Free Trade. All these subjects were considered from a Christian standpoint with the object of equipping the young men of the class for better service and for the promotion of Christian citizenship.

A desire was expressed by the class that the other side of the subject of Free Trade should be discussed by someone competent to do so. Mr. J. H. Burnham, M. P., has kindly consented to give three addresses on The Benefits of or Necessity for Protective Tariffs. The first of these will be given tomorrow at three o'clock in the guild room of the church, the entrance to which is off Water street. The public generally are invited to be present.

STEED WENT DOWN FOR THE COUNT

It doesn't take much to amuse a crowd. A score or more people watched a horse that had fallen to the road on the icy pavement on Charlotte street this morning in its frantic efforts to rise. It was unhitched from the vehicle, but for nearly fifteen minutes made ineffectual attempts to assume an upright position. Finally sacks were spread around its feet with the hope of giving it firmer foothold. This failed. Sawdust and ashes were then sprinkled, and finally the frightened equine rose triumphant. It was all over. The crowd dispersed as quickly as it had gathered.

LT. ACKERMAN WRITES FROM BUSTARD CAMP

Reception to the Canadians is Beyond all Comprehension

Mr. E. G. Patterson has received the following letter from Lieut. C. H. Ackerman of "A" Company, 2nd Battalion, 1st Infantry Brigade:

Bustard Camp, Salisbury Plain,
October 13, 1914.

Dear Mr. Patterson,—I have had good intentions for some time, that is, in keeping my promise about letting you know something of the Peterborough contingent in particular and the whole contingent in general, but soldiering, as Kitchener is making us soldier, leaves but little time for letter-writing.

To start with, I know of very little that would be of interest to you, as you are not at all interested in the new platoon establishment, and I think that has been the only real piece of new interest to occupy our time for the past week or so. It means that we have to forget most of the company drill that we worked so diligently at at Valcartier and become accustomed to new work.

I suppose you have seen many detailed newspaper accounts of our prolonged voyage across the Atlantic, escorted by cruisers and two dreadnoughts that were constantly on the lookout for trouble. No words could describe the impressive sight that we saw; for twelve days and nights we could see nothing but the same boats around us, and if it hadn't been for the wash of the water beside the boat it would have been almost impossible to know whether or not we were moving.

We remained on board for several days in Plymouth harbor at Devonport, to which place we were compelled to go to avoid the confusion of coming in contact with three German submarines that were counting on our putting into Southampton. While we were in Devonport I managed to get aboard H. M. S. "Tiger," the newest, largest and fastest dreadnought in the world. It had come in to be looked over and coaled, after its final gun tests. It is certainly a wonderful boat with eight 13.5 guns and a speed attained already of nearly 32 knots; the Benbow, another dreadnought, and sister ship, was alongside, but I hadn't time to see it.

The morning we landed at Amesbury to detrain for Bustard Camp (8 miles) we saw no less than six military aeroplanes flying around learning the new platoon drill, I suppose.

We have a splendid bunch of fellows in our battalion; they work and take their grub, which by the way is sometimes none too good, and never a grouch. That, I think, is a sign that they are commencing to realize that the game is going to be fairly stiff, especially if we are moved about Christmas, as we expect we will be at present, though some others think it will not be until early spring; of course, everything depends entirely on the course of events for the next couple of weeks in Europe.

Am not going to try to explain the reasons I have for using pencil, nor the variety of paper. Since leaving off the pencil I have had various experiences as orderly officer to which duty I was detailed before I could finish my letter, and have been unable to find time until this a.m., November 1st.

Tomorrow morning we have a divisional review under active service conditions in preparation for a review by the King and Queen on Tuesday. I am quite anxious to see the review, but it means the disorganization to a great extent of our daily routine.

I spent last Saturday and Sunday in London, and I may say the reception extended to us Canadians is beyond all comprehension. All officers have been put up at all the clubs, and they cannot apparently do too much for the colonials that have come to their assistance, and I only hope we may get an opportunity to get across and go into the mix-up soon. Not that I am afraid we are going to be too late by any means, but the novelty of camp life under active service discipline has entirely worn off. I'm sorry that time will not permit me to write further, but when we get across I shall try and write again. I remain,

Yours very truly,
C. H. ACKERMAN,
"A" Company, 2nd Batt. Inf.,
Bustard Camp, Salisbury.

TO HOLD MEETING IN ARMOURIES

To Get up Steam for Patriotic Fund Campaign

At a meeting of the executive of the Patriotic Fund last evening to receive the report of the committee, appointed to select a man which in their minds would be a good official to distribute the Patriotic Fund, Messrs. Stratton and Gillespie who were the committee appointed, submitted the name of a very capable man, which they thought would fill the position very well. The name met with the approval of all. The Mayor read a letter and telegram from the Canadian Patriotic Association in which they urged that this work be taken out of the hands of the local relief officer. Mr. Stratton caused a little commotion when he discovered this letter and telegram had been sent to the local executive Headquarters of the Patriotic Fund are opposed to a municipal relief officer acting. Finally it was decided on motion of Rev. Jas. Rollins and D. O'Connell, that the appointment of an officer be placed in the hands of the relief committee of the fund, Ald. Stratton being added to the committee.

The question of securing a building in which to hold a large public meeting was discussed. It was reported that J. J. Turner wanted $100 for the Opera House. He first agreed on $65 but this offer was withdrawn.

It was moved by Mr. Navy, seconded by Mr. Crane, that the meeting be held in the armouries. It was moved by Rev. Jas. Rollins and A. W. Cressman, that J. H. Burnham, W. Stocker, B. D. Hall, and D. O'Connell, be a committee to look after the armouries, and have it heated and chairs put in.

Bishop O'Brien, in a short speech, said he regretted that the rich men of the city had been so small and stingy in dealing with this patriotic Fund. He said he failed to see where any of the rich men of the city had come forward and put their names down for $1000. There was, to his mind, an utter lack of spirit in Peterboro. He said that the working men of this town deserved a lot of praise for the way in which they had come forward and supported the cause. The speaker was of the opinion that the factories in this city who had received bonuses should come to the rescue and help largely to boost this fund.

Bishop O'Brien expressed himself that a good idea in the distribution of relief would be to have the city divided into sections, and he felt quite sure that there were men public-spirited enough to be responsible for each division.

His few remarks were heartily received, as was evidenced by the applause which followed. The meeting closed by the singing of "God Save the King."

Those present were: Mayor Buller, chairman; Bishop O'Brien, Messrs. H. Rush, G. A. Gillespie, W. Navy, Ald. Johnston, B. D. Hall, A. W. Cressman, J. H. Burnham, M.P., Ald. Stratton, John Crane, and Rev. Jas. Rollins.

DANCES MADE MORE THRILLING ON THE STAGE

Dancing Artists With Feldman and Christie Discuss the Latest Steps

"How do you account for the fact that the tango, the maxixe and others, classed as the latest dances, so readily assume the name of 'society dances'?" asked a Review scribe of Miss Agnes Geary and Mr. Victor Bayard, with the Feldman and Christie Imperial Musical Comedy Co., who have been playing at the Grand Opera House this week. Both had the same opinion.

The latest dances, danced in ballrooms are vastly different from the dances as pictured by the average man or woman after witnessing them presented before the footlights.

"When presenting the various dances," remarked Mr. Bayard, "it is necessary for us to add to them and make them more thrilling, for it is the thrills that count on the stage. Take the hesitation waltz for instance. It is practically the same identical dance as the waltz our grandparents danced, with a few additional steps. It is the same with all the other recent dances. Of course, some of the extreme ones will not, and in fact have not, lasted, but there is nothing at all improper in the tango, hesitaiton waltz or maxixe. As Miss Geary has just said, we put 'thrillers' into them, because it is the thrillers that capture the audiences. These dances when danced at gatherings of society people are not marked with any extreme dips or glides, and should a dancer commence them he or she would immediately be asked to retire."

Both Miss Geary and Mr. Bayard have been pupils of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Castle, the celebrated New York tango dancers. Mr. Bayard was also an understudy for Joseph Stanley who attained great popularity in "When Dreams Come True" and "A Modern Eve." He has been with the Imperial Musical Comedy Co. since it was organized last May in London, Ont.

It will no doubt be a surprise to many citizens to learn that the agile and pretty Miss Geary is in private life the wife of Mr. Harry Feldman, who made so many people laugh at the theatre this week. She is the mother of a cute little two-year-old daughter, who possesses the same winsome appearance as her mamma. Mrs. Feldman came originally from Hornell, N. Y., and her father was the leading musician of Happy Cal Wagner's minstrel show. She has been "raised before the footlights."

The hour previous to the time the curtain raises is always a busy period for actors and actresses, so the reporter beat a retreat, though not before hearing the proprietors of the company express themselves as being gratified at the manner in which they have been treated by the citizens of Peterborough. If at all possible they will play a return engagement.

That the Feldman and Christie Co. have won favor in this city through their entertainments is hardly necessary to state, but it is well to note that they have won favor in other respects. It is often the cast that an inferior class of people travel with musical comedy troupes, but with the Imperial Musical Comedy Co. such is not the case. Many citizens, particularly the business men, have noticed with pleasure the neat and womanly appearance of the lady members of the company and the orderly and gentlemanly manners of the men. One prominent business man in speaking to the Review scribe yesterday paid them a fitting tribute in the few words, "You would hardly know they were in the city."

TURKEY WAS NOT FIT FOR TABLE

Was Found to be Diseased and Police Court Case Followed

Magistrate Dumble had an interesting case before him this morning. Mrs. H. L. McIlmoyle was charged with offering for sale a turkey unfit for use. Sanitary Inspector Spence told of having inspected the bird at the house of the lady who bought it. He told of examining the bird and finding the liver greatly enlarged and covered with yellowish, brown spots. He condemned the fowl for use and it was sent to the incinerator. Mr. Spence said the bird was suffering from blackhead, a disease amongst fowl. The purchaser told of the condition in which the bird was found.

She corroborated the statements of the Sanitary Inspector.

Mrs. McIlmoyle said that as far as she knew it was in good condition. It was brought out in her evidence that the defendent made no effort to find out in any way if any of the rest of the flock had the disease.

Judgment was reserved for one week.

ARTILLERY DUELS ON WESTERN FRONT

FOE DIRECTS FIRE ON YPRES SOISSONS AND RHEIMS

Spirited Attacks by Enemy in Argonne District Are Repulsed--Situation Remains Unchanged in Woevre and Vosges.

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

PARIS, Nov. 23. —Official statement:—Yesterday was marked by violent artillery fire. The enemy directed his attention particularly to the town of Ypres, where the belfry, the cathedral, the markets and a number of houses were set on fire, to Soissons and to Rheims.

In the Argonne, the day was characterized by very hot fighting. The enemy delivered very spirited atacks which were repulsed.

In the Woevre and Vosges the situation is without change.

LONDON, Nov. 23. — In Flanders and in France the armies seem to be enjoying a long deserved rest, for the only remaining evidence that the belligerents are facing each other is an occasional bombardment with heavy guns. Infantry attacks have temporarily ceased.

"The day has been very quiet. There has been nothing of interest to report, except that in the Woevre district, in the Eparges, five German attacks were executed in mass in the space of two hours and were stopped abruptly by the fire of our artillery."

The following official communication was issued Saturday night:—

"To-day there was a violent bombardment of Ypres, during which the market place and the town hall were destroyed. In the region of Soissons and Vailly there was rather strong cannonading.

"There is nothing to report from the other parts of the front."

The following official communication was given out in Paris Sunday afternoon:

"The day of the 21st was calm upon the whole front. In Belgium, as in the region from Arras to the Oise, there were only intermittent cannonades. Our artillery evidenced in general more activity than that of the enemy. Our batteries succeeded in demolishing many lines of German trenches. The enemy worked elsewhere to construct new ones in the rear.

"The day was equally calm upon the Aisne, in the Champagne, as well as in the Argonne, upon the heights of the Meuse and in the Vosges."

A correspondent on The Franco-Belgian frontier, writing to The Sunday Observer says:

"The terrific fighting of the last five weeks north of Lille, though it has cost the allies thousands of lives, has, in the aggregate result, been all in their favor, for the Germans' situation is incomparably worse now in West Flanders than it was the week after they had entered Ostend.

"The flood, the bitter frost, which grips the hearts and mortally assails the lungs of the German infantry in their flimsy trenches, and the unconquerable courage of the British, Belgians and French alike, have so demoralized the Kaiser's hordes that when the general retirement, which is now inevitable, begins, it will rapidly develop into a rout.

"The Germans dare not retreat. They know the allies are eager to pursue; that they have in the background a whole army corps waiting, fresh and chafing for the signal to advance.

"The allies' generalship has been superb. The Germans have wasted themselves in fruitless efforts to achieve their aim of occupying Calais, till winter has descended on them, and the elements have become the chief force in the great alliance. The Germans are concentrated at Keyem, and large reinforcements are reported advancing along the road from Thierout to Beerst, presumably to attack through Dixmude. Their attacks on the allies' line from Dixmude to Nieuport have slackened off in the last few days."

Missed Nitro-Glycerine Explosion in Powder Mills

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 23.—A nitroglycerine explosion at Etna Powder Mills, four miles from Gary, Ind., this morning broke hundreds of windows and put the electric lighting plant out of commission in that city, besides wrecking several farm houses.

Two hundred employes were warned of the probability of an explosion by a leak in an oil tank and fled to safety.

Victim Fell Down Mine Shaft and Died From Injuries

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

JAPAN READY WITH HER ARMY WHEN ALLIED FORCES SAY THE WORD

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

LONDON, Nov. 23. — Arthur Diosy, founder of the Japan Society, says that Japan is in a complete state of readiness, and if the Allies think it necessary, Japan can supply a large, highly-trained and admirably-equipped army for service in Europe.

It would be easy to ship half a million men to Europe by Russian railway and by transport.

General Sukhomlinoff

GENERALS WHO ARE LEADING VICTORIOUS RUSSIAN ARMIES.

General Rusky is the commander of the army which captured Lemberg, the first important place in Galicia occupied by the Russians. General Brussiloff took an important part in the operations that led to the capture of Lemberg. The Grand Duke Nicholas asked the Czar to confer on General Brussiloff for his services in all the fighting, the Fourth Class of the Order of St. George. General Sukhominoff has taken a leading part, since the war with Japan, in the reorganization of the Russian army. The fine equipment of the Russian forces in the field is said to be chiefly due to him.

KAISER RAGING AT BRITISH AIR RAID

Terrible Uneasiness Mingled With Anger is Felt Throughout Germany --- Damage Believed to be Greater Than Admitted

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

THE HAGUE, Nov. 23. — Reports from Berlin says that the British air raid of Friedrichsshaff caused terrible uneasiness mingled with anger throughout Germany. The Kaiser's headquarters particularly was infuriated over the magnificent feat. There is good reason to believe that the damage done by British bombs was far greater than the Wolff press bureau admits.

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Germany, Nov. 23.—(Via Berlin, The Hague and London.) — Elaborate precautions which the Germans have taken for safety were responsible for the failure of three British aviators who on Saturday swooped down upon this city with the object of destroying with bombs the Zeppelin balloon works. Anti-aeroplane cannon and machine guns adapted to high angle fire defeated the accomplishment of the daring exploit and succeeded in bringing down one of the hostile machines and putting the other to flight.

The British airmen were first seen above Constance at two o'clock and their presence immediately was announced to the authorities at Friedrichshafen, the anti-balloon cannon and the machine guns which had been placed in readiness immediately opened fire. The Britishers circled above the balloon hall for some time and dropped six bombs, two of which came so near to the building as to cause apprehension among those watching the novel combat. Two other bombs struck houses in the city, damaging them severely and killing a man and wounding a woman.

One of the fliers then made a fearless attempt to cross the hall at a height of only a quarter of a mile. Bullets from the guns mounted on the tops of buildings, however, pierced the aeroplane's gasoline tank, causing the fuel to escape and forcing the pilot to attempt a glide to earth. During the descent of the machine the airman, a lieutenant of of the British Royal Naval Air Service named Briggs, threw two or three more bombs at the hangar, but they missed their mark.

The lieutenant, on reaching the ground, tried to defend himself with a revolver, but was captured by the employes of the Zeppelin wharf after receiving a slight wound in the head. The point where the aeroplane was landed was only 300 feet from the Zeppelin hall.

The other aviators disappeared across Lake Constance.

The wounded man is being treated at a local hospital.

SALARY TOO SMALL TO MAKE IT WORTH WHILE

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

Ottawa, Nov. 23.—H. F. Baker, keeper of the lighthouse at Clapperton Island, Georgian Bay, upon receiving a circular asking all government employes to subscribe one day's pay to the Patriotic Fund, replied that his salary was too small to make that worth while.

He enclosed five dollars from his wife and family and directed ten dollars to be deducted from his quarterly salary.

Mother is Killed by Her Daughter

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

Montreal, Nov. 23.—Mrs. J. B. Roy was this morning shot and killed by her fifteen year old daughter. The girl was playing with a revolver she had borrowed from a boarder.

Egyptian cotton is being profitably grown on irrigated farms in Arizona.

INTERIOR OF RESIDENCE IS WRECKED

Defective Wiring Started Fire at Dublin Street Home

Defective wiring is thought to be the cause of a fire yesterday afternoon, which wrecked the interior of W. H. Baker's residence on Dublin street, between George and Water streets.

The blaze originated in the cellar and worked its way along the joists and up the partitions. This made difficult work for the firemen. Three lines of hose were laid.

Mr. and Mrs. Baker were about to leave their home when they became aware of the situation. Mr. Baker used water with but little success, and when the firemen arrived the fire had gained considerable headway.

The floors are of hardwood and the fire secured quite a headway on the first and second floors. It was necessary to chop holes in the wood work to let the water and the chemicals do their work.

Damage in the neighborhood of $1000 is covered by insurance.

RUSSIANS CAPTURE TOWN

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

LONDON, Nov. 23. — A despatch to the Daily Telegraph from Petrograd reports the capture by Russians of the town of Gumbinnen, in the northern part or East Prussia, and southeast of Koenigsberg.

TAKE SIX TRAINS OFF C.P.R. LINE THROUGH CITY

Will Run on New Line Commencing December 1st

NO CHANGE ON G.T.R.

Several important changes in the Canadian Pacific train schedules are to become effective December 1st. Six trains that now run through Peterborough will be taken off and put on the new line from Toronto to Montreal, leaving just three daily trains through this city, as was formerly the case; an early morning train going west, one going east about 11.30 and an afternoon train west. As Peterborough is the largest city on this line, the company felt that it would be more advantageous all round to shift the trains that now operate through here to their new line, leaving just the three trains to handle the traffic on this line, which would be ample to care for all traffic under existing conditions.

It was stated in the Toronto papers that the G.T.R. were withdrawing trains from their branch lines, owing to the dullness of the season, but City Passenger Agent Rose stated that Peterborough service will remain just as it has always been. Only some of the service on the branch lines between Belleville and Kingston will be curtailed by cutting off a portion of the regular run, and some unimportant branch lines up west near Kincardine and points thereabouts. The main lines will not be altered in any way.

DIED IN FRANCE

Some 29 appeals have been listed before the County Judge against the decision of the Court of Revision in their recent sitting. The cases will be heard on Wednesday, December 2nd, at 10.30 a.m. Mr. E. H. D. Hall will represent the retail merchants.

EYE-WITNESS DESCRIBES SITUATION AROUND YPRES

Fresh Evidences of Terrible Losses of Germans in Neighborhood of British Position Are Received Every Day.

Tommy Atkins Now Has Hot Baths in Vats and Emerges Fit for Prodigies of Valor.

LONDON, Nov. 23. — Col. E. D. Swinton, the British official eye-witness with the expeditionary forces on the continent, writes:—

"Around Ypres we continually are finding fresh evidence of the slaughter inflicted on the enemy. On the 15th one of the battalions while advancing discovered a German trench manned by 17 corpses, while there were 49 more in a house close by. On the next day a patrol discovered 60 dead in front of one trench and 50 more opposite another. All the farms and cottages to our front are charnel houses.

"The significance of such small numbers lies only in the fact that they represent the killed in a very small area.

"According to prisoners the German attempt to take Ypres proved costly. One stated that there were only 15 survivors out of his platoon, which went into action 50 strong. Another reported that of 250 men who advanced with him, only 19 returned. It is believed that one Bavarian regiment, 3,000 strong, which left Bavaria for the front on Oct. 19, had only 1,200 men left when an attack was made along the Menin-Ypres road on Nov. 14, in which it again suffered severely.

"The plight of some units of new formations is even worse, one regiment of the third reserve corps having six hundred men out of 3,000.

"If the period since the beginning of the war is considered, the numbers are even greater. For instance of the 15th corps, one regiment lost 60 officers and 2,500 men. Another lost 3,000 men. These figures include casualties of every kind — killed, wounded and missing.

"In all four days the weather was bad. Generally fine and frostly in the early morning, it turned to heavy rain as the day wore on. Thursday snow started to fall about 1 p.m. and continued until about six o'clock. It fell in large soft flakes, which covered the ground for two inches and melted under foot. The state of the roads, already bad, was rendered worse.

"The condition of the trenches became wretched beyond description. From having to sit or stand in a mixture of straw and liquid mud, the men had to contend with half frozen slush. 'It is an ill wind, however,' and one good point about the wet weather is that it made the ground so soft that the enemy's howitzer shells, sink some depths before they detonate and expend a great part of their energy in an upward direction, throwing the mud about.

"Nevertheless, the wet and cold have added greatly to the hardships of the troops in the trenches and the problem how to enable to keep their feet reasonably dry and warm now is engaging serious attention.

"At one place, owing to the kindness of the proprietor, certain works recently were placed at our disposal as a wholesale bath house, lavatory and repair shop. In the works are a number of vats, large enough to contain several men at one time. They serve most excellently for the provisions of hot baths for the men on relief from the trenches.

"While the men are enjoying their bath, their clothes are taken away, their underclothing washed or burned and replaced by a new set. At the same time their uniforms are fumigated, cleaned and repaired and buttons sewed on. The repairs are done by a gang of women who are employed for the purpose. By this installation some 1,500 men are catered to in every way.

NAVAL STATION OUTSIDE OF VALPARAISA

Chilean Government Will Act Against Germany Even at Cost of War

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

Lima, Peru, Nov. 23.—It is declared that Germans have been maintaining a naval station outside of Valparaiso where their vessels have been coaling and provisioning. The Chilean Government is said to be determined to break this up even at the cost of war with Germany.

CAN TALK WITH DEPARTED ONES

Sir Oliver Lodge Makes Striking Declaration

LONDON, Nov. 23. — Sir Oliver Lodge, president of the Society for Psychical Research, in a lecture yesterday in Browning Hall, Walworth, made a striking declaration of his spiritual faith, expressing his absolute conviction in the future existence, and stating that he has conversed with friends who had passed away.

"I say this," said Sir Oliver, "on definite scientific grounds. I say it because I know that certain friends of mine still exist, because I have talked to them. Communication is possible, but one must obey the laws to find out the conditions. I do not say it is easy, but I say it is possible."

Sir Oliver said that once people realised that consciousness was something outside the mechanism it made use of, they realised the survival of existence was the simplest thing. It was unreasonable that the soul should pass out of existence when the body was destroyed; people were not limited to the few years they live on earth, and they certainly continued to exist.

COMMUNICATION BY CABLE CUT BY HOSTILE CRUISERS

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

London, Nov. 23. — The official bureau announced today that a message from the Governor-General of Jamaica, declares there was interruption in the cable communication with Jamaica early in August of this year which at the time was thought to be due to an earthquake.

It is now known that the Jamaica cable was cut by hostile cruisers on August 3rd at six-forty a.m. before the declaration of war.

GAINS MADE SAYS BERLIN, TRENCH AFTER TRENCH TAKEN FROM THE FRENCH

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

LONDON, Nov. 23. — An official statement issued at Berlin today claims that the Germans are gaining ground in the forest of Argonne, step by step wresting one trench after another and one point of support after another, from the French. Coast artillery at Nieuport drove off a British squadron which approached the shore twice. The appearance of Russian reinforcements has postponed a decision of the battle in Poland.

PROHIBITION IN RUSSIA.

THE EDICT of the Czar of all the Russias, abolishing vodka from his dominions for at least the duration of the war, and possibly for all time, has been an eye-opener to the temperance people of the world. People of that persuasion in Canada are asking, without ever thinking seriously of the question in most cases, why cannot Canada do what Russia has done? Why all this interminable discussion and balloting, when the Czar does the whole job with the stroke of a pen?

The question is important in that it illustrates the advantages of bureaucratic government and the drawbacks of democracy. In Russia the Czar is the real king. He is the governor, the leader of his people, and the director of the government's policy. His office holds for life, whether his tenure of it is good or bad. In Canada, the real king is the premier, but his power is limited in that it must have the sanction of the people and may terminate in an election. The Czar can say, "I will abolish vodka," and he does it. The premier cannot say, "I will abolish whiskey," because he cannot do it. He must first consult his cabinet, and then it must bring the matter before the House of Commons, which would likely say that the people must vote on this question. All these stages leave room for opposition and delay, which cannot be avoided in our system of government. That means that a question relating to some reform, such as the abolition of liquor, cannot be carried into law without a long educative process; but when they ARE adopted, they are usually permanent, for to annul them is almost as difficult as to pass them. Permanency in legislation is not guaranteed by a bureaucratic system, because what the Czar proclaims law today he may revoke tomorrow. When a wise, competent man is on the throne of a country like Russia, the government is usually able and beneficial, but, if the Czar is weak, the same kind of government is likely to follow. Viewing the two systems, we prefer our own representative system of government with its slower but surer movements, for the reason that greater progress has resulted therefrom in the long run.

There is another reason why it was many times easier for Russia to do in a day, in reference to vodka, what Canada has not been able to do in a quarter of a century. The manufacture of vodka was a government monopoly. The whole supply and sale depended on the government. The shops bought from the government. Hence the Czar could say, "We will make no more vodka, nor will I allow it to be sold." The public ownership of the liquor interests in Canada has been advocated, but it would not likely conduce to the betterment of party politics to have at command the money resources of such an industry. If Canada is to have prohibition, as Russia has it, she must work along different lines — along the lines of a public sentiment in favour of it, that will reach to the Houses of Parliament, but not as a question of party division. It must force itself on the Legislature or the Commons as a need for legislation, not as an issue between two political camps.

GERMAN WRITERS IN THE PUBLIC EYE.

AN ARTICLE appearing in the Montreal Journal of Commerce relates to the references made to German writers and gives some explanatory details concerning Nietzsche, Treitschke and Bernhardi. Bernhardi certainly wrote in a manner that could hardly fail to inflame the German mind against Britain. Treitschke may justly be charged with the same tendency. Some quite eminent writers in England and America have coupled with the others the name of Nietzsche. Against this coupling a strong protest is being made.

Heinrich von Treitschke, an eminent historian and political writer, was born in Dresden, Sept. 1834, and died in 1896. Deafness prevented his admission to the public service. After studying at Leipzig and Bonn, he became a lecturer at the former. At the time he was classed as a Liberal, and owing to his political views the Saxon Government would not allow him to be appointed to a professorship. He favoured German unity, but not in the form of a federation. His mind on the subject was that which it is generally believed Sir John Macdonald had at the beginning of the Canadian Confederation question. He would have abolished all the state governments and established a central government and parliament to rule in all things. When Saxony joined Austria against Prussia Treitscbke went to Berlin, was naturalized as a Prussian subject, and from that time, notwithstanding his earlier views, became a Prussian in all things. As a member of the Reichstag his deafness prevented his taking a very prominent part, but he was known as a champion of the Hohenzollern house, and a strong hater of England, whose possession of such a large portion of the earth's surface seemed to him to stand in the way of Germany's colonial expansion.

Frederich Wilhelm Nietzsche, a very distinguished German philosopher, was born at Rocken, near Leipzig, in 1844, and died in 1900. After a striking career as a student he became a professor of classical philology in the University of Basel, where he entered upon a period of brilliant literary activity, which continued until failing health obliged him to retire. For some years he lived at various health resorts, suffering much pain, yet sending forth from time to time brilliant essays of a philosophical character. In 1888 he was pronounced hopelessly insane and remained in that condition until his death in 1900. "He regarded humanity," says a biographer, "as being composed of two types, fundamentally different from each other, the weak and the strong, the slavish and the masterful, the mob and the aristocratic few. In the struggle between these two types each would naturally seek to impose its morality on the other, and to depreciate these qualities in its opponent that are dangerous to it. Thus the weak commend the qualities of meekness and compassion, extol poverty and renunciation. Because Christianity (which, as Nietzsche significantly points out, arose among the slave population of Rome), extolled this slave morality, he was opposed to it, and proclaimed himself Antichrist." Another writer holds that Nietzsche's philosophy must be undertsood in its relation to the circumstances of his life, and as the outcome of a violent revolt against them on the part of an intensely emotional and nervous temperament.

Many of the writers who have been looking for the causes of the war, including the English novelist, Mr. Thomas Hardy, treat Nietzsche's admiration of the strong and his disdain for the weak as a part of the evil influence which helped to build up German militarism and bring on the war. But admirers of the philosopher have come to the front to protest against this view. Most vigorous among these protests is that of Mr. Thomas Beecham, the London operatic manager, who writes as follows:

> "To me, an old student of Nietzsche, is it only too evident that Mr. Hardy's criticisms of this remarkable man are founded on the most superficial basis of knowledge, and provide a deplorable example of that ignorance which has prevailed for over a generation in this country of matters concerning real German life and thought.
>
> "As one of the few who have never disguised their views on this subject, and who have often brought themselves into collision with those others in this country who have thought it a part of their duty to support the claims and pretensions of modern German culture, I have resolutely attacked publicly and privately, in season and out of season, the mental and moral decadence of Germany, its utter bankruptcy on the higher planes of art and philosophy. For during an entire generation, Germany, which formerly occupied a fairly exalted place on the arctic heights of spiritual life, has taken a headlong flight down-hill into the valley of the grossest materialism, and through the length and breadth of that country which was once described by Lord Lytton as 'a nation of dreamers and poets,' and which during the nineteenth century has contributed so gloriously to literature, music, and philosophy, there has been found only one man to raise his voice against this terrible national tendency, to devote his whole career to arresting the final organization of all German thought, who shattered his life-forces on the unbreakable rock of German philistinism, and whose marvellously subtle brain and super-refined organism at last gave way under the strain of the splendid but hopeless task he had taken upon himself. It is Frederich Nietzsche. And how this gladiator of real culture, the 'good European' and keen hater of all nationalistic 'termini' and Jingoism, must now be turning in his grave at being daily placed in the same category with men like Treitschke and Bernhardi (the former being a particular object of his detestation), and regarded as the spiritual father of modern Germany."

A Greedy Feudal System.

(London Chronicle.)

Should the Russian invaders remain in Galicia the native peasantry may have reason to rejoice. Both in Galicia and in Russia over the border, the farm worker who harvests for the great noble receives no wages in money. But whereas in Russia the worker's share of the produce is from one-fourth to one-half, in Galicia, land owners' rings have reduced the peasants' takings to as low as one-twelfth. Hence riots and the burning of chateaux. The deplorable social condition of Galicia had its origin in the extravagances of the Austrian nobility, who have heavily mortgaged their estates and in many cases parted with them to the nouveau rich, who in turn joined together to keep the peasant's share of the harvest to the lowest point. One wonders what sort of enthusiasm arms the soul of the Galician in fighting the battle of his new oppressors. The Russian agricultural system may in itself be worth to the Czar a park of artillery in each battle.

All Not Well With Germany.

(Montreal Journal of Commerce.)

The German Socialist paper "Vorwarts," which was suppressed for a time by the military authorities, is again being published, but under a strict censorship. Despite this fact, the paper states that the problem of feeding the nation is a matter of greatest concern. The paper refers to the danger of "internal trouble," but does not mention what this is. Apparently all is not well in Germany.

The Vandal Among Nations.

(New York Herald.)

Properly the support of the homeless and the starving of Belgium should be assumed by Germany. According to its own showing, not only has it no need for what it wrings from bleeding Belgium, but it could easily support the Belgians from its abundance. Is it Germany's desire to earn the distinction of being the vandal among nations?

Why Worry?

(Montreal News.)

Many a man spends valuable time in defending the Kaiser which might better be utilized in helping his own side to victory. Why worry about the empire's chief enemy?

A Question.

(Boston Transcript.)

When the Germans drop a bomb on an unfortified town and kill nineteen women, sticklers for correct usage are in doubt whether to call it kultur or chivalry.

Bulletin Scenes In New York

Anything sensational usually appeals to the average New Yorker; consequently it is not surprising that New York is fairly revelling in the daily news from the seat of war. New York, in fact, is far more excited than is London. There is such a demand for war news that the newspapers are issuing frequent editions from morning until late at night, while large numbers of people sit up until one or two a. m. in order to get their morning papers.

Outside the principal newspaper offices there are bulletin boards on which the latest news is displayed. These attract large crowds, made up of almost all the nationalities represented in New York's cosmopolitan population. The largest crowd is generally to be found outside the office of the New York Times, and this is a favorite gathering place for the Germans. Whether or not they are paid emissaries of the Kaiser it is impossible to say, but it is a fact that all day long men are to be found here arguing Germany's side of the case in English and German. Each of these orators is constantly surrounded by a group of interested people, who take part in the discussion, and there is generally a wrangle between the friends and foes of the German Empire. Beyond keeping a passage clear for the walking public, the police seldom interfere with these groups of talkers. If you stop a few minutes near one of the groups, you will generally hear something like this:

The Orator: "Und I tell you dat Germany is fighting for der liberties of de whole vorld. If you vant to know der truth, read our white baper. You can get it here for ten cents. Don't you believe what der English say. It's all lies. Just look at der beeple fighting us—niggers, Hindoos, Cossacks, und der scum of England und France."

An American in the crowd: "How about poor little Belgium? You didn't give her a square deal, any way."

The Orator: "Vell, it vos all Belgium's own fault. We vould haf paid her vell if she had given us a right-of-way like Luxemburg, and she would haf done it if it hadn't been for dose sneaking English. You buy der German white baper for ten cents. That will tell you better dan I can."

The American: "I want to know why you Germans invaded Belgium."

The Orator: "You read dot white baper I tell you — buy it for ten cents."

The American: "If it's anything like your explanation it ain't worth ten cents."—(Laughter from the crowd.)

As a rule the crowds are quite orderly, but I witnessed an interesting little fracas one afternoon when international feeling boiled over. It was the day when the New York Times bulletin announced the sinking of the three British cruisers by the German submarine. A German who read the announcement expressed high glee in loud tones.

"Ja, ja," he shouted, "das ist gut fur die Deutschers—gut, gut."

"What's that ye're saying?" asked a burly and rather inebriated Irishman who stood close by.

"I say it vos goot," retorted the German.

"Then you're a —— liar," exclaimed the Irishman. "I call it —— bad."

"Nein, nein," the German went on, "it vos goot, und I tell you——"

What he might have told remained unuttered, for the Irishman landed him such a "biff on the jaw," as the prizefighters say, that the German's teeth fairly rattled and his hat was knocked off. At this moment a muscular policeman pushed his way through the crowd, club in hand, ready for business.

"Here, you guys, what's all this row about?" he asked, as he seized the Irishman. The latter had all the diplomacy of his race. "Why, officer," he explained, "this guy here says all the Irish ought to be killed. Gee! d'ye suppose I'm going to stand by and listen to such talk as that?"

The policeman, himself an Irishman, did not wait to argue the point. He let go his prisoner, and made a dash for the German, who pushed frantically through the crowd and ran hatless across Broadway and down 43rd street, pursued by an angry mob. He was soon surrounded and captured, and when I last saw him he was being taken in the direction of the police station.

At the New York Herald office—the Herald being strong in its sympathies for France — one finds at night a large crowd of Frenchmen assembled, excitedly discussing the war. It is unsafe at such times for a German to be too much in evidence. A practical joker, a few evenings ago, wandered into the crowd and remarked loudly: "Gut fur die Kaiser."

"Ah, sacre Allemand! A bas les Allemands!" shouted the crowd, and fists were shaken.

The joker saw the danger and promptly shouted "Vive la France," and while the Frenchmen were wondering how a German sympathizer had been so suddenly changed he managed to make his escape.

Until recently at the office of the German daily paper, the Staats Zeitung, only a few Germans were attracted by the bulletins, so the proprietors decided to put up English as well as German announcements. The office happens to be on the way to the Brooklyn Bridge, and is passed in the evening by a large number of Irish and Italian laborers from the new skyscrapers which are being erected in the neighborhood. Naturally they stopped to read the news from Berlin, and the result was that several fights took place at the street corner, the Germans being completely routed. Now the bulletins are in German only, and peace reigns.

Wider skirts are coming in, and the Tango has disappeared. What's the answer.

BIRDS OF A FEATHER, ETC.

Editor, Review:

Dear Sir,—It is useless for well-intentioned people to lecture us in Peterborough on our lack of spirit, tendency to crokedness, etc., when in many cases close and intimate social and political companionship on the part of some of these same lecturers with men of at least doubtful reputation has been the cause of much of the cynicism and weakness now charged. "Show me your company, and I'll show you who you are," is as true now as it always was. We cannot be all things to all kinds of men, to suit our own purposes, and at the same time expect other people to let us get away with it.

Yours,
MONTEFROIE.

PIONEER DAIRYMAN DEAD.

BROCKVILLE, Nov. 21. — The death occurred at his home here of James Bissell, retired farmer, aged 80. He was one of the pioneer dairymen of Eastern Ontario and established in the township of Augusta one of the first cheese factories of the Brockville district. He was also prominent in the Methodist church.

A FIGHT IN THE CLOUDS

By F. A. MITCHEL

Interlaken is a good central point for tourists to make short trips visiting Swiss places of interest. Perhaps the most interesting of all these trips is to take a train at Interlaken for Grindelwald, thence up the steep side of a mountain to Scheidegg.

When I made this trip the railway from Scheidegg to the top of the Jungfrau was just begun. In the car ascending from Grindelwald was a young American with two guides who was intending to ascend the Jungfrau from Scheidegg. He was a quiet, inoffensive fellow, but the fact that he carried an ice ax indicated that he was a climber. A Frenchman with a waxed mustache and a goatee proportionately small seemed disposed to guy him. Webster, the American, kept his temper, but, being quicker at repartee, got the better of him and set the car laughing at him. This made the Frenchman, whose name was Du Pierre, angry, and he insulted Webster. Since they were sitting opposite each other Webster reached forth his hand and slapped the other's cheek.

Every one expected a fight, but since we were climbing at an angle of something like forty degrees no one relished the prospect of having one. We could not blame Webster for resenting an insult at the moment rather than having it pass into something more serious. Nevertheless, the affair did pass into something more serious. The Frenchman, handing Webster his card, said:

"This is no place for an altercation."

Of course that meant a challenge, but when or where the end of the affair would be reached no one knew, and few cared. When we reached Scheidegg I, being a fellow countryman of Webster's, he called upon me, asking me to go to Du Pierre and make an effort to settle the matter. Before doing so I learned from a man who had witnessed the fracas in the car that the Frenchman was a celebrated Paris duelist. I had therefore very little hope of securing an adjustment, and that hope was extinguished as soon as I met the Frenchman's representative. He informed me that such an insult as he had received unavenged would ruin his reputation at home. He could not afford even to accept an apology.

Webster turned out to be a sheep raiser in the heart of the Rocky mountains and used to high altitudes. He directed me to accept Du Pierre's challenge. By the code Webster was entitled to the choice of weapons and the terms of the fight. He directed me to make the following provisions: One of the principals was to go to a point on the road a mile down toward Lauterbrunnen, the other remaining at Scheidegg. Each was to be armed with a revolver, two chambers loaded. At an appointed hour they were to advance and begin firing whenever they chose to do so. The road leaving Scheidegg is not at first steep, and it made little difference which of the two won the Scheidegg end.

Du Pierre, who supposed he would fight under terms to which he had been accustomed, was indignant at such an innovation, but since I assured him that Webster would only fight him on the terms offered he was obliged either to go back to Paris having had his face slapped without having wiped out the insult or accept the situation.

The matter was kept perfectly quiet. Those who had witnessed the fracas in the car were tourists and scattered in all directions. Consequently when one went out the next morning as the sun was casting its first beams on the surrounding peaks there was no one present except the principals, their seconds and a surgeon who was stopping at one of the hotels. Du Pierre won the toss and chose to move out from Scheidegg. Two shots were given each man, and Webster and I went down the incline for a mile, waiting there for the time for the duelists to start.

I started him on the minute, and he advanced slowly up the road. The two men could see each other for nearly the whole distance. When they were a quarter of a mile apart the Frenchman, halting, took deliberate aim and fired. The ball fell on the road some distance from the American.

I now saw the meaning of Webster's tactics. Having lived in a mountainous country, he realized how much nearer objects appeared through the air than they were. Du Pierre had supposed he had his enemy within range when he was not. I could see that he was surprised that his shot had not taken effect, but I doubt if he knew the reason.

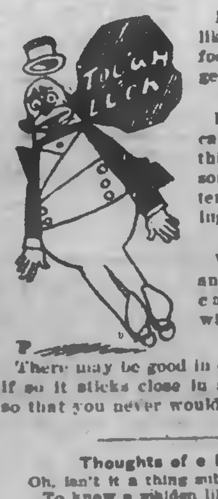
Webster now had two shots to his enemy's one, but showed no sign of firing. They continued to advance for perhaps a hundred feet when Webster suddenly raised his weapon. Du Pierre at once raised his and fired. Webster lowered his pistol. A spent ball struck him in the leg, but did no serious damage.

This ended the fight, for the Frenchman had used both his shots, while the American had used neither of his, and the latter had no intention of shooting an unarmed enemy. Indeed, he had planned the affair to result exactly as it had resulted. Handing his weapon to me, he walked up the road, lifted his hat as he passed Du Pierre and proceeded to the station. An hour later, with his guides, he started for the summit of the Jungfrau and made the first successful ascent of that season. As for the Frenchman, he went back to Paris disgusted with Americans and what he called their Yankee tricks.

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

In the game of life honesty and truth are often found in the discard.

Too many men have faith in the other fellow's money.



Many a man likes to play the fool who hates to get caught at it.

People who can't make anything else are sometimes master hands at making failures.

With dollars and sense a man can get anywhere.

There may be good in everything, but if so it sticks close in some instances so that you never would guess it.

Thoughts of a Fellow.

Oh, isn't it a thing sublime
To know a maiden likes you;
That she will wed you any time
The wedding notion strikes you;
That she aspires to wear your ring
To dazzle foes and friends true—
But isn't it a solemn thing
To know that she intends to!

CAN IMITATE THE VIOLIN

There are plenty of people in the world who can imitate a cracked phonograph, a dog fight or a steamboat whistle. But there are very few who can successfully imitate a violin.

However, Charlevoix, Mich., has a resident who can attain the highest notes of a violin. She imitates this difficult instrument with her voice perfectly. She is Miss Mildred Eckinger, seventeen years old.

MILDRED ECKINGER

About a year ago the girl was humming to herself. Her father noticed the similarity between her tones and the tones of a violin. She began cultivating the newly found accomplishment.

She places her upper teeth firmly upon her lower lip and forces the sound from her throat.

PAID RANSOM IN TAPESTRY

One of the titles given to Belgium is "The Land of the Loom," for it was there in the ninth century that an Oriental art became established in Europe.

Pictured hangings of linen, wool, or silk opened commentaries on the Scriptures and the classics, became books for the illiterate, told fairy tales to the children, served as manuals of devotion to the pious, increased personal comfort, and brought the textile art to its highest point of perfection. The manufacture of tapestries came from the East, where it had long been practised by the Moors and Saracens; the first imitation by the Belgian—or Flemish—craftsmen was rude enough. Gradually, however, through skill and care the imitators became originators. The best artists co-operated with the weavers to produce pictorial results undreamed of in the Orient. Painters of the very highest rank, even Raphael and Michelangelo, were glad to draw cartoons for those who could transform the black and white designs into glorious colors in wool or silk.

In time their fame became world-wide, and their value so great that they were worth literally more than "a king's ransom." In 1396 the Sultan Bajazet the First took as prisoner a son of Philip the Hardy, King of France. The Turk stipulated, as a fair exchange, "high warp tapestry, worked in Arras, in Picardy," and that they should represent "good old stories."

The Prolific Peanut

Twenty years ago an American missionary resident in Shantung, China, brought to his mission station, when returning from his furlough, a quart of California peanuts which he gave to a native convert as seed to replace the poor shrivelled native peanut which possessed little or no marketing qualifications. To-day this quart of peanuts has spread all over Shantung Province, resulting in giving to these people an export trade in this article of one hundred and fifty thousand tons a year.

A Great Race

Two globe-trotters met in the smoking room of a hotel in a part of the world called, by some people, "the outskirts of the Empire." They found that they had each spent a week in China, on the strength of which they proceeded to "weigh up" that country to their mutual admiration and satisfaction.

From that the talk drifted to sporting events witnessed in different parts of the world.

"While I was in Australia," said No 1, "I saw what I imagine to be the closest race in the world. The winning horse only beat the second by a tongue's length!"

No. 2 seemed lost in thought. He gazed abstractedly out of the window. At last he spoke:

"I have seen a closer race than that," he murmured. "I was once in Scotland!"

Some Recipes Worth Trying

Suet Dumplings for Stews

Three ounces of finely chopped suet, one pound of flour, a little salt, and a teaspoonful of baking powder.

Mix all the ingredients together, then make into a stiff paste with water. Form into as many dumplings as are required, dust well with flour, then put into the stewpan, or steam separately for two hours, and add to the stewpan twenty minutes or so before serving.

Roly-poly Pudding

Use twice the weight of suet in flour and one teaspoonful of baking powder to each pound of flour, a little salt and preserve.

Chop the suet very finely, and mix with the flour, salt, and baking powder. Make into a stiff paste, roll out three-quarters of an inch thick, then spread the preserve over the centre. Wet the outside edge, then roll lightly. Pinch the edges together, and dust the roll with flour. Dip the pudding cloth into the pan of water which should be ready boiling, spread out on the table, and dust with flour, then put the roll in the centre, and tie up each end. Boil for two hours.

Steamed Treacle Pudding

Make a suet crust with a quarter of a pound of suet, ten ounces of flour, half a teaspoonful of baking powher. Mix with water to a stiff paste. Two ounces of breadcrumbs, about a pound of golden syrup, a little lemon juice, and a few slices of candied peel mixed together for filling.

Cut the suet crust into two slices. Roll one out thinly, and line a greased pudding basin with this. Cut off the trimmings, and roll out and cut into strips with the other half of crust, one piece being cut large enough to cover the top layer.

Put alternative layers of the mixture and crust, cut into thin strips, with a liberal quantity of the mixture on top, then put on the last layer of the crust in one piece. Turn the edges over, place greased paper on top of the basin, and steam for two hours.

Seaman's Pie

One pound of beef skirt, one carrot, one onion, a teaspoonful of sauce, salt and pepper to taste. About one pound of suet crust made with three-quarters flour and one-quarter suet, mixed with water to a stiff dough.

Have a stewing pan or casserole ready, cut the meat into thin slices, season well with salt and pepper, and just cover with water. Simmer on a slow fire or in an oven while the carrot and onion are being prepared. Cut these into thin slices, and add to the pan. Cook for about half an hour, then roll the suet paste just large enough to cover the meat in pin, put on the lid, and let the paste cook with the meat, etc., for another hour, longer if possible. Serve from the casserole, or remove the suet crust, turn the meat into a hot vegetable dish, then replace the crust, and serve.

Baked Batter Pudding

Two ounces of suet, eight ounces of flour, two eggs, two ounces of sultanas, two ounces of sugar, and half a pint of milk.

Mix the flour, suet, and sugar together, then add the fruit. Beat up the eggs and stir in, adding the milk until the whole mixture is well beaten together and nice and stiff. Turn into a flat tin and bake for thirty-five minutes in a moderate oven. Serve with sweet sauce flavored with lemon or vanilla.

Raisin Pudding

A quarter of a pound each of suet, flour, sugar, and stoned raisins, two ounces of breadcrumbs, two eggs, rind and juice of one lemon, half a teaspoonful of mixed spice. Milk to mix.

Mix all the ingredients together, beat up the eggs, and pour into the basin. Stir well together, adding milk sufficient to make the mixture into a stiff batter. Butter a basin, dust it with sugar, then pour the mixture in. Place a piece of greased paper on top, and steam the pudding in a saucepan for about one and a half hours.

Suet Pastry

Half a pound of flour, three ounces of chopped suet, a pinch of salt, and a small teaspoonful of baking powder.

Put the flour, suet, baking powder and salt into a basin, and mix well together, then pour in enough cold water to make the mixture into a stiff dough. Care must be taken not to make it too wet. Should there be any flour left in the basin use this on the board instead of fresh flour, and work it into the dough while rolling out. This pastry is excellent for meat pies, also for open fruit tarts. The suet used must be perfectly fresh, and it is essential to chop it very finely; if this is not done, the lumps will show when the pastry is made.

Sold Again!

"Johnny, I want you to go on a little errand for me."

"Oh, mother, must I really? My legs ache."

"In that case, of course, you need'nt go; but I thought perhaps you'd like to. You see, I wanted you to go to Mrs. Stickney's candy store and—"

Little Johnny brightened wonderfully.

"Oh, I think I can walk as far as that!" he said.

"Then you will go?"

"Certainly, mother."

"And you know where Mrs. Stickney's store is?"

"Yes, mother."

"Well, I have a parcel upstairs which I want you to hand in at the post office next door. I'm afraid it is rather a big parcel, but you don't mind carrying it, do you, Johnny?"

For Young Folks

A Small Fisherman With Rod and Creel.

MASCOT

Among the youngsters who paraded at the recent baby carnival at Asbury Park was one who caused a great deal of merriment. He is a son of one of the members of the fishing club of that city and marched as its mascot. As the picture shows, he is fully equipped to capture anything in the way of fish that has the temerity to bite his hook. Probably if he hooked a big one he might be a little frightened and look for some grownup to take it off the hook. But that is only supposing. Boys at Asbury Park are used to fish and fishing, and in all probability the lad here pictured would quickly pop the big fellow right into his creel. Fishing is great sport if the fish bite, but it is rather tiresome when one waits for hours without even a nibble. Little boys, however, should never go fishing unless accompanied by their fathers or big brothers.

Riddles.

What is that which every one can divide, but no one can see where it has been divided? Water.

What is majesty deprived of its externals? A jest—m-ajest-y.

Is there a word in the English language that contains all the vowels? Yes, unquestionably.

Why does a miller wear a white hat? To keep his head warm.

Why didn't the dog want to go into the ark? Because he had a bark of his own.

What makes the cost of tea so high? Because we must pay a steep price.

What fruit grows on telegraph wires? Electrical currents (currants).

What is the difference between a watchmaker and a jailer? The one sells watches, the other watches cells.

What sort of a day would be a good one on which to run for a cup? A muggy one.

An "Arts" Party.

Here is the way a little girl gave an "arts" party the other day. She had the following articles either pasted or tied on squares of cardboard, and these were hanging on the wall. Each guest received a pencil and paper and was asked to write a name for each cardboard that would sound like the name of a real painting. Here are some of the articles and some of the names:

A study in hearts, two valentines.
Study of a head, cabbage.
The pale face at home, powder puff.
Scenes in China, painted cup.
The grinds of labor, false teeth.
Teardrops, onion.
The light of other days, burnt candle.
A study in red, red flannel.
The Irish village, a cork.
Justice, scales.
Fetters of wealth, two gold rings.
A friend in need, a hairpin.

Names of Fishes.

To find fault. Used in warfare. In winter sports. Commands his boat. Polishes silver. To plunge and struggle. A little bit. Part of the foot. Used in ancient warfare. A good one is always in demand. Short and fat. Lost from her finger. A hen's bed. A puff. A barrier and a fair lady. A color and end of a whip. The tip and a tie. What is done to iron ore.

Answers.—Carp, torpedo, skate, skipper, whiting, flounder, dab, sole, pike, plaice, chub, herring, perch, whiff, barbel (bar, belle), redsnapper, topknot, smelt.

Riming Riddles.

Get out your puzzle guessers and see if you can tell—

What has four legs, yet cannot walk,
One foot besides a head?
If I should finish out this rime
I'd say it was a ——.

What grow in the ground
And have many eyes,
Yet nary a bit can they see?
We have them for dinner
Most every night. Now,
What in the world can they be?

And what has two hands
And a jolly round face?
What tells us when we Shall go every place?
What runs all the time
And yet runs standing still
And works for us all with
A jolly good will?

Answers.—Bed, potatoes, clock.

ULTRA VIOLET LIGHT RAYS.

How Man May Some Day Extract His Food From the Air.

Science begins to dream of a day in which man will gather his food direct from the air and digest it without much aid from the various ferments and juices which are now mainly instrumental in that work.

The chief agent in this mighty revolution, according to no less an authority than Bertholet, will be the ultra violet light rays. These are not visible to the human eye. They do not appear upon the spectroscope. They affect the photographic plate, however, and are probabbly discerned by some of the lower animals, whose sense of sight is much more acute than that of man.

Much is known of their chemical effects. Few microbes can long withstand their power. The redness and pain of "sunburn" are their work. They are particularly injurious to the eye, which upon exposure to them becomes totally blind in a little while.

Through the agency of these rays Bertholet has actually combined carbon dioxide and water vapor into sugar and other carbohydrates. He has inclosed carbohydrates, fats and albuminoids in sealed vessels of quartz and has seen them digest under the rays. The process is very expensive, of course, but it is hinted that modern inventive genius will so cheapen it in time that fields of wheat may be replaced by factories where food is manufactured from the gases of the air.

And should the men of that day be troubled with indigestion the same agent that makes their food will come to their relief. Stomach troubles will disappear at once before a little bulb of light rich in the ultra violet rays.—Boston Herald.

Watching the Stars.

"What is Cholly doing for amusement now?"

"Taken up amateur astronomy, I think."

"What makes you think that?"

"Well, he has an office with a plate glass window that looks right across to where the chorus ladies congregate."

Couldn't Help Himself.

"They say he is awfully in love with her."

"I don't see how he can be, she is so unattractive."

"But you forget"—

"What?"

"That she is so determined."

Caustic.

"Why do women love a bargain?"

"They are thrifty creatures."

"Yes."

"And fond of their husbands."

"Yes."

"So they save every cent they can by bargain hunting, so they can have more to hand over for the old fellows to blow themselves with, see?"

One on the Doctor.

"He has been taking treatment from Dr. Quackerly for his eyes."

"Any result?"

"Yes."

"That's good."

"Oh, I don't know. He doesn't use his glasses now."

"Splendid!"

"No; blind."

OBITUARY

MRS. JANET DOWNIE.

The death took place in Winnipeg on Saturday night of Mrs. Janet Downie, who had been a resident of this city for some time until about four years ago, when she left to take up residence in Winnipeg.

Her loss is mourned by three daughters, Mrs. James Robb, Regina, formerly employed at Trent Canal, and Mary and Jean of Winnipeg, also two sons, Donald D., formerly of the Quaker Oats Co., and William, of Winnipeg.

Interment will take place here. The funeral arrangements will be announced later.

MRS. JOHN GALVIN.

The death of Mrs. John Galvin on Saturday night removes one of the oldest residents of these parts. Deceased was born in Hamilton township near Cobourg over 92 years ago. The late Mrs. Galvin had made hosts of friends, who had learned to love and respect her for her many fine qualities. She leaves to mourn her loss four daughters, Mrs. Albert Dodge and Mrs. William Russell of the township of Hamilton and Mrs. Alexander Northey and Mrs. Fred Roseborough of this city.

The funeral will take place from the residence of her daughter, 528 Charlotte St., tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock to Ray's Cemetery, Lakefield.

Rev. J. P. Wilson will conduct service at the house at 1.30 o'clock.

BANK OF MONTREAL

This bank yesterday made a favorable statement for the year ended October 31. Net profits amounted to $2,496,353, or 15¾ per cent. on paid-up capital of $16,000,000. Last year the profits were $2,648,402, and the year before $2,518,408. After paying shareholders 12 per cent., contributing $100,000 to the Patriotic Fund, and $290,000 set aside as provision for bank premises, the balance at profit and loss on October 31 was $1,232,669, as compared with $1,046,216 at the end of the previous year.

The cash assets of the Bank of Montreal total nineteen per cent. of the liabilities to the public, as compared with 10.45 per cent. at the end of the previous year. Liquid assets totalled $127,658,003, which is equivalent to the percentage of 55.17 per cent. of liabilities to the public. These compared with $103,699,427 last year.—Mail and Empire.

Hollanders Asked to Move for Cessation of War

THE HAGUE, Nov. 23.—Although the German press asserts that Germany can bring 6,000,000 reservists into the field without making use of men under 18 and over 45 years of age, there are several indications that the Teuton officials are anxious for peace.

Semi-official attempts are being made to negotiate, first with one, and then with another, of the allied forces. German sections of peace societies are sending circulars to their representatives in Holland and other neutral states to initiate a peace movement.

The International Wohlfahrt Verein (Welfare Union) of Berlin has made a direct appeal to influential Dutch newspapers by means of a printed circular.

In military and Governmental circles in Holland, it is considered likely that Germany itself soon will open peace negotiations. The Government, it is said, sees itself seriously menaced by invasion, and should the enemy march into Germany, people would feel that they have been misled by the Government as to the trend of the war.

SIXTEEN LIVES TOLL OF WRECKS

Nine Victims Have Been Identified

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., Nov. 23.—Sixteen bodies have now been recovered from the wrecked vessels Curtis, Marvin and Petersen, near Grand Marais, Lake Superior. Nine of these have been identified. They are: Captain J. H. Jennings, master of the Curtis, Detroit; Glenn Campbell, chief engineer on the Curtis, Chicago; Edward Anderson, deck hand, Norway; Segrud Helverson, wheelsman, Philadelphia; Henry Kitchner, deckhand, Detroit; Charles Nelson, deck hand, North Tonawanda, N.Y.; Albert Johnson, deck hand Cleveland; Julius W. Noll, deck hand, Alden, North Dakota.

The bodies of the two women still remain unidentified. One of them is that of an American; the other appears to be a foreigner.

On one of the women was found a watch bearing the monogram "R B.," but there was nothing further to identify her. To add to the mystery, there is a card in the local marine postoffice addressed to Miss Margaret Pearce, in care of barge Petersen.

According to C. L. Hall, representative of the Edward Hines Lumber Co here, most of the bodies recovered were from the steam barge Curtis She carried a crew of fourteen, and had two women as cooks. Their bodies were taken to Senay yesterday where they will be prepared for shipment. All the bodies were frozen stiff, and the work of preparing them for burial will be slow.

It is now believed that the Petersen and the Curtis were the first to succumb to the storm. Wreckage from these boats is piled up twenty feet high along the shore, and amongst this were found the bodies of more than half of these recovered

CROWDED HOUSE GREETS PATRIOTIC CONCERT GIVEN BY THE MILLBROOK SCHOOL

Prominent Citizens Give Short Addresses — Proceeds of Over $100 for Patriotic Fund

(Special to The Review.)

Millbrook, Nov. 23.—The patriotic concert given by the Millbrook School on Friday evening, Nov. 20, was a big success. The seating capacity of the hall was sold before the doors were opened, and about one hundred and fifty people could not gain admission.

The program was a lengthy one, and every number on it was appreciated.

The Litany for the army and navy given by the school was very fine.

The recitation "The Union Jack," and "My First Speech" by Cassell Larmer and Billy Byam were choice bits of oratory.

The motion song by the Primary Room was real cute and pretty.

Earnest Burnham in his recitation "I Can Speak," proved that he is one of the coming orators.

Reeve Doak's Address.

"I am delighted to be reeve of Millbrook tonight," said Reeve Doak. "This is a Millbrook audience and one I am delighted to address. This is the first patriotic concert which has been given here, and I am glad the schools are giving it.

The chairman has relieved me very much in putting three minutes as the limit of time for each speaker.

I am sure everyone here is glad of the privilege of helping the Patriotic Fund. I am satisfied you all know the proceeds of tonight's entertainment are given to a worthy cause.

REEVE DOAK

My line of thought is along the line of giving things that are necessary in this war. We have great confidence in our army, and we are satisfied we are going to win. It will take some time, but we are going to win.

I want to say and I must say I am delighted with the work the ladies of Millbrook have done, and also what the school has done.

I hope the school children will repeat this concert in the near future. Let every one go away from this house to do everything he can for the soldiers and country.

Mr. G. J. Anderson, a foremost soloist of Cobourg, rendered solos in part one and two and each time had to respond to encores. He certainly has a rich voice. His coming to help in the concert is greatly appreciated by the school board and teaching staff.

The recitation "The Little Boy," by Jack Eakins was also well given.

The flag song and march, by sixteen boys was one of the best numbers on the program.

A duet and chorus "Why Can't a Girl be a Soldier," by a number of the girls was creditably rendered, Mabel Howden and Jean Thorndyke taking the duet part.

Rev. Mr. Spencer.

Rev. Mr. Spencer, the next speaker, said in part: "You have just heard the story "Why Can't a Girl Be a Soldier." It also means something to be a soldier's wife. When she lets him go to the front, she is doing much for her country.

The reeve said he was proud to be reeve. I am proud to say I am captain of D. Company, 46th Regiment. At a time like this our hearts are full and we hardly know what to say. We must uphold the spirit of patriotism and help the boys at the front. I sometimes wonder if the boys who have gone from here know what they are doing. I would like to think that those boys have asked God to guide them. I hope they will rally round the standard and go bravely to the front.

CANON ALLEN

A. T. ARMSTRONG.

I am ready to take the names of more volunteers. If you call or phone me, or call at Dr. Turner's and be examined, you may enlist any time.

The little boy said in his recitation: "Some people are afraid to face an audience, well, I would rather lead my company of boys and face the Germans than face an audience.

I want to congratulate the teachers on the way they have responded to the call for money. Some of you do not know that they give part of their salaries toward the Patriotic Fund.

There should be a local committee formed to look after the wives of married men who go. We have three married men gone. There are funds in Ottawa for the purpose of keeping their wives and I would like the reeve to call a committee to get this to work. It is not fair that the wife and family should wait months for this money.

Another thing we can do is to send words of encouragement to the boys. Don't forget to encourage them with your prayers and word of encouragement along the line.

The recitation "Willie's Speech," by Foster Russell and "The New Mittens," by Sandford Gilmour, were real smart.

Song "Boys of the King," by six girls and boys was a very fine number.

Help One Another.

"I am glad to be here, and am enjoying myself very much," said Rev. Mr. Brown. "It is a little embarrassing to be tied down to three minutes. A definition once given of embarrassment is: that feeling experienced by a young lady when asked a certain question, she hates to say yes, and dare not say no.

If I were taking a text tonight, it would be "Bear ye one another's burden's." As I look at this struggle it seems to me it is a life and death struggle. Every man throughout the whole Empire should do his very best for his country.

They are calling our young men to the front. We should give our last dollar to make life more tolerable for these men. It is harder for men in the trenches who are spilling their life's blood than for us to give our dollars.

We should give a second, third, yea, fourth contribution if asked.

I have only a quarter of a minute left and it will take that to get off the platform."

The school sang "Tipperary," very enthusiastically, and the audience joined in the chorus. A patriotic exercise "Britannia" by fifteen boys and girls was alone worth the price of admission. Each one did his or her part remarkably well. Pearl McIvor took the leading part. The representatives of Ceylon, Africa, Australia, Gibraltar, Yukon, England, Ireland, New Zealand, Canada, Scotland, India and Hong Kong, all laid their treasures at the feet of Britannia.

Hong Kong said he was proud of his pigee-tailee, and "Pat" had his praties galore.

Rev. Canon Allen.

Rev. Canon Allen said: "I am sure you did not take it as a disloyal act when only about one-tenth of the audience stood during the singing of the National Anthem. I am sure all would have stood had they not been so crowded.

Three minutes is a short time to speak on the greatest subject that has ever come before men. You might almost as well try to ladle out Needler's Pond with a teaspoon as try to talk on this question in three minutes.

The Allies are fighting for the purpose of helping Belgium, and for right and liberty. This war is a big thing because of the men involved in it. We believe it will be the biggest war in history.

I never felt prouder of the village of Millbrook than when we sent our men to go to the front. It makes us conscious of the brotherhood of man. Our men have gone, our prayers and hopes all go with them. They are gone to certain victory and while they are gone let us pursue our business as usual.

The male quartette, Messrs. Stone, Hampton, Coombe and Needler, sang "Heroes and Gentlemen," which was thoroughly enjoyed.

Mr. A. T. Armstrong's Address.

"According to the program it has come my turn to say something. I am not going to make an address, but I have to thank the teachers for placing my name on the program.

Too much praise cannot be given our teachers for the time and energy they have expended on training these children here tonight.

Perhaps if this room were made of rubber we could have made it hold the crowd which was turned away, but I would like to intimate here that the concert will be repeated with a few changes on Tuesday evening, Nov. 24th, at 7.45.

We hope you will give it all the advertising necessary, and we know that Millbrook and Cavan people will be patriotic and fill this hall again on Tuesday evening."

The handkerchief drill by sixteen high school girls was something new and novel, as well as pretty. The young ladies certainly deserve much credit.

Inspector Odell.

"I am sure you are all delighted to know that this program is to be repeated. I congratulate the staff on the numbers that have been presented," said Inspector Odell in his opening remarks. "I woud like to congratulate the school board on their splendid gift to the Patriotic Fund I feel proud of the fact that the school board of this town is very patriotic. In fact patriotism runs very high throughout the length of Durham and Northumberland.

It might be asked, 'What does this fund mean?' I will just give you one example. If a man goes to the front, leaving a wife and little ones that wife will receive forty-five dollars per month, so that that family will be provided for as long as that man is at the front. I hope we will all give amply. The little boy who gave the first recitation said:

"It's only an old bit of bunting,
It's only an old colored rag,
But thousands have died for its honor
And shed their best blood for the flag."

I am glad to know that so many are willing to shed their blood for the flag. My brother has gone and left his wife and child. I am proud that he feels he should make his stand for the Union Jack, and for the freedom which it gives.

Our girls and boys are to be instructed in the peoples and countries of Europe.

It is an awful struggle, and may not be over for some years. One thing sure this war will not cease until the Kaiser is dethroned from power in Germany.

"You may call it an old bit of bunting.
You may say it's an old colored rag
But Freedom has made it majestic,
And Time has enobled our flag."

The good-night drill by several children in nighties and caps and carrying lighted candles was also new and novel, and well carried out. The song "Rule Britannia," by the Continuation Class and Miss Mitchell, teacher, with orchestra accompaniment, was well rendered.

The National Anthem brought to a close one of the most enjoyable entertainments ever given in Millbrook and the first one ever given by the Millbrook schools.

Much credit is due the Misses M. Mitchell and L. C. Hawken, S. Dean and B. Hales and Mr. D. Hampton, teachers, and Miss N. Hetherington for their splendid services in preparing the program and training the children and also for their spirit of patriotism.

Mrs. W. C. Allen, the Misses Brown, Doak and Thorndyke were the accompanists and are to be congratulated upon their playing. The school board and teachers wish to thank the orchestra and all others who took part in helping to make the concert such a grand success.

The proceeds amounted to over one hundred dollars.

VEIL OVER OPERATIONS

Official Bulletins Say Little Regarding Battle in Poland.

News From Unofficial Sources Says, However, That the Germans Have Penetrated as Far as the Lowica-Skierniewice Line Forty Miles From Warsaw---Russian Army Too Strong Say Military Men.

PETROGRAD, Nov. 23.—The German column between the Warta and Vistula rivers, according to yesterday's official reports from Russian Poland, comprises six army corps and presents a front fifty-five miles in extent. The two rivers prevent flanking movements by either side, hence the fighting consists of straight frontal attacks in which the losses of both armies are heavy, but neither side so far has been able to gain a marked advantage.

"The Germans, military observers contend, cannot advance further in this region since the Russian concentration which was delayed by bad roads and by lack of railroads, now is complete.

The veil has been drawn over the battles between the Russians and the Austrian-German forces. The headquarters of both armies now are confining themselves to the briefest statements concerning the hostilities, saying merely that fighting is in progress.

News coming from unofficial sources, however, shows that the German advance has penetrated farther into Poland than had been disclosed previously, and that Warsaw is threatened for a second time. Gen. von Hindenburg's army has advanced as far as the Lowica-Skierniewice line, which means that the Germans have covered two-thirds of the ground to the Polish capital, from which they are now only forty miles distant. Further south in Poland, however, the Teuton allies are said to have been repulsed between Radom and Kielce.

The battle in Poland in the direction of Lowicz is the most critical one and, while the Germans have the greatest confidence in Gen. von Hindenburg here and in Petrograd, military officers express the opinion that Russia's overwhelming superiority in numbers of men again must tell as was the case when the Germans made their first attack on Warsaw.

From East Prussia, on the north, to Cracow, on the south, battles are being fought on an extensive scale. However, the fighting in the eastern areas of war is absorbing the energies of the Kaiser's host to such an extent that their attacks in Western Belgium and in France show indisputable signs of relaxing.

The German advance on the Radom-Kielce line has been repulsed with extremely heavy losses, according to official announcement.

Notwithstanding the fear of a siege of Warsaw, the Russians are preparing to advance again toward the frontiers of Silesia and Posen and then on to the cities of Posen and Breslau. If the Russians succeed in taking Cracow, they will find themselves before the strong defences of the River Oder. The Austrians in Galicia are retreating into the Carpathian passes, and the fall of Przemysl is considered imminent.

Grand Duke Nicholas now has his army disposed on positions naturally strong, and where he has the added strength of important railway communications. The Germans have been drawn away from their important system of railways in Silesia, but they have possession of the roads leading to Novo Georgievsk and Warsaw, but these are practically their only lines of communication with their own bases.

Ammunition is beginning to fail the garrison at Przemysl, Galicia, says the Bucharest correspondent of The Giornale d'Italia of Rome. The garrison attempted two sorties last week—Wednesday and Thursday—but both failed, the Austrians losing heavily.

It is believed in Bucharest that the Rusisans desire to exhaust the means of defence before launching a general assault, probably at the beginning of December.

Fifth Anniversary Sacred Heart Church

Rev. Father Roche, Preaches to Large Congregations--- The Bishop Also Speaks To Parishioners

REV. FATHER J. J. O'BRIEN

Who is in charge of the Church of the Sacred Heart.

The fifth anniversary of the dedication of the Church of the Sacred Heart was fittingly observed yesterday. The three masses in the morning, at seven-thirty, eight-thirty and ten-thirty, were all well attended and at the former two the impressive scene of practically every parishioner receiving Holy Communion was witnessed. All day long the Blessed Sacrament was exposed on the high altar and hundreds were in attendance during every hour. In the evening at vespers the edifice was again filled to its greatest capacity.

The ten-thirty mass was a Pontifical High Mass celebrated by His Lordship Bishop O'Brien, D. D., assisted by Rev. J. J. O'Brien, pastor of the Church of the Sacred Heart, as Deacon, Rev. J. V. McAuley as sub-deacon, and Very Rev. Dean McColl as priest of honor. John McCarney acted as master of ceremonies, and John Theobald, incense bearer. Rev. J. J. O'Brien, when reading the anouncements previous to the sermon, made a short reference to the great increase in the number of communicants during the past twelve months, in comparison with the number for the preceding twelve months. For the past twelve months there were 34,930 Holy Communions received, an increase of 4,941 over the preceding year. During the year immediately after the church was opened there were 13,744. The greatest number to approach the holy table in one month was during the month of December, 1913, when 3,950 received communion.

The special sermon was preached by Rev. Father Roche of St. Michael's College, Toronto, who performed similar duties at the laying of the cornerstone some six years ago. He referred to the great blessing the Church of the Sacred Heart has been to the city and how its records for advancement have surpassed even the wildest of dreams. He remarked how the fact that such a magnificent edifice stands in the centre of the most thriving section of the city, tells the story of great sacrifice on the part of the parishioners. Its standing there in defiance of the spirit of the world reveals to the passerby and men in the surrounding factories the story of man's redemption and God's mercy. The interior is a written book of history. The Stations of the Cross tell pathetically the story of Christ's sufferings on Calvary. The statues and windows all tell of the work of the noble sons of God, such as St. John the Baptist, hero of the old law, who called men to penance and inspired them with hope.

Heaven Itself.

The reverend speaker went on to state how the Church of God is not only "the gate of heaven," but rather it is heaven itself. Jesus Christ dwells there just as He did in Bethlehem, just as He was when He healed the leper, cured the blind, and brought dead men to life; just as He was when He sat at the last supper, and just as He was when He spoke to His Heavenly Father and said, "Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do." He dwells there just as He sits at the right hand of God in heaven. Father Roche urged the congregation to consider these facts and make frequent visits to the church. If it is not the privilege of all to assist at the morning masses and receive Holy Communion, it lies in almost every one's power to pay a short visit to the church some time during the day.

The Bishop Speaks.

His Lordship Bishop O'Brien made a few remarks at the close of the mass, in which he stated that it afforded him unbounded pleasure to be present with his former parishioners again. When he first took charge of the parish five years ago he had reminded the parishioners that the priests were there but for one purpose, and that the salvation of souls. The paying off of the debt on the church and all other money matters were secondary. Through the co-operation of the parishioners with the priests the mission was carried out up to the time when he was called away, and he was pleased to see it still being carried out so thoroughly. The fact that such rapid strides had been made in the Church of the Sacred Heart prompted the erection of another church, so that in Peterboro today there are three Catholic churches. When the Church of the Sacred Heart was being considered it was doubtful whether such a parish would thrive, but all doubt has all vanished, and believing that what one parish can do another parish can do, likewise the Church of the Immaculate Conception has been erected. Bishop O'Brien made it very clear that the fact that a church has been erected in East City is due entirely to the record of the Church of the Sacred Heart.

Bishop O'Brien also sang Pontifical Vespers and Rev. Father Roche preached an eloquent sermon on how the sufferings of this world are not to be compared with the glories of the life hereafter. The distinguished speaker centred his remarks around the universal topic of war and left his listeners with many new impressions. In the beginning God made man perfectly harmless. Everything necessary was to be found in Paradise but man became dissatisfied and rebelled against his Creator who had given him every happinees and from then, from Adam till the last child will be born on this world, man must suffer pain and tribulations Punishment does not always come to sinners and prosperity to the just. In the old law we find God calling men to Him by sending trials and suffering. Suffering was a noble thing in the era before Christ. It was a judicial act imposed upon them.

Into the world came Jesus Christ and like all other poor He had to suffer. He suffered from the cold and want stared Him in the face. Suffering was the only legacy He left behind. When He explained that those who wish to be saved must take up His Cross and follow Him, He was originating a new doctrine understood by only a few in the Old Law. It was similar to that doctrine of loving an enemy, it was Christian, not Pagan. Then began an era, during which many have been glad to shed their blood through their love for Jesus Christ.

For over 300 years the choice souls called to God had to suffer torments and the one reason was that there must either be suffering in this world or in the world to come. When God spoke and told man that He must earn his living by the sweat of his brow He gave to the world a heritage which everyone must bear. The innocent must suffer and the wicked must likewise suffer either in this life or in the next. At the present time there are many poor unfortunate people fighting for their country and all think they are right. These men face each other even unto death but they are not responsible. Those who are responsible, however, will have to suffer.

Wrong Shall be Righted.

Holy Scripture says that every wrong shall be righted. God holds the scales of justice and punishment will be handed out to those responsible for the death of so many people. It may seem impossible, but to God nothing is impossible. Recompense will also come to the innocent who are suffering. God permitted this war and in His own good time will bring it to a close. During it many men are being brought back to God. As they lay in the trenches they are praying to the Almighty and if they should meet death they are prepared. Had they not been called to stand these trials and hardships many would have passed away without making their peace with God. But that does not excuse the iniquity. Those who are responsible will have to suffer but in the meantime God will give grace and fortitude to those who suffer and prepare them for an eternal happiness.

MAY MAKE RAID ON ENGLAND

Germany's Next Move May be Naval Attack

LONDON, Nov. 23. — It is understood in Parliamentary circles here that Germany, now being held back in France and Belgium, may be tempted to try a raid on England in the near future. The British military authorities are said to be well-informed as to the locality and the method of the proposed attack. However, it is pointed out that Germany will not risk her command of the Baltic on the chances of a raid on England If her high seas fleet were disposed of Russia would have the free run of German Baltic ports. It is believed on the other hand that the Germans are extremely confident of the efficiency of their fleet, and that they may be disposed to take great chances to hit England, so deep is their hatred of her.

It is assumed that Germany's object would be to create a panic here and prevent the sending of further British reinforcements to the front. The recent incursion of the German flotilla on the east coast will, it is believed, encourage the Germans to make a dash for England.

SUNDAY AFTERNOON TALKS ON PROTECTION

The following remarks by Mr. Burnham, M.P., were addressed as a preliminary to a series of talks on Protection to be given by him at the request of the Young Men's Bible Class in the lecture hall of St. Paul's on Sunday afternoons. The first address was given yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Burnham said: "Free trade is the natural condition of trade.

If there were no good reason for its being modified in some cases, trade would always remain free.

But freedom of trade is not the only consideration in trade. There are others. For example: some countries have a higher scale of wages and comfort than others and to protect these from the competition of those whose scale of living is lower it is necessary to devise an import duty which raises the labor cost and price of the imported article to the level of the home labour-cost of that article. But the tax is not wasted It goes to public works. Protection necessitates an expensive system of collection. But all these drawbacks do not outweigh the advantage of protection when it is needed. A practical example is worth much theory and one illustration will show why protection must sometimes be made use of. Take the Asiatic. The wages paid to the best Chinese workman or mechanic and they are wonderfully expert, is 30 cents a day. The wage paid to our $2.00 a day men is in China and India 5 and 10 cents a day. They eat rice and a common cheap variety of fish, live in hovels and a great many in each one without any idea of what we call education, cleanliness and comfort. To compete with the Chinamen and Hindu we shall have to come down to their scale of wages and way of living or else say to them "your goods cannot come into our markets and compete with our own there on even terms. We will raise your labour-cost to the buyer by means of an import tax." Thus our home market is kept free from injurious if cheap competition. Free traders say "Why not buy as cheaply as you can?" We answer and say "Very well try it and see how long it will be before our people are on a level with the Asiatic coolie." For the employer, the man with capital, free trade and world-wide labour competition are most desirable. For the employed it is certain death, at least to all their aspirations for a finer life. But the free-trader comes back at us and points to Britain. We answer "Yes but we never said that free trade was in every instance bad or protection always good." Protection is not good unless a country is what is known as 'self-contained.' Britain needs foodstuffs and raw cotton and Swedish ore. She must have them from outside. She cannot raise them from within. It would be folly to put any sort of an embargo upon them. For her manufactures she does not need protection, because with cheap food and much of the raw material for them close at hand she can compete with the world except Asia. She will have to protect herself against Asia some day. But even to do what she has done she has had to sacrifice her agriculture. Her policy in this respect has driven millions from her shores and this withdrawal from the labour-market at home must also necessarily tend to give a fictitious appearance to Free Trade as a desirable policy for the workingman. Another illustration will show what is the effect of protection when properly applied. Imagine a self-contained country completely cut off from all outside communication. If its people are active and energetic it will be rapidly developed and will soon become a hive of agricultural and industrial production. Let us suppose that it is suddenly put in touch with a country like Asia. In pour machinery, cloths, wheat and all that they raise there so cheaply. What will be the result? Is it necessary to ask?"

Protection may be likened also to a dam which we erect to hold back water for our use though the natural condition of water is that of a free-flowing fluid."

A course of talks on Free Trade was given a few months ago to the St. Paul's Bible Class by Mr. H. B. Cowan.

LOST TRIP TO THE ALTAR, SHE SUES CATTLEMAN FOR $25,000

San Jose, Cal., Nov. 23. — M. J. Rorke, a wealthy cattleman, was served recently with a summons, and complaint in the suit of Miss Marjorie Kerr, an attractive brunette, of Winnipeg, Canada, who demands $25,000 for his refusal to marry her. She alleges that Rorke advertised for a wife and that she answered. They corresponded and she sent her picture. He asked her to come to San Francisco and marry him.

Arriving at San Francisco, she received word, she avers, from him, asking her to come here. She consented, and since that time declares that although she has been willing and ready to marry him at any time, Rorke has continually evaded a ceremony. She reached this city on Christmas Day. Rorke, her attorney says, repaid the $125 which it cost her to reach San Jose from her home.

Last Friday, according to W. R. Biaggi, attorney for Miss Kerr, they made arrangements for a ceremony in San Francisco. At the last minute Biaggi states, Rorke gave business reasons for his inability to carry out the plans.

Rorke has a damage suit against the Southern Pacific railroad pending. It asks $20,000 damages for the death of his wife last year in a railroad accident near Santa Clara, when a train hit her buggy.

According to the plaintiff, Rorke is the owner of 25,000 acres of foothill land used for grazing, as well as other valuable ranch property. He is well known among ranchmen throughout the county.

SKETCH OF EARL ROBERTS' LIFE

Simple Direct Sincerity Won Him Respect of His Men

It was not a sermon the congregation of St. Andrew's Church were given last night. It was a sketch of the life of Field-Marshal Earl Roberts, whose death in France last week shocked the world. Rev. Mr. Rollins for lack of time was only permitted to tell the story briefly but he showed wherein the great soldier's genius for war lay. It was simple, direct sincerity that won respect from his men; the fact that he was always leading; that he was scrupulously particular in keeping his transports efficient and looking out for the welfare of his men.

The gallant heroism which resulted in Queen Victoria pinning the V.C. to his breast when he rescued the British standard from two Sepoy soldiers; his rescue of the native trooper and the efficient style in which he subdued the Afghans were related interestingly by the pastor. Rev. Mr. Rollins tellingly described the memorable onslaught at Lucknow when the British soldiers penetrated the three foot breach and wiped out 2,000 treacherous Sepoys. At the battle Lord Roberts stayed in the saddle for 60 consecutive hours.

The pastor before closing chose the opportunity to comfort those who were sending sons and brothers and husbands to the great European struggle.

"Suppose," he said, "one boy goes to the front and is killed. Another remains home and becomes successful in the sense usually meant. One hundred years from now I venture to say that the boy who became successful will be long forgotten, but the memory of the boy who died for his country will make a name that will live in his family for ever."

By request, Miss Commings, of Toronto, sang "Calvary," in excellent voice, creating a most favorable impression.

CHICKENS AT THE COOP.

RED CROSS BRIGADE TO BE ORGANIZED

Usefulness seems to be the slogan of Adjutant McElhiney these days. The latest enterprise he is fostering is the organization of a Red Cross brigade for the women of the army and a first aid ambulance class for men. Competent medical instructors are being secured and a class of 100 in number is desired at the least. To be ready for an emergency is the idea back of the undertaking.

WON'T MIX.

Bad Food and Good Health Won't Mix.

The human stomach stands much abuse but it won't return good health if you give it bad food.

If you feed right you should feel right, for proper food and a good mind is the sure road to health.

"A year ago I became much alarmed about my health for I began to suffer after each meal no matter how little I ate," says a Western woman.

"I lost my appetite and the very thought of food grew distasteful, with the result that I was not nourished and got weak and thin.

"My home cares were very heavy, for beside a large family of my own I have also to look after an aged mother. There was no one to shoulder my household burdens, and come what might I must bear them, and this thought nearly drove me frantic when I realized that my health was breaking down.

"I read an article in the paper about some one with trouble like mine being helped by Grape-Nuts food and acting on this suggestion I gave Grape-Nuts a trial. The first dish of this delicious food proved that I had struck the right thing.

"My uncomfortable feelings in stomach disappeared as if by magic and in an incredibly short space of time I was again myself. Since then I have gained 12 pounds in weight through a summer of hard work and realize I am a very different woman, all due to the splendid food Grape-Nuts." LO, THE POOR WORKING MAN

Sewage Distillery on the Banks of the Otonabee

Editor of The Review:

Dear Sir,—The action of our City Council in attempting to place the sewage disposal plant — a nuisance of the first magnitude — right in the heart of an old and established playground of the working men and their families calls for the severest condemnation. Every labor organization in the city should take immediate steps to prevent this injustice, and should call to account those loud-mouthed champions (?) of labor in the Council who have been the most relentless in their pursuit of this scheme. Our wealthiest citizens can go further afield for their pleasures, but the ordinary citizen who has neither the time nor money has to seek his recreation nearer home. This accounts for the establishment of sixty-five motor boat and one of the leading steamboat wharves, the Belmont Club's summer home, numerous boat houses and beautiful residences, and River View Park, on the banks of the river in the immediate vicinity of this proposed nuisance. Imagine the attention these subservient time-servers would devote to the interests of Stoney Lake or Chemong cottagers were they in danger of losing their summer homes! Some class to them—but, lo! the poor working man, anything is good enough for him. The waterfront in the heart of the city was disposed of for a song and now the last convenient stretch of river is to be rendered unfit for use by the erection of a sewage distillery.

Yours truly,
MECHANIC.

Railway Have Sent Large Numbers of Employes to War

Among those associated with the Grand Trunk Railway System, who have enlisted for active service, is Mr. R. F. Morkill, Signal Engineer, who was gazotted a Lieutenant. Word has been received at Montreal that Mr. Morkill is already engaged in important work in Europe for the Imperial authorities.

Another of the Grand Trunk's officers who has enlisted, it has been announced, is Mr. F. G. English, General Agent, Freight Department, with headquarters in London, England, while the railway has supplied a large number of men to both the First and Second Canadian Contingent.

According to information received at Grand Trunk Headquarters in Montreal, practically 10 per cent. of all Railway employes in England, Ireland and Scotland have joined the colors. Partial returns available show that 54,276 men had left the British Railways to enter army or navy, out of a total of 643,135 employes on all roads.

On the London and North Western alone 9,400 men have left, while the Great Western is second, with 7,600; the Midland, third, with 6,700 and the North Eastern next with 5,000.

From the employes of British railways special corps of railway troops have been recruited to assist in restoring and maintaining rail communications in France with the allied armies at the front. These consist of maintenance men, linemen, telegraphers and other similar, while two companies consist of engine drivers, signal men, guards and switchmen, to assist a body of fifteen thousand French railway men already organized for railway work of a military nature.

THE OLD UNION JACK HAS MANY COUSINS

Over a Hundred Ensigns and Banners Recognized in the British Empire.

The British Empire has over a hundred distinct flags, each of which has a separate use and meaning. The Royal Standard, of course, is the most important, being the exclusive flag of the King. It is composed of the Royal Coat of Arms; the three lions in the left and right corners representing England and Wales, the single lion representing Scotland, and the harp Ireland. Nobody has the right to fly this flag in any circumstances except his Majesty himself.

The Union Jack, which every citizen of the British Empire has a right to fly, is a combination of three crosses representing the patron saints of England, Scotland, and Ireland. St. George's Cross is the red upright one, St. Andrew's is the white diagonal one and St. Patrick's the red diagonal one.

The Union Jack is embodied in some form or other in nearly all the other British flags. The White Ensign, which is the trade mark of the Navy, consists of a white background divided into four by a red St. George's Cross. The top left-hand square is occupied by a [illegible]on Jack. The Blue Ensign, used by the Royal Naval Reserve, consists of a blue background with a Union Jack in the top left-hand corner. The Red Ensign, used by the merchant service, is similar, except for its red background. Admiralty vessels, [illegible]ther than men-of-war, fly a Blue Ensign with an anchor in the bottom right-hand corner.

The Naval Ordnance Department has a special flag consisting of the Blue Ensign with an anchor and three cannons in the bottom right corner.

Ireland's flag consists of a green background with a Union Jack in the top left corner and a harp in the right.

The Blue Ensign forms the basis of the flags of the following colonies: The Commonwealth of Australia uses it with six white stars, a large one underneath the Union Jack and five, one for each state, on the right. New South Wales has a white circle on the right with a red cross ornamented with a lion and fou. stars. New Zealand has four red stars on the right half [illegible] the flag. The Straits Settlements has three crowns on a diamond-shaped background with red bars.

The Red Ensign is used by Victoria, with the addition of a blue circle on the right of th[illegible] Jack, containing a crown w[illegible] stars beneath it. Tasmania also uses the Red Ensign, with a red lion on a white circular background in place of the blue circle used by Victoria. Similarly Queensland has a blue cross with a crown in the centre.

Canada's flag is the Red Ensign with a shield containing the coats o' arms of the various provinces on the right of the Union Jack. South Africa uses a similar flag with, of course, a different coat of arms. Malta also has a special flag, consisting of the Red Ensign with a Maltese Cross on the right.

The Indian flag is a Union Jack with the Star of India in the centre, surmounted by a crown. The Lord Lieutenant of Ireland has a similar flag with a harp on a blue shield in the centre. The Diplomatic Service also flies a Union Jack, but has in the centre the lion and unicorn surmounted by a laurel wreath.

In addition to these flags there are those of the various naval ranks from that of admiral to senior offices.

There are no fewer than thirty-four different flags, in all of which the Union Jack figures, used by the various Royal Yacht Clubs. There are special coast flags.

The decoration and ornamentation of ships by flags did not come into general use until about 1400, which is when three-masted ships first began to appear.

In the Navy, however, the flag of St George was first introduced as far back as the twelfth century by Richard I., and the national coat of arms also came into use at the same time—after the return from the Crusades. By Henry III.'s time it had become customary for the commander-in-chief of a fleet to fly the St. George's ensign at his masthead.

But the Turks had for many years carried enormous banners, which, by their size and magnificence, astonished British sailors.

The White Ensign was, at one time, white, blue, or red, according to the rank of the admiral, but at Trafalgar Nelson ordered all ships to fly the White Ensign.

To-day the Blue and Red Ensigns are flown by merchant ships, though the only boats allowed to wear the blue are those carrying a proportion of Royal Naval Reserve men—a fact not generally known.

TURKEY EXPLAINS OUTRAGE.

Firing On Tennessee By Turks Is Satisfactorily Accounted For.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—Turkey has voluntarily explained to the United States Government, through Ambassador Morgenthau, that the shots fired toward the launch of the American cruiser Tennessee, last Monday, were intended merely as the customary warning that the Port of Smyrna was mined and closed to navigation.

Although the explanation is informal, and the United States Government still is waiting a reply to formal representation which Ambassador Morgenthau was instructed to make to the Turkish Foreign Office, it is generally admitted at the White House, State and Navy Departments that all danger of serious complications over the incident had been removed.

Ambassador Morgenthau reported that two members of the Ottoman Cabinet, the Ministers of Interior and War, had fully explained the occurrence to him and high officials here said his message was filed before the instructions sent from Washington to discuss the subject officially with the Grand Vizier could have been received.

MR. BOWSER'S PIANO

Needs Tuning Says Our Hero, Is Some Tuner Himself

By M. QUAD

[Copyright, 1914, by Associated Literary Press.]

ON this certain evening Mr. Bowser didn't sit down to his cigar and newspaper, but he prowled around the house in an aimless way.

Mrs. Bowser noticed his actions, of course, and finally asked:

"Have you lost a collar button?"

"No."

"Expect any one to sell you a burglar alarm?"

"No."

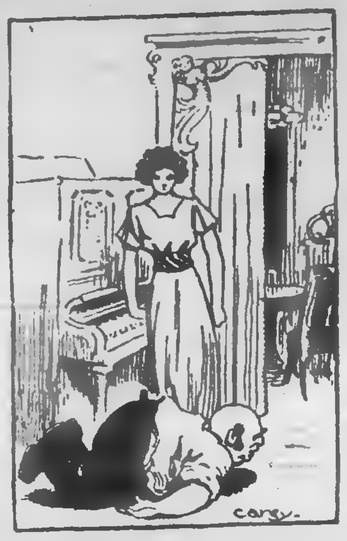
"Waiting for a band of politicians?"

"No."

"Then why do you prowl around like an old mule turned out on the world on a January night?"

"Mrs. Bowser," he answered, "last night while you were playing the piano I noticed that it was sadly out of tune. You must have heard some of the keys make a sort of ur-ur as you struck them?"

"I heard nothing of the sort," promptly replied Mrs. Bowser as a dim idea of what he was up to flashed across her mind. "The piano was tuned only a month ago, and there are no ur-urs about it."



"I WANTED TO SEE THE UNDER SIDE."

Mr. Bowser Has a Quick Ear.

"But I insist that there are," continued Mr. Bowser. "I have a quick ear, and I say that no less than seven different keys had the sound of an egg beater at work. It may have been tuned a month ago, but by whom?"

"A first class tuner."

"That is, he, of course, claimed to be first class and charged you $3 or $4, but how do you know he wasn't a carpenter or a blacksmith? There's a piano which cost me $600. It is going to rack and ruin for the need of a little overhauling. To get a competent man up here will cost $50, whereas"—

"Whereas you can do the work in an hour yourself!" finished Mrs. Bowser. "Well, now, you let that piano alone. You know no more about the works of a piano than I know about the kitchen of the czar of Russia. If there's anything to be done I'll get a man up here."

"Madam," said Mr. Bowser as he stood before her with his hands clasped under his coattails, "there is an ur-ur-ur to that piano. It is out of repair; it is going to ruin. I can overhaul it in an hour and save $50. It will be a pleasure to me to do the work, and I also feel it my duty to save the money which would have to be otherwise paid out. I shall proceed to tune."

"But you'll only destroy it. If you feel that you must tinker away at something, why don't you take the lawn mower, the gas meter or that old shotgun in the garret?"

"I do not ask you to remain in the room during the tuning. You can put on your hat and take a walk, or you can go up to your room and read a novel. When I have restored the tone to its original volume and sweetness I will call you."

"But I beg you to—to"—

He Begins Operations.

Mr. Bowser waved his hand to signify that nothing on the face of the earth could turn him aside, and as Mrs. Bowser went upstairs with tears in her eyes he got his tool box and pulled off his jacket to begin work. He met with adventure at the outset. He wanted room to work on all sides of the piano and therefore got behind it to push it out into the middle of the floor. He was heaving away with his shoulder against the case when his foot slipped on the carpet and he went down and rolled over with the weight of an elephant. He fetched up against a chair and knocked that over, and he was still lying on his back when Mrs. Bowser came halfway downstairs to call out:

"I thought the walls were falling in! What are you doing on the floor?"

"I wanted to see the underside of the piano," he replied as he got up. "Should I find myself in need of your assistance I will call you."

As tools for piano tuning Mr. Bowser had a hammer, a hatchet, a tack puller, a corkscrew, a screwdriver and a monkey wrench. As he folded back the cover he saw the inside of a piano for the first time in his life. He had taken only one glance when he walked to the foot of the stairs and called Mrs. Bowser.

A Strange Discovery.

"No wonder there was an ur-ur when you hit some of the keys," he said. "What d'you suppose your first class piano tuner left among the wires?"

"He couldn't have left any of his tools?"

"No tools, but half a dozen strips of red flannel. He even wove them in among the strings. That's probably where my missing flannel shirt went. He was probably some man from a woolen mill."

"Why, those strips are always put in!" protested Mrs. Bowser. "I think the idea is to soften the sound."

"Well, I don't. I think the idea is attract the rats and mice, and out they come!"

When Mr. Bowser had finished pulling out the "rags" he very quickly discovered the method of tightening the strings. With one hand he fitted the monkey wrench to turn the keys, and with the other he started to tum-tum-tum on the keys, as he had once or twice seen a regular tuner do. He couldn't exactly decide whether all the strings ought to be tightened or loosened, and so he took a middle course and tightened half and loosened half. The effect wasn't exactly magical. It was worse. Some of the keys piped and sobbed, and there were others which produced sounds as of a saw trying to eat its way into a crowbar.

"For the land's sakes, but what are you doing now?" called Mrs. Bowser after three or four minutes.

"Saving a piano from wreck and ruin!" replied Mr. Bowser, as two chills tried to gallop up and down his spine at the same time.

Up Against It For Fair.

He hadn't quite hit it. He grudgingly admitted the fact to himself, and then began anew. In a dim, uncertain way he seemed to remember something about a "pitch" connection with tuning. He couldn't possibly recall whether it was high pitch, but he wasn't the man to hesitate. He began humming the air of "The Girl I Left Behind Me" and keeping up the tum-tum on the keys. After awhile he found a sound to agree with his hum, and he took that for a rallying point. It was what he called a so-so pitch, and after half an hour of keying up and keying down he got three keys which appeared to agree that some sort of girl had been left behind somebody. The other strings were obstinate. They wanted to play "Sally Waters," "The Sweet By and By" or "Yankee Doodle," and every five minutes Mrs. Bowser kept calling down to know if a strange cat had got into the house or if Mr. Bowser had got an attack of colic.

He finally refused to answer, but with his teeth shut hard and a glare in his eyes he started out to bring those strings into harmony or bust the box. He tightened ten, one after another, until they set up a humming, and then he mopped his brow and started in to tum-tum the keys. There were ten sounds to bring out the gooseflesh, but scarcely had the first shudder passed over Mr. Bowser when the wires began to snap. The end of the first one tickled his ear, the second one curled his hair, and the third just brushed his chin. He was moving away when four went at once, and one of them had business with his nose.

Mrs. Bowser heard a yell and a sit down and came rushing downstairs to find Mr. Bowser sitting against the wall with his nose in his hand. It was bleeding like a cider barrel with the bung out, and the skin had been peeled from end to base. His eyes were also weeping large tears, and his bald head had a welt across it.

Mr. Bowser's Finish.

"Well, you've tuned the piano!" said Mrs. Bowser as she looked down upon him.

"Who—who threw a cat in my face?" asked Mr. Bowser in a plaintive voice.

"It's a wonder you didn't say I did," answered Mrs. Bowser, "and then go and threaten a divorce and all that. It was one of the wires that struck you, and you'll want court plaster on that nose for a month."

"Wo-man-wo"— he began, but she stopped him with a gesture and said:

"It will cost $25 to $30 to have that piano fixed, but it shall be done tomorrow. You've got to the end of your tune, and now go upstairs and let me see how nearly killed you are."

Mr. Bowser obeyed without a protest. More than that, he never said a word while she was crisscrossing his nose with six strips of plaster. It was only after he was in bed that he growled under his breath:

"It was a put up job to assassinate me, and you bet your life I'll make it cost somebody mighty dear."

WINNIPEG GRAIN MARKET.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 21.—Liverpool cables were steady, and without news of any vital importance, the home market was practically a repetition of Friday. Opening prices were ⅛c to ⅜c lower, and trading in all futures was very light. A factor which tends to hold the market in the present stagnant state is the inability to secure ocean space. Exporters and traders, however, are not in any way depressed on this score, as when the time comes, a heavy export trade will be transacted. Winnipeg futures closed ⅛c to ⅜c lower, oats unchanged to ⅛c lower, and flax unchanged to ¼c lower. Cash demand for all wheat continues good; offerings, however, are still light.

Cash oats were in good demand, certain grades being in keener demand than others, while the opening grades of flax are in good demand, while the lower grades are dull.

Deliveries thru the clearing-houses were: Oats, 8000; flax, 7000.

Inspections Friday were 622 cars as against 1274 last year, and in sight were 700 cars.

MONTREAL GRAIN MARKET.

MONTREAL, Nov. 21.—Business in all lines of grain over the cable today was dull, there being little or no demand from foreign buyers for supplies, but a fair amount of business has been done in Manitoba spring wheat with exporters on spot during the week, including sales of 80,000 bushels No. 1 northern at $1.22¼, 40,000 No. 2 at $1.20, 130,000 No. 3 at $1.16, 40,000 at $1.15, and 75,000 at $1.14⅝ per bushel c.i.f. bay ports. There has also been an increased demand from local buyers for oats and sales reported during the week included 8800 bushels extra No. 1 feed at 58½c, 5000 at 58c, 27,000 at 57¼c, 9000 No. 3 C.W. at 57⅝c, and 10,000 at 57¼c c.i.f. Montreal. In addition to the above there is a better demand for car lots, and on the whole a more active trade is doing. Demand for Argentine corn is fair and sales of car lots were made at 84c to 84½c per bushel ex-store.

SAYING HER LESSON.

But Conscience Smote Her Hard When a Visitor Arrived.

MRS. TROTTER, being a conscientious woman, wanted a conscientious maid. It took a long search through employment agencies to find one sufficiently well grounded in the rudiments of religion. The maid finally secured was a new arrival and Irish. Among her first instructions was the art of saying her mistress was not at home when she was. One visitor who called under those conditions is responsible for this story:

"Is Mrs. Blake in?" she said when the door was opened in response to her ring.

"No," replied Bridget stoutly, "she's not at home, and may God forgive me for the lie I'm tellin' ye." Whereupon she slammed the door in the visitor's face, and that was the end of it.—New York Times.

A Dire Threat.

At a county fair in a small inland city several hundred men were engaged in holding down a large balloon which was rapidly being inflated with hot air. The smallest man of the lot looked about him nervously and then yelled at the top of his voice:

"Hey, come and take my place, somebody! I've got to go!"

No one paid any attention to him. A few moments later the little man bawled:

"If somebody don't come and take my place right away I'm going to let the old thing go up!"—Judge.

Black Hand Fire In New York.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22. — Eight persons are dead, two others were so badly burned that they may die, and seven more, including two fire captains, were injured as the results of a fire of suspicious origin, which early yesterday virtually destroyed a five-storey brick tenement house on East 29th street in this city.

As a result of disclosures made to the police by a tenant, who had been receiving black hand letters for the past year, and upon whom a demand for $1,000 was made last Friday, under threat of bodily harm, detectives to-day are seeking men known to them as black hand leaders, whom they suspect of responsibility for the fire. Panic which seized the tenants when they were aroused by rescuers caused the loss of life, the police say, as the building was amply equipped with fire escapes. All the dead were Italians.

Killed by Sepoy.

LONDON, Nov. 23—The Times has a special despatch from Bombay stating that Major M. R. Anderson was assassinated by a fanatical Sepoy while he was superintending the embarkation of rations on Friday evening last.

HONORS FOR VARSITY IN FINAL QUARTER

Three Peterboro Boys Show up Well in Contest for Intercollegiate Championship--- McGill Lead in Three Quarters of the Play

7,000 WITNESSED GAME

(By a Staff Reporter.)

VARSITY WON. Despite all predictions that Shaughnessy and his McGill squad would easily subdue the Blue and White on their own field, Charlie Gage and his boys romped out on the frozen field of the University Stadium at Toronto on Saturday afternoon, and before a crowd of seven thousand they carried away the 1914 Intercollegiate honors by 17-13. It was, as one Toronto writer has called it, a game full of thrills and excitement, especially in the last quarter, when the tide of battle turned in such a remarkable manner that the spectators were alternately in the highest degree of glee and in the next moment in the depths of despair.

Long before the players put in their appearance the Varsity Rooters' Club, some 3,000 strong, swelled the frosty air with Varsity's yells and McGill's doxology. The bleachers were partially filled at half-past one, and when "Sinc" McEvenue and Dr. Hendry, the officials, called the teams together to flip the silver the stand was filled to overflowing and the bleachers packed.

Gage called the turn and chose to defend the north line. George Laing fixed the ball, stepped back, made a short run toward the pigskin, and then stopped to rotate the ball a trifle. All was then set, and he raised the pigskin high over Dick Sheehy's head. It went out of touch to the Varsity line, but McGill was not credited with a point, as no Toronto player touched the ball before it went over the line.

A few moments later "Silver" Quilty went over for a try on a fake kick and scored the first touchdown. Varsity seemed to be disorganized, but they pulled together and held McGill for three downs, and then in returning the kick Lindsay booted to G. Laing, who was grassed for Toronto's first score. Once again did Quilty jump into the limelight. He contributed a 50-yard run, and after three downs, Laing kicked to Sheehy, who was forced to rouge. For the remainder of the quarter Varsity were on the defensive.

In the second quarter Varsity continued their bucking, but lost on interference. Lindsay was forced to rouge, and then came an exchange of kicks, through which Varsity annexed point number 2. The McGill team up to the close of the first half demonstrated that they were a superior team. The Toronto aggregation showed the greatest weakness in their inability to return punts. Sheehy and Carr were catching well, but neither returned the kicks.

Sheehy Replaced Adelard.

When the teams re-appeared after the resting period Dick Sheehy went up to outside wing, replacing Adelard. Red McKenzie filled in on the back division. All Toronto supporters expected the attack to liven up with big Red on, and they were not disappointed. The big fellow returned several kicks and ran well, keeping the ball well up in McGill's territory. The attack put up by McKenzie, Sheehy, Lindsay and McMullen was magnificent and they finally succeeded in securing a touchdown, McMullen performing the work. The score did not remain 7-7 very long. George Laing put the Montrealers to the front by one point on a kick into touch in goal. The game grew terrific, and although Varsity put every effort into their attack it looked as though McGill would hold the lead.

The teams had hardly changed ends when McKenzie tried a drop goal from the field forty yards out. It was a beautiful effort, considering the strong gale, and he missed only by inches. Once again did the teams battle at midfield, and then the mighty Red made another attempt Sheehy broke through and was practically right in on Jeffrey when the left half tried to grasp the bounding oval. He missed, and while Sheehy ran in front of him Gardner fell on the ball for a touchdown, and for the first time Varsity was in the lead. The crowd went frantic, while the rooters' club broke into McGill's doxology.

A Costly Fumble.

The Toronto team had victory within their grasp, but a costly fumble gave McGill the ball fifteen yards from the Blue and White line. The Shaughnessy crew hit the line like a mogul and finally succeeded in bucking over, "Pep" Paisley carrying the ball. With the score, McGill 13, Varsity 12, all hopes for the championship going to Toronto seemed to vanish. From a mixup at midfield Laddie Cassells, the great wing man of Varsity, emerged with the ball tucked under his wing. He stumbled and staggered and did so for fifty yards. When he was finally brought down it was but three yards from McGill's line. The crowd ran out on the field and some delay was experienced before play could be resumed. "Gamey" Stratton made a perfect pass to Cassells, who hit the line with the whole Varsity team behind him. The human mass formed a pyramid for an instant, then fell with Cassels and the ball a few inches past McGill's line. It, like all the other touchdowns of the game, was not converted. The score, 17-13 for Varsity, was not changed in the remaining minute of play.

The teams:

McGill—Flying wing, Quilty; centre half, G. Laing; left half, Jeffrey; quarter, Montgomery; right outside, Seath; left outside, R. Laing; right middle, Williamson; left middle, DeMuth; right inside, Reid; left inside, Ross; scrimmage, Brown, McColl and Greenwood.

Officials—"Sinc" McEvenue, Montreal, umpire; Dr. W. B. Hendry, Toronto, judge of play; Jack Hazlett, Queen's, head linesman.

Peterboro Boys Prominent.

The work of Ross Laing, the outside wing for McGill, "Gamey" Stratton, quarter for Varsity, and Dick Sheehy, half for Varsity, all of whom are Peterboro boys, was that which brings only credit to this city. Laing tackles deadly, and on more than one occasion he broke through and nailed the Varsity backs before they got away. His following up of George Laing's kicks aided the McGill team materially, and he more than held his opposing wing man when McGill had the ball.

"Gamey" Stratton contributed what Fred Wilson calls "finished playing." His passes to the halves were all well done, and notwithstanding his weight he was always in the midst of the fray.

Dick Sheehy, when speaking to us before the game, showed a very badly sprained wrist, but he played a grand game despite the handicap. His tackling and following up were wonderful. In the first half he performed on the back division, and in the last on outside wing. His work on the wing line was very prominent.

NOTES ON THE GAME

THE VARSITY and McGill rooters were present at High Jinks at the Alexandra on Saturday night and broke the stillness with their yells. McGill's Doxology made a big hit. It was:

Oh, M-C-G-I-double L,
Oh, M-C-G-I-double L,
Oh, M-C-G-I-double L,
Oh, M-C-G-I-double L,
Good-night.

GEORGE LAING had the misfortune of twisting his ankle early in the game, and his brilliant runs were missing. His punting, however, was well up to the mark. His first kick which opened the game went to touch-in-goal, but no score was allowed, as no Toronto player had touched the ball.

AS IS OFTEN the case in championship matches, the rugby was not what could be termed perfect. A great deal of inaccurate passing was made and the rules often broken. The latter feature accounted for numerous penalties.

LADDIE CASSELLS, the Varsity wing man who went over for the winning try, was in the limelight from the first whistle. His bucking featured the attack of the Toronto team in the second quarter.

"SILVER" QUILTY was, in our opinion, the most prominent man on the field. The manner in which the big ex-Ottawa College player hits the line is marvellous.

THE VARSITY students formed a huge parade and marched down town headed by the band. The joy of the followers of the Blue and White knew no bounds.

"RED" McKENZIE was easily the balance of power. No wonder the big brick-top half is an idol of the fans. His kicking practically won the game.

CHARLIE GAGE played a nice game, not spectacular, but steady and heady. His tackling was very clean.

IT HARDLY SEEMS proper to say that Varsity was lucky, but nevertheless it is true. The Blue and White got the breaks when breaks meant points.

DREADNOTS AND ST. PAUL'S WON

Gale on Adriatic.

ROME, Nov. 23.—The Adriatic Sea for the last few days has been swept by a violent gale, causing many Austrian mines to go adrift. The Austrian naval attache informed the Italian Government that Austria had ordered out topedo boats to destroy the mines, despite the rough sea. His explanation was not satisfactory to the Italian officials, who blame Austria for not having anchored the mines, and therefore being responsible for the threatened disaster to shipping and the fishing trade.

A Missionary lecture on Japan will be given on Wednesday evening at eight o'clock by the Rev. Mr. Cuthbertson who has spent some years in Japan as a missionary. The public generally are invited to this lecture. Now that such a deep interest is being taken in Japan because of her help to Britain in the present war, it is hoped that the attendance will be large. An offering for missions will be received.

PRAISED THE WORK OF CHURCH CHOIR

The singing of the choir of the Church of the Sacred Heart at the anniversary services yesterday was par excellence and fully deserved the tribute paid by Bishop O'Brien in the morning when he referred to it as a "capable choir." Miss A. Simmons and Mr. John Armstrong ably assisted by Rev. J. V. McAuley have worked untiringly in bringing the choir to such a high standard and the singing yesterday could not but reflect credit on the instructors. Mr. Armstrong, the organist, performed most acceptably last evening, permitting the many visitors to hear the recently installed pipe organ at its best.

TWO HUNDRED BIBLE SOCIETY REPRESENTATIVES ON FIRING LINE REV. W. E. HASSARD TELLS OF WORK

Many remarkable facts connected with the work carried on by the Upper Canada Bible Society were related in the pulpits of the local churches yesterday and at the Y. M. C. A. by Rev. W. E. Hassard, district secretary of the Canadian Bible Society. Every immigrant who sets foot on Canadian soil is handed a diglot edition of the New Testament, which gives the English side by side with 34 different languages, so that any nationality may read. One hundred and ten years ago the Bible was printed in 35 languages. Today it is printed in 600, of which the British and Foreign Bible Society prints 456. The purpose of the Upper Canada Bible Society is to provide the cheapest Bible at cost price. As a result a Bible can be purchased through them for twelve cents; a testament for two cents. If it happens that a party is too poor to buy one, they secure a copy free.

The Bible Society assists every bible society of an evangelical church without expense to the church. For every ten dollars contributed by churches to missions, the Bible Society has to spend $1 to carry Bibles to the people.

Last year, Mme. Caron, Bible Society representative at Quebec, distributed 73,000 testaments. The present janitor of the Y. M. C. A. was one of those handed a portion as he landed at Quebec.

At the present time there are 200 Bible Society representatives on the firing line of the armies in Europe. Every British soldier before he goes to the front is presented with a substantially bound pocket testament. Every soldier who left Valcartier carried a copy.

A special appeal is being made by the society for funds to further their work. On Tuesday evening in St. Paul's Church Rev. Mr. Hassard will have some interesting things to tell his audience.

Asked what effect he thought this war would have on immigration to Canada, he stated that the slaughter of European people would be so enormous and all countries depleted so much, that immigration would not be possible for years.

Sunday was his busy day. He addressed congregations five times. In the morning at Murray Street Baptist Church, in the afternoon at Charlotte Street Church and the Y. M. C. A., and in George Street Church and St. Paul's Church at night.

NEW BOOKS AT THE LIBRARY

The following new books have been received recently at the Public Library. Many of them, it may be mentioned, have been presented by friends of the institution, amongst others the Rev. H. J. Keith, Mrs. Harvey, Rev. R. Pogue and Rev. R. G. Peever. The Library is also indebted to the Dominion Government and the Ontario Legislative Assembly for several valuable publications, as well as to Mr. Edward Peck for a copy of the newly revised Statutes of Ontario. WOODPILE AT LODGING HOUSE

Not a Loafer's Home Says Adjutant McElhiney

Men who can work and won't work, will have to work if they hope to enjoy the shelter of the relief home this winter being fitted out by the Salvation Army. There will be a big wood pile, where able bodied men may find an outlet for their energies.

"Let no one get the idea we will conduct a loafs' home," remarked the adjutant. "Men must work if they are fitted for it."

The vacant house at the corner of Simcoe and Aylmer Street has been secured and will answer the purposes splendidly. A commodious reading room is being equipped and a stock of magazines, books, and newspapers placed on the tables. Beds are being put in and the building made as homelike as possible.

Any parties desiring the services of able bodied men for work of any description should telephone Adjutant McElhiney before enquiring elsewhere.

Dr. Amys in Fine New Home

Today Dr. C. H. Amys is busy moving into a fine new residence at 377 Stewart Street and though many fine houses have been erected this year, there are few better than his. It is a beautiful 11-roomed structure in which comfort and convenience predominate, constructed of white brick and with every facility for the entrance of abundant light and sunshine. It commands extensive views in all directions, being situated about midway between Hunter and Simcoe Streets. The house is so planned that the surgery and living sections are kept entirely separate. The side entrance is made into a roomy vestibule and thence to the doctor's waiting room. A telephone is conveniently situated just inside the door available from both the surgery and residential section of the house.

There is a beautiful living room and dining room on the southern side, a sun room leading off from the living room. Fire places are in the living room and in a bedroom immediately above. Every kitchen convenience is installed also laundry tubs in the basement. The basement contains facilities for storing an automobile and a motor boat owned by Dr. Amys.

Mr. James Hoolihan had the contract for the building, Messrs. Adamson and Dobbin did the plumbing, C. A. J. Duranceau the heating, Alexander and Miller the plumbing, and J. J. Hartley, the brick work.

PARENTS BEREAVED.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. John Doig will sympathize with them in the loss they have sustained in the death of their six months' old daughter, Edith, which took place yesterday.

The funeral was held from the family residence, 115 Auburn St., this afternoon to Little Lake Cemetery.

GAINS MADE IN ARGONNE

No Important Changes and Cannonading of Enemy is Less Spirited--- Heavy Fog Interferes With Operations.

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

PARIS, Nov. 24. — The official statement this afternoon;

Speaking generally, it may be said the situation during yesterday has showed no important changes. Along the greater part of the front the enemy manifested his activity, particularly by intermittent cannonading, which was, however. less spirited than on the preceding day; nevertheless, there were here and there some infantry attacks, all of which were repulsed.

We have come to expect these attacks. Fighting was particularly violent in Argonne, where we gained some territory, and in the region of Four-de-Paris. There is nothing to report between Argonne and the Vosges. A heavy fog has interfered with operations. Sanitary conditions of the troops are favorable.

The following official communication was issued last night by the French War Office:—

"To-day, as yesterday, there was cannonading in the north and in the direction of Soissons and Rheims.

"In the Argonne there were violent attacks by both sides which, however, were without results."

The French Government issued the following communique Monday afternoon:—

"Yesterday was marked by a violent artillery fire. The enemy directed his attention particularly to the town of Ypres, where the belfry, the cathedral, the markets and a number of houses were set on fire, to Soissons and to Rheims.

"In the Argonne the day was characterised by very hot fighting. The enemy delivered very spirited attacks, which were repulsd. In the Woevre and the Vosges the situation is without change."

The bombardment of Rheims and Soissons is believed to be an effort to turn the attention of the French from the vigorous campaign which they are prosecuting along the Meuse, and on the Lorraine frontier, where fresh successes are being achieved daily by the armies of the republic. It may also be intended to cover the transfer of German troops from the western to the eastern front.

There is a recrudescence of activity along the Belgian coast and British warships were engaged yesterday in a vigorous exchange with German land batteries. The extent of this action cannot be learned, but all reports agree that the Kaiser is evidently bent on another try at Dunkirk. Heavy guns have been mounted from Nieuport to Knocks, and the entire population of the latter town and Zeebrugge have been moved to Bruges. They were not allowed to rendezvous in Holland, but were coerced in going to Bruges. This place is declared to be garrisoned for the most part by German troopers suffering from trifling wounds. Similar reports of a wholesale exodus from St. Nicholas, a city of 40,000 people, between Antwerp and Ghent, comes by way of Holland. The German military officials have ordered every one in the town to move to Antwerp instantly, where they will be provided with quarters. The order is imperative, and is said to have specified that no one must remain in St. Nicholas.

A despatch from Thielt, Belgium, says:—

"There are clear indications that "General November" will take a leading part in the operations along the front by the Yser river. The days of cold wet weather have been followed by three days of frost over the entire territory outlined by the cities of Middolkerke, Thourout, Thielt, Ronlers and Ypres. Much of this region is covered with stubble fields, over which there is a coating of ice, making them almost impassible for man or beast.

"The German troops are living in the ruins of two scores of villages and small cities. They are becoming impatient at the delay and are suffering from icy winds which penetrate the windowless buildings in which they seek some sort of shelter. They would prefer a general attack to finish the battle, but any such sudden movement is prevented by the inundation along the front.

"The Germans are awaiting with great hopes the arrival of engineers, whose duty it will be to find some means of crossing the inundated territory, but the methods which are to be employed, if decided upon, are being kept secret."

WILL TRY TO CUT OFF THIRTY-THREE LICENSES

Local option contests will be fought next January in three towns, seven villages and nine townships.

Towns: Bala, Picton, Ridgetown—10 licenses.

Villages: Bradford, Caledonia, Hagersville, Holland Landing, Jarvis, Newbury, West Lorne—12 licenses.

Townships: Chapple, Cornwall, Dilke, Emo, Harwich, Horton, Palmerston, Pelee Island, Rolph—11 licenses.

In addition to these, license reduction campaigns are being carried on in Hamilton and London.

The liquor traffic organisations have succeeded in insuring repeal contests in the following local option municipalities:

Towns: Durham, Midland, Thornbury.

Villages: Teeswater, Shallow Lake,

Townships: Raleigh and Moore; the latter place, however, may be struck out, as it is said that a fake petition was presented.

A Dominion Alliance Field Day was carried on in Bruce county on Sunday in a driving snowstorm. The attendance was surprisingly large.

Mr. Wearing Secretary of Law Association

At a meeting of the Executive of the Peterborough Law Association yesterday Mr. E. L. Goodwill, for many years the efficient Secretary and Librarian of the Association, informed the meeting that he was unable from press of work and by reason of many other engagements to continue his services to the association and requested that he be relieved therefrom.

His services to the association have been many and valuable and it is with great regret that the Executive have complied with his request.

Mr. Joseph Wearing, the partner of the late Mr. R. E. Wood, was the unanimous choice of the Executive for the vacated position and enters upon his new duties forthwith.

Big Improvement at Dominion Chinese Cafe

One of the nicest places to dine just now is the Dominion Chinese Cafe. The entire place has been repapered and painted and the bright clean interior is most inviting to particular people who like comfortable surroundings. An extra booth has been added and the accommodation greatly increased. Sign painters are decorating the doors and inscribing the name of the cafe upon them. The patronage of this thoroughly modern cafe is increasing rapidly.

SMALL STEAMER GOES TO PIECES

Eighteen out of Fifty-eight Persons Reached Shore

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

San Francisco, Nov. 24. — The small steamer Hanalei, which went ashore on Duxbury reef just outside the harbor, while bound from Eureka for this port, broke in two early today.

Two sailors and three passengers swam ashore, and later thirteen others were rescued.

Originally 58 souls were aboard.

Public Utilities Commission Meet

At the meeting of the Utilities Commission yesterday afternoon a report was read from Manager Howse and Secretary Armstrong recommending that the rental of the office be charged 65 per cent. to the Hydro-Electric Department and 35 per cent. to the Waterworks Department; that the cost of the office fittings and supplies used jointly be charged in the same proportions, and that of the salaries of the following on the office staff, the following proportion be charged to the Waterworks Department: Manager, 12½ per cent.; accountant, 40 per cent.; stenographer, 35 per cent.; secretary, 50 per cent.; solicitor, 50 per cent; Miss Adams, 100 per cent., and Miss Gillespie, 50 per cent., and that the salaries of the other members of the office staff be charged to the Hydro-Electric Department. The recommendations were adopted.

Another report was read from the Manager on the suggestion that the Peterboro Radial Railway use the city's poles for their feeder lines, which stated that he had seen Mr. Munro, manager of the railway, and could not recommend the terms he understood they would require.

Manager Howse was authorized to employ a metre man for the electric department, and the purchase of a graphic volt meter.

A letter was read from J. J. Turner & Sons, asking that one of the five light standards now in front of the Peterboro Light and Power Co.'s office be placed at the corner of Water and King streets. No action was taken.

Manager Howse was asked to secure prices for a contract for wire.

The following acounts were passed:

Peterboro Fuel & Transfer Company, $6.97; Canadian Express Co., $32.74; J. J. Turner & Sons, $36.18; Dominion Express Co., 40c.; Dominion Express Co., $1.45; Davis-Thompson Co., $62.00; Peterboro Light and Power Co., $1.87; Peterboro Radial Railway Co., $5.00.

FIREMEN JOIN.

Seventeen members of the fire department decided last night to attach themselves to the home guard. They were treated to an instructive lecture at the hall by Col. Sergeant Dodds.

VOTE ON BY-LAW

To Authorize Agreement With the C.G.E.

Confident that a by-law will carry recommending permission being given the Canadian General Electric Company, to use the disused three mile stretch of railway on the old Chemong road, the city manufacturers' committee last evening authorized the drafting of one for submission to the voters next January.

The C.G.E. propose to expend $150,000 on a plant and equipment to manufacture these cars, and in view of this, requested certain slight concession, consisting of $100 annually during the life of a 21 year lease and the customary exemption from taxation for 10 years.

The by-law will be drafted by E. H. D. Hall and submitted to City Solicitor Gordon and probably sent to Toronto for approval.

Some uncertainty existed in the minds of the committee as to whether they should submit the by-law in January or take a chance on having it passed by the legislature. If the latter source was pursued Mr. Hall and Mr. Gordon believed the legislature would insist on it being submitted to the people and this was ultimately agreed upon.

"I have not the slightest doubt the people will pass it all right," remarked Alderman Green.

No other business confronted the committee. There were present Alderman Duffus (chairman), Mayor Buller. Ald. Green, McIntyre and Stratton.

GIVE THE JOB TO A LADY

The distributing committee of the patriotic fund met yesterday afternoon but nothing definite was done along the line of apointing a distributing officer as the committee to select a man had not made final arrangements. Mayor Buller launched an idea that may possibly be given some discussion at the next meeting. It was that the committee should apoint a lady instead of a man to do the work. His Worship thought that the fact of a lady giving out the relief would not in any way offend the feelings of the recipients. Several members of the committee were in hearty sympathy with the suggestion.

WAR LOAN OF THREE HUNDRED AND FIFTY MILLION POUNDS, RESPONSE FROM ALL QUARTERS

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

LONDON, Nov. 24. — Lists of subscribers to the greatest war loan in history, amounting to three hundred and fifty million pounds, were closed this afternoon and the loan will be a great success. Although no official figures are available, subscriptions poured in from provinces and from insurance houses and banks, colonial, as well as from the United Kingdom. The offerings ranged from modest ninety-five pounds, the issue price, to the biggest insurance company's subscription of one million dollars. Some days must elapse before it will be possible to anounce allotments.

EXPERIENCES ON FIRING LINE

Brother of Local Man Wounded While Helping Comrade

Sergeant C. Hamon, Royal Irish Rifles, in a letter to his brother, this city, sends a vivid pen picture of his experiences at the front, experiences no doubt shared by the thousands who are defending our homes at this critical time.

The soldier relates his career from the first fight at Mons, and the feeling, not of fear, but of excitement, and eagerness to get at the enemy, also the mad feeling that possesses a man in the bayonet charge, when he feels no longer his natural self.

The great retreat, then the stand at Cambrai, the victory at the Marne and the terrible fighting along the Aisne are described. In a retirement in the battle, Sergt. Hamon was assisting a wounded comrade, when shrapnel took away his bandolier, bored holes through his pack, killed the comrade he was assisting, "winged" him in the leg, and laid him prostrate till carried away to a hospital.

Sergt. Hamon, now convalescent, expects to be sent back on the firing line, a unit in the Kitchener bunch who is going "to see the thing through." He is an eye-witness to German "cultur," having seen victims in the persons of a little girl and an old man, likewise a wounded comrade who was stripped and stabbed with his own bayonet whilst lying helpless on the field.

ELECTIONS BY ACCLAMATION

Save $1000 and Donate it to Patriotic Fund

A proposal is being subscribed to by many of the county of Simcoe councillors to have all municipal elections throughout the county of Simcoe by acclamation and to devote the money saved by not holding a poll to the Patriotic Fund. It is estimated that over $3,000 will thus be saved for patriotic purposes, and most of the different municipal representatives are gladly falling in line, and have declared their intention of dropping out of the field if they have opposition.

This idea has also met with some local favor. In speaking of it today ex-Mayor Rush expressed the opinion that it was a grand idea and stated that he would like to see it tried out in Peterboro.

His Worship Mayor Buller also intimated that he considered it an excellent plan to boost the Patriotic Fund.

The Review learned from City Treasurer Frank Adams today that some $700 is set aside every year for municipal election purposes in this city. During the present year $1038 has been used and it is likely that an appropriation of $1,000 will be made for next year. This $1,000 would go to the Patriotic Fund.

This proposition was brought up at the recent sitting of the Peterboro County Council by Councillor Campbell of Chandos. Other councillors were in favor of the step, and one asked Mr. Campbell what he would

THE BERLIN STATEMENT

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

BERLIN, Nov. 24.—(Official communication) — "In the eastern war theatre the situation has not yet been decided. In East Prussia our troops are holding their own to the northeast of the Plain of the Lakes.

"In Northern Poland the fierce fighting which has been taking place still has been without result.

"In Southern Poland, the battle in the region of Czenstochowa has come to a standstill."

GERMAN ARMY BROKEN UP

Forces Between the Vistula and Warthe Rivers of Four Hundred Thousand Men Are Worsted by Russians

GREAT LOSSES ARE INFLICTED

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

PETROGRAD, Nov. 24.—An official statement says that between the Vistula and the Warthe Rivers the Germans have retreated from a line running from Strykow to Wozniki.

LONDON, Nov. 24. — The Times Petrograd correspondent says the German army of four hundred thousand men which invaded Poland between the Vistula and the Warthe Rivers has been broken up into several parts and that the Russians have succeeded in getting behind these disjointed corps and inflicting upon them great losses.

The Paris Matin says the Germans at one point are flying with all speed towards their own frontier.

An official communication by the Russian General Staff says that on Sunday the Russian advance guard was still driving back the Turks in the Caucuses and making numerous captures.

LONDON, Nov. 24. — The battle which is being fought in the region between the Vistula and Warta rivers in Poland appears to have turned in favor of the Russians. In fact, a special despatch from Petrograd to Paris says that the Russian army already has won a decisive victory. While this may be an exaggeration both the Russian and the German official reports suggest that Gen. von Hindenberg's second thrust at Warsaw has been checked.

Grand Duke Nicholas, commander-in-chief of the Russian forces for two days in succession has recorded partial successes in this great battle and last night the German General Staff says that the arrival of Russian reinforcements has postponed a decision. Both sides have expressed the greatest confidence in the outcome of this battle. Grand Duke Nicholas and Gen. von Hindenberg heretofore have been so successful in their strategy that their adherents look upon them as almost unbeatable.

The German papers only yesterday were talking of a general Russian retirement despite the fact that the Russians have been advancing steadily in Galicia, have repulsed the Austro-German attack before Cracow, hold part of the German territory in East Prussia and were opposing Gen. von Hindenberg's advance on Warsaw. It is the same in Petrograd. All the correspondents there declare that it is certain that Russian numbers must tell when the Germans have reached the ground on which Grand Duke Nicholas has chosen to give them battle.

A Petrograd despatch says, commenting on the heavy fighting at Kutno, that it is now only a question of how many Germans succeed in escaping. The German losses are said to be enormous. At Kutno alone, 12,000 prisoners were taken. Another terrible battle is raging between Czenstochowo and Cracow.

German cavalry patrols have penetrated to within thirty miles of Warsaw. Heavy fighting is still in progress between Lowicz and Skierniewice, where the Russian force is opposing the main line of advance of the army of Gen. von Hindenberg.

Russian progress in Galicia against Austria is making steady headway. The situation of the garrison at Przemysl is said to be desperate, and there have been reports of an offer of capitulation from the commander, reported to have met with refusal by the Russians because it is known that the stronghold must fall ere long. It is not at all unlikely that the statue of Russia with relation to the war for many months to come will be established by the operations under way. If the drive of Gen. von Hindenberg should gather renewed impetus and break through to Warsaw, then the Russian position will be perilous, and a withdrawal from Galicia and East Prussia inevitable. The alternative of defeat is even more disastrous to the Germans, who literally must win or fight on their own doorsteps under disadvantages.

As for the Russian advance in East Prussia, Petrograd despatches report the capture of Gumbinnen, in northeastern Prussia by the Czar's armies.

Although official despatches only mention skirmishes in East Prussia, a despatch from a correspondent with the active army reports, with circumstantial details, the Russian capture of Gumbinnen after a battle lasting five days, the Cossacks being the heroes of the most stirring incident of the struggle, capturing the enemy's batteries by a daring charge which put the gunners to flight.

The German defenders declined to await a bayonet attack and the Russians entered in triumph to discover the town half demolished by shell fire and abandoned by the population.

Gumbinnen is about midway between Stalluponen, a point near the Russian frontier, which was captured after a stiff resistance by the Germans, and Insterburg, the latter an important railroad junction. Insterburg is believed to be the next objective of the Russian attack, and in the hands of the Czar would constitute a valuable base for operations against Koenigsburg, the principal city and fortress of East Prussia.

BOMB DROPPED AT WARSAW CAUSES DEATH AND INJURIES

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS FOR PATRIOTIC FUND.

THE GIFT of Mr. J. J. Lundy of one thousand dollars to the Patriotic Fund should act as a wholesome stimulant to the well-to-do citizens of Peterborough. There are plenty in the city who could equal and surpass this amount, so that a properly sized fund could easily be obtained. Mr. Lundy has turned the cold cash over to the commitee, and we hope other citizens will see that this city raises a proper fund for patriotic purposes.

A GOOD CASE OF "BIG EYES."

JUST BECAUSE the military authorities made Toronto ridiculous by crying "wolf" to the Home Guard under the guise of a test mobilization, and Maj.-Gen. Sam Hughes twigged it on that score, the Telegram has been calling for General Hughes' resignation. While the authorities in most cases like to oblige the Telegram, in this instance it will have to be happy without having what it wants. Of course the Telegram is a good paper, but when ministers at Ottawa have to be made and unmade at the Telegram's dictation, it will be time for a change of government. The fuss that the Toronto papers have made over their precious Home Guard and its fake test is worthy an overgrown boy who wants more pie than he can eat. The whole affair is the best example of "big eyes" that has been given the public for a long time.

THE EXPLANATION.

CONSERVATIVES of this locality who may perchance see the Toronto Globe occasionally, have no doubt read the editorial that appeared recently in that paper entitled "Here Am I, Send Me." The Montreal Mail designated this editorial as "one solid column of froth," and, since we asked that paper how it would treat the subject of the Globe's editorial, the Mail offers the following:

> "Since the outbreak of the present war, the Toronto Globe has given vent to such an avalanche of sickly, sentimental slobbering, doddering imbecility and hysterical nonsense as never before flowed from a Canadian newspaper office.
>
> If the reading public of Toronto suddenly went mad, an unprejudiced and conscientious jury would convict the Toronto Globe of conniving at that result on circumstantial evidence found in its editorial columns.
>
> At a time of serious national crisis, when sober common sense was urgently needed, the Globe has lent its influence to the creation of a morbid feeling of bewilderment on the part of the reading public which is its victim.
>
> As all who have followed the Globe in the past are aware, the newspaper was as far astray as it could be regarding the question of a European war. As the official organ in Canada of the Brotherhood of Man, it did its duty by denying the possibility of any future war in Europe and calling upon every English-speaking nation to disarm. The outbreak of war naturally caused the Globe to paw the air, so to speak.
>
> Instead of recovering itself, it continued to paw the air, and is doing so now.
>
> We conceive it to be one of the patriotic duties of the time to brand the Toronto Globe. We can think of no greater misfortune for the country than to have the absurd and mischievous doctrines emitted by that organ circulated about without being held up to the light of reason so that their shallowness may be noted and their value discounted accordingly.
>
> We desire to do our part in forcing the Toronto Globe to declare itself a peace-at-any-price advocate, ready to sell this country to the first warring nation that chooses to take advantage of the fruits of the Globe's imbecile policy, or to do our part in reducing the influence of the Globe to a measure commensurate with its value.
>
> We make no apology for our attacks upon the Toronto Globe and its editor. We believe it to be the "mouth organ" in the journalistic orchestra of this country.
>
> In preaching a doctrine of peace which it knows is absurd under existing conditions, the Toronto Globe has forfeited the respect and confidence of the Canadian people. We refuse to believe that any normal man sane enough to hold a pen could be guilty of seriously putting forward the ideas that have come from the Globe since this war began.
>
> In the specific article to which the Peterborough Review refers, every nonsensical delusion of the Globe and all the weakness of its ridiculous attitude are excellently portrayed. It is a whine and a whimper, as undignified as unnecessary, in which the writer endeavours to represent the agony of a man who wants to volunteer for the war and who doesn't."

Now, our readers see the Mail's answer, in the production of which it seems that vigor of expression has run away with dignity and reason. Only ten lines refer to the real subject, the rest being devoted to a vigorous, adjectival denunciation of the Globe's policy. That is not what we asked for, and the Mail thus skilfully avoided the question.

As to the editorial policy of the Globe, the peace protestations of its editor, the denial of any emergency in 1912, and the present war, have combined in an overwhelming contradiction of that policy. That the Globe recognized that its anomalous position required a change of front is quite evident from its strong editorials since the war began, but, even yet, it has not altered its course, doubtless for political reasons, so much as newspapers like the Montreal Mail and Toronto Telegram would wish.

The editor of the Toronto Globe is still a strong advocate of universal peace, although preaching war to the finish with German militarism. Moreover, the Globe seems to be labouring under the idea that we are not fighting Germany, but only the Kaiser and the German military party. These considerations, together with the necessity of preserving a decent respect for the Laurier tin-pot navy, act as strong forces weakening a war policy for Canada's leading Liberal newspaper, but, admitting that such is the case, that does not prevent an occasional editorial of exceptional merit finding a place in its columns. In spite of the Montreal paper's abusive cannonade, its thunder of adjectives and black clouds of harangue, we think the editorial in question quite praiseworthy. It portrays the high sense of duty that actuates those who volunteer, and points out the necessity of all volunteering who can, for the preservation of the Empire, its liberties and dominions. However, had the Globe been a Liberal newspaper in the highest sense of that term, a change of front would have possessed greater weight, for its well-known partizan policy naturally causes doubts as to its sincerity.

ANNIE LAURIE.

CITIZENS of this city who saw the play Annie Laurie last night, witnessed one that was above the average show coming here. It was quite true in its historical setting, a fact that had to be kept in mind to appreciate its worth. The setting was the period of 1860, merely fifty years ago, yet the play brought out many striking differences between the life of that time and today.

People are less sentimental now than then. They have become more practical, matter-of-fact, scientific. Statistics have knocked the bottom out of a public sentiment for art. To hear a young woman talk naturally of the azure sky is too poetic for the stomachs of every-day people. There is much less arm-in-arm walking now than there used to be, and in other ways the play served to show the contrast that has arisen in the short space of a half century. Those who laughed during some passages that appeared too poetic, or, in slang, too slushy, showed an ignorance of history of even the last century that would have been better to have kept concealed.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

REV. JOHN SHARRARD, Principal of the Presbyterian College at Indore, India, who lectures here next week, is a man of influence and knowledge, and will no doubt give us much information concerning both religious and industrial India. India and China are our coming rivals.

WRITING an open letter to the Premier, Sir Robert Borden, in the Toronto Telegram, "Discipline" gets off this grammatical monstrosity: "To further loosen." The writer is one of the highest military authorities, says the Telegram.

THE REVIEW has just received the Eighth Annual Report of the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board. The great advantage in this report is that it consists of five hundred and eighty-eight pages and cover.

A Good Banker.

(Monetary Times.)

With the death this week of Colonel D. R. Wilkie, president and general manager of the Imperial Bank, and president of the Canadian Bankers' Association comes to the end a career of a type for which Canada is famous. Colonel Wilkie typified in the banking profession the opportunity in this country for young men "with something in them," to rise from the bottom of the ladder. At fifteen years of age he was in the ranks with many other junior bank clerks. At twenty he became the manager of a country branch, six years later becoming head of a Toronto office. At twenty-eight the organisation of the Imperial Bank created an important position as general manager, which the then young Mr. Wilkie took. He had fixed ideas regarding banking methods, ideas which by some would be called ultra-conservative. A good measure of that quality in banking, however, is not only desirable, but very necessary. At sixty years of age, Mr. Wilkie became president of his bank, and a few years later president of the Canadian Bankers' Association. His death occurred in his sixty-seventh year

As a banker, Mr. Wilkie's chief assets were caution, a good knowledge of banking, considerable experience in Western Canada, hard work, and an exceptionally large share of common sense. Those who did not know him were inclined to regard him as somewhat of an autocrat. This impression was dispelled upon acquaintance. While he had a great respect for conventionalities, he was always accessible and invariably willing to give his views or advice on banking or kindred subjects. Colonel Wilkie's death takes away a good citizen, a good banker, and the head of a good bank.

Sam Hughes, the Strong Man.

(Exchange.)

In the estimation of the small boy, Maj.-Gen. Sam Hughes is a very strong man, as the following story now going the rounds would indicate:

The six-year-old son of a well-known Ottawa woman went home from Sunday school and said that his teacher had told him about a strong man, whose feats of strength were elaborately narrated in the Bible.

"Say, he was a strong man, mother," said the boy. "He could kill men, throw doors and gates off their hinges and pull down buildings."

"What was his name?" asked the mother.

"Sam—Sam,—"prompted the mother.

"Yes, that's it; Sam Hughes!" exclaimed the boy.

C.P.R.'S FOURTH VESSEL ON CLYDE

Metagama, Sister Ship to Missanabie Just Launched, Breaks Record

The Metagama, sister ship to the Missanabie, was successfully launched Friday and christened by Lady Biles, wife of Sir John Harvard Biles, LL.D., designer for the British Admiralty, in the yards of Barclay Curle and Co. at Glasgow. When the Metagama went down the ways she created a record which bids fair to remain unbroken by any shipping company engaged in Canadian or American business. She is the fourth vessel launched by the Canadian Pacific on the Clyde this year. In the light of present conditions this is a glowing commentary on the substantial condition of her owners' exchequer.

The Metagama's sister ship, the Missanabie, reached Montreal recently on her second voyage out of Liverpool, and went back again Friday morning. They are of the "one class" type, with passenger accommodation for 520 second and 1,200 third class. Each has a length of 520 feet and a beam of 64 feet, while the breadth of the passenger decks are 41 feet. Each vessel has a dead weight capacity of 7,950 tons, with an approximate cargo capacity of 6,000 tons. The famous cruiser stern, which is also the feature of the new boats placed on the Pacific, is introduced by these boats on the Atlantic. The new ships have six complete steel decks. In order to insure safety the hulls are subdivided by water-tight doors and bulkheads, so as to be capable of floating when three compartments are open to the sea. These water-tight bulkheads and doors are autdmatically controlled from the bridge. The speed of each vessel is 15½ knots, with a draught of 27.5. As for the interior of the vessels each cabin state room is fitted with a wardrobe and chest of drawers, folding lavatory with mirror, and other conveniences. The public rooms are dining saloon, smoking room, lounge and drawing room. The domestic refrigerating plant is capable of making 300 lbs. of ice per eight hours. The vessels are heated and ventilated on the thermo-tank and Crittal system, changing air eight times each hour. There is also a printing plant on board each vessel. They are fitted with Murray's patent nested life boats as well as motor life boats. They are the first steamers to have Babcock and Wilcox patent davits which enable the boats to be launched from either side of the ship even when at a considerable list.

Sick Man of Europe

For 70 years Turkey has borne the name of "the sick man of Europe." In 1844 Nicholas I., Czar of Russia, visited England and consulted with British statesmen about what he believed to be the impending fall of the Ottoman empire. "We have a sick man, a dying man, on our hands," said the Czar. "We must keep him alive so long as is possible, but we must frankly take into view all contingencies."

The demise did not take place as expected by Nicholas, and since that time Turkey has engaged in four wars and has undergone a revolution in its internal administration. It fought Russia in the Crimea in 1855-56, and again in the Balkans in 1877-78, losing several provinces. It made a vain resistance against Italy's seizure of Tripoli in 1912, and in the Balkan war of last year it lost its remaining European territory, save a strip extending about 150 miles from Constantinople, just far enough to include Adrianople.

The present Sultan, Mohammed V., gained the throne in 1909, after the Young Turks had gained control of the government, exiling Sultan Abdul Hamid. The revolution, of which much was hoped, did not stop the persecution of Turkey's Christian population, or change Turkey's habit of fishing in muddy waters of diplomacy.

After the outbreak of the present war, Turkey gave a haven to the German cruisers Goeben and Breslau, and ostensibly purchased them—a transaction against which England protested. It also abrogated the treaties which had limited Turkish sovereignty over natives of other European countries within her borders, and did away with all extra territorial government by foreign consuls, and with foreign post offices in Turkey.

The London Telegraph, in what was believed to be an officially inspired utterance October 1, declared that "if Turkey chooses war, it will mean the end not merely of Turkey in Europe, but of Turkey in Asia, and the allied powers will exact the fullest retribution."

COMMON POISONS SEEN BY SCIENCE

To the average man or woman the word poison means "something that kills." To the scientist poison is "something which, under controlled conditions, makes by chemical action some change in living tissue, in a way that interferes temporarily or permanently with what that tissue or organ usually does."

When an acid merely puckers the lips, it is not a poison. But when the action of that same acid reaches the point where the lips cannot for a time do their expected work, then the lips are said to be poisoned.

When indiscreet persons kiss little babies, and transfer their ever-present microbic inhabitants to the infants, and no infection arises, poisoning cannot be said to have resulted. If, unhappily, the kiss sets up a sore throat or a cough, bacterial poisoning has occurred.

It is then easily understood that such habitually used poisons as coffee, tea, tobacco, alcohol, are really poisons only when the blood, brain or brawn, is altered. In old age, in fancy, and debility, their toxicity is plainly discernible. Since conditions of health are not often perfect, it may also be concluded that such drinks are more often poisonous than otherwise.

Some poisons such as morphine, alcohol, and nicotine have the curious property of forming anti-tissue neutralizers. That is, their action upon the human body is much like that of disease germs. The individual becomes immune to small doses, at the same time acquiring an irresistible longing for the drug. When your son comes home some fine day, and is unaccountably pale, sick at the stomach, and groaning, you may safely conclude that he has smoked his first cigar or cigarette. He is poisoned by nicotine.

After the first smoke or the first drink the body juices begin to manufacture excessively those strange anti-bodies, that tend ever afterwards to crave the particular cigar or beer that established the first violent reaction.

No matter how active the poison, a healthy person will always find his or her body making a desperate effort to counteract it. The stomach battles valorously to expel carbolic acid, which is made harmless by alcohol and whisky. The intestines bring up reinforcements in the way of a ferment or secretion to render vitriol, muriatic, or other acids, harmless.

Mineral acids such as sulphuric, nitric, aqua regia, and muriatic, are at once destroyed by ammonia or soda. These form salts and soaps. These antidotes must be given quickly, or the acids will eat through the throat and stomach linings. Then the surgeon's work begins!

Of the patent medicines, household remedies, and drugs that may, when taken by accident or mistake, prove poisonous, police records show carbolic, mineral, and prussic acids to lead. Next comes paregoric—erroneously supposed by mothers and patent medicine manufacturers to be without injury to infants—laudanum, opium, and the other morphine-containing liquids. Corrose sublimate, chloral, and acetanilid are not far behind, running neck and neck with arsenic and strychnine.

After sending for all the doctors in the neighborhood give the unhappy one milk and whites of raw eggs for mercurial sublimate poisoning; emetics for strychnine, acetanilid and headache poisons; and dialized iron for arsenic.

For paregoric and other morphine conditions permanganate of potash and coffee will neutralize the toxic drugs in the stomach and keep the sufferer awake until skilled aid appears.

No mother can have her medicine chest well filled without an emetic such as ipecac, alcohol for carbolic and headache poisons; dialized iron, baking soda and ammonia for acids, lemon juice and vinegar for ammonia and alkali poisons—and permanganate of potash ready for instant use, yet beyond the reach of curious tots.

Numbering Houses

The practice of numbering houses was introduced not much over four hundred years ago. It was first tried in a section of Paris, and the scheme, proving useful, was generally adopted in the year 1789. In Berlin, about a decade later, an eccentric method of numbering houses was adopted. The German dwellings were then numbered without any reference to the streets. Thus a tenant's address would be described merely as, say, "2,000, Berlin." An excellent method prevails in Petrograd, where the house numbers are displayed on little lanterns.

China has but about one physician trained along modern lines for each 600,000 inhabitants.

A LOST HAT

It Was Knocked Out of a Car Window

By DWIGHT NORWOOD

When I was attached to a detective bureau in Albany, N. Y., there was a ring at the telephone one morning, and the chief, being busy, asked me to reply to it.

"My name is Ormsby," came over the wire, "J. L. Ormsby of No. —— Walnut street. A man called here this morning ostensibly from the city water department to examine the plumbing for leakage. Last night my wife was at a function and wore a valuable pearl necklace. She laid it on her dresser when she came in, and it had not been put back into the safe when the man came. He was in the bathroom adjoining her room, and when he left the necklace was gone. What can you do for me?"

I repeated what he had said to my chief, who took up the phone and asked for a description of the man. It was given as about five feet six inches high, weight about 140 pounds, hair a sort of sorrel, no beard, red mustache, well dressed in check suit, negligee shirt with blue stripe, white collar and derby hat. Asked how long the man had been gone from the house, the reply was "about fifteen minutes."

We immediately sent out word to all the police stations to watch for a man of the description given. My experience had taught me that a thief with such a valuable haul would be likely to try to get out of the city with it, and I was not surprised when a reply came from the Union station that a man who tallied with the description given was there and had bought a ticket for Utica. I asked how long before the next train left. The reply was that no train would leave for twenty minutes. I jumped into an automobile and ordered the chauffeur to take me, regardless of the speed law, to the station. We were chased by a policeman on a motorcycle, who called to me to stop. I could not make him hear me and ordered the chauffeur to slow up for a moment. The cop came up, and I displayed my badge, told him what I was after and pushed on, reaching the station just as the train was pulling out.

I got on the rear car, but went through to the smoker, then turned and walked back apparently careless, but really taking in every man I passed. I had gone through two cars and come to the third when I espied a man sitting by himself, his head resting on the back of the seat and his derby hat pulled down over his eyes. I couldn't see the color of his hair, but his mustache had a reddish hue, and he wore a shirt with a blue stripe and a white collar. I passed on to see if there was any one else on the train that tallied with the description; but, finding no one, I went back and took a vacant seat behind the man I had observed.

Of course I didn't pounce upon him. Why should I? I was not sure he was my man, and I had ample time to watch him. If he left the train I would leave it. I waited for the conductor to come along in order to discover to what point my quarry held a ticket. The conductor made progress very slowly, and we were well out of the city before he reached our car.

At this time my man was apparently asleep, his head up against the open window. The conductor occasionally called "Tickets!" but the fellow did not move. When the conductor reached him he gave him one of those pokes with which conductors arouse sleepers or pretended sleepers, and the man started up so suddenly that his hat struck the window sash and fell outside. The owner looked up at the conductor dazed, then put his head out through the window to look for his hat, then withdrew it and said:

"What did you do that for?"

"Do what?"

"Wake me up so sudden."

"For your ticket."

"It's gone out the window. It was in my hat."

"That won't do," said the conductor. "If it had been in your hatband I would have seen it. I've had that racket played on me before. I want your ticket."

"I tell you it was in my hat. I've not only lost the ticket, but a three dollar hat."

"Pay your fare or I'll put you off."

"Well, you'll have to put me off, for I have no money."

By this time I had seen through the man's game and had placed an interpretation on it to which the conductor was oblivious. It was a shrewd plan, a desperate plan, but I confess I admired it. An idea flashed through my brain. I did not wish the conductor to put the fellow off between stations, for I intended to get off with him, and if I did so in open country he would know I was after him. I beckoned to the conductor, who came on to where I was sitting.

"I'll pay the man's fare to the next station," I whispered. "Go on taking tickets and when we stop put him off." I gave him a look which he understood, handing him the fare at the same time. The man in front did not look back and was not cognizant of my action.

We had but two miles to go to the next station. I dropped back to the last car and when the train stopped stepped off on to the platform. I felt sure that the passenger would get off the train willingly, and be made no resistance, though he muttered something about an "outrage." Without appearing to notice him I went to a cab standing beside the station and engaged it. There were other cabs, but my man did not use any of them. He stood on the platform for a while looking about him, while I went to a cigar stand, spent some time selecting a weed, more time cutting off the end and still more striking matches, which persisted in going out, to light it. In this way I consumed the time till I saw my man start off down the track in the direction of Albany. I knew he was going to hunt for his hat.

Going out to my cab, I asked the driver if there was not a road beside the railway track. He said there was and, pointing to the man who was walking on the ties, said:

"I wish you to drive eastward, and be sure to keep that man in sight. Whenever the road digresses from the track let me know beforehand and I will get out and walk till they come together again."

I handed him a five dollar bill, assuring him that if he followed my directions closely there would be more for him. He put it in his pocket, I entered the cab, and we rolled away.

We were obliged to drive a short distance into the town before striking a main road leading eastward and lost sight of my man for a few minutes, but as soon as we passed beyond the houses caught sight of him again, for the track lay over open ground. Our road ran parallel with the rails for half a mile, then struck a side hill covered with a wood. I alighted and, walking in the cover, shadowed my man till near the open again, when I met the cab and re-entered it.

In this way I kept track of the man while he neared the place where his hat had been knocked out through the window. I knew he would recognize it, for when he had looked out after it he had doubtless done so to note the place where it fell. To tell the truth, I had marked the place myself by taking in a certain knoll with a single tree on its crest.

Seeing this knoll a short distance ahead and that it separated the road from the track, when I reached it I left my cab, directing the cabman to remain where he was. I walked up the knoll till I neared the top, then crawled the rest of the way. Fortunately for me the grass was long, and when I reached the summit I could see through it without being seen. There was the man about 300 yards below me hunting for his hat.

There were bushes and long grass and stumps beside the rails, and he was having a hard hunt. I was sufficiently sympathetic to help him and intended to do so provided he made a failure of it, but preferred that he should find the hat himself. There was little likelihood that it had been picked up, for there were no houses near, and the only person in sight was a man working in a field half a mile from the track.

I felt like calling to the fellow that the suction of the train would carry the hat in the direction we were moving when it was lost, a matter that he didn't seem to consider, and kept looking a hundred yards or more eastward of where I believed the article would cease bounding after the cars. But at last, having hunted thoroughly over the ground to the eastward, he turned his attention to an open space covered by long grass to the westward. Suddenly he pounced upon it in a depression within a few yards of the track.

Snatching it up, he looked about him to assure himself that he was not observed, then thrust his hand into and about the crown. Having done this, he brushed the dust away with his sleeve, then put the hat on his head.

For a few moments he stood looking first eastward, then westward, as if in doubt as to which way to go, then started eastward. I went back to my cab and saw him coming on to the road a short distance ahead of me. When I came up with him I called out:

"Get in and I'll give you a lift."

"How far is it to the next station?" he asked, hesitating.

"Too far to walk. Get in."

He did so, and we drove on.

I asked the cabman the distance to the station and something about the town. He said it was three miles away and was considerable of a town. I chatted with my quarry as we rode along, but asked him no questions. When we rode into the town, seeing a sign, "Police Station," I directed the driver to stop and, getting out of the cab, called on the man to follow me. He looked flurried, but obeyed. He had no sooner struck the sidewalk than I clapped my hand on his shoulder and said:

"I want you."

He started, feigned surprise and asked:

"What for?"

"Lifting a pearl necklace. Come in here."

I took him into the police station and, snatching his hat from his head from under the lining, around which it was circled, I drew a beautiful pearl necklace.

I clapped a pair of bracelets on him and took him to the station, where I was obliged to wait for the next east bound train. I telegraphed the result of my expedition to the office, and in about two hours after we had been notified of the loss the lady who had made it was informed that her bracelet had been recovered.

In time I lodged my man in jail and returned the necklace to its owner. The fellow proved to be one of the slickest thieves on the criminal record. He was no housebreaker, but practiced ingenious devices to enter houses and get away with plunder.

Missed It.

The prodigal son wrote the old man as follows: "I got religion the other day. Send me $10." But the old man replied: "Religion is free. You got the wrong kind."

NEURALGIA SETTLED IN HER LUNGS

No Relief From The Pain Until She Took "Fruit-a-tives"

CAMPBELLVILLE, ONT., May 5th. 1913.

"I cannot speak too highly of "Fruit-a-tives". For over thirty years, I have suffered from chronic Neuralgia and Constipation, experiencing untold agony. The Neuralgia settled in my lungs and I took bottles of medicine without relief. The doctor told me I would not get better but "Fruit-a-tives" proved that the doctor was wrong by giving me quick relief and finally and completely curing me.

"I would not have my present health if it were not for "Fruit-a-tives" and I am glad of this opportunity of giving you this letter about such a splendid remedy as "Fruit-a-tives".

MRS. NATHAN DUNN.

LUNCHES FOR THE SCHOOL

Boxes, pails or baskets, whichever the children's lunch is packed in, should be thoroughly aired every nigh to keep them clean and odorless.

As paraffin or waxed paper is indispensable, it is well to lay in a good supply; this may be purchased by the pound from any stationer. Every article in the box should be wrapped in waxed paper to keep the luncheon neat and dainty.

Paper drinking cups which may be bought by the dozen, or an aluminum one for ten cents, should always be packed in the lunch box. The child who is daintily provided for at home is sure to be clean and dainty in her ways, and it is a great mistake not to accustom a child to clean and fastidious habits. A small thermos bottle or a jelly glass with a tight cover should be included for liquids. A dozen or two of paper napkins and the outfit is complete.

Try to vary the menu slightly every day. This can easily be done in the filling of the sandwiches. Sandwiches offer a splendid opportunity for using up left-over meat and vegetables, and often the day's sandwiches are determined by the left-overs in the larder, but remember that there are fillings which appeal especially to children and give them those for a change when possible.

Brown bread spread with maple or brown sugar, white bread sandwiches filled with butter and sugar sauce, marmalade, jelly, apple butter, date butter, or peanut butter, make a welcome change.

Whole wheat bread is especially nourishing and wholesome, and sandwiches made of this are delicious spread with orange marmalade.

Beside the sandwiches there should be some other good cold meats, or meat loaf, potato chips, fruit, hard boiled eggs, or a thermos bottle of soup. Then the dessert. This should be simple and wholesome—gingerbread, sponge, or some other nutritious cake or custard, rice pudding, blanc-mange, fruit jellies, or stewed fruits put all in a jelly glass.

And above all, whatever you have for the child, be sure there is enough of it. Do not forget that children need food for growth. The needs of a growing child cannot be satisfied by a luncheon that may be sufficient for a grown person.

DISEASES OF JEWELS

Experience has shown that precious stones are subject to disease, and some of them die. They become pale, lose their lustre, and split. Rubies fade when long exposed to the light, so does the garnet. The topaz, on the other hand, becomes darker and loses its brilliancy. The most sensitive jewels are opals and pearls. Opals frequently split. They are very sensitive to excessive heat, and in fact to all changes of temperature. Pearls become almost worthless through lack of care. Fire transforms them into lime, and acids attack them as they do marble.

They, as well as opals, are said to respond to a certain extent to the physical condition of the person who wears them. Pearls are made up of layers, like the skin of an onion, and it is sometimes possible to repair them by removing the outer layer. This is such delicate work that it is seldom attempted. Diamonds seem to be the least sensitive, but it is not prudent to take them too near the fire. Emeralds and sapphires retain their color well and do not deteriorate easily.

Curing Meat At Home

The best way to eat meat is to eat it while fresh, for there is no way of preserving it that will retain all the nutrition and all the flavor. It is, nevertheless, frequently desirable to cure meat at home, and there is no reason why this can not be done satisfactorily and economically. Salt, sugar or molasses, baking soda, and a little saltpetre are the only ingredients necessary.

Ordinarily the curing of meat should be begun from twenty-four to thirty-six hours after the animal is slaughtered. This allows sufficient time for the animal heat to leave the meat entirely, but not sufficient to permit decay to set in. Once the meat is tainted, no amount of preservatives will bring back its proper flavor. On the other hand, if salt is applied too soon, obnoxious gases will be retained and the meat will possess an offensive odor. It is also impossible to obtain good results when the meat is frozen.

The only equipment necessary for the recipes given below are the ingredients already mentioned and a clean hardwood barrel, or a large stone jar or crock.

Curing Corned Beef

The pieces commonly used for corning are the plate, rump, cross ribs, and brisket, or, in other words, the cheaper cuts of meat. The pieces for corning should be cut into convenient-sized joints, say five or six inches square.

Weigh out the meat and allow eight pounds of salt to each 100 pounds. Sprinkle a layer of salt one-quarter of an inch in depth over the bottom of the barrel; pack in as closely as possible the cuts of meat, making a layer five or six inches in thickness; then put on a layer of salt, following that with another layer of meat; repeat until the meat and salt have all been packed in the barrel, care being used to reserve enough for a good layer over the top. After the package has stood over night add, for every 100 pounds of meat, four pounds of sugar, two ounces of baking soda and four ounces of saltpetre dissolved in a gallon of tepid water. Three gallons more of water should be sufficient to cover this quantity.

A loose board cover, weighted down with a heavy stone or piece of iron, should be put on the meat to keep all of it under the brine.

The sugar or molasses in the brine has a tendency to ferment, and, unless the brine is kept in a cool place there is sometimes trouble from this source. The meat should be kept in the brine twenty-eight to forty days to secure thorough corning.

Dried Beef

The round is commonly used for dried beef, the inside of the thigh being considered the choicest piece, as it is slightly more tender than the outside of the round. The round should be cut lengthwise of the grain of the meat in preparing for dried beef, so that the muscle fibres may be cut crosswise when the dried beef is sliced for table use. A tight jar or cask is necessary for curing. The process is as follows: To each 100 pounds of meat weigh out five pounds of salt, three pounds of granulated sugar, and two ounces of saltpetre; mix thoroughly together. Rub the meat on all surfaces with a third of the mixture and pack it in the jar as tightly as possible. Allow it to remain three days, when it should be removed and rubbed again with another third of the mixture. In repacking put at the bottom the pieces that were on top the first time.

Let stand for three days, when they should be removed and rubbed with the remaining third of the mixture and allowed to stand for three days more. The meat is then ready to be removed from the pickle. The liquid forming in the jars should not be removed, but the meat should be repacked in the liquid each time. After being removed from the pickle the meat should be smoken and hung in a dry attic or near the kitchen fire where the water will evaporate from it. It may be used at any time after smoking, although the longer it hangs in the dry atmosphere the drier it will get.

Cleaning a Smoked Ceiling

When incandescent mantles are used the ceilings immediately above often become blackened, while the rest remains quite clean. If whitewashed, the place can be cleaned by being rubbed over with a mixture of starch and water of the consistency of cream. A soft flannel cloth may be used. When quite dry spread a newspaper underneath, and gently rub off the starch. The black stain will come with it.

Steam Your Mending Wool

It is a good plan in darning stockings to hold the darning wool for a minute or two over the spout of a kettle of boiling water. This shrinks the wool, and when the stockings are washed there is no fear of mended parts shrinking and so tearing away from surrounding parts, so that the stockings last much longer.

Boil Marmalade Very Long

The reason that some marmalade will not jelly is probably because it has not been boiled enough. Marmalade wants a great deal more boiling than jam. It requires from two and a half to three hours.

One Honor Lacking

The Lord Mayor of London was asked to have the name of the German Emperor erased from the roll of Honorary Freemen of the City of London. He replied that the name could not be erased for the sufficient reason that it was never on the roll. No foreigners have ever been admitted to the Freedom of the City, as they are unable to declare allegiance to the Sovereign.

SOME TRUTHS ABOUT OZONE

Undistilled it Would be as Fatal to Patient as to Disease

What about ozone, anyway?

The ozone that is strong enough to do any good through the killing of bacili is strong to kill folks, too. Anyhow this is what a prominent medical journal says on the question of "Ozone myths":

"Faith in the subtle and far-reaching effects and the health-giving virtues which have at one time or another been attributed to ozone has somehow been instilled into the popular mind," says the article.

"Seaside and mountain resorts alike have benefitted by the reputation of 'ozone in the air' in the neighborhood involved. The excusable longing of an ever-ailing population for a stimulating atmosphere and for an ideal antiseptic has led many to look hopefully toward that substance which appears to represent the acme of the valuable properties of oxygen.

"The honest manufacturer and the medicine faker have both been alert to avail themselves of the opportunity for public service so that ozonizers' and 'ozonoized' products are displayed in abundance.

"The ozone question presents its facts as well as its fiction. Ozone undoubtedly has antiseptic power; but for such effects a dangerous concentration appears to be necessary. Lately it has become possible to prepare pure ozone and to investigate its physiologic properties. Prof Leonard Hill and Dr. Martin Flack of London find that 'a concentration as little as one per million is irritating to the respiratory tract. Exposure for two hours to a concentration of fifteen to twenty per million is not without risk to life.'

"The concentration of ozone necessary to kill bacilli would also kill tissues in which they occur. There is no harm in breathing weak concentrations of ozone. Ozone in somewhat higher concentrations (one per million) may have some value, but proof of its value may well be demanded, especially so long as there are other and better curative agencies."

Six Kinds of Love

CHARLOTTE P. GILMAN

According to Mrs. Charlotte Perkins Gilman, the noted writer and feminist, there are six kinds of love.

She enumerates them in this order: Gratitude for benefits received; friendship, based on sympathy; admiration which represents a sort of adoration or worship; usage, including love of home and country, and sex attraction which merges into the greatest of all loves, and benevolence, which desires to serve and do good.

As a Woman Thinks

If you are "too good," be sure you are not good enough.

Be glad of criticism. If you escape it you are not worth considering.

Why waste a minute of to-day looking for the hour you lost yesterday?

A woman is adorable sometimes, lovable frequently, changeable often, dangerous always.

The only man who never makes a fool of himself is a fool.

MRS. THOMSON TELLS WOMEN

How She Was Helped During Change of Life by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Philadelphia, Pa.—"I am just 52 years of age and during Change of Life I suffered for six years terribly. I tried several doctors but none seemed to give me any relief. Every month the pains were intense in both sides, and made me so weak that I had to go to bed. At last a friend recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to me and I tried it at once and found much relief. After that I had no pains at all and could do my housework and shopping the same as always. For years I have praised Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for what it has done for me, and shall always recommend it as a woman's friend. You are at liberty to use my letter in any way."—Mrs. THOMSON, 649 W. Russell St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Change of Life is one of the most critical periods of a woman's existence. Women everywhere should remember that there is no other remedy known to carry women so successfully through this trying period as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

Formerly Love in a Cottage.

The young man approached the old man with considerable trepidation, although he was well acquainted with him.

"I suppose it's about Alice," said the old man, not unkindly.

"Yes, it's about Alice," said the young man, with simple directness. "I love her, as I am sure you know, and I want your consent to our marriage." The old man looked at the young man as a father would look at a son.

"Clarence," he said, at last, "I give my consent gladly. I welcome you as a son-in-law, but before proceeding further with this thing, let me ask you one serious question. Alice is the daughter of honest but rich parents. She has been brought up in luxury, as the saying is. Do you think you can make happy in your solitary $500 runabout a girl who has been used to a $9,000 imported limousine?"—[illegible]

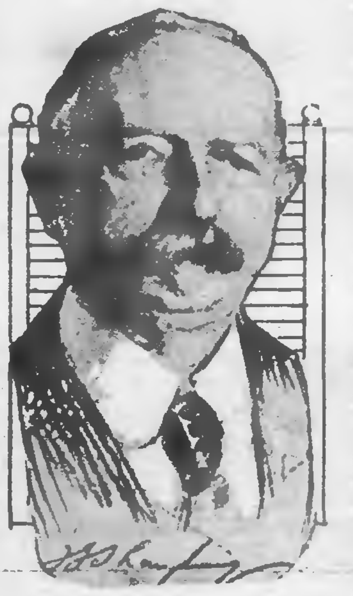
C.P.R. EMPLOYES SUBSCRIBE BIG SUM TO PATRIOTIC FUND



SIR THOMAS SHAUGHNESSY

(From a recent drawing by Emil Fuchs)

The voluntary contribution made by officers and employes of the Canadian Pacific Railway to the Canadian Patriotic Fund of one-day's pay has amounted to the fine total of $140,316.71, to which must be added the sum of $1,321.93 contributed in the same way from the Dominion Atlantic Railway, the line owned by the company in Nova Scotia.

In view of the fact that this contribution was collected from all districts served by the railway from Atlantic to Pacific, Sir Thomas Shaughnessy has written to Ottawa asking that credit in the distribution of this sum should be given to the various provinces in the following proportions: British Columbia, $18,000; Alberta, $18,000; Saskatchewan, $15,000; Manitoba, $28,000; ntaorio, $28,000; Quebec, $28,000; New Brunswick, $5,316.71, and to Nova Scotia the sum already noted of $1,421.93.

The "one-day's pay" idea which was a pet scheme of Sir Thomas Shaughnessy has proved one of the most fertile fields for the Patriotic Fund, as it was adopted by a large number of firms.

It is interesting to note the size of the C.P.R. pay roll which may be figured out at 365 times $141,738.64 or the enormous total of $51,734,593.60 per year.

GERMAN SUBMARINE IS RAMMED AND SUNK

British Destroyer Garry Comes Alongside Just in Time to See German Boat Rise to the Surface and Display a White Flag.

All the Germans Are Saved But One—Destroyer Also Lost.

LONDON, Nov. 24.—The Secretary of the Admiralty announces that the German submarine boat U-18, which was reported off the north coast of Scotland yesterday morning, was rammed by a British patrolling vessel and foundered.

The patrolling ship rammed the submarine at 12.20 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The U-18 was not seen again until 1.20, when she appeared on the surface flying a white flag. Shortly after this she foundered just as the British destroyer Garry came alongside. The destroyer rescued three officers and twenty-three of the submarine's crew, only one being drowned.

The names of the German officers captured are Captain Lieut. von Henning, Engineer Lieut. Sprenger and Lieut. Neuerberg.

The submarine boat U-18 of the German navy was built in 1912. She had a cruising radius of 2,000 miles and a speed of fourteen knots above water and eight knots submerged.

A despatch to the Exchange Telegraph Co. from Copenhagen says the Danish steamer Anglodane collided Sunday night in the Ore Sund with the German torpedo-boat destroyer S-124, which foundered.

Another Copenhagen despatch says: The collision occurred in the Baltic Sea outside Falsterbo, Sweden. Two German torpedo boats went to the assistance of the destroyer as she was about to sink, and a majority of the crew was taken aboard them. Three of the men were rescued by the Anglodane, but one of them, the chief engineer, did a half-hour later.

The destroyer was towed by one of the torpedo boats to the Swedish coast, where she will be disarmed. The injured boat carried no lights. The Anglodane sustained no damage in the collision.

The German torpedo-boat destroyer S-124 was built in 1903. She was of 6,500 horsepower, and had a speed of 26 knots. She carried a crew of about sixty men.

ALONE IN A GREAT CITY.

Adventures of the Sergeant-Major Who Got Lost.

A visitor to Valcartier Camp was amusingly entertained by the officers' mess of one of the Quebec Province regiments with an account of the three-day adventures of their sergeant-major, a happy-go-lucky Englishman who has knocked all over the world, seen service in several climes, and is a thorough soldier, but prone at times to succumb to the temptations of city life. The sergeant-major, having secured leave to go to Quebec for a day, was entrusted with a number of small commissions by his officers and comrades. One was to bring back an empty suitcase left in Quebec by the major of the regiment, and a second was to express to the major's wife in a Quebec town a case of eggs. A third was to buy for the mess a meat-grinder. The sergeant-major departed, bearing the money to fulfil all his commissions, but evening came without witnessing his return. The next day passed, and still no sergeant-major. At noon of the third day there arrived for the mess, C.O.D., a coffee-grinder, and for the major, also C.O.D., the suit case forwarded from his home by his wife, with a note stating that she did not understand why it had been sent to her. With nightfall there came the truant, visibly the worse for wear, and bearing under his arm a case of eggs, which he explained had accompanied him through all his devious wanderings about the city, as he was determined that no harm should befall its fragile contents. Reproached regarding the matter of the meat-grinder, he replied that grinder was a grinder, and he failed to see why a coffee-grinder should not answer. Asked why he hadn't paid for the various articles for which he had been given the money, he answered that his funds had run low through the unfortunate circumstance that, after paying in advance for board at one hotel, he had forgotten where it was and had to pay all over at another. His excuse for his long absence was the most ingenious of all, for he claimed that as all the street lights in Quebec had been extinguished for fear of aeroplane attacks, he had lost his way each evening, and had been unable to find the railway station. Finally, finding that the whole matter was passed over by the officers as a joke rather than a dereliction of duty, the sergeant-major for a week or more found himself quite a hero as a consequence of his escapade, and related all the details with great gusto to his admiring comrades.

WINNING A ECORATION

The Tradesman Got the Grand Cross and King Peter the Reward.

An excellent story is going the rounds about King Peter of Servia.

A French tradesman who had amassed a great fortune wanted vary badly to get hold of some decoration to wear on his breast, and after some financial maneuvering he managed to secure a Servian cross of something or other. He was immensely proud of this cross, and instead of having it set with the usual inferior quality of brilliants he had it set with diamonds of the first water.

Soon afterward he visited Servia, and, as in duty bound, he called on King Peter to thank him for the order. He wore, of course, his magnificent cross, and King Peter, who knows something about jewels, immediately fixed his eyes on it. He himself was wearing the grand cross of the order set with rather poor brilliants, and the moment his visitor came within reach he exclaimed: "But what is this? I gave orders that you should have the grand cross. The cross alone is not worthy of you. Here, you shall wear mine."

Before the other could protest Peter had changed the cross for the grand cross, substituting the inferior jewels for the splendid diamonds on the breast of the other! As a matter of fact, of course, he had never heard of his visitor before, the decoration having been arranged by his ministers.—London Tatler.

SQUARE OF THE CIRCLE.

For All Ordinary Mechanical Work the Formula 3.1416 is Used.

The ratio of the length of the circumference of a circle to its diameter, sought during many thousands of years, has never been discovered. It has been known for decades of centuries, away back to the Aryans and to the Egyptians—or rather to the non-Egyptian pyramid of Suphis builders—that the circumference of a circle is three and a fraction times longer than its diameter.

This fraction has been sought by computers in every great nation from prehistoric times. Within modern times it has been computed with accuracy and by enormous labor in Germany out to 635 decimal places with no end—there is always a remainder to be reckoned.

But all of this work was useless, because high mathematics has shown that the string of figures will never come to an end in any finite number of figures. And as these men cannot think of infinity they made the symbol of infinity and stopped wasting time many years ago.

The circumference of a circle is 3.14159265 plus longer than its diameter. But in all ordinary mechanics, as in factories, machine shops and the like, the number 3.1416 is used. Thus the difference between lengths of circumferences of locomotive drivewheels or any other made by using one or the other of these values could not be detected mechanically without micrometric measurement. — New York American.

Contributors to the Plowing Match

A meeting of the directors of the Peterboro County Plowmen's Association was held Saturday afternoon in the office of Farm and Dairy to settle all matters connected with the recent plowing match. The reports presented showed that the directors had every reason to feel gratified with the great success of the match, the first held in many years in the county. There is every indication that next year's contest will be even more largely attended and that many more competitors will take part.

It was decided to express through the press the appreciation of the directors and members and all interested in the match to those who so liberally contributed to the funds of the match thus ensuring its success. Those who contributed were as follows: J. H. Burnham, M.P., a silver cup for perpetual competition valued at $80.00 and a bronze medal; R. R. Hall, ex-M.P., $20.00; Farm and Dairy, $20.00; G. A. Gillespie, M.L.A., $16.00; E. A. Peck, ex-M.L.A., $16.00; G. N. Gordon, $15.00; the Peter Hamilton Co., $12.00; R. J. Soden, $8.00; R. W. Travers, Esq., of the Bank of Montreal, $5.00; Vincent Eastwood, Esq., of the Royal Bank, $5.00; W. H. Dunsford, Esq., of the Bank of Commerce, $5.00; C. H. Pennefather, Esq., of the Union Bank, $2.00; D. Drummond, Esq., $2.00. In addition to the foregoing F. D. Kerr contributed $15.00 as a special prize but as this prize was not won Mr. Kerr turned over $5.00 of it for special purposes. In the same way J. A. Sexsmith, M.P., contributed $12.00 and as it was not won Mr. Sexsmith also turnd over $5.00 of it for special purposes. Great credit is due these contributors for their liberality which made the match possible.

The directors desire also to express their thanks to Mr. Sandy Mathett of Stewart's Hall for his kindness in furnishing two fields for the match and for his hospitality to those attending the match as well as to the judges Messrs. Wm. Rutherford and Geo. Berry, Sr., of South Monaghan, and Fred Waldon, of Lakefield, whose decisions gave complete satisfaction.

ANDREW CARNEGIE

Andrew Carnegie will be 79 years old tomorrow, the day before Thanksgiving Day in the United States. He will likely celebrate it quietly at his New York City home. As one of the foremost peace advocates in the world, the great philanthropist will probably give thanks that the United States is not involved in the war, but there will of necessity be deep regret on his part that most of the rest of the world is at war.

"BROTHER, DO YOUR DUTY"

A Woman's Heroic Letter to Her Soldier Brother

An officer serving on Sir John French's staff at the front, in a letter to his wife, enclosed a translation of a very striking letter written to an air mechanic in the French army by his sister. The following is an extract:

"I hear that Charles and Lucien died on the 28th August. Eugene is very badly wounded. Louis and Jean are dead also. Rose has disappeared. Mamma weeps; she says that you are strong, and begs you to go to avenge them. I hope your officers will not refuse you permission. Jean had the Legion of Honor; succeed him in this. Out of the 11 of us who went to the war eight are dead. My dear brother, do your duty whatever is asked of you. God gave you your life, and He has the right to take it back. That is what mamma says. Think of your brothers and of grandfather in '70."

I take off my hat to the women of France, the officer remarked; in fact, I think the women of both our countries are playing a harder game than the men.

The small village of Bulwick, Northamptonshire, gave Lord Kitchener's army ten of its eleven eligible men.

Britishers Wish to Arm Against German Raid

LONDON, Nov. 24.—Plans for dealing with a possible German invasion were spoken of last night in the House of Commons by Under Secretary for War Tennant.

W. C. Bridgeman, member from Shropshire, asked whether the wearing of brassards would insure that persons taking part in the defence of the country would not be regarded as civilians. He also asked if the Government was aware that many active men over the recruiting age desire to fight in the event of an invasion and are prepared to furnish their own arms and equipment, if the War Office will design a uniform for such a force.

Mr. Tennant replied that the War Office felt it was the first duty of the navy to prevent a raid.

"In event of its taking place," he said, "it is our duty to drive the Germans into the sea as fast as we can, and I hope we shall be enabled to do so."

In regard to the action of the civil population if an invasion takes place, he pointed out that emergency committees had been formed in the various counties where there was any danger of an invasion, and instructions were being issued to those committees. He thought it was not desirable to state at this time what these instructions were.

The Pall Mall Gazette, referring to the report of "liveliness" at Emden, says it "accords very well with what passed in this country last week."

"Military movement took place," continues the paper, "which, of course, we shall not dwell upon in detail, but which gave rise to the almost universal belief that the authorities had news of some attempt to be made against us. The attitude of the public mind was one of interest. It certainly was not one of alarm."

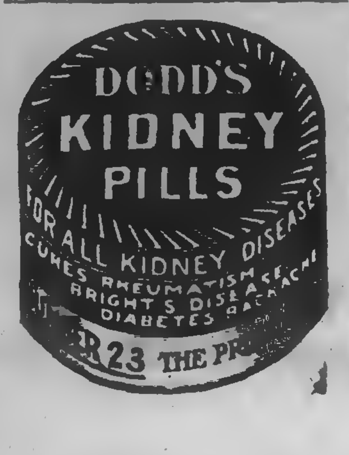
Russia Moving Troops West to Theatre of War

PEKIN, Nov. 24. — Passengers coming to Pekin by way of the Trans-Siberian Railroad unite in declaring that there have been remarkable changes along this line of travel since the beginning of the war.

Vodka and other intoxicants, usually for sale at every small station, are now nowhere to be had. Almost every hour of the day and night troop trains were encountered going westward, while other trains carrying crowds of Austrian prisoners are moving eastward to Siberia. A telegraphic news service from the Government press bureau is delivered twice a day to every station along the line.



THE GERMAN AIR FLEET IS FROM STOLEN IDEAS

The Taube Monoplane is an Austrian Invention and Arrow Biplane Built from British Models

The Taube (in English: Dove), of which so much has been heard recently, is a small all-steel monoplane. As its name suggests, when in the air the machine gives the impression of a pigeon resting on its wings. For military purposes the Taube is painted light blue to match the sky, so that in fine weather it is difficult to detect.

With the exception of a few experimental machines, all the German military monoplanes are of the Taube type. At the beginning of the war Germany possessed between 700 and 800 Taubes, but a percentage of these would be of an old pattern and unfit for the strenuous service required in modern aerial warfare.

The evolution of the Taube is romantic. The first machine of this description was designed by an Austrian millionaire named Ettrich. He took the idea from the leaf of the Zanonia tree, which grows in India. He observed that when the Zanonia shed its leaves they were carried for miles by the wind, and he naturally came to the conclusion that their buoyancy was due to their peculiar shape.

The wings of the first Taube were fashioned after the Zanonia leaf, and the present pigeon shape is only a slight modification. Ettrich patented his machine in practically every country but Germany, and German constructors seized the idea and improved on it.

When the efficiency of the design was proved beyond question the German Government, with a view to standardization, and consequently facility of construction, issued instructions that all military types of monoplanes must be of the Taube type.

Later it was decided to construct all the monoplanes of steel and all the large factories were engaged turning out Tubes and nothing but Taubes, as far as monoplanes for military purposes were concerned.

Being of steel, the Taube is a heavy machine, and consequently much slower than most British and French machines. Many British pilots have overtaken the Taubes and brought them to earth. It might be mentioned that the Taube is easily controlled, being almost automatically stable—that is the pilot can take his hands with safety from the controls when in the air. The machine is badly designed for bomb-dropping, as the pilot can only see ahead and not directly below.

The German biplanes like the monoplanes are standardized. While the monoplanes are all pigeon-shaped the biplanes have their planes set back in the formation of an arrow. Germany borrowed the idea of her monoplane from Austria and her biplane from England. It was Lieutenant Dunne who first invented the arrow-shaped biplane. The idea did not until quite recently take on in England. Meanwhile long before the Dunne biplane was brought to the notice of the public in Britain Germany had decided that this was to be her standard military biplane. Except that a tail was added the modern German arrow machine is a copy of the first Dunne biplane.

Before the war Germany possessed about 100 arrow-shaped biplanes, which with the Taubes constituted practically the whole of her military aeroplane fleet.

Like the Taubes the arrows are of steel, but being larger and able to carry a greater power plant they are faster than the monoplanes. Their best speed is about 106 miles per hour, but even then they are slower than many of the British machines.

Little is to be feared from the naval wing of the Imperial Flying Corps. Altogether the Germany navy possesses only 50 waterplanes. Four of these—1 White, 2 Avros, and 1 Sopwith—are British and the rest poor copies of British waterplanes.

The land machines cannot be converted into waterplanes for, being constructed of steel, they are too heavy to stand the extra weight of the floats.

The Knowledge-seeker

Little Patrick's paternal parent was busy suspending pictures on the plaster walls of the best parlor. Pat watched his father with silent admiration as nail after nail was successfully hammered into position.

Then the inevitable happened. Patrick's father's thumb made a dent in the plaster, and was, for a brief second, hidden entirely from view by the head of the hefty hammer. The flow of eloquence that poured from the father's mouth was a revelation to the watchful lad. With a gentle sigh he stole softly from the room and went out for a stroll.

He had not gone far when he happened on the minister diligently hammering nails into his fence.

Patrick immediately became absorbed in the good man's labors.

"You seem interested, my little man. Are you fond of carpentering?" asked the clergyman.

"No," answered Patrick shortly.

"Then why do you stand there watching me at work?"

"'Cause I want to see what a preacher says when he swipes his thumb!" answered Patrick.

FIFTY-FIVE IN PERIL.

Seven Persons Already Drowned as Result of Wreck In Pacific.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Nov. 24.—Five members of a crew of life-savers trying to reach the steam schooner Hanalei, wrecked on Duxbury Reef, nine miles north of San Francisco, were drowned last night. Two of the Hanalei's crew were drowned late yesterday while trying to make their way through the surf with lines. Two passengers swam to safety.

The lives of 55 other men and women, who were clinging to the sloping decks of the fast-breaking up schooner, hung in the balance. A thick fog prevented relief ships from aiding the Hanalei and when darkness closed in and the rescue craft sought safety in deep water, it was realized that the only possible hope was to get a line out from shore.

The crew of the Golden Gate Life-Saving Station started to the scene of the wreck with a line-throwing mortar, and were due to reach the ship at midnight.

ZOUAVE GAVE THE WARNING

One of Prisoners Used as Screen by Germans Played the Hero

PARIS, Nov. 24.—One of the most touching episodes of the war is told in a note appended to the official communique of yesterday afternoon:

"A party of captured French Zouaves were driven before a German column advancing on the Dri Grachter bridge in Belgium a few days ago, and when near the French trenches were forced by the captors to shout "cease firing" in French. When almost up to the bridge one of the captured Zouaves suddenly cried, "Open fire, in the name of God!" The men in the trenches instinctively obeyed the command, and not only riddled the German ranks, but killed all of their ill-fated comrades. Mitrailleuses were turned on the Germans, and they fled in disorder.

"There was no means of telling which of the heroic Zouaves, all of whom lay in a crumbled heap, had given the warning cry."

To Probe Copper Supplies.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24. — To maintain successfully her right to seize or detain cargoes of American copper carried on American or other neutral vessels to a neutral country, such as Italy in the south, or Holland in the north of Europe, Great Britain apparently finds it necessary to establish the probability that copper actually is destined for Germany, or Austria, or even Turkey.

One means of establishing this probability is to demonstrate that there has been an increase in the imports of copper to any neutral country in excess of the normal requirements of that country, as tending to prove that the surplus copper, or a corresponding quantity already in the country, has been allowed to pass across its borders into a belligerent country.

Trampled To Death

Suppose you were to read in the paper some morning that a disastrous fire had wiped the town of Amherst, or Galt or Lethbridge completely off the map. That would be a hard knock to Canada wouldn't it?

Yet, figuratively and literally, Canadians are ruthlessly trampling a town that size under their feet every year,—actually obliterating it.

Every year we Canadians import $4,000,000 worth of boots and shoes from the United States. On them we pay over $1,000,000 duty.

That $5,000,000 if spent for Canadian-made boots, would keep six big shoe factories busy the year round,—employing altogether about 2400 hands, paying out $1,500,000 in wages, and supporting, in all, about 10,000 people.

Concentrate all these people in one place and you add to the map of Canada a good live town like Amherst or Galt or Lethbridge. Rather startling isn't it?

When out of pure thoughtlessness, you buy an imported boot you crunch under your heel the opportunity to build up such a town.

In buying Canadian-made shoes you are paying for quality, not duty. Dollar for Dollar they give you a value that is equal to, if not better than any others.

THE MARKETS

Latest Quotations in Grain, Dairy Products, Live Stock, Etc.

CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—Fear of black rust in Argentina caused wheat today to rally sharply in the last half-hour of the session. Prices, after having been heavy most of the time, closed strong, ⅝c to ⅞c net higher. Other leading staples all finished at a loss compared with Saturday night—corn ¼c to ⅜c, oats ⅛c to ⅜c, and provisions 5c to 15c.

WINNIPEG GRAIN MARKET.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 23.—Winnipeg wheat opened ⅛c to ⅝c lower, oats ⅛c to ¼c lower, and flax was irregular, 1c lower to 1c higher. Trading was quiet, a light volume of business in options being transacted. The demand for all grades of cash wheat continues good, with exporters buying to fill space, and offerings on the light side. In oats, No. 2 C.W., and Nos. 1 and 2 feed were the grades wanted, the others being slow. The low grades of barley were also in demand. Some export sales were worked this morning, one firm selling from sixty to seventy thousand bushels during the early hours. Fluctuations were generally in narrow limits. Quite a sharp advance from low points occurred at the close on brisk demand by millers in the south and reports of heavy export sales, added to which there were damage reports from Argentina.

MONTREAL GRAIN MARKET.

MONTREAL, Nov. 23.—There was no improvement in the demand from foreign buyers for grain today, and business in consequence was dull. The domestic demand for coarse grain was fair, and prices generally were maintained. There was a fair enquiry from foreign buyers for spring wheat flour today; but, as the prices bid were 3d to 6d per sack below what millers were asking, no sales were made. The local trade is fair. Demand for millfeed is active, and a large volume of business is doing. There is no change in the condition of the market for butter, prices being steady and business quiet.

The enquiry for cheese continues good, but owing to the scarcity of ocean room no business was reported. Exports for the week, 31,723 boxes, compared with 33,228 a year ago. Demand for eggs is good, and prices for new-laid at 3c per dozen higher. The exports for the week were 20,365 cases. Potatoes stronger at an advance of 2½c to 5c per bag, with a good demand for car lots.

No Appointment Made.

OTTAWA, Nov. 24.—With regard to the revival of the rumor that Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, president of the C. P. R., is to be appointed Canadian High Commissioner in London, in succession to the late Lord Strathcona, it is stated here that no appointment will be made until Hon. George H. Perley returns, and it is unknown when that will be. He may not leave London until the end of the war.

The suggestion that Sir Thomas may be made High Commissioner receives high favor in official circles, and undoubtedly his appointment would receive very general approval.

PLAY AT STADIUM

Argos and Tigers Play Next Saturday at Varsity Stadium

Ottawa, Nov. 24.—The Argo-Tiger saw-off for the Intercollegiate Rugby championship, which resulted in a 9 to 9 draw at Hamilton, will be replayed at Varsity Stadium, Toronto, next Saturday. The order was given at a meeting of the Big Four Executive at the New Russell last night. A protest was also made to the Canadian Rugby Union against the decision of that body ordering the Interprovincial champions to play the O.R.F.U. winners on Wednesday, December 2, and the Intercollegiate champions on the following Saturday, December 5, which means that the winners in the Interprovincial would have to play three games in one week to have a look in for Dominion honors.

BOWLING

The Beginners won three games from the Unknowns in the Y.M.C.A. Bowling League last night. Hardill was high man with 512 total. The following were the scores:—

Games tonight between Harriers and Beginners are postponed.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 24. — In rolling up a total of 3147 points in a match game under tournament restrictions with the local Zumalweiss team, the Schmidt bowling quintet of St. Paul claims to have established a world's record. The previous high score of 3012 points was made by the St. Paul Knispele at the Toledo tournament in 1913.

TIGERS GO IN FOR HOCKEY.

Hamilton Tigers are going in for hockey this winter and will have intermediate and junior teams in the O. H. A. The Tigers will have the hockey field in Hamilton to themselves, as the Rowing Club has decided to pass up hockey this winter, while the Centennials and the Hamilton Hockey Club have passed out of existence.

PLAYERS FOR FEDS.

Chicago, Nov. 24.—That Lee Magee, of the St. Louis Nationals, will sign with the Brooklyn Federals and that the latter also expect to get Arthur Shafer, of the New York Nationals, were announcements made here yesterday by Charles Weeghman, president of the Chicago Federals.

Weeghman said Magee had already given ten days' notice to the St. Louis management. Shafer is said to be in Los Angeles. George Stovall, of the Kansas City Federals, also is in the California city, and a telegram from President Gilmore of the Federals yesterday asked him to get in touch with Shafer.

VETERANS WON AGAIN

Old Timers Have Won Three Straights at Basketball

The Veterans added another to their string of victories last evening when they took the Junior Business men into camp at the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium by a score of 30-12. It was real fast basket ball all the way through both halves being featured by nice work. The score at half time was 15-12. For the Veterans Robertson shone having 10 points to his credit and for the losers Johnston was high man with 8. F. Cressman refereed.

The teams:—

Veterans: Robertson, Richardson, forwards; McCarrell, centre; Dobbin and Best, guards.

Junior Business Men:—Cranfield, Johnston, forwards; Walker, centre; Turner, Sisson, guards.

"SILVER" QUILTY NEVER A WINNER

The best player on the field Saturday in the McGill-Varsity game was hit the hardest in many ways through the downfall of old McGill, the man referred to being big Sylvester Quilty, former captain of the Ottawa College team. Quilty performed in wonderful style from beginning to end. He was so dangerous, in fact, that after the first quarter Cassells and Gage gave him every possible attention. Knocked unconscious several times, "Big 4" as the crowd called him on account of his number, gamely continued to the end. As Gardner fell on the ball and put Varsity ahead by 12 to 9, Quilty lay flat on his back in midfield where he had fallen after a stubborn effort to break through and block McKenzie's kick. It was not until Laing carried out the ball for the kick-off that Trainer Dolan discovered Quilty. He then pulled together, and after McGill had recovered they called "Silver's" signal and he battered his way through for fully 20 yards, thus paving the way for the try that again gave McGill the lead. McGill men threw their arms around Quilty, and "Silver" afterwards said he felt that he was on a championship team at last. Then came Cassells' sensational rush and Varsity's third try, which shattered McGill's hopes.

"I have been playing senior football since I was 15 years old, and I have never been on a winner," commented Quilty after the match. "If I ever found myself on a real winner the shock might be too great. Today's call was the closest I have ever had. I joined Ottawa College and McGill just a year too late."

Quilty is 22 years old, and is starting a medical course at McGill. He will be available next year, but McGill will lose many of her brightest stars, including George Laing, Ernie Paisley, De Muth and perhaps Jeffrey.—Toronto Mail.

HOPPE MAKES WORLD RECORD.

Victoria, B. C., Nov. 24.—"Willie Hoppe is willing to meet any billiard player in the world, and he does not bar Slossom Deero or Demarest," was the statement of Manager R. B. Benjamin, who is piloting Inman and Hoppe on their continental tour. Hoppe's world's record "break" of 378 at Vancouver on Saturday night was the greatest run of consecutive cannons at 18.2 balk line in the history of the game.

FOOTBALL IS IN DISGRACE

Fifteen Thousand at London Match Did not Yield Single Recruit

LONDON, Nov. 24. — Indignation against the hitherto universally popular game of football is expressed by nearly the entire British press yesterday, because almost no men enlisted as a result of the recruiting rallies at Saturday's matches.

"It is time to eradicate the football cancer," says The Pall Mall Gazette, in an article which goes on to say that not a single man was recruited at London's principal football match, which was attended by 15,000 spectators. A colonel who lost a son at the front and was himself returning to the firing line, appeared at this game and pleaded with the men to enlist. His words were drowned by shouts which greeted the appearance of the teams.

In other parts of the country the same stolid refusal greeted the bands of speakers and recruiting officers.

The Westminster Gazette says that there is only one way in which the football association an put itself right in the eyes of the public, and that is by discontinuing its program.

BERT SHORT AGAIN MANAGER.

At a meeting of the Toronto Rowing Club's senior O. H. A. hockey team held last evening, Mr. Bert Short was again elected to manage the team the coming season. Mr. Paul Ciciri was elected first vice-president, and "Billy" Breen as coach. There was a full turnout last night at the club's gym., several new faces showing. Exhibition games have been arranged at New York, Boston, Cleveland, Detroit, Sarnia, and North Bay.

British Take Turkish Towns

LONDON, Nov. 24.—It is officially announced that British troops have occupied Basrah, a town at the mouth of the Euphrates, on the Persian Gulf, in Turkish territory. The occupation took place on the 21st instant.

Basrah is an important cable station, the line from that place running to Bushire, Persia.

An unofficial report received here yesterday says the Turks have retired from the Sinai Peninsula as a result of their defeat at El Arish. It is also reported that Jaffa, the port of Jerusalem, has been occupied by British troops.

Two Are Reported Safe.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., Nov. 24.—Alarm for the safety of the steamers Sinaloa, Nipigon and Niko, which were feared to have met disaster with the C. F. Curtis and her barges in last Thursday's storm was dispelled yesterday afternoon when at least two of the vessels were reported under shelter. No hope, however, is held out for any members of the crews of the ill-fated Curtis, Annie M. Peterson and S. E. Marvin.

ITALY MAY BE ATTACKED

Austro-Turkish Fleet Ready for Hostilities Says Correspondent

LONDON, Nov. 24. — A despatch from the Rome correspondent of The Standard says:

"Germany, having succeeded in pushing Turkey into the war against the allies, Austria also is doing her utmost to induce Turkey to attack Italy. At the same time the Italian Government is well aware of what is going on, but none the less hesitates to believe the report that has just come in from one of its most reliable agents that common action by the combined Austro-Turkish squadron is expected to be taken against Italy at a very early date.

"What is undeniable, however, is that a violent anti-Italian agitation is being carried on by the Turkish emissaries in Albania. Germans are said to be actively countenancing this movement, the first consequence of which have been the raising of a corps of about 15,000 Albanian irregulars who are to be posted at Valona (Avlona), the principal seaport on the Albanian coast, the possession of which would give Italy control of the Adriatic."

Nathan Urges War.

ROME, Nov. 24. — "The hour for the supreme decision has struck," said former Mayor Nathan of Rome and a leading figure in contemporary Italian affairs, at the Costanzi Theatre in an address to 6,000 people on the issues of the present war. He declared that the Italian army and navy is ready and that Italy must regain her lost provinces. His criticism of Italy's neutrality aroused the wildest enthusiasm.

Extensive Damage Done by Aviators

LONDON, Nov. 24. — It was announced officially yesterday afternoon that the British aviators who, Saturday afternoon raided Friedrichshafen, on Lake Constance, report positively that all the bombs thrown by them reached their objective and that serious damage was done to the Zeppelin airship factory.

Details were given in the House of Commons by Winston Churchill, First Lord of the Admiralty.

"Commander Briggs is reported to have been shot down," said Mr. Churchill, "and to have been taken wounded, to a hospital, as a prisoner. The two other officers, Flight Commander Babington and Lieut. Sippe, returned safely to French territory, although their machines were damaged by the fire of the enemy. They report positively that all of the bombs reached their objective, and that serious damage was done to the Zeppelin factory.

"This flight of 250 miles, penetrating 120 miles into Germany across a mountainous country under difficult weather conditions, constitutes, together with the attack, a fine feat of arms."

Another Raid Made.

BERLIN, Nov. 24. — The British aviators who attempted to destroy the Zeppelin headquarters at Friedrichshafen on Saturday are said here today also to have made an attack on the buildings at Manzell, to the west of Friedrichshafen, which are used for the housing of dirigibles. The attack was without results.

KAISER'S FOURTH SON IMPROVING

AMSTERDAM, Nov. 24.—"Prince August William, fourth son of the German Emperor, who was injured in a motor car accident, is improving, but complete recovery will take a long time," says the Berlin correspondent of The Telegraaf. The correspondent adds:

"The reports that the Crown Prince had been wounded are unfounded.".

ARMY AT FULL STRENGTH.

Germany's Western Force Not Diminished Says Copenhagen Despatch.

LONDON, Nov. 24. — A despatch from Copenhagen says that it has been learned in German military circles that, despite the serious situation on the eastern frontier, the Germans have not diminished their strength in the western theatre.

The Germans will not give up their position in northern France and West Flanders, unless it becomes vitally necessary, for such action would cause the spirits of the German people to fall so low that revolution might follow.

The Germans are expected to increase rather than diminish their efforts to get Calais in consequence of the Kaiser's special command. On account of the strategical and political importance of Calais, the Germans will disregard the cost in human life that its capture entails.

Asquith at Salisbury.

SALISBURY, Nov. 24.—The Prime Minister, accompanied by his daughter, paid an unofficial visit here yesterday. He went over the whole four camps with the commander, and conversed freely with several Canadian officers. He seemed to take a particular interest in the arrangements made for the social entertainment of the soldiers.

The men soon recognized the Premier as he drove up in a motor, and gave him a rousing welcome. He was greatly impressed with the appearance of the troops and spoke of their sturdy physique.

German Naval Station Found.

LIMA, Peru, Nov. 24.—It is declared here to-day on what would appear to be good authority that the Germans have been maintaining what is described as a naval station outside of Valparaiso, Chile. Here they brought together a number of vessels having on board coal and provisions.

Girl Kills Mother.

MONTREAL, Nov. 24.—Mrs. J. B. Roy, 631a St. Andre street, was yesterday morning shot and killed by her 15-year-old daughter Donalda.

The girl had secured the revolver of a boarder and while playing with it pulled the trigger, the bullet entering her mother's breast.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

COLLINS—BENHAM.

At St. Paul's manse last evening, Rev. R. Pogue united in marriage Mrs. Edna Victoria Benham and Mr. Charles Collins, both of Brighton township. The attendants were Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Brooks of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Collins will reside in Brighton.

SIMMONA—THOMASSINO.

In the Sacred Heart Church this morning at eight o'clock, Marie Thomassino became the bride of Aquilino Simmona, both of this city. Lucy Sabitino was bridesmaid and Alfred Vepi best man.

Rev. Father McAuley performed the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Simmona will reside in the city.

Mr. J. B. Leitch, Toronto, is in the city on business.

Mr. G. M. Beynon, Toronto, is in the city.

Mr. R. S. Powell, Toronto, is in the city with friends.

H. W. Coleman, Brockville, is at the Empress.

G. H. Howard, Brockville, is holidaying here.

Mr. A. C. Mott, Corbyville, is with friends in the city.

L. W. Bover, Pittsburg, is visiting friends in the city.

Mr. J. H. McGarrie, Toronto, is a guest at the Snowden House.

The W.T.S. Club held a meeting last evening and decided to donate $30 to city charity, and $30 to the Salvation Army.

It was the desire of the club that the $30 to the Salvation Army be used particularly for the relief of the poor children of the city.

Adjutant McElhiney has already a number of requests which have reached him, which this money can be used for.

This organization of young ladies is worthy of a lot of praise, for their handsome donations.

BUSINESS GIRLS TO ORGANIZE

To Help Needy Children Spend Merry Christmas

A ripple of suppressed excitement is agitating the usual placid life of the business girls of Peterborough. Something has been started and feminine curiosity is at fever heat.

Rumor has it that a business girls' club is to be organized right away. Tomorrow night stenographers, cash girls, sales girls, must break dates and anything else they like to attend a meeting in the parlor of the Peterborough Typewriting Agency, when the scheme will be discussed and arrangements in all likelihood started.

Purely benevolent motives will actuate the club. It is hoped to enlist the business girls of Peterborough into a movement to distribute little gifts to poor children this Christmas and see that they spend a happy day. Particular attention will be given children of unemployed parents for whom prospects of Christmas joy look pretty dull.

Miss Denison of the Union Bank and Miss Dundas of the Peterborough Typewriting Agency are starting the movement, and while nothing definite has been arranged, they are enthusiastically planning. It is possible a club room will be secured later on where the girls may meet for social pastime. Every girl who affiliates with the club is expected to contribute something towards giving the poor children a joyous Christmas day.

Great things are expected of the club by those attempting to launch it.

APPLIED AT POLICE STATION FOR LODGING

A young man who owns property in the south end of the city, but has no money and cannot get work, applied to the police chief this morning, for lodging.

The young fellow was given work by the fire chief and will be taken in charge tomorrow by Adjutant McElhiney.

Cut flowers will keep fresh longer if their stems bep laced in damp sand than if placed in water.

The Rexall Stores of Canada

Contribute to

The Canadian Patriotic Fund

THE Rexall Stores of Canada, 400 of the leading Drug Stores in Canada, have unanimously agreed to contribute to the Canadian Patriotic Fund, FIVE PER-CENT. of their total purchases of all Rexall Toilet Goods, Rexall Remedies and other merchandise manufactured or sold by the United Drug Company, Limited, Toronto, from October 15th, to December 31st, 1914.

This action of the Rexall Drug Stores of Canada has been undertaken co-operatively, because as a co-operative organization they realize how much more can be done unitedly than individually, and it has ben taken for two reasons—to fulfil a humane duty in raising a fund for the relief work of the Canadian Patriotic Organization, and a patriotic duty in an endeavor to keep a large staff of Canadian employees busy.

The 400 Rexall Stores of Canada make an appeal to your sympathy and support in their doubly worthy cause for increasing the funds of the Canadian Patriotic Organization and for the support of Canadian workmen because:

The fund that would be raised on the basis of last year's business can be tremendously increased if every man and woman in Canada will help a little by the simple process of purchasing Rexall Goods at the Rexall Stores.

No need to give space in this anouncement to emphasize the high quality of Rexall Toilet and Medicinal goods. Sufficient to say that 7,000 of the leading Drug Stores in Canada, Great Britain and the United States place their personal and collective reputations behind them; that the public in these countries endorse them to the extent of several million dollars' worth of purchases a year.

Better goods are not made, and you take no risk in buying, for every Rexall Store will return you your money if any Rexall product is not entirely satisfactory, and do it, too, without the slightest objection.

There's a full list of Rexall products waiting for you at the Rexall Store in your town.

Ask for it—kindly pass the word along to your friends. It is the collective purchases of all that will make this Rexall Store Fund for the Canadian Patriotic Organization work a big one.

The Fund will be collected from each Rexall Store in Canada by the United Drug Company, Limited, Toronto, and will be paid by them direct to the officers of the Canadian Patriotic Organization, and the amount so collected will be published in this paper when paid over.

Rexall Goods are made in Canada, and you can procure them in your town only from Tonight Evangelists Miller and Gilchrist will speak at Gospel Hall, subject, "The Second Coming of Christ and the Preparation Absolutely Necessary to Meet Him." Come and hear something about this solemn question and one about which we hear so little. "Knowing this first, that there shall come scoffers in the last days, walking after their own lusts and praying, Where is the promise of His coming?" 2 Peter. iii. 3-4.

ENGINEERS FOR THE HOME GUARD

The Home Guard and Civilian Rifle Association are likely to be featured by an engineering company. City Engineer Parsons is the father of the idea, and expects to call a meeting some time this week to bring it to a reality. That the action is a good one goes without saying, for in case trouble did present itself it would be wise to have a body of men trained in erecting telegraph poles, placing trenches or making temporary bridges. It is not the intention to have the unit solely embrace engineers, but any one who will take an active interest in the step.

IMPORTANT MEETING.

A meeting of the Peterboro Patriotic Fund Association will be held tomorrow night at eight o'clock in the council chamber. Each member is requested to be present as important matters will be discussed.

A side car attachment for ordinary bicycles for carrying packages has been invented.

RECITAL IN AID OF PATRIOTIC FUND

Miss Allan and Mr. Park are giving a vocal recital in the Collegiate Hall on Monday, Dec. 7th.

The program will be one of the finest ever submitted to a Peterboro audience, and will include both soprano and tenor operatic arias such as "Robert toi que jaime," from Meyerbeer's "Robert Le Diable"; O' Ma Lyre Immortelle," from Gounod's "Sappho"; and The Pages' Song from Meyerbeer's "Les Huguenots." In addition to these numbers Miss Allan will also sing Sanderson's "Spring's Awakening," and other numbers.

Mr. Park will render that great aria "Celeste Aida," from Verdi's Aida, also "Elucevan le Stelle," from Puccini's "La Tosca," "Vesti la Gulbba," the arioso from Leoncavallo's "Pagliacci," and other fine tenor songs including "Balfe's "Come into the Garden Maud." These two singers will be heard at their best in this program, which includes operatic arias never before heard in Peterboro as well as some of the best modern songs. Dr. Park has kindly consented to render two violin solos, and Mr. John Allan will be the accompanist.

It is hoped the attendance will be large, both on account of the unusual worth of the program and also because the proceeds will be donated to the City Patriotic Fund.

Admission will be by silver collection.

AN INDIAN GIFT TO PATRIOTIC FUND

The patriotic spirit of the Indians of Western Canada is described in an interesting letter which Mr. W. R. Baker, secretary of the Canadian Pacific Railway, has received from a friend, and from which the following is an extract:

"Mr. Graham, inspector of Indian Agencies for Southern Saskatchewan, has through his ability and energy done much to make the File Hills Indian Agency one of the most progressive in Canada. He initiated a colony, upon which he placed and is still placing graduates from Indian Industrial Schools. This colony has been quite a successful venture, and the young Indians settled there are doing very well. Some grow as many as from eight to ten thousand bushels of grain per year and all (there are over thirty families) are practically out of debt. Well, the people being much alive to the war news, asked so many questions that Mr. Graham decided to hold a meeting on the colony, which was done. I was, much to my delight, in good enough shape to go with the party, and we travelled thither in beautifully decorated cars. I brought along a gramaphone and many patriotic records. We played the national airs of Great Britain, France, and Russia, and "It's a long way to Tiperary" came in for a great deal of praise. Mr. Graham addressed them behind a table upon which was spread the Union Jack, and explained the causes and progress of the war lucidly and fully, also the work of the Patriotic Fund and Red Cross Society. A committee was at once formed, and all of these young Indians quite voluntarily offered to sell so many bushels each of wheat and oats. They were most enthusiastic and gave cheer after cheer for the kings of the different allied nations, our own beloved Sovereign coming in for very loud applause. A few days afterwards the young Indian women at once took up Red Cross work — knitting, etc. — in a very enthusiastic way. Two of the boys, Aleck Moore and Ed. Swanson, have joined the second contingent. They are graduates of the Brandon Indian School and are dead shots. Among the contributors of the collection to the Patriotic Fund, which amounted to $502.10, were Frank Dumont, a nephew of Gabriel Dumont, of Riel rebellion fame, and his two sons."

SWING BRIDGE AT GANNON'S

It is likely that the Dominion Government will reconstruct the swing bridge at Gannons. There has been much discussion over this bridge, which is not in very good condition. The County Council has spent $2,000 on their part of the structure and the Federal member feels it is up to the government to do something in respect to the swing. In all probability something will be done.

GIRL GIVES EVIDENCE AGAINST TOBIN

In police court this morning Jos. Tobin was charged with procuring a young girl for immoral purposes.

Dr. Morgan, who examined the girl, gave evidence to the effect that she was mentally deficient and had not a strong character.

The girl told of meeting Tobin and of her relations with the prisoner and two other men.

Judgment was reserved.

THEATRICAL

"Annie Laurie," a three act drama revealing a story of the Scotch Highlands in the early sixties was presented last evening at the Grand Opera House by the Royal Scotch players. The cast was entirely new to local theatre goers and it left a very good impression. There was such little depth to the plot that it necessitated clever work by the participants to keep the audience in an attractive mood. Mr. Jas. H. Heron takes the part of an easy going Highlander with success while Miss Grassby as Annie Laurie was well up to the usual mark of heorines. The emotional acting of Mr. Wm. Hack taking the role of a supposed lord's son was very cleverly executed.

The scenery, while not elaborate, brings the son of the heather back to the scenes in the rugged highlands. The stage was all set for suitable rendition of any of the old Scotch songs or the dance of the highlands. It would add materially to the show were two or three songs thrown in and have Willie Turnbull dance a step or two. It could thus be made a show for Scotch hearts as Fiske O'Hara's shows are for the Irish.

PHOTOGRAPHS FOR HISTORY OF 57th REGIMENT

Mr. F. H. Dobbin, who is writing a history of the 57th Regiment would like very much to have the use of photographs of scenes, events, inspections and doings in connection with the military life in the town and city. Of the old drill sheds in Peterborough and Ashburnham and of public occasions. Also portraits of former officers of the Battalion and Regiment. The older the better. All will be carefully taken care of and returned. Please phone particulars to 231 George St.

THE LATE MRS. RUTHERFORD.

The body of Mrs. Rutherford who died in Hamilton, Ont., will arrive in Peterborough tonight on the C.P.R. midnight train. The funeral will be held tomorrow but the time has not yet been arranged.

OPPORTUNITIES GREATER TODAY

Young People of St. Paul's Hear Debaters

St. Paul's Young People's Guild enjoyed a special program last night, the feature item being a debate, Resolved that the opportunities for advancement by the young man, were greater fifty or one hundred years ago, than today.

The subject was ably debated by Messrs. Stanley Taylor and Ed. Raynor, for the affirmative and Messrs. Donald Loucks and Gordon Davis for the negative, the latter being awarded the decision by the judges, Mrs. Allan and Mr. Mowat.

NINETY GUARDS FROM RETAIL MERCHANTS

The merchants of the city, ninety strong, are lined up to swell the strength of the local home guard. At a meeting held last night great enthusiasm was shown and temporary officers installed. It is hoped to make two companies altogether, each having their own officers.

There will be a meeting tonight to make further arraugements and permanent officers may be appointed. The merchants will receive instruction every Thursday night.

TRENCHES RE-CAPTURED BY THE INDIAN TROOPS

FOE ASKS SUSPENSION OF HOSTILITIES---RIOTING IN MEXICO CITY---GERMANS IN DISORDERLY FLIGHT

FRENCH STEAMER CROWDED WITH REFUGEES WAS TORPEDOED BY THE ENEMY

GAINS MADE

Slight Progress by the French Near Berry-au-bac

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

PARIS, Nov. 25. — Official Statement this afternoon: — "From the North Sea to Ypres there have been no infantry attacks. Between Langemark and Zonnebeckew, we have gained territory. In the vicinity of La Bassee Indian troops recaptured from the enemy certain trenches which had been taken from them the evening before. From La Bassee to Soissons there has been almost complete calm.

We have made slight progress near Berry-au-Bac and in the Argonne. At Bethincourt, northwest of Verdun, a German attack has been repulsed, but a suspension of hostilities requested by the enemy has been refused. In the region of Pont-a-Mousson, our artillery bombarded Arnaville.

Nothing has happened in the Vosges.

CALL TENDERS FOR COLLECTION OF THE GARBAGE

Sanitary Inspector Looks for Another Jump in Contract Prices

At last night's meeting of the property committee it was decided to call for tenders for the collecting of the garbage for the year 1915. Any step the city may take in performing this work under the board of works, will be decided on when the applicants' prices are made known. Last year the price was $557 per month or $6,684 per year but Sanitary Inspector Spence stated that the prices will be considerably higher this year.

The specifications will call for the work being performed either by the city's wagons or by private wagons and also for the trips either being made once or twice a week. Ald. Stratton put in a plea that the collectors be made take the garbage at the rear of the house but the committee did not favor the idea fearing that it would call for a big jump in the price of the work. The clause which in other years compelled the collectors to take only half a yard of ashes will be struck out and the mayor suggested that the chairman and city engineer get together and see if the city could not utilize some of the ashes from the churches and manufacturing concerns for filling in purposes. If this be possible one of the city's teams will draw them.

To Get Dump Ground.

With the question of collecting the garbage dealt with the committee fell into discussing the purchasing of a dumping ground for the night soil. The matter was left in the hands of the chairman with power to act.

Gives Land Away.

On motion of Mayor Buller and Ald. Stratton it was decided to take over a strip of land 3[illegible] feet long and 1 foot wide on the south side of Victoria Avenue. This property is owned by A. E. Dixon who is willing to give it to the city.

GERMANS FLEEING

Important Advance is Made by the Russians

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

PARIS, Nov. 25. — The Petrograd correspondent of the Daily Mail under date of Monday wires that the Russians have made an important advance on the front from Cracow to Chenstochowa and are continuing an energetic offensive on a line from Plock to Lenezyka.

The enemy is in disorderly flight, which is bound to spread panic throughout Germany.

PETROGRAD, Nov. 25.—The Russian defence against the German left is holding fast, according to trustworthy information reaching Petrograd this morning. Furthermore, the Russians are assuming the offensive on the German right. The German advance from Wielun south of the Warthe has been checked after severe fighting. The Germans are said to be receiving heavy reinforcements between the Vistula and the Warthe.

PHOTOGRAPH AS PROOF

That French Passenger Steamer Was Victim of Submarine

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

LONDON, Nov. 25. — The Admiralty statement issued today says the French passenger steamer Admiral Ganteaume, which was sunk on Oct. 26th while on her way from Calais to Havre with 2,000 refugees aboard, many of them women and children, was the victim of a German submarine.

To prove this, a photograph is displayed of a fragment of a torpedo which was found in one of the steamer's lifeboats. It was previously supposed that the steamer struck a mine.

AVIATORS ARE FETED

Two Zeppelins Reported Seriously Damaged

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

LONDON, Nov. 25. — A despatch to the Express from Geneva says that British airmen returning to Belfort from a successful raid on Friedrichshafen, have been honored by a parade of the garrison, were decorated with the legion of honr, and banqueted by officers.

Two Zeppelins at Friedrichshafen are reported seriously damaged.

PROMOTED TO MAJOR

The many friends of Major Bennett, who was one of the first officers of the 57th regiment to volunteer for active service, will be pleased to learn that he has been promoted to the rank of major, in the battalion to which he is attached. Major Bennett enlisted as captain.

LIEUT. COL. GOODWILL IN COMMAND OF HOME GUARD

Captain Layfield Assumes the Rank of Major and Other Officers are Appointed

PARADE THURSDAY

A vigorous boost to Peterborough's home guard project was received last night at an enthusiastic gathering in the Bank of Montreal chambers. Military patriotism soared to high water mark and as a result the guard is now placed on an efficient working basis. Every indication points to Peterborough soon possessing a strong, well-trained home defence corps, able to handle a gun and execute ordinary simple military manoeuvres.

Several of the officers received promotions last night. For instance Captain J. E. L. Goodwill becomes Lieut. Colonel, and Captain Layfield assumes the rank of major. Both gentlemen anticipate difficulty in getting used to their unexpected elevations, which were conferred purely because of general recognition of their executive ability and splendid services to the guard. The former wished to withdraw entirely and leave the work in charge of the various company captains, but his proposition was sat on by all present, who felt that Captain Goodwill's services so far had been so valuable that he should be retained and placed in full command.

Colonel Miller and Colonel Stevenson were appointed honorary officers.

Have Secured the Church.

Rifle butts are to be installed in the old Murray Street Baptist Church for target practice, Mr. Thomas Barrie generously donating the building for that purpose. Ranges are already erected and will be ready by Thursday night. Fifteen men will now be able to shoot at one time.

Lieut. Colonel Miller and Major Layfield were delegated to interview Colonel Hemming, D.O.C., in Kingston, and ascertain what assistance he could procure in the form of rifles and ammunition for Peterborough's home guard. No time will be lost in seeking this interview.

Altogether there are now lined up for service the following detachments C.G.E. men; the De Laval company, the Radial Railway employes, professional men, retail merchants, builders and trades, two companies, unattached, an engineering corps, fire department employes, city police, post office employes, and an ambulance brigade organized by the Salvation Army. Numerically these bodies will approach about the 500 mark, and Colonel Goodwill believed chances were good for doubling it.

Importance of Shooting.

Musketry-instructor Moore spoke briefly emphasizing the necessity for skill in shooting. He was going to take every precaution to prevent accidents. When the proposition was in full swing several instructors would be needed to handle the men. There would be 12 companies in all and it would be no light task to give every man attention without a sufficient number of instructors. He was being assisted by Captain Bartlett just now.
